The University OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

The University of Southern California is a private research institution of international distinction. Founded in 1880, it enrolls about 28,000 students annually on two campuses, the 155-acre University Park Campus in Exposition Park and the 45-acre Health Sciences Campus, four miles to the northeast of downtown Los Angeles.

USC is a unique and distinguished university with a proud tradition of achievement and unheralded success in all areas of study:

- USC is a member of the Association of American Universities, a select group of 62 public and private universities in the U.S. and Canada that, together, do about two-thirds of all federally funded research and development.

- USC has 37 faculty members who are members of the National Academy. Membership in the prestigious academy, created by Congress, is by election only and is based on a faculty member's distinguished and continuing achievements.

- The University is the home of 18 professional schools, in addition to the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences and the Graduate School. These schools train specialists in fields ranging from medicine and law to architecture, theater, education and business.

Athletic EXCELLENCE

Since 1926, when the track and field team won USC's first national championship, USC has dominated the world of intercollegiate athletics.

Trojan men's teams are No. 1 in the nation in NCAA championships with 70 – far more than any other university. USC's women are also a force with 15 national team titles, all since 1976.

In fact, from 1959-60 to 1984-85, USC put together an amazing streak: in each of those 26 years, at least one Trojan team won a national championship!

USC has produced 303 Olympians – more than any other university – including 95 gold medalists.

USC has won the National Collegiate All-Sports Championship – an annual ranking by USA Today (formerly conducted by the Knoxville Journal) of the nation's top athletic programs – six times since its inception in 1971.

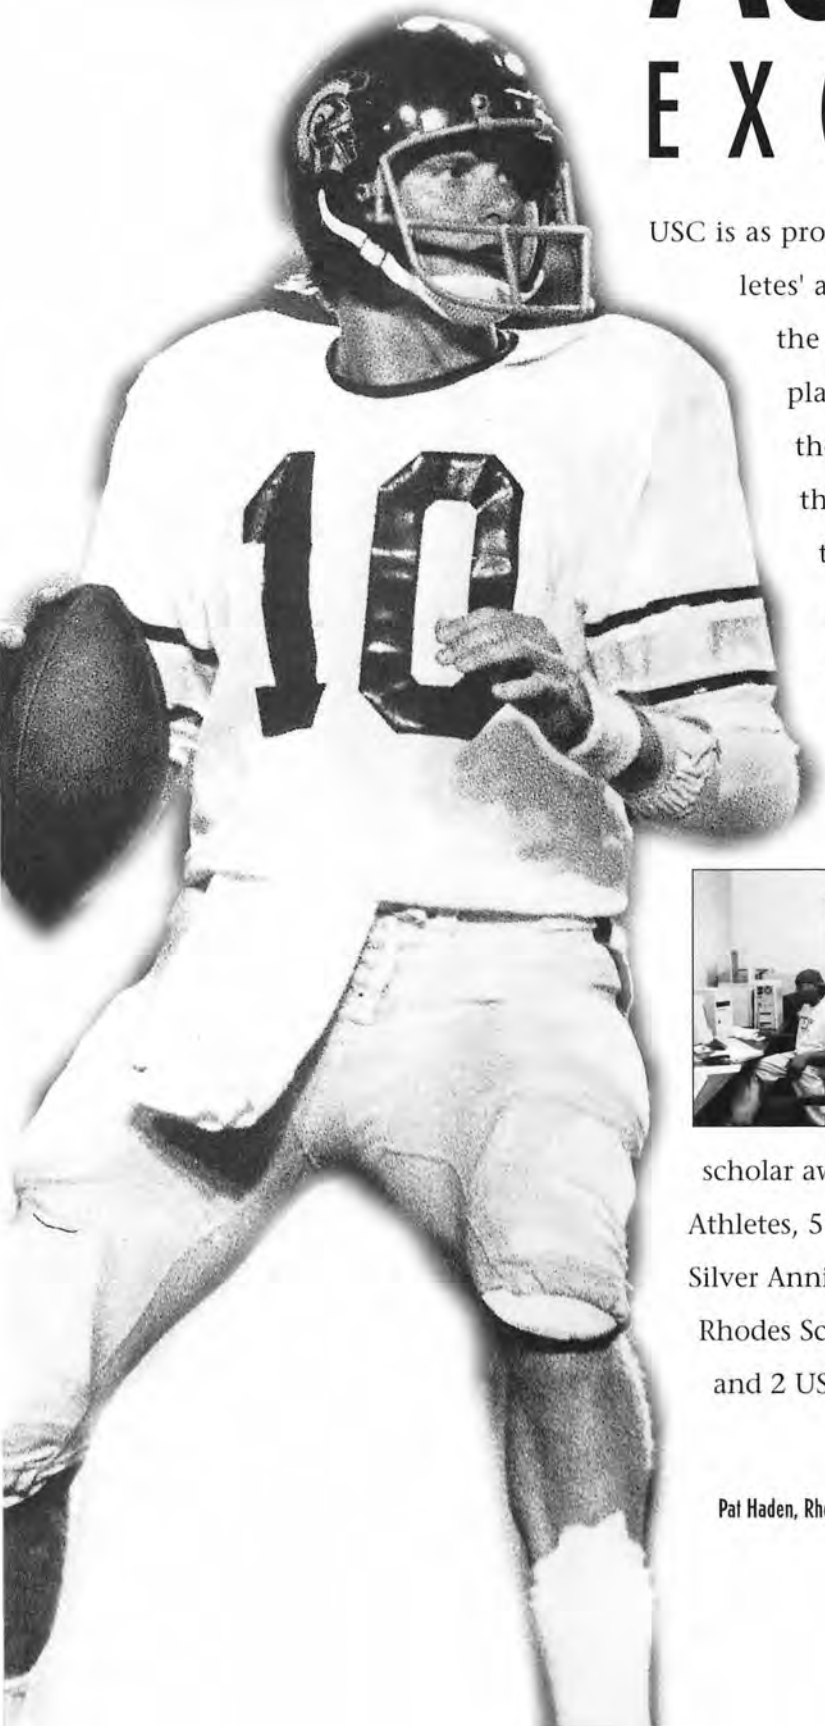
Academic EXCELLENCE



USC is as proud of its student-athletes' accomplishments in the classroom as on the playing field. After all, the Trojans are not only third in the nation in the number of national team championships (78 by the men and 15 by the women), but rank third in the number of NCAA postgraduate scholarship recipients (47). Also, USC has had 26 first-team Academic All-Americans.

Other phenomenal Trojan student-athletes include 8 winners of the prestigious NCAA Today's Top Six scholar award, 11 National Football Foundation Scholar-Athletes, 5 recipients of the NCAA Silver Anniversary Award, 3 Rhodes Scholars, a Luce Scholar and 2 USC valedictorians.

TROJANS IN The NFL

Players

In 17 of the last 23 seasons, USC has had more players on National Football League rosters than any other college in the country. This year alone, 41 Trojans grace the rosters of 23 of the NFL's 31 teams.

Draft

Nearly 400 Trojans have been drafted into the NFL, with many more making rosters as free agents. Since the first USC player was drafted in 1940, 59 Trojans have been first round selections – most recently Keyshawn Johnson, the No. 1 pick in the 1996 draft, Darrell Russell, the No. 2 selection in 1997, and Chris Claiborne, the No. 9 pick in 1999.

Super Bowl

Seventy-nine Trojans have played in the Super Bowl. USC has been represented by a player in all but two of the 33 games. In Super Bowl XI alone, nine Trojans played in the game. Two Trojans, Lynn Swann in Super Bowl X and Marcus Allen in Super Bowl XVIII, were named the game's MVP.

Coaches

USC provides the NFL with some of its best coaches. Among the former Trojans coaching in the NFL are Seattle's Mike Holmgren, San Diego's Mike Riley, Tennessee's Jeff Fisher, Washington's Norv Turner, San Francisco's Steve Mariucci and the New York Giants' Jim Fassel. About two dozen Trojans were on NFL coaching staffs last year.

Hall of Fame

Nine Trojans have been inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio. Among the recent inductees are O.J. Simpson, Willie Wood, Al Davis and Anthony Munoz.

Pro Bowl

Trojan alums are among the brightest stars in the NFL. The annual showcase of the league's top talent, the NFC-AFC Pro Bowl, has had 181 Trojan participants.

Famous Alumni
AND THE CITY OF LOS ANGELES

USC and the city of Los Angeles have served as the training grounds for many of this country's great leaders and innovators. Los Angeles is the "Gateway to the World," a city that speaks more than 100 languages and offers opportunities galore.

USC lies in the heart of everything Los Angeles has to offer, enabling the university to provide one of the most essential and exciting undergraduate educations in the nation. Just two miles from downtown, USC is close to an abundance of major museums, music halls, theaters, historic sites and buildings, world class restaurants, clubs and shopping. Here, a person could swim in the Pacific, snow ski in Big Bear and visit the desert all in the same day.

USC is the largest private employer in Los Angeles and many of its staff live in the immediate neighborhood. The 10-square-block area north of campus is an ethnically diverse neighborhood that is home to about 6,000 students, faculty and staff. South and adjacent to campus is Exposition Park, containing museums, a beautiful rose garden, the Imax Theater and the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum and the Sports Arena.

Trojan Football

1999 FOOTBALL OUTLOOK

Forget all that Y2K stuff.

The 1999 USC football team is preparing for Y2PH.

That's "Year Two under Paul Hackett."

The newness and ensuing indeterminancy of Hackett's first year are in the past.

Now, as USC ventures into 1999 and Hackett's second season as Troy's head coach, it's time for the Trojans to up their level of play.

"This is a very important year for us," said Hackett, who saw his 1998 squad go 8-5 overall (5-3 for a third place tie in the Pacific-10)—including a shutout victory over Notre Dame—and advance to the Sun Bowl. "Last year, there were so many uncertainties because it was our first year. This season is about making a great leap individually and collectively as a team. We need to raise our level of performance in Year Two."

In 1999, Hackett will have the services of 68 returning squadmen (39 were lettermen), including 16 returning starters (9 on offense, 6 on defense, plus the punter). Back are 43 Trojans who saw action last year and 28 who have started at least once in their career. Twenty-nine players return from USC's 1998 Sun Bowl two-deep.

Hackett also will be able to call upon 22 high school and junior college signees (one enrolled at USC this past spring and participated in spring drills), including nine who were All-Americans.

Unlike a year ago, when Troy's strength was on defense, it will be the experienced Trojan offense that will be asked to lead the way.

"With the shift of our team's experience from defense to offense, I anticipate we'll struggle a bit early in the season," said Hackett, a Trojan assistant from 1976 to 1980 who was the offensive coordinator for the Kansas City Chiefs before returning to USC. "But by mid-season, I feel we'll be a contender."

The Trojan offense features three of the top skill position players in the country in tailback Chad Morton, wide receiver R. Jay Soward and quarterback Carson Palmer.

Morton, one of USC's most exciting and quickest players, ran for a team-best 985 yards in 1998 and ranked second in the Pac-10 in yards per game. He averages 5.4 yards per carry in his career and has rushed for 100 yards 8 times in just 17 games as a tailback at USC. Also a fine student who has been a Pac-10 All-Academic first teamer each of his 3 years, he's an Academic All-American candidate in 1999.

There might not be a more explosive player in the country than 1999 pre-season All-American and Biletnikoff Award candidate Soward, who has scored a touchdown every 6.9 times he has touched the ball at Troy (27 TDs on 186 plays). Those scores—which have come 4 different ways (19 on receptions, 3 on kickoff returns, 3 on reverses and 2 on punt returns)—have averaged 49.5 yards. Already eighth on USC's career reception list (110 grabs), he caught 44 passes in 1998. And he's third on Troy's all-time kickoff return chart.

The precocious Palmer had an impressive 1998 campaign while starting the last 5 games to become only the second true freshman to start at quarterback for USC. He hit 55.3% of his passes (130-of-235) for 1,755 yards and 7 TDs overall while appearing in all 13 games of 1998.

The entire offensive line—guards Travis Claridge and Jason Grain, tackles Brent McCaffrey and Matt Welch, and center Matt McShane—returns intact, as does tight end Antoine Harris. Claridge, who has started all 36 games in his Trojan career, is a 1999 pre-season All-American after earning All-Pac-10 first team notice in 1998. He might be used at tackle in 1999. Harris has 25 catches in his 2 years as a starter, including 13 in 1998.

Other key offensive performers returning are tailbacks Petros Papadakis, who ran for 365 yards with a team-best 8 rushing touchdowns in 1998 as a part-time starter and short yardage specialist, Malaefou MacKenzie, USC's No. 2 rusher in 1997 (332 yards) who redshirted last fall with a knee injury, and Frank Strong, quarterback Mike Van Raaphorst, Troy's starter for the first 8 games of 1998 (he was 77-of-155 for 1,066 yards and 8 TDs), wide receiver Windrell Hayes (24 catches and 2 scores in 1998), and linemen Eric Denmon, Donta Kendrick and Faaesea Mailo, a 3-game starter in 1996 who has returned from a 2-year Mormon mission.

USC's main offensive losses are 2-year starting wide receiver Billy Miller, who ended his career as the school's No. 4 all-time receiver with 125 catches (including a team-best 49 in 1998), starting fullback Marvin Powell, often-used wide receivers Larry Parker (78 career receptions, including 29 last year) and Mike Bastianelli (68 career catches), and offensive linemen Ken Bowen, Rome Douglas and David Pratchard, who between them had 45 career starts.

Defensively, USC welcomes back a trio of 2-year starters—safety David Gibson, cornerback Antuan Simmons and linebacker-end Sultan Abdul-Malik—plus 1998 starters Ennis Davis and Aaron Williams at tackle and Zeke Moreno at linebacker.

Gibson, the team's top returning tackler (85 stops in 1998), has been moved back to his more natural strong safety position after playing linebacker last season. Simmons, who had 55 tackles and returned 2 interceptions for scores in 1998, is the latest in USC's long line of outstanding defensive backs. Abdul-Malik has been Troy's sack leader the past 2 years (he has 15 in his career) as an end. Davis, a 1999 pre-season All-American, was an All-Pac-10 first teamer in 1998 while notching 47 tackles, including a team-high 13 for losses. Williams had 44 stops in 1998 and a USC-topping 4 fumble recoveries. Moreno posted 66 tackles (10 for losses) last fall.

The defense has several other top players back: end-tackle Shamsud-Din Abdul-Shaheed, who started 7 times in 1998 and registered 25 tackles, safety Ifeanyi Ohalete, a 4-game starter in 1998 who had 52 tackles and 3 interceptions, linebacker Darryl Knight, and cornerback Kris Richard.

But the defensive unit will be hard-pressed to replace the likes of unanimous All-American middle linebacker Chris Claiborne, the Butkus Award winner and Pac-10 Defensive Player of the Year last season who had 312 tackles (a USC-best 120 in 1998) and 8 interceptions (a team-high 6 in 1998) while starting for 3 years (he was an NFL first rounder), 4-year starting cornerback Daylon McCutcheon, a 1998 All-Pac-10 first team selection and Thorpe Award semifinalist who had 10 interceptions, 46 pass break-ups and 187 tackles as a Trojan, 2-year starting safeties Rashard Cook (a 1998 All-Pac-10 first teamer with 218 career stops, including 89 last fall) and Grant Pearsall (138 tackles overall, 58 in 1998), and end Lawrence Larry. Also gone are 3 players who had 60 career starts among them: linebacker Mark Cusano (224 career tackles), who played a pivotal role in USC's 1996 and 1997 wins over Notre Dame, tackle Marc Matock (42 tackles in 1998) and cornerback Ken Haslip (32 tackles in 1998).

Punter Mike MacGillivray, who set USC season records for most punts (87) and punt yardage (3,284), is back after averaging 37.7 yards per boot, as is kickoff man David Bell. But a replacement must be found for placekicker Adam Abrams, who nailed 44 field goals and 117 PATs in his 4-year career.

USC's 12-game schedule in 1999 is as challenging as ever (the Trojans have played slates ranked among the nation's 5 most difficult in 4 of the past 6 years). Troy opens the season at Hawaii and also has road games at Oregon, likely Pac-10 favorite Arizona, Notre Dame (USC has won 3 in a row over the Irish), California and Washington State. Visiting the Coliseum will be San Diego State (guided by former USC head coach Ted Tollner), Oregon State, Stanford, Arizona State, UCLA (which has won 8 in a row over USC) and Louisiana Tech (in the regular-season finale on the Friday of Thanksgiving weekend).

"This is Year Two of a process," said Hackett, who has been on coaching staffs that have won a national championship in college and a Super Bowl in the pros. "We showed some flashes last year. We showed some improvement. And we showed our ability to bounce back. But by no means were we satisfied with our showing in 1998. We need to take it up to another level in 1999, and I expect us to."

OFFENSE

Nine starters—tailback Chad Morton, wide receiver R. Jay Soward, quarterback Carson Palmer, tight end Antoine Harris, guards Travis Claridge and Jason Grain, tackles Brent McCaffrey and Matt Welch, and center Matt McShane—return on offense in 1999. The Trojans' top 4 rushers, top 2 passers and 4 of their top 6 pass catchers from 1998 are back. However they'll be asked to improve upon USC's offensive output of a year ago. Last season, Troy was ninth in the Pac-10 in total offense at 343.8 yards (126.8 rushing, 217.0 passing) while scoring 26.6 points a game.

"The pressure, particularly early in the season, will fall on the offense because this is the side of the ball where all the experience is," said Hackett. "That's a flip-flop from last year.

"We need to improve our offensive timing and execution. We were much too inconsistent in those areas offensively in 1998. Working together will be the theme in 1999. And we need to establish depth at the wide receiver spots."

QUARTERBACKS

It's likely that no team in America is as well-stocked at the quarterback position as USC, as there are a pair of signalcallers who have loads of experience.

Sophomore Carson Palmer (130-of-235, 55.3%, 1,755 yards, 7 TDs, 6 interceptions in 1998) opened eyes in the college football world with his impressive play as a true freshman in 1998. A starter in USC's last 5 games of the season (he played significantly off the bench in Troy's first 8 contests), he became only the second first-year frosh to start for USC at the position (the other was 1-game 1991 starter Rob Johnson, now starring in the NFL). He threw for at least 200 yards in 4 of his 5 starts.

"There isn't a younger, yet more experienced, quarterback in the country than Carson," said Hackett. "He has that rare combination of being young, but already having played against some of the nation's top teams, such as Florida State, Notre Dame and UCLA. His pure passing ability sets him apart. His development as an overall quarterback, particularly in his decision making, will be the key to his progress."

Backing him will be junior Mike Van Raaphorst (77-of-155, 49.7%, 1,066 yards, 8 TDs, 4 interceptions in 1998), who started USC's first 8 games of 1998 before giving way to Palmer.

"Mike is very experienced and efficient," said Hackett. "He had a great spring. I feel really good about this position. Both players can do the job for us and that's a luxury few teams have."

QUARTERBACKS

Matt Dalton, So.
CARSON PALMER, So.	130 completions in '98
Mike Van Raaphorst, Jr.	8 TD passes in '98

Also available is walk-on sophomore Matt Dalton, who also plays wide receiver. And, in a pinch, a former Trojan quarterback is still on the roster, but at a different position: senior linebacker John Fox, who started 9 games at quarterback in 1997 (he completed 153-of-280 passes, 54.6%, 1,940 yards, 12 TDs, 8 interceptions that season) but was No. 3 last season and didn't take a snap (he also played briefly at tight end and on special teams).

RUNNING BACKS

USC's tailback spot is deep and talented, but there's limited experience among the fullbacks.

"The running back corps is clearly our strongest area on offense," said Hackett. "We're going to have to be creative here. We will use multiple groups of players. And I wouldn't be surprised if we saw three or four backs on the field at the same time because of the lack of depth we have at wide receiver."

Exciting senior Chad Morton (199 carries, 985 yards, 4.9 average, 6 TDs in 1998, plus 18 catches, 7.6 average, 1 TD) , a lightning-quick jitterbug style runner, returns for his second season as the starting tailback and could rank among the best around. The one-time defensive back has found his niche on offense, where he already has 1,370 rushing yards for a 5.4 average per carry—including 100-yard outings 8 times—in just 17 games as a tailback. He was just 15 yards shy of running for 1,000 yards last fall, had a half dozen 100-yard games and ended up second in the Pac-10 in rushing (96.7). He also was used occasionally returning kicks (he took USC's first kickoff of 1998 back 98 yards for a touchdown) and punts, something he might do again in 1999. And he stars in the classroom, where he has been a 3-time Pac-10 All-Academic first teamer and, with a 3.43 GPA as a sociology major, he's a top candidate for Academic All-American honors in 1999.

"Chad is one of the premier backs in the country," said Hackett. "His performance has been remarkable, considering he's only been a running back here for 2 years. His best is ahead of him. I'm looking for him to have a great year in 1999 and to be a real team leader."

Look for fellow senior tailback Petros Papadakis (93 carries, 365 yards, 3.9 average, 8 TDs in 1998), who started 4 games last fall, to be on the field often in 1999. He proved to be equally effective as USC's short yardage back and as a breakaway threat last year (he had scoring bursts of 65 and 53 yards, while another 58-yarder was negated because of a late penalty behind the play). He had more rushing touchdowns (8) than any Trojan last year.

"Petros was superb in 1998 in his role in short yardage situations and he showed great flashes when he carried the ball from scrimmage," said Hackett. "He's a vital part of our offense."

CARSON PALMER – QB

CHAD MORTON – TB

Other tailbacks in the mix are senior Jabari Jackson (13 carries, 25 yards, 1.9 average in 1998), who also is a top special teams performer, sophomores Frank Strong (37 carries, 193 yards, 5.2 average in 1998), who became just the fourth USC first-year freshman to start at tailback when he did so versus California last season, and Malaefou MacKenzie, who was second on Troy in rushing in 1997 (332 yards) while starting twice but who redshirted last fall with a knee injury (he was limited in this past spring's drills, but should be ready to go now), and redshirt freshman Sultan McCullough, the fastest player in Trojan football history (running for the USC track team this past spring, he was the Pac-10 100-meters champion and twice won a 100 in 10.17, No. 5 all-time on Troy's vaunted sprinting list). It's likely that more than one tailback will be employed at times in 1999, whether in split back formations or as a slot receiver.

"There is a lot of talent at tailback," said Hackett. "Jabari has prepared himself for his senior year as well as any of our players. He had a huge spring showing. So did Frank, who showed us some stuff as a freshman. It's great to get Malaefou back because of his ability and versatility, and Sultan gives us that element of super speed in the backfield. He showed real flashes in the spring."

Manning the traditional fullback role, replacing the graduated Marvin Powell, likely will be junior Brennan Ochs (4 carries, 8 yards, 2.0 average in 1998), who started the 1998 season opener and then was Powell's backup and a special teamer. Behind him are 2 Trojans who have yet to play: soph Charlie Landrigan and redshirt freshman Chad Pierson. It's possible that some of the tailbacks could see action here, too.

"That's our biggest question on offense, having a reliable fullback," said Hackett. "Powell was a steadying influence and devastating blocker, so that's a huge loss."

WIDE RECEIVERS

USC took a big hit at this position, as a trio of players who rank in the school's all-time Top 25 pass catching list—No. 4 Billy Miller (125 catches, including a team-high 49 in 1998), No. 19 Larry Parker (78, including 29 last year) and No. 23 Mike Bastianelli (68)—are gone now. But with the expected starters, the receiving unit literally is in good hands in 1999.

R. Jay Soward (44 catches, 15.4 average, 6 TDs in 1998, plus 12 carries, 150 yards, 12.5 average, 1 TD rushing, 28.9 PR average with 2 TDs and 21.5 KOR average) enters his senior campaign as perhaps America's most explosive collegiate wideout. A 1999 pre-season All-American and a top candidate for the Biletnikoff Award, he has scored a touchdown every 6.9 times he has touched the ball in his career (27 TDs on 186 plays) and those scores have averaged 49.5 yards each. He has scored 4 different ways (19 on receptions, 3 on kickoff returns, 3 on reverses and 2 on punt returns). A 2-year starter, he is eighth on USC's career reception list (110 grabs) and third on the all-time kickoff return chart (1,178 yards).

"There's nobody more explosive or exciting than R. Jay," said Hackett. "We have to find more ways to get him the football this year. And he'll go into his senior year catching passes from an established quarterback for the first time in his career, which should really help him."

Filling in for Miller will be Windrell Hayes (24 catches, 14.2 average, 2 TDs in 1998), a sure-handed senior who runs precise routes. He has 121 catches between his 2 seasons at San Jose State and last year at USC.

"We're counting on Windrell to be our most consistent and productive receiver," said Hackett. "For us to be good offensively, he has to have an outstanding fall. He's an excellent route runner and he complements R. Jay well."

In the picture behind them are 2 juniors who have played little and have yet to catch a pass: Stanley Guyness and Troy Garner. Guyness, who was sidelined during last spring's drills while recuperating from a 1998 knee injury, should be ready to contribute, but Garner tore ligaments in his knee in spring practice and likely will miss the 1999 season.

Several walk-ons are also available: senior Rocky Brown, junior Matt Nickels (he transferred from Dartmouth), and sophomores Matt Dalton (he can also play quarterback) and Miguel Marco.

"Overall, this is a scary position because of our questionable depth, but there are lots of opportunities for people to step up," said Hackett. "We're expecting immediate contributions from some new players who will arrive with great speed and credentials. Our wide receiver recruiting class is as good as any in the country."

Those newcomers are prep All-Americans Marcell Allmond (St. Paul High in Santa Fe Springs, Calif.), Kareem Kelly (Poly High in Long Beach, Calif.) and Steve Stevenson (Charter Oak High in Covina, Calif.), plus junior college transfer Craig Mitchell (West Los Angeles City College in Los Angeles, Calif.), who will enroll as a junior.

TIGHT ENDS

Veteran Antoine Harris (13 catches, 11.8 average 1 TD in 1998)) is a 2-year starter who brings good hands (25 career grabs) and blocking ability to the position. Look for the junior to play a bigger role in 1999.

"Antoine really is preparing himself to play his best football in 1999," said Hackett. "He was somewhat inconsistent last year, but if he regains his dominance as a blocker and improves his versatility as a receiver, he will be a key in the expansion of our offense in 1999."

Angling to back him up is a group of players who have yet to see the field at that position: senior Pat Swanson, who is also USC's long snapper, and redshirt freshman Scott Huber, who missed 1998 with a hip injury, plus a pair of true freshmen in prep All-American Jacob Rogers (Oxnard High in Oxnard, Calif.), who enrolled at USC last spring and participated in spring practice, and Chad Cook (Jesuit High in Portland, Ore.), who begins in the fall.

"These guys need to come through because we'll use our tight ends more in 1999," said Hackett. "Swanson not only is one of the best long snappers in college football, but he'll be asked to be involved in our multiple tight end sets."

OFFENSIVE LINEMEN

Entering last year, the line was USC's most unsettled offensive unit, as only 1 player with any measurable experience was in the lineup. In 1999, the offensive line should be a strength. All of last fall's starters are back and they're all upperclassmen.

"We have a veteran offensive line that should be much improved," said Hackett. "This group holds the key to our offensive success because we'll ask a great deal of them. We'll ask them to be outstanding pass protectors and much better run blockers. Especially vital will be the play of our senior linemen."

The veteran among the linemen is rough-and-tough senior right guard Travis Claridge, who has started all 36 games since arriving at Troy. He was an All-Pac-10 first team pick in 1998 and is a pre-season All-American this year. He might be moved to right tackle this fall.

"Travis is doing what few offensive linemen have done in college football and that's be a 4-year starter," said Hackett. "His impact and his improvement in technique and fundamentals were dramatic last season. He's primed to have his best year. He's a top-notch player with a superb future."

Perhaps USC's most consistent, yet underrated, lineman is junior Brent McCaffrey, who returns as the starter at the all-important left tackle spot.

"Brent was the most pleasant surprise of our offensive linemen last season," said Hackett. "He performed well above what we expected a sophomore to do, especially playing such a high-profile line position as left tackle. He is one of the top pass protectors in the country. We'll look to him to be the cornerstone of our offensive line in 1999."

Senior Jason Grain, who started 9 times at guard and twice at center in 1998, returns at left guard, but senior Donta Kendrick, who started once last season after transferring from a junior college, emerged from last spring's practice as the starter there. They figure to battle all fall for the job.

"Donta has been impressive in the off-season," said Hackett. "He did a good job last year learning a new offense and now, with that behind him, look for him to make a huge contribution in 1999. Jason made dramatic improvement last year and can continue to do so if he pushes himself. He has extraordinary power and is learning how to deliver it."

The returning right tackle is junior Matt Welch, who started 10 times in 1998 after transferring from a junior college. He missed spring practice while recovering from shoulder surgery. Claridge is ready here if Welch can't go.

"Matt was a solid performer as a first-time starter in 1998," said Hackett. "He has a great future at USC. We missed him in the spring, but he should be 100% in the fall."

The returning center is solid senior Matt McShane, an 8-game starter last year. But junior Eric Denmon, who started 3 times in 1998, had the upper hand in spring practice and could win the job. The competition for the spot should continue all fall.

"Eric had a fine showing in the spring and made it neck-to-neck at this spot," said Hackett. "Matt's ability to grasp our system was most impressive last year. I'm looking for him to take his play up a level this year."

Four other Trojan linemen will be competing to get some action. There's junior guard Trevor Roberts, sophomore tackle-guard Faaesea Mailo, a 3-game starter in 1996 who is back this fall from a 2-year Mormon mission, and 2 redshirt freshmen in guard-tackle Zach Wilson, who likely would start at right guard if Claridge is moved to tackle, and tackle Derek Graf. Mailo and Graf are listed behind McCaffrey at left tackle, and Roberts is a reserve at right guard.

Arriving in the fall will be 5 freshmen: tackle Nate Steinbacher (Esperanza High in Anaheim, Calif.) and guard-center Lenny Vandermade (Mater Dei High in Santa Ana, Calif.), who both were prep All-Americans, plus tackle-center Norm Katnik (Foothill High in Santa Ana), guard-tackle Luke McKay (Hughson High in Hughson, Calif.) and tackle Eric Torres (Bishop Montgomery High in Torrance, Calif.).

"A priority when I arrived here was to develop the offensive line," said Hackett. "With the returning players we have and the new ones we signed, the rebuilding of USC's offensive line has begun. I expect us to re-establish USC's offensive line tradition in 1999."

DEFENSE

Six starters—safety David Gibson, cornerback Antuan Simmons, tackles Ennis Davis and Aaron Williams, linebacker-end Sultan Abdul-Malik and linebacker Zeke Moreno—return on defense in 1999. They'll be hard-pressed to repeat the stinginess of last year's defensive unit when the Trojans led the Pac-10 in total defense (332.5), pass efficiency defense (91.2, third nationally) and scoring defense (18.5, tied for 17th in the U.S.).

"What you'll see in 1999 is a total rebuilding of the league's premier defense, especially at linebacker and then in the secondary" said Hackett. "We expect only two seniors will start. I'm excited to see how the new players will step up as they attempt to replace all the key players we lost on defense.

"Although the returning players will get first crack, look out because we're expecting some immediate help from some high profile newcomers in the fall."

DEFENSIVE LINEMEN

USC's strongest defensive unit figures to be the line, as 2 starters return from 1998 (a third 1998 starter is now playing linebacker, but could see some action up front).

"No doubt, the strength of our defense is up front," said Hackett. "We have experience and depth there. And we made some good strides there in the spring."

Both tackles are back to serve as anchors up front: beefy junior Ennis Davis (47 tackles, 13 for losses, 4 deflections, 1 fumble recovery, 1 forced fumble in 1998), who won All-Pac-10 first team honors last fall and is a 1999 pre-season All-American, and senior Aaron Williams (44 tackles, 9 for losses, 4 fumble recoveries, 2 forced fumbles, 1 deflection in 1998), who started the last 5 games of 1998. Davis topped the Trojans in tackles for losses (13) last fall, while Williams recovered a team-best 4 fumbles. Davis missed spring practice while recovering from a knee injury, but he is expected to be full speed in the fall.

"Ennis' performance last season put him on the edge of stardom," said Hackett. "His work ethic is evident in his rehabilitation from his knee injury and we expect a full recovery. We expect Aaron to provide our defense with senior leadership and consistent play. He performed well last year despite being nagged by injuries."

Sophomores Ryan Nielsen (12 tackles, 1 for a loss in 1998) and Bobby DeMars (1 tackle in 1998) back up Davis. Both can also can play end (Nielsen started the 1998 opener there). Junior Darren Collins, who redshirted in 1998 after transferring from a junior college, and senior Todd Keneley, a former walk-on who earned a scholarship this year, are behind Williams.

Manning the end spots vacated by junior Sultan Abdul-Malik, who has been moved to linebacker, and Lawrence Larry will be junior Shamsud-Din Abdul-Shaheed (25 tackles, 6 for losses, 1 deflection in 1998), a 7-game starter in 1998 (5 at end, 2 at tackle) who also can slide to tackle, and sophomore Kori Dickerson (10 tackles, 3 for losses, 1 deflection in 1998). Matt Childers, who redshirted last season after transferring from Kansas State, will back up Abdul-Shaheed, while sophomore Lonnie Ford, who started twice at tight end in 1998 (he caught 2 passes, including a touchdown) but was moved to defense this past spring, is behind Dickerson. Ford also can play linebacker.

In the fall, don't count out the contribution that a pair of incoming freshmen tackles—prep All-American Bernard Riley and his teammate at Los Alamitos (Calif.) High, Sagan Atuatasi—might make.

LINEBACKERS

Talk about a unit that will be affected by personnel losses in 1999 and the linebacking corps jumps out. After all, unanimous All-American middle linebacker Chris Claiborne, the 1998 Butkus Award winner and Pac-10 Defensive Player of the Year who had 312 tackles (a USC-best 120 in 1998) and 8 interceptions (a team-high 6 in 1998) while starting for 3 years, has gone on to the NFL after his junior campaign (he was a first round pick) and 1998 weakside starter David Gibson has moved to the secondary.

"We're really hit hard by losses at linebacker," said Hackett. "That's why we've moved some people to this position and why we need some younger players to step up. We have lots of bodies here and we're looking for guys to make things happen."

USC's only returning linebacker is junior Zeke Moreno (66 tackles, 10 for losses, 1 deflection, 1 interception, 2 forced fumbles in 1998)...and he's a good one. When injuries struck the spot last year, he stepped in and started 12 times on the strong side. He'll start in the middle in 1999, but he's flexible enough to play any of the 3 linebacker slots.

"Zeke is our only proven linebacker," said Hackett. "He's a natural in the middle. He more than stepped up when given the opportunity last year. He showed us that he's on the verge of being a superior linebacker. And having played next to Chris Claiborne all of last season, his expectations and standard of play have risen. Now it's his turn to set the standard."

Hard-charging junior Sultan Abdul-Malik (34 tackles, 10 for losses, 8 sacks, 2 deflections in 1998), who started the past 2 seasons at defensive end, was moved this past spring to the strongside linebacker spot, where he'll start (he was a linebacker in high school). He could also see some time at end. He has led the Trojans in sacks each of the past 2 years (15 in his career).

"Sultan has set a real standard for himself with his play the past 2 seasons," said Hackett. "He's a big-play player who still has 2 years of great football ahead of him."

ENNIS DAVIS – DT

AARON WILLIAMS – DT

Sophomore Darryl Knight (16 tackles, 2 deflections in 1998) emerged as the starting weakside linebacker. He'll be backed by soph Henry Wallace (2 tackles in 1998), senior ex-quarterback John Fox, who started 9 games at quarterback in 1997 (he completed 153-of-280 passes, 54.6%, 1,940 yards, 12 TDs, 8 interceptions that season) but was No. 3 last season and didn't take a snap (he also played briefly at tight end and on special teams), and walk-on senior Kenny Horwitz. Fox also will be used on special teams and will serve as an emergency quarterback.

Junior Jason Steen (16 tackles in 1998), who also can play defensive end, and redshirt freshman Anthony Daye are behind Abdul-Malik on the strong side. Backing Moreno in the middle will be redshirt freshman Armand Holland and walk-on junior Ryan Shapiro. Sophomore Mike Pollard (8 tackles, 2 for losses, 1 forced fumble in 1998) likely would have pushed for starting time in the middle, but tore knee ligaments in 1999 spring practice and figures to be sidelined all season.

"Besides Moreno, we didn't have much experience here," said Hackett. "That's why we moved some players. With Fox, the attitude, experience and leadership he'll bring to the linebacking corps will be invaluable. He's been a very important member of our team and he'll be used in a variety of roles this year."

Coming aboard in the fall will be J.C. All-American Markus Steele (Long Beach City College in Long Beach, Calif.), who will be a junior, and incoming freshmen Aaron Graham (Bakersfield High in Bakersfield, Calif.), Omar Nazel (Skyline High in Oakland, Calif.) and Chris Prosser (Morse High in San Diego, Calif.).

SECONDARY

The secondary is another area that will have to be revamped almost totally, as 3 starters have departed. It will be a challenge to replace 4-year starting cornerback Daylon McCutcheon, a 1998 All-Pac-10 first teamer and Thorpe Award semifinalist who had 10 interceptions, 46 pass breakups and 187 tackles in his career, plus 2-year starters Rashard Cook (a 1998 All-Pac-10 first teamer with 218 career stops, including 89 last fall) at free safety and Grant Pearsall (138 tackles overall, 58 in 1998) at strong safety.

"We have another big hurdle ahead of us in the secondary," said Hackett. "What was a strength the past few years becomes a question mark in 1999. Fortunately, we have some experienced players who will attempt to fill in. I was pleased with the secondary's development in the spring."

There's no doubt that junior cornerback Antuan Simmons (55 tackles, 3 interceptions, 14 deflections, 1 forced fumble in 1998), a 2-year starter (at rover linebacker and strong safety in 1997 and at cornerback last season), has emerged as an outstanding defender capable of continuing USC's tradition of noted defensive backs. He returned 2 of his picks for touchdowns last fall and made an impact on special teams by blocking 3 kicks.

"Antuan is one of the top defensive players in the Pac-10," said Hackett. "This year will be his time to shine because it's up to him to be a leader and to realize he's now a marked man."

The secondary did get a boost when senior David Gibson (85 tackles, 7 for losses, 3 forced fumbles, 3 fumble recoveries, 5 deflections, 1 interception in 1998) returned after spending 1998 as Troy's starting weakside linebacker. He's now back at his more natural position, strong safety (he started in 1997 at rover linebacker, a combination linebacker and strong safety). Always around the ball, he is USC's top returning tackler.

"David's position switch to linebacker last year turned out to be a positive move as he made a huge impact on and off the field for us," said Hackett. "This year, he's back in a more natural position and we expect even bigger things from him as the leader of our secondary."

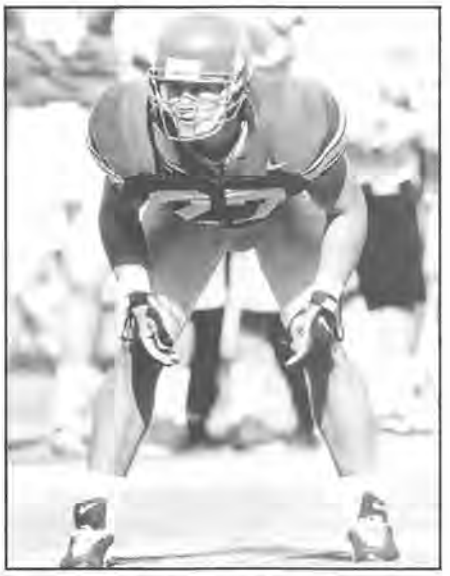
The free safety will be junior Ifeanyi Ohalete (52 tackles, 4 for losses, 8 deflections, 3 interceptions in 1998), who started 4 early-season games at strong safety in 1998.

Sophomore Kris Richard (14 tackles in 1998) won the vacant cornerback job in spring ball. Seniors Tanqueray Clark (9 tackles, 1 interception in 1998) and walk-on Antoinne Harris are behind him, with soph Eric Reese, who has yet to play at USC, and redshirt freshman Miguel Fletcher, who has moved over from tailback, listed as Simmons' backups.

SULTAN ABDUL-MALIK — LB

ZEKE MORENO — LB

ANTUAN SIMMONS – CB



DAVID GIBSON – S

MIKE MacGILLIVRAY – P

Backing Gibson are senior Frank Carter (4 tackles in 1998), who has made his mark on special teams, and 2 walk-ons, junior John Morgan and senior Rick Luce, while walk-on junior Pierre Zado is a reserve free safety.

More help comes this fall with the arrival of a trio of freshmen—prep All-American Darrell Rideaux (Poly High in Long Beach, Calif.), a cornerback, and safeties Sandy Fletcher (Inglewood High in Inglewood, Calif.) and Troy Polamalu (Douglas High in Winston, Ore.)—and a sophomore junior college transfer, safety-cornerback DeShaun Hill (Long Beach City College in Long Beach, Calif.).

SPECIAL TEAMS

USC returns its punter (Mike MacGillivray), kickoff specialist (David Bell), long snapper (Pat Swanson) and top return man (R. Jay Soward), but the placekicker and holder will be new.

"Our biggest concern here is to have a kicker who can be consistently successful," said Hackett. "Generally, we didn't have to worry about that too much the past few years. We also need to get increased production out of the punter. And we must be certain that the returners continue to be the threats they've been in recent years (USC returned 2 punts and a kickoff for touchdowns in 1998). We're as good returning kickoffs and punts as anyone in the country.

"We take great pride in our special teams play. We devote a lot of time to it. It will be a weapon for us."

PUNTER

Sophomore Mike MacGillivray (37.7 average in 1998) is the incumbent punter after doing a steady job last fall when he set USC season records for most punts (87) and punt yardage (3,284). He was especially effective as a placement punter, as 34 of his boots pinned opponents within the 20-yard line. Junior David Bell, who handles USC's kickoffs, will push him for the job, as will first-year freshman tight end Jacob Rogers.

PLACEKICKER

For the past 4 years, USC could count on Adam Abrams to usually deliver on all placekicks, as he drilled 44 field goals (including 4 that proved to be the deciding points in games) and 117 PATs in his career. He has graduated, so now the Trojans will choose between junior David Bell, Troy's kickoff man whose only PAT try as a Trojan was blocked, and incoming sophomore David Newbury (Navarro Junior College in Corsicana, Tex.), a junior college transfer who will arrive in the fall. In a pinch, USC could also turn to sophomore Mike MacGillivray, the punter who hasn't tried any placekicks at USC but was 14-of-17 on field goals and 33-of-37 on PATs as a high school senior.

KICKERS/PUNTERS

David Bell, Jr., PK-P	Handled kickoffs in '96 and '98
MIKE MacGILLIVRAY, So., P-PK	USC season punts, yards records
David Newbury, In. So., PK	'99 Fall JC transfer

SNAPPER

Senior Pat Swanson, who doubles as a tight end, is back for his third year as USC's long snapper on all punts and placekicks. He has performed this duty flawlessly. Linebacker Zeke Moreno and offensive tackle Brent McCaffrey, both juniors, will back him up.

HOLDER

Senior linebacker John Fox, the one-time quarterback who was the backup (but unused) holder on all placekicks last year, will replace last year's holder, Mike Bastianelli. Senior wide receiver Windrell Hayes and sophomore quarterback-wide receiver Matt Dalton are the backups.

RETURNERS

In senior wide receiver R. Jay Soward, USC has one of the country's pre-eminent return specialists. In his career, he has returned 3 kickoffs for touchdowns (the NCAA record is 6) while averaging 26.2 yards on 45 runbacks and 2 punts for scores while averaging 18.3 yards on 13 returns. He is third on USC's all-time kickoff return chart (1,178 yards). Although Larry Parker handled most of the punt returns in 1998 while Soward and Daylon McCutcheon did the kick returns, Soward could be in charge of both jobs in 1999. Other potential returners include senior tailback Chad Morton, who has returned a kickoff for a TD and who ranks 17th on Troy's career punt return list (338 yards) while averaging 8.2 yards per runback, sophomore cornerback Kris Richard, redshirt freshman tailback Sultan McCullough, senior tailback Petros Papadakis and sophomore tailback Malaefou MacKenzie.

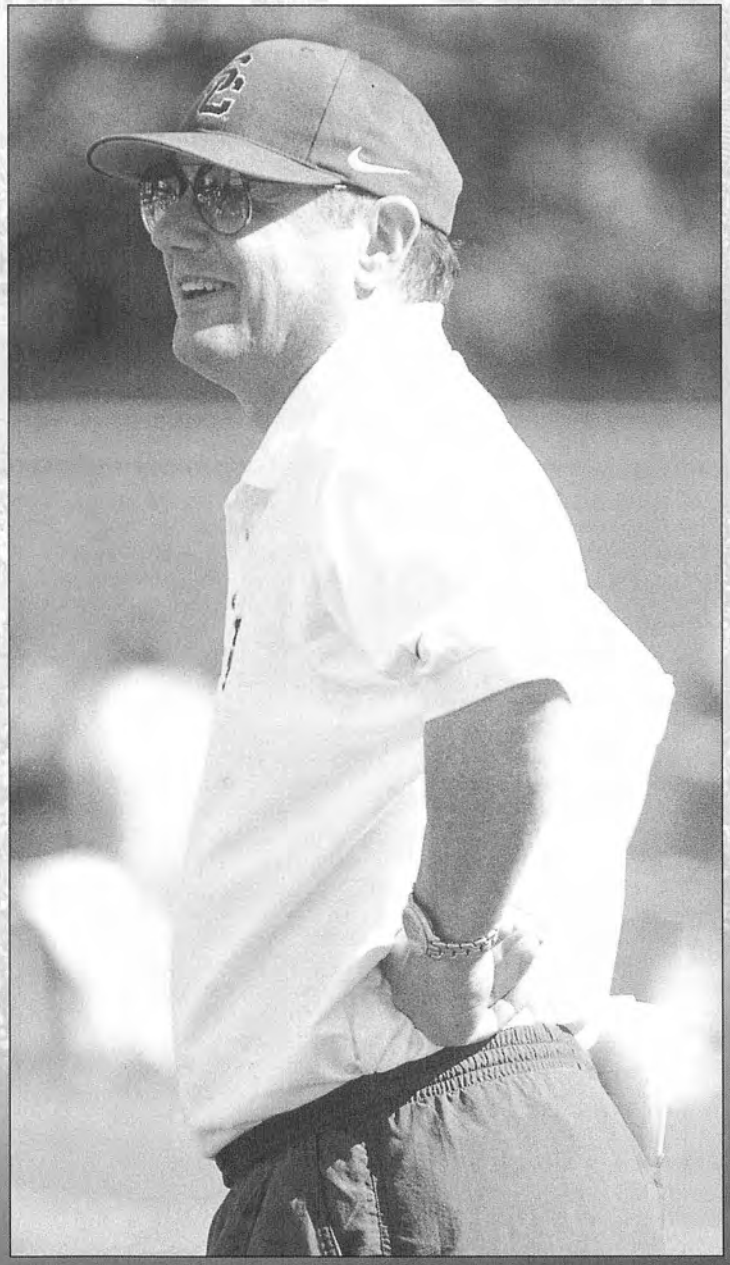
COACHES



USC HEAD COACH PAUL HACKETT

HEAD COACH PAUL HACKETT

Energetic and innovative Paul Hackett, a one-time USC assistant coach who has been on coaching staffs that have won a national championship in college and a Super Bowl in the pros, made an immediate mark on the Trojan football program upon his return to Troy as its head football coach.

In his first year at USC's helm, he led the Trojans to an 8-5 record in 1998 (5-3 in the Pac-10 for a third place tie) and a berth in the Sun Bowl. With his 1998 opening win over Purdue, he became the first head coach to win his Trojan debut since Jess Hill in 1951, and by starting off 3-0, he became only the third Trojan coach since 1915 to win his first three games (joining Hill in 1951 and the legendary Howard Jones in 1925). Hackett is 1 of only 2 USC head coaches to have won their first outing against Notre Dame (John Robinson is the other). Hackett, Robinson and Larry Smith are the only USC coaches to have guided squads to a bowl game in their first seasons at Troy.

Hackett replaced Robinson, who was relieved of his duties after 5 seasons at USC, on Dec. 17, 1997. Hackett, who was the offensive coordinator for the Kansas City Chiefs prior to coming to USC, officially started with the Trojans on Jan. 8, 1998, at the conclusion of the Chiefs' 1997 season. He signed a 5-year contract with Troy.

The 52-year-old Hackett, regarded as one of the game's most progressive offensive coaches, has 30 years of experience as a college and professional assistant and head coach. He has tutored some of football's top players—including Joe Montana, Marcus Allen, Jerry Rice, Andre Rison, Tony Dorsett, Steve Bartkowski, Charles White, Brian Sipe, Herschel Walker, Danny White, Dwight Clark and Vince Evans—and has worked under such head coaches as Bill Walsh, Tom Landry, Marty Schottenheimer and Robinson.

Before coming to Troy, Hackett was the offensive coordinator at Kansas City for 5 years (1993-97). The Chiefs advanced to the NFL playoffs in 4 of those years, including the 1997 season while capturing the AFC West title with an AFC-best regular season record of 13-3 (with wins in their last 6 regular season contests).

Before that, he was at the University of Pittsburgh (1989-92), the first season as the quarterbacks coach and then 3 seasons as the Panthers' head coach (posting a 13-20-1 record). He actually took over the head coaching reins prior to the 1989 John Hancock Bowl, a 31-28 win over Texas A&M. Pitt was eighth nationally in total offense and passing offense in 1992, and Panther quarterback Alex Van Pelt ranked in the NCAA's Top 10 in total offense in 1991 and 1992.

As a college coach, he has a 21-25-1 overall mark in 4 seasons.

Hackett began his coaching career for 3 seasons (1969-71) at his alma mater, UC Davis, assisting the freshmen the first year and then directing the frosh to a 13-0 mark over the next 2 seasons.

He then was an assistant at California for 4 years (1972-75), the first season as a graduate assistant, the next as the receivers coach (tutoring Golden Bear greats Wesley Walker and Steve Rivera) and the final 2 as the quarterbacks coach. Bartkowski was the NFL's No. 1 draft pick after being the NCAA's leading passer as an All-American in 1974 and the late Joe Roth led the Pac-8 in passing and total offense the following year while directing the NCAA's top-ranked offense.

Then, at age 29, Hackett moved to USC for 5 years (1976-80), where under Robinson he was in charge of the quarterbacks and receivers for the first 2 years and then the quarterbacks and passing game the final 3 years. During his Trojan tenure, USC was the 1978 national champion, won 4 bowl games (including 3 Rose Bowls), posted a 50-8-2 record and produced a Heisman Trophy winner (White). Among his quarterbacks, Evans was the MVP of the 1977 Rose Bowl, Paul McDonald was a 1979 All-American first teamer while setting 17 NCAA, Pac-10 and USC records, and Rob Hertel established a pair of USC marks. Wide receiver Randy Simmrin also set 2 USC records under Hackett.

Hackett began his pro coaching career as quarterbacks coach with the Cleveland Browns for 2 seasons (1981-82).

He next was the quarterbacks and receivers coach with the San Francisco 49ers for 3 years (1983-85). The 49ers won Super Bowl XIX in the 1984 season.

He then became the pass offense coordinator with the Dallas Cowboys for 3 years (1986-88) before returning to the college ranks at Pitt.

Hackett started at quarterback for 3 years at UC Davis (1966-68). He led the Far Western Conference in passing as a senior while earning All-Conference first team honors. After starting out as a pre-med major, he received his bachelor's degree in history from UC Davis in 1969.

The son of a biochemistry professor father, the late David (who taught at California after receiving his doctorate from Harvard) and a mother, Sarah, who was a nurse, Hackett played football (quarterback), basketball and baseball at Miramonte High in Orinda, Calif., in the Bay Area.

He was born on July 5, 1947 in Burlington, Vt., sharing a birthday with former USC head coach John McKay. He and his wife, Elizabeth (they met as students at UC Davis), have 2 sons, David, 27, and Nathaniel, 19. David played on the 1988 Texas Division III state football champion while at Carroll High in Southlake, Tex. David is an administrative assistant with the USC football program and Nathaniel is a redshirt freshman on UC Davis' football team.

As a hobby, Hackett collects old music juke boxes filled with 1950s and 1960s rock 'n roll music. A rock music fan, he sat in the front row at the final Beatles concert, held in 1966 in Candlestick Park in San Francisco.

USC HEAD FOOTBALL COACH PAUL HACKETT

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING ABOUT PAUL HACKETT

USC athletic director Mike Garrett: "I'm very excited about Paul Hackett becoming our football coach. Paul is the right man at the right time for USC. Our relationship goes back to the first time he was at USC. I've always regarded him as a fine teacher who knows how to coach winning football."

Former San Francisco 49ers head coach Bill Walsh: "If there was to be a change at USC, I can't think of a better hire than this one. This is a very, very bright, if not brilliant, football coach. He's the best young mind I've ever worked with. He understands offenses in a way few do. Paul brings the versatility and flexibility needed today to compete, and his offensive mind gives a program more opportunities to answer the challenges. USC is catching Paul at the right time in his life and in his career. He is on his way up. His star is still on the rise. He's going to take USC places. As bright a star as Paul has been, he would not have been as good a head coach for USC right now had he not been through the wars and paid the price at Dallas, the University of Pittsburgh and Kansas City. That seasoning was critical. It shaped him. Paul is just a great choice for USC."

Cincinnati Bengals linebacker Tom Tumulty, formerly at Pitt under Hackett: "The guy has a genius mind for offense, but I knew him and loved him as a head coach. If I had the chance to tell the parents of USC players what they're getting, it's a guy who will make sure their sons leave with a degree, a guy who will really take care of them. They said he couldn't recruit at Pitt, but there are five or six guys just from my class in the NFL right now."

ESPN analyst Merril Hoge: "Young players see how hot the West Coast offense is in the NFL. They want to be in that system and Paul Hackett can sell that to them. And he should be able to get the type of talent that can make that system successful. Look at what he did at Kansas City in 1997, utilizing four different backs and playing through the change at quarterback, and that offense was still very potent and they had the best record in the AFC. He'll do a fabulous job at USC."

Former USC and NFL quarterback Paul McDonald, who played for Hackett in college and the pros (Cleveland, Dallas): "Hiring Paul is a huge coup for USC. He understands USC. He puts a tremendous amount of pressure on himself to win every time out, and that's what he's going to demand from the USC team. I think one thing he can do at USC is instill in the players the way it used to be. When I played for him, everything was football with Paul. He talked about football all the time. Sometimes you'd get to the point when you were hanging out with him where you just said, 'Hack, enough. I'm tired of talking about football.' But he never was."

St. Louis Rams assistant coach Mike White, on whose California staff Hackett served: "He's a real student of the game and he's tremendously involved with the players. He made an immediate impression at Cal and did a great job. I was just really impressed with his approach to the game and his desire to learn. He's got the background and the experience, and I'd be real surprised if he's not real successful at USC."

Seattle Seahawks head coach Mike Holmgren: "I enjoy talking football with him probably more than anybody I know because he's really one of the outstanding teachers and coaches I've ever been around."

Texas A&M head coach R. C. Slocum: "He's the best young mind in the game."

Former Cleveland Browns coach Sam Rutigliano: "He's very outgoing, very gregarious, very emotional. He's not a yes man. He'll express his ideas."

Former Kansas City Chiefs head coach Marty Schottenheimer: "Without question, he's the best quarterbacks coach I've ever seen in my life. I have never been around a guy who is a better technician and coach of quarterbacks. You talk about a guy who's committed to his job, who's committed to putting in the time to be successful and make things run smoothly—that's what Paul Hackett is all about. He came in here and I had to look at myself and say, 'Marty, are you working hard enough?'"

Green Bay Packers offensive coordinator Sherman Lewis, formerly an assistant at the San Francisco 49ers with Hackett: "He's very thorough, very organized, quite a perfectionist. He demands everything from his players. He's a tireless worker, loves the game and works his rear off. He's very creative. He likes to change formations, play around with them. He's the kind of guy who can talk football 20 hours a day. He doesn't have many hobbies. Football's his world."

Former Kansas City Chiefs tight ends coach Jim Erkenbeck: "He is tremendous under pressure, a great thinker, a great people person."

New York Jets running back Curtis Martin, formerly at Pitt under Hackett: "He'll definitely have success at the collegiate level. He's already done that at Kansas City on the professional level."

Kansas City Chiefs wide receiver Andre Rison: "He's the best offensive coordinator I've ever played for. A lot of guys have their own ideas about how they do things—and should, because they're the boss—but Paul listens to his players. He hears what we have to say and works with us."

Former USC head coach and current UNLV head coach John Robinson: "Paul Hackett is a good guy and a good coach. He'll do a good job."

Former San Francisco 49ers and Kansas City Chiefs quarterback Joe Montana: "The thing that Paul spends a lot of time on is detail, probably more so than anybody I have been associated with. It's constant, constant. Everything you do is scrutinized, from little handoff drills to footwork in passing. He drills and drills and tests and really prepares you well."

Buffalo Bills quarterback Alex Van Pelt, formerly at Pitt under Hackett: "I know one thing already. USC is going to have a great offense. My success is all because of Paul Hackett. I think he's the guru of footwork, something that's very important in the offense he runs because of its timing and rhythm. He's very much the teacher and, working with him for four years (at Pitt), we giggled at the end because he would be teaching the same simple play as if he had never gone over it before, but that's how much emphasis he places on fundamentals."

San Francisco 49ers offensive line coach Bobb McKittrick: "Paul will take a college quarterback, work with him a couple of years, and he will be an NFL quarterback, guaranteed."

Former Kansas City Chiefs quarterback Rich Gannon: "His attention to detail is unbelievable. Some offensive coordinators care about the passing game or the running game and don't have a lot of idea what's going on in the other parts of the offense. But Paul is totally aware of blocking schemes, footwork, the run, the pass, the whole deal. It's a pleasure watching him work. And it's how hard he works, too. Paul works harder in the off-season than most offensive coordinators work during the season."

ASSISTANT COACHES

Steve Greatwood

Offensive Line

Steve Greatwood, one of the nation's premier offensive line coaches, is in his second season at USC. He joined the Trojan staff in February of 1998.

In 1998, USC offensive guard Travis Claridge was named to the All-Pac-10 first team.

Greatwood, 41, has 19 years of experience coaching the offensive line. He came to USC after being the offensive line coach at Maryland in 1997. Before that, he handled the offensive line and tight ends for the St. Louis Rams for 2 seasons (1995-96).

He spent the prior 15 years (1980-94) coaching at Oregon, his alma mater. After serving as a graduate assistant coach the first 2 seasons there, he worked with the offensive line and tight ends the rest of the time. The Ducks played in 4 bowls during his tenure, including the 1995 Rose Bowl. Among the players he coached who went into the NFL was All-Pro tackle Gary Zimmerman.

Greatwood started at offensive guard for 3 years (1977-79) at Oregon and played in the Hula Bowl after his senior season. He received his bachelor's degree in sociology from Oregon in 1981. He prepped at Churchill High in Eugene, Ore.

He was born on Aug. 15, 1958. He and his wife, Sheri, have 3 daughters: Kallie, 16, and 11-year-old twins Tessa and Emmy.

Hue Jackson

Offensive Coordinator
Running Backs

Hue Jackson, a proponent of the West Coast offense, is in his third year at USC as offensive coordinator. Hired in December of 1996, he also coached the Trojan quarterbacks in 1997 and beginning in 1998 has handled the running backs.

He led California's high-powered offense in 1996 as its offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach. Under Jackson, the 1996 Golden Bears averaged 457.6 yards of total offense (No. 2 in the Pac-10) and led the league in passing offense (321.5). Cal quarterback Pat Barnes (who was a fourth round draft pick by the Kansas City Chiefs) led the Pac-10 in total offense and passing efficiency.

Jackson, 33, has 12 years of coaching experience. Before his season at California, he spent 4 years (1992-95) at Arizona State. He was ASU's running backs coach for the first 3 years (1992-94), where he coached future NFL second rounder Mario Bates, then he handled the Sun Devil quarterbacks in 1995 as Jake Plummer—a future second round NFL draft selection by the Arizona Cardinals—was an All-Pac-10 first teamer.

Jackson began his coaching career in 1987 at Pacific, his alma mater. He spent 3 years (1987-89) there, the first 2 working for future USC assistant Bob Cope. After serving as a Tiger graduate assistant working with the tight ends in 1987, he became the wide receivers coach in 1988 and the running backs coach in 1989. He also worked with the special teams while at Pacific.

For the next 2 years (1990-91), he was the running backs coach and special teams coach at Cal State Fullerton. Between those 2 seasons, in the spring of 1991, he coached the running backs, receivers and special teams for the World League's inaugural year champion London Monarchs.

Jackson also held 3 NFL summer coaching internships, in 1990 with the Los Angeles Rams (working with ex-USC coach John Robinson), 1992 with the Phoenix Cardinals and 1995 with the Washington Redskins.

Jackson was a standout quarterback at Pacific under Cope in 1985 and 1986, throwing for 2,544 yards and 19 TDs in his career. As a senior, he passed for 1,455 yards and rushed for 417 yards. As a junior, he threw for 1,089 yards (52.3% completions) and ran for another 502 yards. He also lettered in basketball at Pacific in 1986. He received his bachelor's degree in education from Pacific in 1987.

He starred in football at Glendale (Calif.) Community College in 1983 and 1984, where he earned his associate's degree in 1984. He prepped at Dorsey High in Los Angeles.

Born Oct. 22, 1965, he and his wife, Michelle, have 2 daughters, Jordyn, 5, and Baylee, 2.

Steve Morton

Steve Morton, the newest member of the USC coaching staff, joined the Trojans in July of 1999 as the tight ends coach.

Morton, 46, has 24 years of coaching experience. He came to USC from Washington, where he was the offensive line coach the previous 7 years (1992-98). He also worked with the kicking game. Among the Husky linemen he coached were 3 All-American first teamers (guard Benji Olson in 1996 and 1997, center Olin Kreutz in 1997 and tackle Lincoln Kennedy in 1992) and 5 All-Pac-10 first teamers (Olson and Kreutz twice each, Kennedy, Frank Garcia and Tom Gallagher). He also coached 3 players who won the Pac-10's Morris Trophy as the league's top lineman (as voted by the league's defensive linemen): Kreutz (1997), Bob Sapp (1996) and Kennedy (1992). Kennedy, who was a Lombardi Award finalist in 1992, was a NFL first round selection in 1993.

Morton began his coaching career at his alma mater, Washington State, where he served for 12 years (1975-86). First, he was a graduate assistant for 2 seasons (1975-76). He then was the Cougars' offensive line coach and junior varsity head coach in 1977. He handled WSU's tight ends for the next 4 years (1978-81) and then was the offensive line coach for the final 5 seasons (1982-86). He coached Dan Lynch, the 1984 Morris Trophy winner who was an All-Pac-10 first team pick in 1983 and 1984.

He then went with Cougar coach Jim Walden to Iowa State, where he was in charge of the offensive line for 5 years (1987-91) before he moved on to Washington.

Morton played center and offensive guard at Washington State in 1973 and 1974 after transferring from Grays Harbor Community College in Aberdeen, Wash., where he played in 1971 and 1972. He was an All-Northwest Junior College pick in 1972. He received his bachelor's degree in physical education from Washington State in 1976.

He prepped at W. F. West High in Chehalis, Wash.

Born on Oct. 19, 1953, he and his wife, Karen, have a son, Beau, 23, and a daughter, Bethany, 19.

Ken O'Brien
Quarterbacks

It's safe to say that Ken O'Brien, in his second year as USC's quarterbacks coach, knows a thing or two about the position. He joined the Trojan staff in March of 1998.

The former long-time NFL quarterback spent the 1997 season as the quarterbacks coach at UC Davis, his alma mater. The Aggies were an NCAA Division II semifinalist and quarterback Kevin Daft ranked 25th in passing efficiency in NCAA Division II (the team was fifth in passing offense in NCAA Division II).

O'Brien, 38, played 11 years (1983-93) in the NFL, the first 10 with the New York Jets and 1993 with the Philadelphia Eagles. He was the Jets' first round draft pick in the 1983 draft and went on to rank second behind Joe Namath on the team's career passing yardage (24,386) and touchdown passes (124) lists. A 2-time (1985-91) Pro Bowl selection, he was named the AFC's MVP by the Washington D.C. Touchdown Club in 1985 when he became the first Jet to lead the NFL in passing (297-of-488, 60.9%, 3,888 yards, 25 TDs, 8 interceptions, 96.4 rating). He passed for 300-plus yards 15 times with the Jets, twice for more than 400 yards (including 479 against Miami in 1986). He guided the Jets into the playoffs in 1985, 1988 and 1991. In his 11-year career (he started for 7 seasons, 1985-91), he completed 2,110-of-3,602 passes (58.6%) for 25,094 yards, 128 TDs and 96 interceptions. His career passing rating of 80.4 ranks among the Top 20 of NFL quarterbacks.

He is UC Davis' all-time leader in passing yards (6,637) and attempts (820) while starting his 3 seasons (1980-82) there. He was an All-American first teamer as a 1982 senior and led the 12-1 Aggies to the national championship game (an injury kept him from that contest). He was an All-Conference first teamer each season and was the Conference Offensive Player of the Year his junior and senior campaigns. His 2,976 passing yards in 1982 (on 217-of-349 passing, 62.2%, with a school-record 23 TDs) is second on the school's season list. UC Davis went 25-7-1 in his career as he completed 470-of-830 passes (56.6%) for 6,637 yards, 44 TDs and 25 interceptions (the completions and touchdowns were school records that have since been broken). He also is second on the school's career total offense chart (6,563 yards, 1 yard short of the leader). He was inducted into the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall of Fame in 1997 and the UC Davis Athletic Hall of Fame in 1988.

He received his bachelor's degree in political science from UC Davis in 1983.

He started as a 1978 freshman at Sacramento State, hitting 64-of-156 passes (41.0%) for 714 yards, 4 TDs and 4 interceptions.

He prepped at Jesuit High in Sacramento, Calif., starring in football and baseball.

He was a sports broadcaster at KCRA-TV in Sacramento in 1995 and 1996.

Born Nov. 27, 1960, he and his wife, Stacey, have 3 daughters—Taylor, 12, Paige, 8, and Blake, 6—and a son, Kelly, 10.

Ed Orgeron

Defensive Line

Ed Orgeron, regarded as one of college football's premier defensive line coaches, is in his second season as USC's defensive line coach. He joined the USC staff in January of 1998.

In 1998, Trojan defensive tackle Ennis Davis was named to the All-Pac-10 first team.

Orgeron, 38, was Syracuse's defensive line coach the previous 3 seasons (1995-97) and the Orangemen played in a bowl game each year. He came to Syracuse from Nicholls State, where he was the linebackers coach in 1994.

Mike Wilson

It's safe to say that Mike Wilson knows a thing or two about the wide receiver position. Now in his third year as USC's wide receivers coach after being hired in March of 1997, he played the position on 4 Super Bowl championship teams with the San Francisco 49ers and then coached it collegiately and professionally.

He also organizes the recruiting efforts of the Trojan coaching staff.

Wilson, 40, has 7 years of coaching experience. The 2 seasons (1995-96) before coming to USC, he was the wide receivers coach for the Oakland Raiders. Wide receiver Tim Brown was named an All-Pro both of those seasons.

Before that, he spent 3 years (1992-94) at Stanford coaching the wide receivers and tight ends. The 1992 Cardinal squad went 10-3 (including a 23-9 victory over USC), was the Pacific-10 co-champion, finished ranked No. 9 in the nation and beat Penn State in the Blockbuster Bowl. In 1994, Stanford wide receiver Justin Armour won All-Pac-10 first team honors and set the school career receiving yardage record. Armour and tight end Tony Cline both were fourth round picks of the Buffalo Bills in the 1995 NFL draft, while tight end Ryan Wetnight was a free agent signee of the Chicago Bears. The 1993 and 1994 Stanford squads topped the Pac-10 in passing offense.

Wilson spent his entire 10-year (1981-90) NFL playing career as a wide receiver with the 49ers (current USC head coach Paul Hackett was an assistant there for 3 of those years). He was on 4 of San Francisco's Super Bowl winners (1981-84-88-89) and is 1 of only 3 wide receivers in NFL history who have 4 Super Bowl rings (the others are ex-Trojan Lynn Swann and John Stallworth of the Pittsburgh Steelers). In his 49ers career, Wilson caught 182 passes for 2,470 yards (13.6 avg.) and 17 touchdowns. His best season was 1988, when he had 33 receptions for 406 yards (12.3 avg.) and 3 TDs while starting 11 games. In 1987, he started 8 times and had 29 catches for a career-best 450 yards (15.5 avg.) and 5 scores.

Wilson was a 3-year (1978-80) letterman at Washington State, where he caught 47 passes for 716 yards (15.2 avg.) and 6 touchdowns in his career. He earned his bachelor's degree in communications at Washington State in 1981.

He attended Carson (Calif.) High, where he was a prep All-American in both football and basketball. Carson won the L.A. City basketball title in his senior season.

He was born Dec. 19, 1958. He and his wife, Tona (she earned bachelor's and master's degrees from USC), have 2 daughters: Samantha, 10, and Emma, 8. His brother, Dr. Keith Wilson, is a USC graduate.

Sultan ABDUL-MALIK

Linebacker-Defensive End

1999: The quick Abdul-Malik, known for his ability to make sacks, will start for his third season as a junior in 1999, this year at strongside linebacker (he was a linebacker in high school) after starting the previous 2 years at defensive end. He could be in line for post-season honors.

PAUL HACKETT SAYS: "Sultan has set a real standard for himself with his play the past 2 seasons. He's a big-play player who still has 2 years of great football ahead of him."

1998: Abdul-Malik started for his second season at defensive end as a sophomore in 1998. Overall in 1998 while starting all 13 games, he had 34 tackles, including 10 for losses of 55 yards (with a team-high 8 sacks for minus 52 yards), plus 2 deflections and a blocked field goal. He had 5 tackles against TCU in the Sun Bowl and 4 stops against Arizona State and UCLA. He blocked a field goal against Washington. He was named to the 1998 Football News All-American honorable mention and All-Pac-10 second team.

1997: Abdul-Malik started at defensive end in USC's last 9 games of 1997 as a redshirt freshman (he backed up Lawrence Larry there for the first 2 contests). He was named to the 1997 Sporting News Freshman All-American first team. Overall while appearing in all 11 games in 1997, he had 26 tackles, including 15 for losses of 64 yards (with a team-best 7 sacks for minus 42 yards), plus 3 deflections and 2 forced fumbles (against Washington State and UNLV). He had 5 tackles (2 were sacks) against Washington State, 4 stops versus California (3 were sacks) and UNLV (2 for losses), and 3 tackles (2 for losses, with a sack) at Notre Dame.

1996: Abdul-Malik redshirted as a freshman linebacker in 1996, his first year at USC.

HIGH SCHOOL: He was named a 1995 Super Prep All-American, Super Prep All-Far West, Blue Chip All-Western, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, All-CIF Division II, Los Angeles Times All-San Gabriel Valley first team, Pasadena Star News All-West Valley first team and All-Pacific League Defensive Co-MVP as a senior at Arcadia (Calif.) High. He made 127 tackles (88 solo), 4 sacks, 4 interceptions and 5 forced fumbles as a linebacker in 1995, and also rushed for 500-plus yards and 5 TDs as a fullback.

He added 90 tackles and 3 interceptions as a 1994 junior while being named to the Pasadena Star News All-West Valley second team. In his career, he posted 300-plus tackles, 31 tackles for losses, 15 sacks, and 7 interceptions.

PERSONAL: He's a public policy and management major at USC. His father, Ed Powell (now Wali Abdul-Malik), starred at linebacker for USC in 1972 through 1974, earning All-Pacific-8 in 1974 (Troy played in 3 Rose Bowls during his career and won the national championship in 1972 and 1974). His mother, Sheila, played in the Trojan Marching Band. His first name (Sultan) means "King" and his last name (Abdul-Malik) means "Server of God." His brother, Hassan, is a sophomore on Cal State Northridge's football team. His nickname is "Diesel." He enjoys listening to music. His sports hero is Muhammad Ali.

SULTAN ABDUL-MALIK ON: His impressive performance in 1997: "It was a combination of things I did working hard in the off-season and also being given the chance to play the 'strike' position. That gave me a chance to do a lot of things, a lot of stunts, a lot of movement...Any playing time I got, I took advantage of. But I didn't expect it to be easy, because I had never played a down of college football."

His game-ending midfield 10-yard sack of Ron Powlus in USC's 20-17 win at Notre Dame in 1997: "It was the most exciting play I've ever made. I feel blessed to have had the chance to make that last sack. The coaches told me to just contain the quarterback on that play, but I was just so excited that I started to contain, then ran inside and sacked the quarterback...It was really exciting to finish a game like that. I saw Powlus just laying there kind of in disbelief. The next thing I saw were a bunch of people running onto the field and hugging each other...The last four plays of the game, I was really sucking air. But when the quarterback said 'Hike,' the whole thing just engulfed me and I didn't even think about being tired out there."

His spectacular sack of Washington State's Ryan Leaf in 1997, while he leaped over a Cougar defender: "The coaches rewound it 10 times when we were watching the video the next day. Everybody was laughing about it."

His USC background: "My whole life I grew up around USC football and my mom also played in the band here one year. So I've got USC blood in me. I always knew I'd come here. It was always in the back of my mind. It was home...You could say I was one of those cases of being 'born and raised a Trojan.' I guess I wasn't going to go anywhere else but here. I think some of the other college coaches were a little intimidated when they came around to try to recruit me...My parents never shoved USC down my throat. In fact, my father never forced football on me or my brothers...When I told my parents I was going to go to USC, I'm sure I saw a little gleam in my father's eyes...The first college football game I ever attended was the 1990 USC-Notre Dame game at the Coliseum. It was just an exciting feeling being there. I remember thinking to myself, 'This is the kind of environment I want to play in one day.'"

His father: "He was my first coach on my Pop Warner team. He taught me how to play. I've been learning from him ever since. He's a big reason why I came to USC...He's everything to me. He's my life mentor. He keeps me on the straight road and gives me advice whenever he can. He has helped me every day...We're real close. He advises me a lot. Instead of a kidding around type of thing, it's more like he wants to guide me. He wants me to do well in school and on the football field. We have a good relationship. I really appreciate what he has done for me to get me here. Without him, I wouldn't be here...He keeps me focused on the balance between football and school...I always think, wow, he played here and now he sees me starting to have success like he did. I know he's so happy seeing me here, continuing where he left off...It's a motivation, following in his footsteps. Some- times I think about it, but I'm also trying to continue where my dad left off, keep going, moving forward and better the family name...I want to achieve what he did and more. I want to continue from where he was. I've just got to make him proud...He told me that when I went out the tunnel for my first game, I was going to get a big rush seeing all those people. He told me what I was about to see because he had already experienced it. I was looking forward to whatever he said was going to happen...Once, I was watching highlights of one of his games against Notre Dame. It was like I was watching myself play. He was doing the same things 20-something years ago that I do today, the same little moves and everything."

His Islamic faith: "Islam is a big influence. I really believe without God I wouldn't be where I am today. If I stay strong in my faith, that right there will help me keep doing what I'm doing. If I lose faith in God, everything will go downhill from there."

Muhammad Ali, his sports hero: "He reminds me of my dad. Muhammad Ali was a non-Muslim athlete who changed. He went through all of the adversity and was still the best at what he did. If he could make it as a Muslim athlete, I know I could. He's a great example of what you can do."

WHAT OTHERS SAY: His father, Wali Abdul-Mali: "It really sent chills down my spine as I sat in the stands for the (1997) Florida State opener and he ran out onto the field for his first varsity game. I was really so proud of him...I really respect him a lot. To see how he has blossomed into a young man. He's very responsible. I like his work ethic. I like the way he does things...My wife told me that when Sultan puts his hands on his hips on the field, he does kind of look like I did. It is eerie, especially now that he's playing on the same Coliseum field I did, against some of the same opponents, and dressing in the same locker room."

Former USC defensive line coach Jeff McInerney: "He plays fast and his practice habits are good. His feet never stop. Every good pass rusher you see does that. If he doesn't beat you with his first move, then he gets you with his second."

USC defensive line coach Ed Orgeron: "He's an old-fashioned, 'Yes sir, no sir' type of kid. There's no quesion that he's been raised well and that he has a great respect for the game."

Shamsud-Din ABDUL-SHAHEED

Defensive End-Tackle

Jr.*/Sr.

1999: After gaining valuable starting experience last season, Abdul-Shaheed is listed as a starting defensive end as a junior in 1999.

1998: Abdul-Shaheed started 7 games on the defensive line as a sophomore in 1998 and was an often-used backup the rest of the time. He started 5 games (San Diego State, Oregon State, Florida State, Arizona State and California) at end and twice (Washington and Stanford) at tackle for an injured Aaron Williams. Overall while appearing in all 13 games in 1998, he posted 25 tackles, including 6 for losses of 24 yards (with 5 sacks for minus 18 yards), and broke up a pass. He had 4 stops against Purdue and Florida State.

1997: Abdul-Shaheed, who was moved from linebacker to defensive end in 1997 spring practice, was a reserve at the position as a redshirt freshman in 1997. His only action in 1997 came late in the game at Oregon State, when he made a 7-yard sack and forced a Beaver fumble on the contest's final play.

1996: Abdul-Shaheed redshirted as a freshman linebacker in 1996, his first year at USC.

HIGH SCHOOL: His 1995 honors included Super Prep All-American, Super Prep All-Farwest, Bluechip All-Western, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best of the Rest, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, All-CIF Division IX, Los Angeles Times All-Central City first team and All-Camino Real League MVP as a senior at Verbum Dei High in Los Angeles (Calif.). He recorded 135 tackles (95 solo), 16 sacks, 6 fumble recoveries and 3 interceptions on defense in 1995 and posted a 91% blocking grade as an offensive lineman.

As a 1994 junior, he earned Los Angeles Times All-Central City second team and All-Camino Real League first team honors as he had 120 tackles, 12 tackles for losses, 7 sacks, 3 fumble recoveries and 3 interceptions.

He added 79 tackles, 6 sacks, 3 fumble recoveries and 3 interceptions (including a 70-yard TD return) as a 1993 sophomore while being named to the All-Camino Real League second team.

He also was on Verbum Dei's track team (shot put and discus, with a best of 49-7 in the shot and 162-0 in the discus). Current Trojan Jason Steen also prepped at Verbum Dei before moving to another high school.

PERSONAL: He's a political science major at USC. His nickname is "Havoc."

SHAMSUD-DIN ABDUL-SHAHEED ON: His role of occupying blockers instead of making tackles: "That's my job. If I can create a double team and make the linebackers free, then we win. It's not about who makes the tackle. If I do my job, that's good for the whole defense...It feels good to do what I'm doing. Of course, I want to sack quarterbacks, cause fumbles and take them back for a score. But a more realistic goal for me is to get better week after week. And make big plays."

Moving from linebacker to end in 1997: "It has worked out pretty well. I'm getting more chances to play and I can better use my assets—my quickness and my hands. I'm also seeing and learning the game on a different level...I'm able to succeed despite my size because it's mainly about leverage. I feel comfortable there. It's more physical than linebacker, but I've just got to get my hands on the lineman first and stop his charge at me...At defensive end, you're reading the offensive line, the blocking schemes. Your key is the tackle, since you're playing him straight up, and the tight end. At linebacker, your key is the guards."

1998: Carter was a reserve safety and key special teams player as a junior in 1998. Overall in 1998 while appearing in 12 games, he made 4 tackles. Jr.*/Sr.

1999: After sitting out the 1998 season, Childers is listed as a backup defensive end behind Shamsud-Din Abdul-Shaheed as a junior in 1999, but he figures to see plenty of action.

1998: Childers sat out his 1998 junior year after transferring from Kansas State. He signed with the Wildcats in the spring of 1998 from Chabot College in Hayward (Calif.) and went through spring drills, but then left. As a 1997 sophomore at Chabot, he earned Super Prep JUCO 100, Prep Star Top 100, J.C. Grid-Wire All-American second team, J.C. Travis CLARIDGE

CAREER: He has started all 36 games of his USC career.

1999: The big, strong, tough and aggressive Claridge will start for his fourth year on the right side of the offensive line (either at guard, where he's been his first 3 seasons, or tackle) as a senior in 1999 and he could be in line for All-American honors. He was selected to the 1999 pre-season All-American first team by Athlon magazine.

PAUL HACKETT SAYS: "Travis is doing what few offensive linemen have done in college football and that's be a 4-year starter. His impact and his improvement in technique and fundamentals were dramatic last season. He's primed to have his best year. He's a top-notch player with a superb future."

1998: Claridge proved to be one of college football's finest linemen as a junior in 1998 while starting for his third season at right offensive guard. He made the 1998 Football News All-American honorable mention and All-Pac-10 first teams, as well as USC's Offensive Lineman of the Year.

1997: Claridge started for his second season at right offensive guard as a sophomore in 1997. After the 1997 season, he had arthroscopic surgery to repair torn cartilage in his right shoulder and bone chips in his right ankle.

1996: Claridge, who started all of 1996 at right offensive guard as a first-year freshman, proved as good as advertised. He was named a 1996 Freshman All-American first teamer by The Sporting News. He became the first true freshman to start a season opener on the offensive line for USC since 1979 Lombardi Award winner Brad Budde did so at guard against Missouri in 1976. (Clay Hattabaugh was the last Trojan first-year freshman to start any game on the offensive line when he did so at Arizona in 1991 in the season's 10th contest. The last Trojan true freshman to start a season opener at any position was outside linebacker Willie McGinest versus Syracuse in the 1990 Kickoff Classic against Syracuse.) After the 1996 season, he had arthroscopic surgery to repair torn cartilage in his left shoulder.

HIGH SCHOOL: He was named a 1995 Parade All-American, USA Today All-USA first team, Super Prep All-American, Bluechip All-American (and Elite 22), Schutt Sports All-American, Student Sports Hot 100, Bluechip Best of the West, Super Prep All-Farwest, Bluechip All-Western, Student Sports All-West Coast, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best in the West first team, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, Tacoma News Tribune Northwest Nuggets, Gatorade Washington MVP, Prep Illustrated Washington MVP, All-State AAA, Columbian News Dream Team and All-Greater St. Helen League Offensive Lineman MVP as a senior two-way tackle at Fort Vancouver High in Vancouver (Wash.). Parade, USA Today and Bluechip picked him as the nation's No. 1-rated prep offensive lineman. He had 125 knockdown blocks on offense and 97 solo tackles with 23 sacks on defense in 1995.

As a 1994 junior, he averaged 15 knockdown blocks a game and made All-State AAA and Columbian News Dream Team.

As a sophomore in 1993, he made the Columbian News Dream Team and All-Greater St. Helen League. In his career, he posted 405 knockdown blocks, 142 solo tackles and 36 sacks.

PERSONAL: He's a history major at USC. His nickname is "Trapper." He was born in Detroit, Mich., and also lived in El Toro, Calif. As a youngster, he worked out with some athletic trainers, including former Trojan and NFL lineman Marv Marinovich (1959, 1961-62), the father of ex-USC and NFL quarterback Todd Marinovich (1989-90).

TRAVIS CLARIDGE ON: His performance: "I'm never satisfied with the way I played. Never. I think I've done all right considering the circumstances. I played my first two seasons on one arm. I blew out my left shoulder in the first game of my freshman year. And then I injured the other shoulder as a sophomore...I'm the same person I was when I first came here. I work hard. I play my butt off. That's all I can do...I feel like the leader of the offensive line because I'm the older guy and the other guys look up to me. All I can tell them to do is what I tell myself to do—just go out there, concentrate and just play as hard as you possibly can...I've taken a lot of heat, but that's fine. Give me the heat, don't give them the heat."

His goal: "I want to be the best lineman out there. I want to be the best of the best. That's my goal. Will I reach that goal? Well, if you shoot for the moon and miss, at least you're with the stars...I want to be the best lineman in the nation and I want to win at least one national championship."

Protecting the quarterback: "I take it personally when our quarterback gets hit. It's like somebody was slapping my mother in the face....I don't like to see my quarterback leaving the game dirty. I don't like to see him put hisuniform away to get it washed."

His playing style: "I just play hard. I don't ever quit...Every day, I just try to get better."

His demeanor: "Really, I'm a quiet guy. I don't talk very much. When I came in to USC, a lot of the team thought I was a cocky guy with a big ego."

Starting as a freshman: "That was my goal, to come in and start. I didn't want to redshirt. Why should you accept second when first is available? Once you do that, you tend to do it for the rest of your life...It was the hardest thing I've had to do, though. I played my first college game before I even set foot in a classroom."

His secret ambition of being a pro wrestler: "I'd want to be a bad guy. I want people to hate me when I'm wrestling. I think that would be fun, everybody booing!"

WHAT OTHERS SAY: USC offensive line coach Steve Greatwood: "In the past, he was more demonstrative out there. He would get on guys, yell. I asked him to channel that energy into a positive vein. He accepted that. He has been the rock of the offensive line."

Former USC quarterback Brad Otton: "People worried about the right side of our line at first (in 1996) with him there. But that became the strength of our line. He took a lot of pride in putting people on their backs. He got very offended when people hit me and were on top of me. He took it personally."

Former USC offensive guard Chris Brymer: "Travis is going to be a great player. He's already impressive."

Earl Gustkey, Los Angeles Times: "Is Travis Claridge too good to be true? Has there ever been an 18-year-old offensive lineman this good? What's he going to be like in 1999, when he's a senior?...At a time in football when some players have more earrings than battle scars, Claridge's is the profile of the old-fashioned football player. He looks as if he has jumped off a page in Street & Smith's 1956 college football preview."

Thom Simmons, USC Report: "When you see him up close and in living color, you have to ask yourself how anything besides a redwood tree could be that big at 18...He is 6-6, 300 pounds of pure determination."

Steve Guiremand, Long Beach Press-Telegram: "Claridge is 6-foot-6, 300 well-chistled pounds and has a face that brings back memories of late pro wrestling star Dick the Bruiser."

Steve Bisheff, Orange County Register: "He has a face that looks like it belongs in one of those 1955 Street & Smith football annuals. An attitude that could be best described as 'early Dick Butkus.' Travis Claridge is not lean, but he is certainly mean."

Ennis DAVIS

Defensive Tackle

Jr.*/Sr.
#99

1999: The big, imposing Davis returns as a starting defensive tackle as a junior in 1999 after a stellar 1998 season and could be in line for additional post-season honors. He was selected to the 1999 pre-season All-American first team by Athlon magazine. He missed 1999 spring drills while recuperating from a knee injury.

PAUL HACKETT SAYS: "Ennis' performance last season put him on the edge of stardom. His work ethic is evident in his rehabilitation from his knee injury and we expect a full recovery."

1998: Davis started 11 games (all but Arizona State and Notre Dame) at defensive tackle as a much-improved sophomore in 1998. Overall while appearing in all 13 games in 1998, he made 47 tackles, including a team-best 13 for losses of 31 yards (with 3 sacks for minus 15 yards), and also deflected 4 passes, recovered a fumble and forced a fumble. He had a huge game against Arizona State (6 tackles, 1 blocked field goal, and a forced fumble which he recovered) and he added 6 stops at Washington State, 5 (with 2 for losses) at both Oregon and Stanford, and 4 versus Notre Dame. He added 5 stops against TCU in the Sun Bowl before tearing ligaments in his left knee and having post-season surgery. He made the 1998 All-Pac-10 first team and was USC's Defensive Player of the Year.

1997: As just a redshirt freshman, Davis saw lots of action as the backup to Cedric Jefferson at a defensive tackle spot in 1997. Overall while appearing in all 11 games in 1997, he made 15 tackles, including 6 for losses of 9 yards (with a 4-yard sack), plus 1 deflection. He had 4 tackles at Washington and 2 against California, Notre Dame, Stanford and Oregon State.

1996: Davis redshirted as a freshman defensive tackle in 1996, his first year at USC. He suffered a sprained right ankle in practice prior to the Houston game and was out for 3 contests (Houston, California and Arizona). After the 1996 season, he had surgery to remove bone chips in his right shoulder.

HIGH SCHOOL: He was a 1995 Super Prep All-American, Bluechip All-American, Schutt Sports All-American, USA Today All-USA second team, Student Sports Hot 100, Bluechip Best of the West, Super Prep All-Farwest, Bluechip All-Western, Student Sports All-West Coast, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best of the Rest, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, Cal-Hi Sports All-State, All-L.A. City 3-A MVP, Los Angeles Times All-Valley, Los Angeles Daily News All-Valley first team and All-Pac-8 League Defensive MVP as a senior two-way lineman at Reseda (Calif.) High. He posted 115 tackles, 9 sacks, 4 deflections and 3 fumble recoveries in 1995 (he had 10 unassisted tackles in 5 different games). Reseda won the L.A. City 3-A title in 1995.

As a 1994 junior, he made All-L.A. City 3-A, Los Angeles Times All-Valley second team, Los Angeles Daily News All-Valley second team and All-Pac-8 League while getting 105 tackles, 8 sacks, 2 fumble recoveries, 1 interception and 1 blocked punt.

He added 75 tackles, 4 sacks and 2 fumble recoveries as a 1993 sophomore while winning All-Pac-8 League honors.

He also played basketball and was on the track team (shot put) at Reseda.

PERSONAL: He's a public policy and management major at USC. His sports hero is Bruce Smith.

ENNIS DAVIS ON: Being out of shape when he first came to USC: "I barely made it through the first practice. When I first came here, everyone knew I was out of shape. In high school, I never worked out. I was just bigger than everyone...My high school coach has a picture of me that USC sent them and he was surprised by how in-shape I looked."

WHAT OTHERS SAY: USC defensive line coach Ed Orgeron: "He's very similar to (ex-Miami All-American defensive lineman and NFL first rounder) Cortez Kennedy. He's lost a lot of weight, he's listened to his coaches and he's added a lot of quickness. He's coming around to play the way I thought he would."

USC strength coach Matt Schiotz: "Everyone told me he was 300-and-some pounds and a little soft. But if I had to name the top 10 workers in the weight room, Ennis would be up there. He's done everything we've asked. Ennis Davis is not lazy."

Reseda High coach Joel Schaeffer: "He is a gut-level, emotional-type football player. He has good lateral movement, good pursuit, and good speed for a big kid. He can chase down people and make a lot of tackles on the wide side of the field...Sometimes you see guys who develop too fast in high school and they don't have any room to grow. Ennis was really just starting to develop in his senior year."

Lonnie FORD

Defensive End-Linebacker

1999: Ford was switched to defense (from tight end) prior to 1999 spring drills, first working at linebacker and then defensive end, where he is listed as the backup to Kori Dickerson as a sophomore in 1999.

1998: Ford was the backup to Antoine Harris at tight end as a redshirt freshman in 1998, although he did start twice (Oregon State and Florida State) when Harris was bothered by an ankle sprain. Overall in 1998 while appearing in all 13 games, he caught 2 passes for 14 yards (7.0 avg.) with 1 TD (a 2-yarder at Washington State, the first TD of his career). He also had a 12-yard grab against San Diego State. He sprained his ankle at Stanford, which forced him out of most of that game. He missed 1998 spring practice while recovering from mononucleosis.

1997: Ford served as a reserve tight end and special teams player as a first-year freshman in 1997. He appeared in 3 of USC's first 5 games (all but Florida State and Washington State), but he broke his clavicle at Arizona State and was sidelined the remainder of 1997. The injury occurred on his only catch of 1997, a 5-yarder. Because of the early-season injury, he was allowed to redshirt.

HIGH SCHOOL: He was a 1996 Super Prep All-American, Prep Star All-American, USA Today All-USA honorable mention, Super Prep All-Farwest, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best in the West first team, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, Prep Star Best in the West, Cal-Hi Sports All-State second team, All-CIF San Diego Section first team (on defense), San Diego Union-Tribune All-San Diego County first team (and All-Academic team) and All-Eastern League Defensive MVP as a senior at Morse High in San Diego (Calif.). He had 31 catches for 342 yards (11.0 avg.) with 4 TDs as a tight end on offense in 1996 and 100-plus tackles with 19 sacks and 5 forced fumbles on defense as an end. Morse was a 1996 CIF San Diego Section Division I finalist.

As a 1995 junior, he made the All-CIF San Diego Section first team and San Diego Union-Tribune All-San Diego County first team while making 38 receptions for 396 yards (10.4 avg.) with 2 TDs on offense and 83 tackles on defense.

As a 1994 sophomore, he made the Cal-Hi Sports All-State Sophomore Super 25 while Morse won the CIF San Diego Section championship. Current Trojan Chris Prosser also attended Morse.

John FOX

CAREER: His 153 completions puts him 15th on USC's career passing chart.

1999: Playing his third position at USC (he was a quarterback, then tight end, then quarterback again), Fox was moved to linebacker prior to 1999 spring drills and will serve as a reserve on the weak side as a senior in 1999. He also will be the holder on all placekicks and will be a key special teams player, as well as an emergency quarterback.

PAUL HACKETT SAYS: "With John, the attitude, experience and leadership he'll bring to the linebacking corps will be invaluable. He's been a very important member of our team and he'll be used in a variety of roles this year."

1998: In fall practice as a junior in 1998, Fox—who started at quarterback in 1997—asked to be moved to tight end (he played sparingly there as the third-stringer). Then, prior to the California game, he asked to be moved back to quarterback, but he did not see any action there as the No. 3 signalcaller. He also saw some action on special teams.

1997: Despite having taken only 10 snaps and thrown only 2 passes (with no completions) in his career prior to 1997, Fox turned in steady performances while exhibiting poise and a strong arm as USC's starter in 9 games (the first 7 and the last 2; all but Washington and Stanford) in 1997 as a sophomore. Overall while appearing in all 11 games in 1997, he completed 153-of-280 passes (54.6%) for 1940 yards and 12 TDs with 8 interceptions. His 153 completions ranked him 12th on USC's season passing list. He had a streak of 90 pass attempts without an interception between the first and fourth games of the season. And he did all this playing on a sprained ankle and strained Achilles tendon that nagged him all season.

In the Florida State opener, he hit 18-of-32 passes for 159 yards with an interception, including going 15-of-21 for 129 yards in the second half, and scored USC's only points on a 2-yard scramble in the second quarter. He went 23-of-42 for 229 yards against Washington State. He threw the first TD passes of his career (a 33-yarder and 65-yarder) as he went 15-of-28 for a then-career-best 250 yards at California. He was 23-of-32 (tying his career-high for completions) for a career-best 355 yards (the ninth most yards in USC history and the most since Brad Otton threw for 391 against Northwestern in the 1996 Rose Bowl) and 2 TDs with 2 interceptions versus UNLV, but was particularly effective in USC's fourth-quarter comeback as he hit all 6 of his attempts in the final period for 159 yards and the 2 scores. He had an off day at Arizona State, hitting just 8-of-23 passes for 70 yards (he started off completing just 1 of his first 10 throws) before being replaced late in the third quarter. He bounced back with an efficient outing at Notre Dame, hitting 11-of-21 passes for 115 yards, including an 8-yard TD toss, despite being hobbled with a sprain of his good ankle that sidelined him part of the second half (he also ran for 28 yards on 4 carries, including a 23-yard scramble for USC's longest run of the year to that point). Against Oregon, he went 16-of-28 for 175 yards and 1 TD, but had an interception returned for a score. After starting USC's first 7 games, he didn't start at Washington, but played most of the second half and hit 4-of-7 passes for 37 yards. He played the fourth quarter against Stanford in relief of an injured Van Raaphorst and was 3-of-5 for 64 yards with a TD. He started at Oregon State, completing 18-of-28 passes for 228 yards and 2 TDs, and UCLA, hitting 14-of-34 passes for 258 yards and 2 scores, including an 80-yarder on USC's first play (but had 2 fourth-quarter interceptions).

1996: As a redshirt freshman reserve quarterback in 1996, Fox appeared briefly in 1 game (playing most of the fourth quarter against Oregon State, where he was 0-of-2 passing, with an interception).

1995: Fox redshirted as a freshman quarterback in 1995, his first year at USC.

HIGH SCHOOL: He was selected to the 1994 Super Prep All-American, Blue Chip All-American, USA Today All-USA honorable mention, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best in the West first team, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, Super Prep All-Farwest, Long Beach Press-Telegram All-State first team, Student Sports All-State second team, Riverside Press-Enterprise All-Riverside County first team and All-CIF Division IV first team as a senior at Centennial High in Corona (Calif.) He hit 128-of-220 passes (58.2%) for 1,754 yards, 17 TDs and just 3 interceptions in 1994 (he also ran 60 times for 305 yards, a 5.1 avg., and 3 scores).

As a 1993 junior, he threw for 1,425 yards with 5 TDs and ran for 312 yards and 7 scores. A 3-year starter, he threw for 3,446 yards and 24 TDs in his career.

PERSONAL: He's a gender studies major at USC. He enjoys water and snow skiing. His sports hero is Joe Montana.

JOHN FOX ON: His 1997 season: "It was a season full of expectations. I didn't know what to expect when I won the job. I didn't know what to expect when I lost the job. It was full circle. It was tough at times...When I lost the job mid-season, I felt ashamed. I felt I let the team down. I should have played better...The ankle injury in the opener definitely affected my throwing mechanics all season. I shifted to throwing off my front foot, instead of pushing off my back foot and transferring my weight forward. But I couldn't do that. But I never considered taking a few weeks off. The worst thing is watching a game. Injuries are injuries. They're part of the game. You can play through them. But watching, that's real painful."

Asking to be the scout team quarterback in 1996: "I wasn't seeing any reps in practice. I was just sitting there watching Brad Otton all day. I had to swallow my pride, which was hard as heck to do, and volunteer to be the scout team QB. I wasn't punishing myself. I just wanted to do anything to get better...It was fun. I got to play against the first-string defense. I could throw a bad ball and it was okay...It was kind of like getting thrown into the fire but you don't get burned. There was no pressure on me down there and instead of standing around I got to play every day. It gave me a chance to get work on getting better...I ran all the opponents' offense. By doing that, you learn to make decisions under pressure."

Spending the summer of 1996 working at a construction job instead of working out for football: "I had planned on running and throwing in my spare time after work, but I felt too beat up at the end of each day and never got around to it...When I came back to USC in the fall, I hadn't thrown a ball in three months. I was horrible. I was definitely worse than when I first came to USC. I was slow, out of shape, didn't know the calls. The coaches were mad at me and I was mad at myself. I vowed never to do that again...I was so embarrassed and frustrated with myself. It was my own fault."

His determination: "Ever since I was a little kid, I've always been a determined person. I can be very hard on myself sometimes. My mother taught me how to be strong and how to keep working...When I was in the seventh grade, I was a terrible football player and I decided to quit my Pee Wee team. But my mother wouldn't let me. She never let me quit anything I started."

1999: The hard-hitting and experienced Gibson—who usually can be found wherever the ball is—was moved back to his natural position of strong safety (from linebacker) prior to 1999 spring practice and will start there as a 1999 senior.

PAUL HACKETT SAYS: "David's position switch to linebacker last year turned out to be a positive move as he made a huge impact on and off the field for us. This year, he's back in a more natural position and we expect even bigger things from him as the leader of our secondary. He shows up all over the place. He's just a full-speed football player. From an efficiency standpoint, he's truly amazing. He's got tremendous instincts."

1998: Gibson started at weakside linebacker as a junior in 1998 and made a dramatic impact. Overall while appearing in all 13 games in 1998, he made 85 tackles (third on USC), including 7 for losses of 25 yards (with 3 sacks for minus 19 yards), forced 3 fumbles and recovered 3 other fumbles, broke up 5 passes and had an interception. He started 12 games (all but Notre Dame). He was a 1998 All-Pac-10 honorable mention pick. He was moved from strong safety in 1998 fall drills.

In the Purdue opener, he had 7 tackles and recovered a fourth quarter fumble that led to a Trojan touchdown. He had a huge game against San Diego State, with 8 tackles (all solo), including 3 sacks, plus 3 forced fumbles and 1 fumble recovery, and was named Pac-10 Defensive Player of the Week. Against Oregon State, he had 8 tackles and recovered his third fumble in as many games, then had 8 stops (1 for a loss) at Florida State. He returned a fourth-quarter interception 16 yards for a TD against Arizona State (he also had 7 tackles and 3 pass breakups). He had a game-high 12 stops against California, added 3 stops at Washington State, 9 at Oregon, 6 with a deflection against Washington and 8 at Stanford. He had 4 tackles at UCLA before being sidelined with a bruised thigh, which limited his action against Notre Dame to special teams (he notched 1 tackle). He made 5 tackles against TCU in the Sun Bowl before being sidelined with a concussion.

1997: Gibson was among USC's most pleasant surprises as just a sophomore in 1997 while starting 6 games at the rover linebacker spot (a combination linebacker and strong safety). He started the opener against Florida State (getting 2 tackles), then was benched and served as the backup to Antuan Simmons the next 5 contests (he played sparingly against Washington State and California, and didn't even record a tackle in those contests). But Gibson rejoined the starting lineup for the last 5 games based on his strong play off the bench and Simmons' move to strong safety. Overall while appearing in all 11 games in 1997, he made 66 tackles, including a team-best 20 for losses (tied for third in the Pac-10) of 75 yards (with 6 sacks for minus 36 yards), plus a Pac-10-leading 5 forced fumbles (2 each versus Oregon and Stanford, and 1 at Washington; 1 against Stanford set up a USC TD) along with 3 deflections. He led USC in tackles in 3 games (Notre Dame, Oregon and Oregon State). He was a 1997 All-Pac-10 honorable mention selection.

He had 9 tackles at Arizona State (1 for a loss), then had game-highs of 13 (with 3 for losses) at Notre Dame (he played most of that Irish contest because of injuries in the secondary) and 9 against Oregon in his first game back as a starter (he added 3 sacks for minus 23 yards and forced 2 fumbles). He added 8 tackles (3 for losses, including 2 sacks), plus a forced fumble, at Washington, 7 stops (4 for losses, with a sack), 2 forced fumbles and 2 deflections against Stanford, a team-best 7 tackles (1 for a loss) and a deflection at Oregon State, and then 8 tackles (4 for losses) against UCLA. Gibson was named Pac-10 Defensive Player of the Week for his outing against Oregon.

1996: As a first-year freshman, Gibson appeared in all 12 games in 1996 as a reserve safety and on special teams. Overall in 1996, he had 9 tackles (including 2 each against Penn State, Illinois and Washington).

HIGH SCHOOL: He was named to the 1995 Bluechip Best of the West, Super Prep All-Farwest, Bluechip All-Western, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best in the West honorable mention, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, All-CIF Division I, Los Angeles Times All-Orange County second team, and Orange County Register All-Orange County second team as a senior at Mater Dei High in Santa Ana (Calif.). He made 89 tackles with 1 interception in 1995 and had 72 tackles with 2 interceptions as a 1994 junior (Mater Dei was ranked the nation's No. 1 team). Current Trojan Lenny Vandermade also attended Mater Dei.

He also was on Mater Dei's track and baseball teams.

PERSONAL: He's a political science major at USC. He likes to play golf in his spare time.

DAVID GIBSON ON: His knack for always being around the ball: "That's an instinct. I want to get to the ball and get as many tackles as I can, just go to the ball. I can't explain it."

Hitting: "Hitting is just something that's in you. I just sacrifice my body. I don't have any fear of smacking a guy. It's some knack I have."

His playing style: "I always liked the style of a (ex-NFL star) Chuck Cecil-type, just reckless. I don't have any player who I compare myself to, but I just loved the way he would fly around and make the tackles."

His goal: "My goal is to become the best football player that I can, so that when it's all over I don't go away with any what ifs. I want to work hard at everything and improve my game the most that I can...I want to prove to the coaching staff that I'm a really good player and that I need to be out there every play."

Moving to weakside linebacker in 1998: "It was fine with me. It was either split time with Grant Pearsall at safety or become a linebacker. To tell you the truth, it's a good position for me...I was used to covering receivers and covering a lot of space from my safety days, so it was an easy transition, playing a lot of pass coverage. I feel like that's my specialty...I was able to use my speed to get away from the linemen. But I'm not afraid to come up and smack someone in the mouth. When they were expecting me to run around them, I'd come up and smack 'em. That was an advantage for me...Being my size was an advantage and a disadvantage. I'm faster than the linemen, but they can get on me with their size...I worked hard to stay slim as a safety, so the move allowed me to eat more. I used to wake up and not eat breakfast, but after the move, it was three meals a day. Unfortunately, most of it was in the mid-section!"

Being benched for 5 games after the 1997 opener: "It was weird. One game you're starting and everybody's talking about you. The next game you're not even playing. That's pretty tough...It was a shock. I didn't feel I had screwed up to lose the spot. It was a coaching decision that caught me off guard...It was real frustrating, something I didn't think would happen. So, any chance I got, I'd make the most of it because I wanted to earn the coaches' confidence. But it was tough to stay in the game mentally. I got resentful and asked myself, 'What aren't I playing?' But it was a good learning experience. Even though it's college, it's like work. There's competition. I've become a better player from it...It was kind of good in a way, because sometimes you take things for granted. You sit and think, 'Man, I need to be out there.' It puts a little fire into you. After that, I played with a lot more passion than I have in the past."

His outstanding performance in 1997: "I don't really know how to explain it. I went out and played every play as hard as I could and things just happened...Things have never really been easy for me, but once I got my spot back, I held onto it. I felt I needed to make something happen to stop the coaches from doubting me. I had more confidence than I ever had. I hit a guy and the ball would pop out...There's nothing better than experience. The more you play, you can see things better, you just feel more comfortable out there."

Golf: "I love golf. I'm really competitive at everything. You try not to be out there because it's supposed to be relaxing. It's not football. But if things don't go right, I get angry...During football season, I don't play much golf. I just don't have the time and my hands are usually so beat up that I can hardly hold a golf club."

WHAT OTHERS SAY: Former USC Butkus Award-winning linebacker Chris Claiborne: "You expect him to make plays. He has a lot of speed and he's very tenacious. He needs to be on the field all the time."

USC linebackers coach Shawn Slocum: "David Gibson makes plays, no matter what position he's at."

Derek GRAF

Offensive Tackle

Fr.*/So.
#73

1999: Graf, whose father played at USC in the early 1970s, is listed as the backup left offensive tackle behind Brent McCaffrey as a redshirt freshman in 1999.

1998: Graf redshirted as a freshman offensive tackle in 1989, his first year at USC. He was bothered by a sprained knee throughout the year.

HIGH SCHOOL: He earned 1997 Super Prep All-Farwest, Prep Star All-Western Region and All-Marmonte League first team honors as an offensive lineman at Agoura (Calif.) High. He had an 85% blocking grade as a 1997 senior. Agoura sent 7-4 in 1997.

A 2-year starter, Agoura led the league in rushing both seasons. He also played nose guard on defense. He also played basketball at Agoura.

PERSONAL: His father, Allan, lettered 3 years (1970-72) at offensive guard at USC, playing on Troy's 1972 national championship team and then appearing in the 1973 College All-Star Game (he is now a stunt coordinator and second unit director in the movie industry).

WHAT OTHERS SAY: Agoura High head coach Charlie Wegher: "Derek is very physical with good quick feet. He has all the tools. He can run block and pass protect as well as anyone we've ever had at Agoura. He is a coach's dream. He is always very focused and he loves to play the game. He has improved more than any player I've ever coached."

Jason GRAIN

Offensive Guard

#79

1999: After starting in 1998, Grain enters his 1999 senior season listed as the backup to Donta Kendrick at left offensive guard, but should push to regain his starting spot.

PAUL HACKETT SAYS: "Jason made dramatic improvement last year and can continue to do so if he pushes himself. He has extraordinary power and is learning how to deliver it."

1998: Grain started 11 games on the offensive line as a junior in 1998, 9 times at left guard and twice at center (Oregon State and Florida State when regulars Matt McShane and Eric Denmon were injured). Overall, he appeared in all 13 games in 1998 (he came off the bench at guard at Oregon and versus TCU in the Sun Bowl).

1997: Grain served as the backup to Chris Brymer at left offensive guard as a sophomore in 1997. He appeared in 10 games (all but the Florida State opener) in 1997, primarily on special teams.

1996: Grain, a reserve offensive guard and center as a redshirt freshman in 1996, saw action only in 1 game in 1996 (at guard late in the Oregon State contest). He was moved from center to offensive guard in 1996 spring practice.

1995: Grain redshirted as a freshman center in 1995, his first year at USC.

HIGH SCHOOL: He made 1994 Super Prep All-Farwest, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, All-CIF Division VII first team, Los Angeles Times All-Orange County first team, Orange County Register All-Orange County second team and All-Freeway League first team as a senior at Sonora High in La Habra (Calif.). He allowed just 1 sack in 10 games on offense in 1994 and posted 55 tackles (6 for losses) on defense. As a 1993 junior, he made All-Freeway League. In track, he was the Freeway League shot put champion in 1994.

PERSONAL: He's a history major at USC. His uncle, Jimmy Dubose, was a running back for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers (1976-78).

JASON GRAIN ON: Size: "It's not about bulk, it's about talent and quickness."

Being in better shape: "I used to get tired real fast. After a couple of plays, I used to get winded. But now I feel great. It really does show in the fourth quarter...It all starts with (USC strength coach) Matt Schiotz. He has made a world of difference. He helped turn me from a guy with a weight problem into someone who is lean and in condition. I really didn't know a whole lot about nutrition, but he broke it all down for me."

His future: "I want to get an opportunity to make a living using my mind. I've been using my body long enough. I'm looking forward to a career where I can really use my mind."

Working at his father's veterinarian clinic as a youngster: "I hated every minute of it. I would have to go in early on Saturday morning when I wanted to watch college football. He would wake me up at 7 a.m. and I would try to pretend I was still asleep, but it didn't work. He used to say that nobody is better at watching work than me! But I hate to say it, and my dad will love to hear this: It taught me a valuable lesson about the meaning of work."

Stanley GUYNESS

Wide Receiver

Jr.*/Sr.

1999: Coming off a 1998 injury, Guyness will look to see playing time at wide receiver as a junior in 1999. He missed 1999 spring practice while recuperating from a knee injury.

1998: Guyness was a reserve wide receiver as a sophomore in 1998, but did not see any action. He tore ligaments in his knee in practice prior to the UCLA game and had surgery. He was slowed in 1998 spring practice because of a fractured right wrist.

1997: As a redshirt freshman wide receiver, Guyness was sidelined all of 1997 with a sprained right ankle.

1996: Guyness redshirted as a freshman wide receiver in 1996, his first year at USC.

HIGH SCHOOL: His 1995 honors included Parade All-American (he was listed as the No. 1-ranked wide receiver), Super Prep All-American, Bluechip All-American, Schutt Sports All-American, USA Today All-USA second team, Student Sports Hot 100, Bluechip Best of the West, Super Prep All-Farwest, Bluechip All-Western, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best in the West first team, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, Los Angeles Times All-Orange County second team, Orange County Register All-Orange County second team, and Long Beach Press-Telegram Dream Team as a senior at Los Alamitos (Calif.) High. He had 46 receptions for 989 yards (21.5 avg.) with 12 TDs in 1995.

As a junior in 1994, he made the Long Beach Press-Telegram Dream Team third team while making 42 catches for 747 yards (17.8 avg.) with 10 TDs and also rushing for 264 yards (an 11.6 avg.) with 4 TDs. In his career, he rushed for more than 500 yards. Current Trojans Ifeanyi Ohalete, Sagan Atuatasi and Bernard Rileyb also prepped at Los Alamitos.

He also ran track at Los Alamitos, with bests of 10.6 in the 100 meters and 49.0 in the 400 meters.

PERSONAL: He's a public policy and management major at USC. His sports heroes are Jerry Rice and Jim Brown.

WHAT OTHERS SAY: Former USC wide receivers coach Mike Sanford: "Stanley's a real smooth, Johnnie Morton-type of wide receiver. He's very smooth and runs good patterns. He just needs to get more physical for the college game, but that will come as he matures."

Antoine HARRIS

Tight End

Jr./Jr.

1999: Harris, a dominating blocker and able receiver, will start for his third season at tight end as a junior in 1999.

PAUL HACKETT SAYS: "Antoine really is preparing himself to play his best football in 1999. He was somewhat inconsistent last year, but if he regains his dominance as a blocker and improves his versatility as a receiver, he will be a key in the expansion of our offense in 1999."

1998: Harris started at tight end for his second season as a sophomore in 1998. Overall while appearing in all 13 games in 1998 (an ankle sprain forced him to come off the bench against Oregon State and Florida State), he had 13 receptions for 154 yards (11.8 avg.) with 1 TD. He had a pair of catches against Purdue (6 yards), San Diego State (21 yards), Washington (10 yards) and UCLA (25 yards, including a 4-yard TD), while his 66-yard catch-and-rumble at Washington State set up USC's final TD. After the season, he had arthroscopic surgery to remove torn cartilage in his right ankle.

1997: Harris started all of 1997 at tight end, becoming USC's first-ever true freshman to start at tight end. He was named to the 1997 Sporting News Freshman All-American second team. Overall in 1997, he caught 12 passes for 160 yards (13.3 avg.). He led USC with 4 catches for 52 yards at Notre Dame. He also had 3 grabs for 34 yards versus Stanford. In his debut in the Florida State opener, he caught 2 passes for 28 yards, both for first downs.

HIGH SCHOOL: His 1996 honors included Super Prep All-American, Prep Star All-American, Schutt Sports All-American, USA Today All-USA honorable mention, Super Prep All-Farwest, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best of the Rest, Cal-Hi Sports All-State first team, All-CIF Southern Section first team, All-CIF Division I Defensive MVP, Los Angeles Times Glenn Davis Award (as the top Southern California prep football player), Los Angeles Times All-Los Angeles Lineman/Linebacker of the Year, and All-Del Rey League MVP as a senior at Loyola High in Los Angeles (Calif.). He had 22 catches for 460 yards (20.9 avg.) and 7 TDs as a tight end and 68 tackles with 12 sacks, 4 caused fumbles, 2 fumble recoveries and 2 interceptions (he returned 1 for a TD) as a defensive end in 1996.

As a 1995 junior, he made Cal-Hi Sports All-State Junior second team and All-Del Rey League honorable mention while catching 16 passes for 224 yards (14.0 avg.) with 1 TD. During his 2 seasons as a starter, Loyola went 23-5 and played in 2 CIF Division I finals. Current Trojan Mike MacGillivray also prepped at Loyola. Harris was coached at Loyola by ex-USC tailback Steve Grady. Harris also played basketball at Loyola.

PERSONAL: He's an international relations major at USC. His late stepfather, Robin (he died in 1990), was a standup comic and actor who appeared in movies such as "Mo' Better Blues," "House Party," "Do The Right Thing," and "Harlem Nights." The cartoon series, "Bebe's Kids," is based on characters in Robin's comedy routine.

ANTOINE HARRIS ON: His goals: "I have team goals and I have personal goals. I want us to go to the Rose Bowl and win national championships, and I hope to one day be drafted into professional football. I want to be the best tight end ever in USC football. In all of college football."

His improvement: "I've become more of a football player. It's a matter of watching film and learning the elements of the game. Going against guys like (ex-USC Butkus Award winning linebacker) Chris Claiborne has made me better. It's not easy to get by those guys. Getting open depends on the style of the person covering me. If they're faster, like a strong safety, I'll use my size. If it's a linebacker, I'll try to outrun him."

Blocking: "Definitely, blocking is my strength. In high school, we ran all the time and only passed when we needed to. I'm more comfortable run blocking. You're going forward and you're more aggressive. But pass blocking is more fun. It's a style type of thing—if you lunge at a guy, he'll get to the quarterback. So you've got to be more patient, and I'm learning to be patient."

Starting as a freshman: "I didn't expect to come in and start. My goal was to get some playing time and work my way into a starting job in the next couple of years. When the coaches were telling me I had an opportunity to start, I figured they were saying that to get my confidence up. But to have that opportunity, it's something that everyone dreams about...It was beneficial for me. If I had redshirted, I probably would have been stronger and faster and gotten a better feel for the academics in my first season. But stepping in taught me a lot. You learn techniques. In high school, I was pretty much the biggest guy out there. Here, you're playing against real men."

His stepfather: "When I was a kid, going around with him, having fun, it never dawned on me that he was an actor, that he was famous. To me, he was just my dad. It never dawned on me until the last couple of years all that he did...I knew what he was doing, but was never really aware of all that. My dad was just doing his job. I didn't look at him like a big-time actor or a big-time comedian. It was just my dad...It's a special feeling to know that someone you loved so much, everybody looked at on such a higher level. That really didn't hit me until the last couple of years...My teammates always ask, 'Antoine, have you got the tapes (of his stepfathers performances) yet?' Then they'll come over and next thing I know I'll have 70 people in my house. I'm more of a quiet person. I usually don't show them. But when I do, everybody would want to be at my house. And then everybody would look at me to be the comedian and I don't have any jokes...My advice to people who went to his comedy shows: Never get up when he's on stage, and don't walk in late, either. He'd get all over you...All the jokes he told, they were like everyday things. He'd use people in his jokes, but he didn't denigrate them. They'd laugh at themselves...He was funnier at home. He'd fall asleep and we'd think he was dreaming, but he'd be talking, saying all kinds of things. Nothing but jokes. My mom and I were saying we wish we had recorded it...For a while, after he died, I thought the Lord was punishing me for some reason. I had no idea why. I was mad, because why would God take away two father from me (his birth father died in 1983)? I decided later on it was an obstacle, a challenge, to find out what life is really like, to find out what life is like without a father. I took it pretty bad. I kind of held it in. I didn't talk to anybody. I took my frustrations out on my friends. That was a bad way of handling it. Finally, my mom and I sat down and talked about it...My mom, she was always there for me, and the rest of my family was too. When he first died, for like three months I was holding it all in. It built up in anger and the only thing I really did was fight at school. My fifth grade year I got in a lot of trouble. My friends just thought I had a bad temper. But my mom and the principal at the school knew why. They understood...He never got to see me play in high school because he had died. The biggest game I remember feeling bad about was my senior year. We lost the championship game. I had dedicated it to him and played my hardest. I wanted to win so bad, but we didn't win. I just wanted him physically there. It would have meant the world...I just look at my little brother (Robin Jr., born shortly after Robin's death in 1990) and see my dad. He always wanted to have a son of his own, and though he didn't have the chance to meet his son, he got his wish."

Windrell HAYES

6-0 • 205

#86

CAREER: As a Division I-A pass catcher at San Jose State and USC, Hayes has 121 career receptions for 1,723 yards (14.2 avg) with 11 TDs.

1999: The veteran Hayes, known for his precise routes and good hands, will start at split end as a senior in 1999. He is also the backup holder on placekicks.

PAUL HACKETT SAYS: "We're counting on Windrell to be our most consistent receiver. For us to be good offensively, he has to have an outstanding fall. He's an excellent route runner and he complements R. Jay Soward well."

1998: USC bolstered its 1998 receiving corps with the signing of transfer Hayes, who was San Jose State's leading receiver in 1995 and 1996 and ranks in the Spartans' receiving career Top 10. He served as an often-used backup wide receiver as a junior in 1998. Overall while appearing in 12 games (all but the Sun Bowl against TCU) in 1998, he had 24 receptions for 340 yards (14.2 avg.) and 2 TDs.

He had 2 catches each against Purdue (19 yards), San Diego State (33 yards) and Arizona State (28 yards), then had his first TD catch as a Trojan (13 yards) in the California game. He added a 17-yard catch at Washington State, 2 grabs for 34 yards at Oregon and 2 for 70 yards versus Washington. He grabbed 2 aerials for 20 yards, including an 8-yard TD, at Stanford, then caught a game-topping 9 passes (most by a USC receiver in 1998) for 95 yards at UCLA. He grabbed an 11-yard pass against Notre Dame, but sprained a ligament in his right foot on the play and was sidelined (the injury kept him out of the Sun Bowl against TCU).

JUNIOR COLLEGE: He attended San Joaquin Delta College in Stockton (Calif.) in 1997, but did not play football.

SAN JOSE STATE: He spent the 1995 and 1996 seasons as a starting wide receiver at San Jose State, leading the Spartans in receiving both seasons. As a sophomore in 1996, he earned All-Western Athletic Conference Pacific Division second team honors while catching 58 passes for 848 yards (14.6 avg.) and 4 TDs. He was sixth in the WAC in receptions (4.8) and 10th in receiving yards (70.7).

In 1995 as a freshman, he had 39 receptions for 535 yards (13.7 avg.) and 5 TDs. In San Jose State's game against USC that season, he grabbed 4 passes for 40 yards. He is in San Jose State's career Top 10 in receiving with 97 receptions for 1,383 yards (14.3 avg.) and 9 TDs.

HIGH SCHOOL: He was named a 1994 Blue Chip All-American, USA Today All-USA honorable mention, Super Prep All-Farwest, Tacoma Morning News Tribune Western 100, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best in the West second team and Cal-Hi All-State second team pick as a senior at Franklin High in Stockton. In 1994, he had 62 catches for 1,054 yards (17.0 avg.) and 15 TDs (plus 3 more TDs on end-around runs) on offense and 7 interceptions on defense, plus 29 kickoff returns for 892 yards (30.8 avg.) and 9 TDs.

He attended St. Mary's High in Stockton as a freshman, sophomore and junior, recording 89 receptions for 1,881 yards (21.1 avg.) with 25 TDs in his career at St. Mary's. He also ran track in high school. Current USC recruits Armand Holland and Frank Strong also prepped at Franklin (Strong also attended St. Mary's).

PERSONAL: He's a sociology major at USC. His nickname is "Scissors," because of his ability to make sharp cuts on his routes. Hayes' brother, Ashanti, was a defensive back at Washington State in 1994 and 1995.

WINDRELL HAYES ON: His goals: "My goal is to break all the records. I've just got to keep working hard out on the field, the classroom, the weight room, everywhere, just to be a better person and a better player. My time is going to come...I can get better in a lot of things. I still don't feel as if I've reached my full potential yet. Every day you have to go out and keep working hard. I always feel like I can catch better, run routes better."

His strength as a receiver: "Route running is my strength. I'm naturally good at it, but it's something that I've worked hard at to keep sharp. It's a combination of being natural at it and working hard at it, too...In Coach Hackett's offense, it's a lot of timing. You really have to be more precise in your route running. You've got to get the right depth in your routes. It really does feature a route runner...I see myself as a receiver who can run good routes to where the quarterback pretty much knows that at least one person is going to be open. I see myself as being able to be open all the time."

Leaving San Jose State and coming to USC "I felt like I couldn't really reach my full capabilities or make the most of my potential at San Jose State. I didn't feel like the school was getting any respect for anything, so I felt like I had to make a move before I got stuck there...I figured if I could get into the starting lineup at USC and do the things that I did at San Jose State, as far as the publicity in the Los Angeles area and especially it being USC, I'd get a chance to go to another level."

WHAT OTHERS SAY: USC wide receiver R. Jay Soward: "He has the best cuts in college football."

Franklin High coach Tom Verner: "Windrell is the complete package. He runs the best routes of any receiver I've seen. He is a great blocker. He is a strong receiver and he knows how to deliver a blow. He has such a wonderful football mind. He really understands everything you are trying to do."

WHAT OTHERS SAY: Peninsula High coach Gary Kimbrell: "Scott is a great blocking tight end, but he also has great hands and the ability to run after the catch. He was our go-to receiver when we threw the ball. We mostly ran the ball and we ran it right behind Scott."

PAUL HACKETT SAYS: "Donta has been impressive in the off-season. He did a good job last year learning a new offense and now, with that behind him, look for him to make a huge contribution in 1999."

1998: Kendrick, who entered USC in the spring of 1998 after transferring from Sacramento City College, was the backup to Jason Grain at left offensive guard as a junior in 1998. Overall, he appeared in 9 games (all but Arizona State, UCLA, Notre Dame and TCU in the Sun Bowl) in 1998 and even started at Oregon. Sacramento went 7-4 in 1997, finishing No. 17 in the final J.C. Athletic Bureau state poll and No. 30 in the J.C. Grid-Wire national poll.

As a 1996 redshirt freshman, he was named J.C. Grid-Wire All-American honorable mention and J.C. Athletic Bureau All-State Region I first team. Sacramento went 10-1 in 1996 and was ranked No. 4 in the final J.C. Athletic Bureau state poll. PERSONAL: He's a history major at USC.

WHAT OTHERS SAY: Sacramento College head coach Dave Griffin: "I don't know how many times I watched him hit someone only to see them fly out of the picture. 1998: Knight was the backup to David Gibson at weakside linebacker as a redshirt freshman in 1998. Overall while appearing in all 13 games in 1998, he made 16 tackles and 2 deflections. He had 6 tackles at UCLA while playing most of the game when Gibson got injured. He was sidelined for part of the Sun Bowl game against TCU with a concussion. He was moved from safety to linebacker prior to 1998 spring drills.

1997: As a safety, Knight played briefly on special teams in the Florida State opener, then was sidelined the rest of his 1997 first-year freshman season because of bothersome calcium deposits in his upper left arm. He redshirted because of the early-season injury.

As a defensive back, he had 56 tackles, 2 interceptions and a fumble recovery, and as a quarterback, he completed 16-of-26 passes (61.5%) for 294 yards with 3 TDs and ran for 622 yards on 48 carries (13.0 avg.) with 9 TDs.

As a 1995 junior, he was named Student Sports All-American Junior first team, Cal-Hi Sports All-State Junior first team, All-CIF Division IV, Riverside Press-Enterprise All-Riverside County second team, and All-Ivy League while getting 45 tackles, 3 interceptions and 2 fumble recoveries on defense and passing for 742 yards with 7 TDs while hitting 28-of-75 aerials (37.3%) and running for 1,101 yards on 128 carries (8.6 avg.) with 14 TDs on offense. Rubidoux was a CIF Division IV finalist in 1995 and went 24-6 during his 3-year career.

He made the Cal-Hi Sports All-State Sophomore Super 25 (as a defensive back) in 1994 as a sophomore.

PERSONAL: He's a sociology major at USC. His brother, Ryan, was a record-setting prep All-American running back at Rubidoux (2,620 yards as a 1983 senior, including 501 in a game) who then lettered 4 years (1984-87) at tailback at USC and led the Trojans in rushing in 1985 and 1986 (he's 15th on USC's career rushing list with 1,875 yards). Another brother, Sammy, was USC's leading tackler in 1995 and 1996 (290 career tackles with 5 interceptions) while lettering for 4 years (1993-96) and starting for his final 3 seasons at strong safety and linebacker (as a 1996 senior, he was All-Pac-10 first team, USC's MVP and a team co-captain); he now plays with the NFL's New Orleans Saints. Another brother, Greg, played defensive line at Colorado. His father, Sam Sr., played on a California state championship basketball team in the early 1960s at Riverside (Calif.) Community College that was coached by Jerry Tarkanian.

DARRYL KNIGHT ON: His brothers: "If it wasn't for Sammy, I wouldn't be where I am today. I try to work hard and be as good as Sammy...And Ryan would come and get me to run with him. My brothers never pushed me. They just asked me what I wanted to be like. It was my decision. I wanted to be the best I could be...I didn't choose USC because my brothers played here. I chose USC because of its winning tradition."

His father: "My dad saw to it that all of us went to college. I think that is pretty impressive. My father knows when to be a father and when to be a friend. I can talk to him about anything. That is really important to me."

His background as a high school quarterback: "It has helped me a lot. I now try to go through the quarterback's thought process. I look at the formations and think about the plays they run, then I go through the reads the quarterback will make."

1999: MacGillivray returns for his second season as USC's punter as a sophomore in 1999. He's also available as an emergency placekicker.

1998: MacGillivray was USC's punter as just a redshirt freshman and did a solid job. He averaged 37.7 yards per punt, as his 87 punts traveled 3,284 yards (USC records for most punts and punt yardage in a season). He was especially effective on coffin corner boots (34 of his 87 punts pinned opponents within the 20). He had 8 punts travel 50-plus yards (including 3 each against Purdue and Florida State), with a long of 66 yards against TCU in the Sun Bowl. He also was available as a placekicker.

In the opener, 5 of his 7 punts pinned Purdue within the 20 and 3 traveled 50-plus yards (including a 56-yarder). He averaged 38.4 yards on 8 punts against Oregon State (5 kept the Beavers within the 20, including 2 inside the 10, and another was fumbled away to USC). He averaged 44.6 on his 8 punts at Florida State, with 3 boots going 50-plus yards. Against Arizona State, 3 of his 9 punts pinned the Sun Devils within the 20, while 4 of his 6 punts against California pinned the Bears within the 20-yard line. He placed 3 of his 9 punts within the 20 at Washington State. He averaged 39.3 yards on his 7 punts (with a 55-yarder) against Washington, while 3 of his 6 punts at Stanford kept the Cardinal inside the 20. Against Notre Dame, 4 of his 8 punts pinned the Irish within the 20. He had his best showing against TCU in the Sun Bowl, as he averaged 45.8 yards on his 6 boots, including a season-long 66-yarder, and 2 of his punts pinned the Horned Frogs inside the 20.

1997: MacGillivray redshirted as a freshman punter and placekicker in 1997, his first year at USC.

HIGH SCHOOL: He made 1996 Student Sports All-American, National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame Scholar-Athlete, Cal-Hi Sports All-State first team, All-CIF Southern Section first team, All-CIF Division I, Los Angeles Times All-Los Angeles first team, and All-Del Rey League first team as a senior at Loyola High in Los Angeles (Calif.). In 1996, he hit 14-of-17 field goals (with a long of 52 yards), 33-of-37 PATs, put 98% of his kickoffs into the end zone and averaged 43.3 yards on 43 punts (with a long of 65 yards). He kicked a game-winning 26-yard field goal (his third of the game) in the second overtime of the 1996 CIF Division I semifinals. He also played linebacker.

As a 1995 junior, he handled kickoff duties only. Loyola was the CIF Division I runnerup in 1995 and 1996 (going 23-5 overall). Current Trojan Antoine Harris also prepped at Loyola. MacGillivray was coached at Loyola by ex-USC tailback Steve Grady.

PERSONAL: He's a business major at USC. His personal kicking and punting coaches are brothers John and Paul Stonehouse, Loyola alums who punted at USC (1992-95, where he set several school records) and Stanford (1989-92), respectively. His real first name is Duncan. He was born in Dallas, Tex. In his spare time, he likes playing the guitar, listening to music and working on cars.

MIKE MacGILLIVRAY ON: Contact: "I liked playing linebacker in high school. I love making tackles and I love hitting. I like coming down on a punt and making a big hit. It is ever sweeter when the ball carrier looks up and sees it is the punter that hit him. I just like to make tackles and be involved in the game."

One of his punting coaches, ex-Trojan John Stonehouse: "The way he talked about USC and how great it was to play for the Trojans made an impact on me. I collected all the films on him that I could. We have similar body types and I wanted to adopt to his style."

Malaefou MacKENZIE

Tailback

6-0 • 210

1999: The hard-running MacKenzie, who missed the 1998 season with a knee injury after being USC's No. 2 rusher in 1997, is in the hunt for playing time at tailback as a sophomore in 1999. He also might be used returning kickoffs and punts. He was limited in 1999 spring drills while recuperating from the knee injury.

1998: MacKenzie tore a left knee ligament in the Purdue opener and had season-ending surgery as a sophomore tailback in 1998. He gained 28 yards on 7 carries (4.0 avg.) in that Purdue game. Because of the early-season injury, he redshirted the 1998 season and sat out 1999 spring drills.

1997: MacKenzie proved his precocious nature as a first-year freshman tailback in 1997. He started twice (against Arizona State and Oregon) to become just the third true freshman to start at tailback for USC (Scott Lockwood did so twice in 1987 and Charles White once in 1976). He served as a backup there the rest of the season and also played on some special teams. Overall while appearing in 9 games in 1997 (he missed the Stanford game with a bruised left shoulder and did not play against UCLA), he gained 332 yards (second on USC) on 96 carries (3.5 avg.) and ran for 3 TDs. He also caught 5 passes for 22 yards (4.4 avg.), returned a short kickoff 7 yards (at Notre Dame) and made a tackle on special teams (versus UNLV). He did all this while nagged much of the season with a sore foot arch and then a bruised shoulder.

After rushing for just 24 yards on 17 carries in USC's first 3 games, he came of age against UNLV when starter LaVale Woods went down early in the game with an injury and MacKenzie finished with 104 yards and 2 TDs on 19 tries to become only the fifth USC first-year freshman to eclipse the century mark in rushing (the others were Delon Washington once in 1994, Ryan Knight twice in 1984, Michael Harper once in 1979 and Charles White 4 times in 1976). Then, in his first start, he gained 35 yards on 10 tries (a second-quarter shoulder injury slowed him the rest of the game). He led USC with 69 rushing yards on a career-high 20 carries off the bench at Notre Dame, then added 40 yards on 9 carries while starting versus Oregon. He came off the bench at Washington to get 20 yards on 9 carries. He did not play against Stanford because of a shoulder injury, but returned off the bench at Oregon State to gain 40 yards on 12 carries. He didn't see action against UCLA. Earlier in the season, MacKenzie scored his first USC touchdown against Washington State.

HIGH SCHOOL: He was a 1996 Parade All-American, Super Prep All-American, Prep Star All-American, Schutt Sports All-American, USA Today All-USA honorable mention, Super Prep All-Farwest, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, Prep Star Best in the West, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best of the Rest, Cal-Hi Sports All-State second team, All-CIF Southern Section first team, All-CIF Division I, and Orange County Register All-Orange County first team as a senior at Capistrano Valley High in Mission Viejo (Calif.). In 1996, he ran for 1,488 yards on 181 carries (8.2 avg.) with 17 TDs (including a 97-yarder). Against eventual prep national champion Mater Dei

High, he rushed for 213 yards. Capistrano Valley was a CIF Division I quarterfinalist in 1996.

A 3-year starter, he earned Cal-Hi Sports All-State Junior first team, Los Angeles Times All-Orange County second team and All-League honors as a 1995 junior and Cal-Hi Sports All-State Sophomore Super 25 and All-League notice as a 1994 sophomore. Capistrano Valley head coach Dave Brown was a 3-year (1970-72) letterman center at USC and played on Troy's 1972 national championship team.

McKenzie clocked 10.9 in the 100 meters for Capistrano Valley's track team. Current Trojan Charlie Landrigan also prepped at Capistrano Valley.

PERSONAL: He's a public policy and management major at USC. His first name, Malaefou, means "new-found land" or "a kind of paradise" in Samoan. He lived in Apia, Western Samoa until he was 9 years old. He played rugby as a youngster in Western Samoa. His personal trainer was ex-USC lineman Marv Marinovich (1959, 1961-62), the father of former USC quarterback Todd Marinovich (1989-90).

MALAEFOU MacKENZIE ON: His running style: "I like to do both, run inside or outside, depending on the situation. If it's a third down and short yardage, I'll try and run over somebody. Whatever makes the opponent look bad."

Playing most of 1997 with nagging injuries: "It set me back mentally to have all the little nagging injuries. As a result, my confidence went down. I guess it wasn't meant to be my year."

College versus high school football: "In college, the hole is going to close in a fraction of a second. In high school, it's going to stay open for a few seconds. I just have to adjust to it, because it's a different running style. Everything you do in college has to be up the field, because everyone is faster and stronger...I'm learning to stay low when I hit the hole and just explode through the hole."

Rugby versus football: "I never knew what football was until I came here. I used to think it was a wussy sport, compared to rugby. I'd tease my brother when he had it on TV. But I found out football is not a wussy sport. Both are physical, but I think rugby is more physical because there are no pads. But in football, people are bigger and stronger."

His late brother, Hornell, who had Down Syndrome and died of a heart ailment at the age of 17 (when Malaefou was 10): "I wear a shirt with his picture and name on it. I used to wear it under my jersey, but now I only wear it before and after games. I don't want to ruin it. I carry a cross with his name on it and I play in his memory. He was a good kid, always so caring and loving. Always...Everything I do on the football field is for him. When I get ready for a game, I'll always tell myself, 'This is for you, brother.'"

WHAT OTHERS SAY: Capistrano Valley High coach Dave Brown: "His cousin told me that he'd look at my 1972 national championship ring and say, 'I'm going to get one of those some day.'"

His father, Vernon: "He is obsessed with running and lifting weights. I told the USC strength coaches to try to get him to let up a little. When he was at home, I tried to tell him that he was overtraining. He was staying up until 1 or 2 in the morning. Everyone would be asleep, and he'd be pushing weights in the garage, out on the road doing wind sprints, tying a tire around him and dragging it. It was too much. You have to do a lot more than the average guys to make it, but I thought he was obsessed. I was worried, no doubt. I told the weight coaches at USC, 'I'd appreciate it if you can corral him.'"

Faaesea MAILO

Offensive Tackle-Guard

So./So.
#75

1999: Mailo, a well-tested offensive lineman, has returned from a 2-year Mormon mission in Sapporo, Japan (on the island of Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost prefect), and will push for playing time at either tackle or guard as a sophomore in 1999. Per NCAA rule, he was not charged with any lost years of eligibility while on his mission.

1998: Mailo served the second year of a 2-year Mormon mission in Japan and was not with the Trojans in 1998.

1997: Mailo was not with the Trojans in 1997 because he left USC to go on a 2-year Mormon mission in Japan after the 1996 season.

1996: As just a first-year freshman, Mailo started 3 times in 1996 (at left offensive guard at Houston and at left offensive tackle versus Stanford and Notre Dame). He also appeared in 5 other games (Illinois, Oregon State, Washington State, Washington and UCLA) as a reserve and on special teams. He missed the California and Arizona games (he suited up for the Arizona State contest, but didn't see action) after being sidelined in the Houston game with a hairline fracture in his right shoulder.

HIGH SCHOOL: He was selected to the 1995 Super Prep All-American, USA Today All-USA honorable mention, Bluechip Best of the West, Super Prep All-Farwest, Bluechip All-Western and Tacoma News Tribune Western 100 teams as a senior at Kahuku (Hi.) High.

He spent his 1994 junior season at Banning High in Wilmington (Calif.), earning Los Angeles Times All-South Bay second team honors.

He was at Kahuku for his 1992 freshman and 1993 sophomore seasons. Although he was born in Torrance (Calif.), he moved to Hawaii when he was 1-year-old and lived there for all but the 1 year he spent at Banning living with his aunt.

At Kahuku, he also participated on the sumo club, where he won the Hawaii state sumo championship. In June of 1996, he went to Japan to train with pro sumo wrestlers and then competed against high school and collegiate wrestlers.

PERSONAL: In Samoan, Faaesea's name means, "Someone who does things differently." His father, James, played football at Hawaii. His brother, Anipati, is a freshman linebacker at Hawaii. His sports hero is ex-Trojan star and former NFL All-Pro offensive tackle Anthony Munoz. He is fluent in Japanese.

FAAESEA MAILO ON: His ability: "I think I run pretty well and my quickness is an advantage. My leg drive is what gets me going. That's where I get my strength from...I am a very aggressive player and I won't take anything from anybody on the field. I enjoy running people over."

Sumo wrestling: "Basically, sumo is the same thing as playing offensive tackle. In sumo, you're trying to push or shove a guy out of a 15-foot circle, and you can use your hands. It teaches you balance, too. When we're run-blocking in football, it's basically the same as a charge at a sumo opponent. It's a leg strength sport...The top sumo guys in Japan make Michael Jordan money. People in Japan told me I could do well over there, with training. They said I had good quickness, power, enthusiasm and the fighting spirit of sumo."

Going on his Mormon mission: "I matured immensely while on the mission. Meeting new people all the time helped me mentally. I met a lot of good people and the experience helped me focus better on what I'm doing...We were treated very well by the Japanese people. Oh, I had a couple of doors slammed in my face, but for the most part it was a pleasant experience...I cherish my religion. It is a very big part of my life. I talked to many football players about leaving college to go on a mission and they all said they have no regrets. They all have said it was very good for them...I'll just have to pick up where I left off."

The difficulty when taking his USC team portrait: "The team dress jacket they had just wouldn't fit. My arms were too big and every time I tried to put the jacket on, the arms would start to rip. If you look at the team photos, you'll see I'm the only one with a windbreaker on."

WHAT OTHERS SAY: His father, James: "He's anxious to get back to USC. Hokkaido has weather that's somewhat similar to Siberia and Faaesea was freezing there."

John Jacques, Kahuku High's sumo wrestling coach: "This is a young kid with a lot of great natural athletic ability and natural strength, and good discipline. All the sumo people in Japan were really impressed with his strength and focus."

Brent McCAFFREY

Offensive Tackle

Jr.*/Sr.

1999: The solid, underrated McCaffrey, whose father played at USC in the early 1970s, returns for his second season starting at left offensive tackle as a junior in 1999. He is also available as a long snapper.

PAUL HACKETT SAYS: "Brent was the most pleasant surprise of our offensive linemen last season. He performed well above what we expected a sophomore to do, especially playing such a high-profile line position as left tackle. He is one of the top pass protectors in the country. We'll look to him to be the cornerstone of our offensive line in 1999."

1997: McCaffrey served as the backup to Ken Bowen at right offensive tackle as a redshirt freshman in 1997. He saw brief action against Stanford and Oregon State.

JUNIOR COLLEGE: McCaffrey attended Fresno (Calif.) City College as a part-time student in the fall of 1995, but did not play football.

HIGH SCHOOL: McCaffrey earned 1994 All-Fresno and All-Northwest Yosemite League honors as a senior 2-way lineman at Bullard High in Fresno. He also played in the Fresno City/County All-Star Game. He also played volleyball at Bullard.

As a 1993 junior, he played offensive and defensive line at San Joaquin Memorial High in Fresno, where he also played basketball.

PERSONAL: He's a planning and development major at USC with a B- average (2.85 GPA). His father, Bob, starred at center for USC in 1972 through 1974 and was honored as USC's Lineman of the Year in 1974 and junior varsity MVP in 1971 (Troy played in 3 Rose Bowls during his career and won the national championship in 1972 and 1974). Bob played in the 1975 College All-Star Game and then spent 1975 with the Green Bay Packers. Brent's uncle, Mike McCaffrey, was a 3-year (1966-68) letterman defensive end at California who co-captained the 1968 Golden Bear team and was a 2-time (1967-68) All-Pac-8 selection (he played with the Buffalo Bills in 1970). Brent's mother, Karen, and an aunt and uncle also attended USC.

His quickness: "One of my biggest assets is that I have good feet. I can make up for what I lack size-wise by getting in the way."

Winning a starting job in 1998: "I was pretty low at the end of the 1997 season. My parents helped me out a lot, helped keep me motivated even when I was depressed about the lack of opportunities...For me, the coaching change (from John Robinson to Paul Hackett) was great. I wasn't getting any opportunities before. This was a fresh start for me and I went into spring ball with a clean slate because nobody knew what I could do. I just wanted to do what I can to move up the charts...I remember talking to Mike Lamb (a former USC lineman and one-time USC radio analyst). He told me that in 1983 he was in the same position I was. There was a coaching change and the next thing he knew, he was starting...Going into that spring camp, I felt every job was open and I was going to bust my hump. I entered camp thinking, 'Why not give 110 percent? What's the worst that can happen? I make a mistake and I'm still second or third string? That's not a big deal.'"

His decision to attend USC: "After watching USC's 1991 season-opening upset loss to Memphis State, I made a vow I wanted to come here and my goal was to help re-establish our dominance...When a USC coach called me during my senior year in high school, I thought it was a practical joke. I had dreamed about playing here so long, I wasn't going to pass it up...I was raised in a family that was all USC. It has been a dream of mine to come here and if I had to wait an extra semester to come here (while attending a junior college), I was willing to make that sacrifice...We sat down and talked, and my dad agreed that I should sit out a year. At the time, I was too small to be playing. There was no way I'd be able to play...When I first got here, it woke me up to what college football is all about. The intensity, the hitting, the body getting banged up. It was great for me. It gave me the extra maturity I needed physically and mentally, learning about life, being able to live without my parents helping me...Just like every other guy here, I came to this university for the pressure. I want to be the best and I want to get our football team back to the top of the nation, not just the Pac-10, but the nation."

His father: "He's held in his excitement and emotions to make sure that I stay focused. He gives me pointers here and there. He really stresses watching game film. He was a student of the game when he played and told me one of the biggest things that helped him was watching his own films. He's been great for me because he hasn't let it get to me. It's easy to slack off after you get a starting job. He tries to keep me focused on what I have to do to improve my game and reminds me that if I don't work hard enough, someone can take my job...There's some pressure because my dad was here and I'm following in his footsteps. But I accept the challenge. The more pressure I can get, the happier I'll be."

WHAT OTHERS SAY: USC offensive line coach Steve Greatwood: "Brent is the best pass protector we have. By far, he's the most consistent, with the best technique."

Sultan McCULLOUGH

Tailback

5-11 • 180
Fr.*/So.
#13

1999: McCullough, the 1999 Pac-10 champion in the 100-meter dash and the fastest player ever to wear a Trojan football uniform, is in the mix to back up Chad Morton at tailback as a redshirt freshman in 1999. He also might be used returning kickoffs. He missed the last half of 1999 spring practice because of academic issues. He also sprinted for the USC track team in the spring of 1999.

1998: McCullough redshirted as a freshman tailback in 1998, his first year at USC.

TRACK: In the spring of 1999, in his first race as a member of the USC track team (on March 6), he set a USC freshman record and Cromwell Field record by winning the 100 meters in 10.17 in the Trojan Invitational. It was the fifth fastest time in Trojan history and the fastest ever by a USC runner before May (it was also the fastest ever by a Trojan footballer). He then won the 100 meters at the 1999 Pac-10 meet in 10.18, tied for the fifth fastest winning time at the Pac-10s. He went 10.17 again in winning a 100 heat at the NCAA meet, but strained his left hamstring in the semifinals. He also ran the second leg on USC's Pac-10 champion 400-meter relay team and its second-place NCAA meet unit, and anchored the quartet to second at the Texas Relays.

HIGH SCHOOL: He was named a 1997 Super Prep All-American, Prep Star Dream Team, Prep Star All-American, USA Today All-USA second team, The Sporting News Top 100, Super Prep All-Farwest, Prep Star All-Western Region, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best in the West first team (unanimous), Cal-Hi Sports All-State second team, All-CIF Southern Section second team, All-CIF Division III first team, Los Angeles Times All-San Gabriel Valley Back of the Year and All-Pacific League Offensive MVP as a senior at Muir High in Pasadena (Calif.). In 1997, he rushed for 2,145 yards and 27 touchdowns on 215 carries (10.0 avg.). In one outing, he had 317 yards and 5 scores on just 9 carries (35.2 avg.).

As a junior in 1996, he made Cal-Hi Sports Junior All-State second team, All-CIF Division III first team, Los Angeles Times All-San Gabriel Valley first team, Pasadena Star News All-West Valley first team and All-Pacific League Offensive MVP. He ran for 2,100 yards and 35 TDs on 305 carries (6.9 avg.) and also caught 10 passes for 160 yards (16.0 avg.), plus made 19 tackles as a defensive back. Muir made it to the CIF Division III finals.

As a 1995 sophomore, he gained 631 yards with 6 TDs while being named All-Pacific League.

He also ran track at Muir, advancing to the finals in the 100 meters at the 1997 California state meet (he was favored to win, but a pulled hamstring prevented him from running). His best prep times were 10.41 in the 100 meters (10.24 wind-aided for the best time in the state and second fastest in the nation in 1997), 20.61 in the 200 meters (tops in the nation in 1997) and 45.8 in the 400 meters. He also anchored the nation's fastest 400-meter relay (40.2) and 1600-meter relay (1:08.2) squads in 1997. He twice was named a track All-American. Muir won 2 national and state track titles during his career.

PERSONAL: Sultan's brother, Saladin, was a tailback at Oregon in 1996 and 1997. One of his sports heroes is ex-USC Heisman Trophy winner and former NFL star Marcus Allen.

WHAT OTHERS SAY: Muir High coach Jayson Bornn: "Sultan is hands down the toughest player pound for pound I've ever been around. He's tough and he gives you everything he's got. If he breaks the line of scrimmage, he's gone."

Matt McSHANE

Center

#61

1999: After starting in 1998, McShane enters his 1999 senior season listed as the backup to Eric Denmon at center, but should push to regain his starting spot.

PAUL HACKETT SAYS: "Matt's ability to grasp our system has been most impressive. I'm looking for him to take his play up a level this year."

1998: McShane started 8 games (San Diego State, Arizona State, California, Washington State, Stanford, UCLA, Notre Dame and TCU in the Sun Bowl) at center as a junior in 1998 and was the often-used backup to Eric Denmon the rest of the season. He missed the Oregon State game with a sprained knee (the injury also hampered him against Florida State).

1997: As a sophomore, McShane was moved from offensive guard to center in 1997 spring practice and was the backup to Jonathan Himebauch there in 1997. He saw brief action against Stanford and Oregon State.

1996: As a redshirt freshman reserve offensive guard, McShane appeared briefly in 1 game (Oregon State) in 1996.

1995: McShane redshirted in 1995 as a freshman offensive guard. He enrolled at USC in the spring of 1995 after sitting out the sport in 1994 following a fine prep career.

JUNIOR COLLEGE: McShane attended Merritt Community College in Oakland (Calif.) as a part-time student in the fall of 1994, but did not play football.

HIGH SCHOOL: McShane was named to the 1993 Super Prep All-Farwest, Cal-Hi Sports All-State second team, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best in the West second team and San Francisco Examiner All-San Francisco-Metro first team as a senior at St. Mary's High in Berkeley (Calif.).

As a 1992 junior, he made Cal-Hi Sports All-State Underclass, All-Metro and All-League. He also played basketball and track at St. Mary's. He was the school's student body president.

PERSONAL: He's a business administration major at USC. He likes to play the saxophone.

Linebacker

1999: Moreno, USC's only experienced returning linebacker, will start for his second season as a junior in 1999, this season in the middle after playing on the strong side in 1998. He's versatile enough to play any linebacker spot. He is also the backup long snapper.

PAUL HACKETT SAYS: "Zeke is our only proven linebacker. He's a natural in the middle. He more than stepped up when given the opportunity last year. He showed us that he's on the verge of being a superior linebacker. And having played next to Chris Claiborne all of last season, his expectations and standard of play have risen. Now it's his turn to set the standard."

1998: Moreno was set to serve as the backup to Mark Cusano at strongside linebacker as a sophomore in 1998, but when Cusano was slowed by injuries throughout the 1998 season, Moreno ended up starting 12 games (all but California) and filled in admirably. Overall in 1998 while appearing in all 13 games, he posted 66 tackles, including 10 for losses of 34 yards (with a 9-yard sack), deflected a pass, intercepted a pass and forced 2 fumbles. He also served as the backup long snapper.

Moreno had 2 tackles in the Purdue opener, 3 against San Diego State, 5 against Oregon State, 2 against Florida State and Arizona State, and 1 against California. He had a game-best 9 tackles (including 4 for losses) at Washington State, then added 8 stops at Oregon. He had 11 tackles (3 for losses) at Stanford and forced a fumble which Aaron Williams recovered and ran in for a TD. He had an interception (which set up a field goal) to go with his 3 stops at UCLA. Against Notre Dame, he had 2 stops (1 for a loss) and forced a fumble at the USC 2-yard line which Ken Haslip recovered. He had 7 tackles (1 for a loss) against TCU in the Sun Bowl.

1997: Moreno showed his future potential while appearing in 10 games (all but the Florida State opener) as a reserve linebacker and on special teams as a first-year freshman in 1997. Overall in 1997, he made 8 tackles, including a 14-yard sack (against Stanford), deflected 2 passes, intercepted a pass (at Oregon State, which he returned 19 yards to set up a USC field goal) and forced a fumble (against Stanford, on the sack). He had 5 tackles versus Stanford. He also returned 2 short kickoffs for 33 yards (16.5 avg.), a 21-yarder against Stanford and a 12-yarder versus UCLA.

HIGH SCHOOL: He earned 1996 Super Prep All-American, Student Sports All-American, Prep Star All-American, Super Prep All-Farwest, Prep Star Best in the West, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best of the Rest, Cal-Hi Sports All-State first team, All-CIF San Diego Section Defensive MVP, and San Diego Tribune All-San Diego Defensive MVP as a senior at Castle Park High in Chula Vista (Calif.). He had 147 tackles in 1996 as Castle Park went 13-0 and was the CIF San Diego Section champ. He returned an interception 80 yards for a TD.

As a 1995 junior, he made Cal-Hi Sports All-State Junior first team, All-CIF San Diego Section first team and All-League with 90 tackles, 9 sacks and 3 interceptions on defense and 400 yards on 60 carries (6.7 avg.) with 3 TDs on offense.

He was a 1994 Cal-Hi Sports All-State Sophomore Super 25 and All-League pick as a sophomore. He also played baseball at Castle Park.

PERSONAL: He's majoring in gender studies at USC. His real first name is Ezekiel. He likes to write poetry in his spare time. He is part American Indian. His brother, Moses, was a 3-year (1995-97) starting quarterback at Colorado State who now plays for the Chicago Bears. His mother, Arcinia Arenas, played fullback and linebacker with the Mighty Mommas in a San Diego women's tackle football league for a season when Zeke was little.

ZEKE MORENO ON: Playing inside linebacker: "It's so much easier than on the outside, where you're up on the line. You get so much more action in the middle. In the middle, you're back so far that you can move around and make plays. That's something I like doing. I like making plays."

Playing outside linebacker in 1998: "I had to adjust playing on the outside. At first I had a hard time adjusting, but now I'm comfortable. I knew my day would come. I just had to be patient. When it came, I was ready."

His attitude: "I take the game seriously, but to the point that I enjoy it. Some people get too stressed out that they can't even enjoy the game, but that's not me. Before games, I'm not uptight. I'm just trying to make people laugh. That relaxes me."

His speed: "People underestimate my speed. Now that I've slimmed down, I think I'm faster than ever."

Competing as a youngster with his brother, Moses: "We joke around about it now and compare what each other has done. That competition is building us."

The 100-plus foster children his parents have taken in over the past 15 years: "There are so many different cases. You feel so bad. They come scared to our house. You don't approach them right away. Little by little, you'll say hit and start talking to them. Pretty soon they open up. Our family takes care of long-term kids and it's hard because I get so attached to them. And it's tough when they leave because I miss them."

His mother: "I've always admired my mother. She raised five boys on her own. She always taught me to be strong, respectful and polite. She gives me a lot of strength. When I see her working hard, it just pushes me to work even harder...My mom was always there for us. I just love the strength she has. All of our personalities, all our characters, all our attitudes reflect here...My mom was very hardworking and was always into athletics and having us compete...My mom is tough. When we wrestle at home, she can bring me down...I always talk to my mom on game day. She asks me what the game plan is. I always answer, 'Just win.'"

His Latino heritage: "I just want to set an example to show other young Latinos that they have options. I let them know that as Latinos, we can be successful in whatever we do. It doesn't come easy. I worked hard to get where I'm at. It's about choices and hopefully, by them seeing my success, they'll make the right ones."

WHAT OTHERS SAY: His mother, Arcinia Arenas: "Zeke is so fun loving. He's just like me. Everywhere we go, we try to make people laugh and feel comfortable...When he was 4 or 5 years old, he'd say, 'I want to play football just like my mom.'...Zeke would get so mad when I told him the background of the foster kids we took in, that their parents had abused them or it was a drug baby. He would say, 'Mom, how could they do that?' He would get so attached to the kids. They have to leave sometimes to go with their family or they get adopted, but it was real hard on him. He'd come home from school and say, 'Where's the baby, Mom?' and I'd tell him that she had to leave. He'd get so mad at me and just go to his room."

Chad MORTON

Tailback

CAREER: One of USC's most exciting and versatile players (he has played on offense at tailback and wide receiver, on defense at free safety and cornerback and on special teams in his Trojan career) whose older brother was one of the Trojans' all-time great receivers, Morton has gained 1,370 career rushing yards (29th on USC's career rushing list) for a stellar 5.4 average per carry—including 100-yard outings 8 times—on 255 carries with 9 scores in 17 games as a tailback at USC. He has made a number of long runs, including a 73-yard TD run against Oregon State in 1996, a 69-yard run against Stanford and a 49-yard TD run against UCLA in 1997, and a 98-yard scoring kickoff return against Purdue, a 42-yard run against Oregon State, a 70-yard TD on a swing pass at Oregon, a 50-yard run versus Washington and a 44-yard run at Stanford in 1998. He started 7 games in the secondary in his career (4 at free safety in 1997) and made 48 tackles and 2 interceptions. And he is 17th on USC's career punt return list, with 41 runbacks for 338 yards (8.2 avg). He also has sprinted for the USC track team for 3 years.

1999: Morton, a lightning-quick jitterbug type of runner, returns as the starting tailback as a senior in 1999 and figures to have a big season. He also might be used returning kickoffs and punts. He could contend for honors not only on the field, but he is a leading Academic All-American candidate based on his outstanding performance in the classroom.

PAUL HACKETT SAYS: "Chad is one of the premier backs in the country. His performance has been remarkable, considering he's only been a running back here for 2 years. His best is ahead of him. I'm looking for him to have a great year in 1999 and to be a real team leader."

1998: Morton started 8 games at tailback as a junior in 1998. He fell just 15 yards short of hitting the 1,000-yard rushing barrier despite missing 2 games with an injury. He ranked second in the Pac-10 in rushing (96.7). Overall in 1998, he ran for 985 yards on 199 carries (4.9 avg.) with 6 TDs and also caught 18 passes for 136 yards (7.6 avg) and 1 TD. His 985 rushing yards put him 21st on USC's season chart. He also returned 2 kickoffs for a 58.0 average (including 1 for a TD) and 4 punts for a 5.3 average. He ran for 100-plus yards in 6 games in 1998. He was a 1998 All-Pac-10 honorable mention pick. He was 1 of 4 USC captains in 1998.

He had a dramatic impact in the Purdue opener, taking his first kickoff return—on USC's first play of 1998—back 98 yards for a score and also running for a 13-yard fourth quarter TD to ice the victory (he ran for 53 yards on 15 carries overall and had 188 yards of total offense). He posted his third career 100-yard game as he ran for 110 yards (with a 12-yard TD) on a then-career-high 23 carries against San Diego State (he also caught 3 passes for 24 yards and had a 2-yard punt return). Against Oregon State, he had his fourth career 100-yard outing (and second in a row in 1998 and second in his career against the Beavers) as he rushed for a game-best 123 yards (with a 12-yard TD) on 23 carries (tying a then-career high in attempts), despite missing most of the week's practice with a strained back. He ran for 64 yards on 15 carries at Florida State, including a spectacular 7-yard TD run where he reversed his field. After sitting out the Arizona State and California games with a bruised back suffered on that Florida State scoring run, he came off the bench at Washington State to run for 68 yards on 16 carries, including a 6-yard TD (he also caught a 5-yard pass). At Oregon, he had his fifth career 100-yard game (104 yards on 20 carries) and also caught 3 passes for 79 yards, including a 70-yard TD on a swing pass. He rushed for 110 yards (his sixth career 100-yard game and fourth of 1998) on 13 carries with a 10-yard TD versus Washington and also caught 3 passes for 16 yards. Despite nursing a sprained ankle, he ran for a game-high 87 yards on 17 carries off the bench at Stanford. He ran for a game-best 120 yards on 19 carries (his seventh career 100-yard outing and fifth of 1998) and also grabbed 4 passes for 9 yards at UCLA. Against Notre Dame, he ran for a game-best and season-high 128 yards on a career-high 27 carries (100 of those yards came after halftime) to post his sixth 100-yard game of 1998 (the eighth of his career). Against TCU in the Sun Bowl, he was limited to 18 yards on 11 carries, plus he caught a 5-yard pass.

1997: Morton starred on defense (free safety and cornerback), offense (tailback and wide receiver) and special teams (punt returner) as a sophomore in 1997. He was moved from cornerback to free safety and started 4 mid-season games (California, UNLV, Arizona State, Notre Dame) there in 1997 (he backed up Darnell Lacy in USC's first 2 games, then was Rashard Cook's backup against Oregon and Washington). He was then moved to tailback for the Stanford game and saw action there in the last 3 games. He also was USC's top punt returner, with an 8.0 average on 21 runbacks. Overall while appearing in all 11 games in 1997, he made 25 tackles, with a 6-yard sack (at California), intercepted 2 passes (against Florida State and UNLV) which he returned 32 yards (16.0 avg.), recovered 2 fumbles (against Florida State and California), forced a fumble (at California, which he recovered) and broke up 5 passes on defense, and rushed for 214 yards (third on USC) on 30 carries (7.1 avg.) with 1 TD and caught 1 pass for 17 yards (at Oregon State) on offense. He was bothered the second half of the season with nagging hip, hamstring and ankle injuries. He won USC's Bob Chandler Award (top underclassman athlete/student/leader).

Against Florida State, he intercepted a pass in the end zone (which he returned 29 yards), recovered a fumble and ran back 3 punts for 27 yards. He had 1 tackle and returned 5 punts for 43 yards (with a 21-yarder) against Washington State. At California, he made 6 tackles (including a sack), forced a fumble which he then recovered, broke up 2 passes, and returned 4 punts for 38 yards. He had 6 tackles versus UNLV, as well as breaking up 2 passes and intercepting an aerial. At Arizona State, he posted 10 tackles and returned 4 punts for 25 yards. He played sparingly at Notre Dame after bruising his hip, but did manage to make a tackle and return 2 punts for 13 yards, and then played in a limited role versus Oregon. At Washington, he again played sparingly (he saw some time at cornerback), but did take a few snaps as a wide receiver (he didn't catch a pass, though). He was a backup tailback against Stanford and made the most of it, gaining 109 yards (his second career 100-yard outing) on just 7 carries, including going 69 yards to set up a TD the first time he touched the ball (a slight hamstring strain sidelined him midway through the third quarter), and he also played briefly at cornerback (getting 1 tackle). At Oregon State, he led USC in rushing off the bench with 41 yards on 13 carries, plus had a 17-yard catch and returned a punt 5 yards, before a mild ankle sprain sidelined him in the fourth quarter. He came off the bench against UCLA and rushed for 64 yards on 10 carries, including a 49-yard TD burst to give USC its only lead of the contest.

1996: Morton was the Trojans' jack-of-all-trades as a redshirt freshman in 1996. He started at cornerback in 3 late-season games (Washington State, Stanford and UCLA) and was a backup to Ken Haslip there the rest of the season, as well as being a key special teams performer. He had 6 tackles at Washington State and 4 versus Washington.

But, to make up for the temporary loss of running backs Delon Washington and Shawn Walters in the early going, Morton was a 3-way player in 3 of USC's first 4 contests. At Illinois, he made 3 tackles as a backup cornerback, he rushed for 28 yards (with a 2-yard TD) on 9 carries as the third-string tailback, and he played on various special teams (he recovered an Illini fumble on a kickoff which led to a USC TD and he returned a punt 11 yards). Against Oregon State, he played exclusively on offense as he ran for a game-high 143 yards on 13 carries (both career bests), including a 73-yard zigzagging TD dash that broke the game open. At Houston, Morton had 4 carries for 0 yards, 2 catches for 24 yards and a 7-yard punt return. He didn't play offense against California, Arizona, Arizona State, Washington State, Washington, Stanford or UCLA. He sprained his back at UCLA and missed the Notre Dame game.

Overall in 1996, he made 23 tackles (2 for losses), 1 deflection and 1 fumble recovery on defense, plus had 26 carries for 171 yards (6.6 avg.) and 2 TDs rushing, and 2 catches for 24 yards (12.0 avg.) receiving, and a team-high 16 punt returns for a team-best 149 yards (9.3 avg.). He was fifth in the Pac-10 in punt returns (9.3).

He was moved to running back (from cornerback) prior to 1996 spring practice, but was shifted back to cornerback at the start of 1996 fall practice. He was slowed in 1996 spring drills because of a sprained knee.

1995: Morton redshirted as a freshman cornerback in 1995, his first year at USC.

TRACK: He sprinted for the USC track team in the springs of 1999, 1998 and 1996. In 1999, he posted a 10.74 time to place second in a heat in the 100 meters at the Trojan Invitational, and also had wind-aided times of 10.77 for fourth at the Long Beach Track and Field Classic and 10.93 at the Benny Brown Invitational (he also ran legs on some 400-meter relay teams). In 1998, he won a heat of the 100-meter dash at the Trojan Invitational in 10.81 and was second in the 100 in the Cal Poly San Luis Obispo Quad meet in 10.6 (he also ran on some 400-meter relay squads). In 1996, he won the 100 in 11.06 in a heat of USC's Five-Way meet (he also ran the third leg on USC's victorious 400 relay squad in that meet) before a knee sprain ended his track season.

HIGH SCHOOL: He played football for 3 years at South Torrance (Calif.) High, although he missed all but the first quarter of the season opener as a 1994 senior running back after breaking his collarbone. He started at wide receiver as a 1993 junior and was a part-time starting running back as a sophomore in 1992.

He also sprinted for 3 years for South Torrance's track team, with career bests of 10.48 in the 100 meters (he finished seventh in the 1995 state 100) and 21.3 in the 200.

PERSONAL: A fine student with a B+ average (3.43 GPA) as a sociology major, he earned 1998 GTE-Academic All-District VIII first team honors and was a 3-time (1996-98) Pac-10 All-Academic first teamer. He received a Senior Recognition Award from USC in 1999 (based on leadership, service and academics). He is the younger brother of ex-USC All-American and current Detroit Lion wide receiver Johnnie Morton (an NFL first rounder). Another older brother, Eric, was a wide receiver at Dartmouth. Two older half-brothers also starred as athletes: Michael was a running back at UNLV and then with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers (1982-84) and Stanley played pro baseball.

CHAD MORTON ON: His 1998 season: "That was my coming out party. I started to understand what the Trojan family is like. Before, I didn't feel like I was part of it...I'm in a position now where I have a lot of confidence in myself...One thing that hurt was people were saying there was no way I could be a Pac-10 running back, that I should be in the WAC."

Not making the 1998 All-Pac-10 first team: "I'm definitely using that as motivation for 1999. I'm not really respected throughout the league. It really hurt. All that hard work and dedication didn't really get noticed...You know, I've never gotten an award from playing football, based on performance. And no one wanted to give me a scholarship."

Playing tailback versus defensive back: "I'll play anywhere the coaches think I have a chance to play...Tailback is the position I've wanted to play my whole life. But when I first came here, the coaches thought I would be a better corner because of my size and speed...When I first came to USC and they made me a defensive back, it was something I'd never done before. I was getting beat in practice a lot. Sometimes I'd look at the running backs and get jealous...I wanted to be an All-American defensive back, like (USC secondary coach) Dennis Thurman was. I thought cornerback would be my home...I like defense, but it's so much easier on offense. You could just go in the game and relax, you never know what's going to happen, you just let things happen naturally. Playing corner you always have that threat of getting beat deep, so you're always nervous or uptight."

His size: "Even in high school, I was always underestimated because of my size. Luckily I've had the speed to make up for my size. I don't think my size has hindered me at all. It helps when I play running back because I don't think the defense can see me. By the time that they do, I can use my speed to get by them."

His speed: "Players like Barry Sanders, Napoleon Kaufman and Warrick Dunn all use speed. I try to use my speed and moves. I try to copy their style pretty much."

His vision: "I use a combination of seeing where the guys are and reading my keys. It's kind of a blur when you're out there. The game goes so fast and it's hard to see things but after you keep playing in the game, it slows down. As you get more experience, you're not as nervous, then things just start happening and you start seeing those open spot."

Catching passes: "You want to keep opponents guessing as much as possible. And it's fun catching the ball. I just want to get the ball any way I can."

Questions about his durability: "Yeah, I'm getting tired of hearing about it. But people have a right to say it because I haven't had a whole season yet. I'm lifting a lot more weights than I have been. I've put on more muscle. I definitely feel the difference...A lot of backs today are smaller backs who are able to carry the ball a lot of times and still last. I've just got to prove people wrong...Actually, I think I have great durability."

Returning punts: "It's pretty fun and exciting. It's almost like an adrenaline rush knowing they're coming at you. You have to concentrate and maintain control of your body, and be able to catch the ball and quickly react from that. I enjoy it a lot."

His early days at USC: "It was very tough. Even though I got a scholarship, I felt like I was a walk-on, like I didn't really belong. I didn't feel I was part of the Trojan family yet. I was on the side and trying to get in."

His brothers: "What my brothers did rubbed off on me. Eric used to literally drag me out of bed to work out."

Coming to USC: "Because of my size and the fact I was injured in my senior year in high school, I didn't know if I was going to be able to play college football. Nobody wanted to recruit me. In fact, for a while, I thought that I might have to go to a J.C. USC was pretty much the only school that recruited me...My brother (Johnnie) and my whole family played an important part in my coming to USC because my dad was the one who brought a highlight tape of my previous years in high school to the USC coaches. In retrospect, my brother's commitment to USC helped a lot. I know it wasn't all based on my talent...It's not bad hearing you're Johnnie's little brother, but a lot of people thought I was only here because of my brother...I know a lot of people didn't think that I deserved to come here. They said that I was here because of my brother, which is true, but I think that I've changed people's minds about whether or not I deserved to be here...That kind of thinking gave me an extra incentive to prove myself on the field. I like proving people wrong because it motivates me to do better. A lot of people didn't think I should play college football because they thought I was too small...I've been around USC for quite a while. I grew up in the USC tradition. My parents come to all the home games and all my practices. That's one of the reasons I stayed in Los Angeles, because I'm close to their support."

His family: "My family has had a big impact on my football. My parents go to all my games and are very active in my academics. You could say football is a family tradition...Football has always been a part of the family. I saw my brothers play before me and go on to college and it made me want to do the same things as them."

His parents, Johnnie Sr. and Katsuko, who are frequent visitors to USC practices: "I have great parents and I love it that they come to practice. And I love it that they care so much about me...They've hardly missed anything I've ever done...They're very supportive. I got a lot of coaching from my father and he's already had two kids play in the NFL...My parents aren't just the first people to tell me that I do something good, but also when I do something bad. They'll yell at me right out there on the practice field. So I'm constantly worrying about doing well...They're always telling me stuff. If I drop a ball, I'll hear it from the coaches and then let it go, move on to the next play. But then I'll hear it from my parents, too, and that's good. It helps me remember."

WHAT OTHERS SAY: Former USC running back Shawn Walters: "He makes runs like you only see on 'John Madden Football.'"

Former Oregon State head coach Jerry Pettibone: "He's one of the most exciting runners I've seen in a long time."

Former Oregon State head coach Mike Riley: "He is explosive and fast. Even though he's little, he's hard to get down."

USC offensive coordinator Hue Jackson: "He's like the Energizer Bunny out there. He's gotten stronger and added more girth. Any time you can put the ball in a guy's hands who is a threat to get to the end zone, that makes a difference. Everything doesn't have to be perfect for Chad to make a play. When things aren't exactly the way you wanted, he can squirt out and make a play. Pound for pound, he might be the best player I've ever coached. He meant as much to our offense in 1998 as (ex-USC Butkus Award winning linebacker) Chris Claiborne meant to our defense. He's gifted. He's exceptionally fast, has quick feet, real good vision, and he's hard to tackle one on one."

Former USC Butkus Award winning linebacker Chris Claiborne: "Chad brings a lot of speed to the game. He's the kind of guy who stretches the defense."

Former USC safety Rashard Cook: "Chad can score on you in a second. He has to scare you every time he touches the ball. He hits the hole so fast and is right on top of you. As a defensive back, you know if you miss the tackle it's a touchdown."

Robyn Norwood, Los Angeles Times: "Chad Morton is small, a little bit fragile...and very, very fast."

Mike Waldner, South Bay Daily Breeze: "Pencil him in as USC's little big man...He has sensational speed. He also has the outstanding runner's knack of dipping in to make a sweep appear as if it is a run at tackle. Then he cruises back a few yards as he is runner laterally to the line of scrimmage and explodes to the outside, turning upfield for a big gain. And he is tough. He may get beat up. But he does not back down."

A 3-year starter, he was an All-Marmonte League choice as a 1994 sophomore.

He also played basketball (earning 1997 Student Sports Grid-Hoops All-American honorable mention, 1996 All-Marmonte League MVP and 1995 All-Marmonte League as a center) and baseball at Royal.

PERSONAL: He's a public policy and management major at USC. He likes to fish in his free time. His sports hero is Bo Jackson.

1999: Ochs has earned the starting fullback job as a junior in 1999.

1998: Ochs was a backup fullback and special teams player as a 1998 sophomore. He even started the Purdue opener. Overall in 1998 while appearing in 9 games (all but Oregon, Washington, UCLA and Notre Dame), he ran for 8 yards on 4 carries (2.0 avg.) and caught 2 passes (both versus Purdue) for 19 yards (9.5 avg.).

1997: Ochs, who came to USC as a walk-on but earned a scholarship in 1997, was a reserve fullback as a redshirt freshman in 1997. He saw brief action in 4 games (Arizona State, Washington, Stanford, Oregon State), primarily on special teams (he did not carry the ball or make any tackles). He missed USC's first 3 games of 1997 while recovering from a pre-season hamstring pull.

1996: Ochs redshirted as a walk-on freshman running back in 1996, his first year at USC. He was sidelined all season with a sprained left ankle suffered in pre-season drills.

HIGH SCHOOL: He was named to the 1995 Max Emfinger All-Northeast, All-State, All-Montgomery County and All-Conference teams as a senior fullback and middle linebacker at Georgetown Prep in Rockville (Md.). He ran for 637 yards (11.0 avg.) and 7 TDs on 58 carries in 1995. His 11.0 rushing average topped all Maryland preps. He also caught 19 passes for 272 yards (14.3 avg.) with 4 TDs. His blocking helped spring his team's running back to a 1,400-yard-plus season. On defense, he led Georgetown Prep in tackles with 78, including 9 for losses (with 4 sacks), plus 1 interception, 3 forced fumbles and 2 fumble recoveries in 1995. Georgetown Prep went 10-0 in 1995, winning its league championship and ranking in Maryland's Top 5.

Ifeanyi OHALETE

Safety

Jr./Jr.

1999: The experienced Ohalete enters his 1999 junior season as the starting free safety.

1998: Ohalete backed up Grant Pearsall at strong safety and was a key special teams player as a 1998 sophomore. He even started 4 early-season games (San Diego State, Oregon State, Florida State and Arizona State) when Pearsall was nursing an injury and did a solid job. Overall in 1998 while appearing in all 13 games, he made 52 tackles, including 4 for losses of 6 yards, deflected 8 passes, intercepted 3 passes and blocked a punt. He was named USC's Special Teams Player of the Year.

In the Purdue opener, he had 7 tackles, then he added 5 against San Diego State, 2 versus Oregon State and 5 at Florida State. Against Arizona State, he ran back a blocked fourth quarter punt 14 yards for the decisive TD (he also had 6 tackles). Then, against California, he blocked a punt to set up a USC field goal and intercepted a pass in the end zone to go with his 3 tackles. He had 4 tackles and an interception at both Washington State and Oregon. He made 3 tackles against Washington, 2 at Stanford, 6 at UCLA and 3 against Notre Dame. He had 2 tackles against TCU in the Sun Bowl before being sidelined with a sprained right ankle.

1997: Ohalete served as a backup, first at the rover linebacker spot for the first part of his 1997 first-year freshman season and then at strong safety. He also played on special teams. Overall while appearing in all 11 games in 1997, he made 3 tackles (1 each against California, UNLV and Notre Dame). He also recovered an onside kick late in the UCLA game.

HIGH SCHOOL: He earned 1996 Super Prep All-American, Student Sports All-American, Prep Star All-American, USA Today All-USA honorable mention, Super Prep All-Farwest, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, Prep Star Best in the West, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best of the Rest, Cal-Hi Sports All-State first team, Los Angeles Times All-Orange County first team, Orange County Register All-Orange County first team, Long Beach Press-Telegram Dream Team and All-Sunset League first team as a senior at Los Alamitos (Calif.) High. He had 28 solo tackles and an Orange County-high 9 interceptions (with 2 returned for TDs) in 1996, despite missing 4 games with a deep thigh bruise and an ankle injury. As a wide receiver on offense, he averaged 25.6 yards per catch.

As a 1995 junior, he made the Long Beach Press-Telegram Dream Team first team. He had a school-record 15 career interceptions as a 3-year starter.

He also played baseball and basketball at Los Alamitos. Current Trojans Stanley Guyness, Sagan Atuatasi and Bernard Riley also prepped at Los Alamitos.

PERSONAL: He's a business major at USC with a B- average (2.84 GPA). His nickname is Ife. His middle name is Eberachukwu. In part, his name means, "Nothing surpasses God." He is half Nigerian and has spent time with his father's tribe, Ebo, in a pair of trips to Nigeria when he was younger. His half brother, Earl Simpson, played football at Texas A&M and another, Carl, plays pro basketball overseas. He was born in Springfield, Ill. His sports hero is Hakeem Olajuwon.

IFEANYI OHALETE ON: Playing safety versus linebacker: "I'm a lot more comfortable playing safety. Playing linebacker was fun at times, getting to do all the hitting, but I didn't like being in the mix of all those linemen...I like both safety positions. At strong safety, you're around the ball a lot more, being that it's more involved in run support. At free, you cover more and play pass defense. In our defense, they're both interchangeable, there are a lot of similarities."

Visiting Nigeria: "I remember how much love there was for family members and I remember how much respect there was for your elders, which is a lot different from how it is here."

WHAT OTHERS SAY: USC secondary coach Dennis Thurman: "He has all the signs you look for in great defensive backs."

Carson PALMER

Quarterback

So./So.

CAREER: Palmer already ranks 20th on USC's career passing list, with 130 completions.

1999: Palmer, coming off an eye-opening 1998 campaign, will start again at quarterback as a sophomore in 1999.

PAUL HACKETT SAYS: "There isn't a younger, yet more experienced quarterback in the country than Carson. He has that rare combination of being young, but already having played against some of the nation's top teams, such as Florida State, Notre Dame and UCLA. His pure passing ability sets him apart. His development as an overall quarterback, particularly in his decision making, will be the key to his progress."

1998: Just a first-year freshman, Palmer showed his precociousness with an impressive showing at quarterback. After sharing playing time with starter Mike Van Raaphorst in USC's first 8 games, Palmer took over the starting job against Washington to become only the second true freshman to start at quarterback for USC (along with Rob Johnson, who started once in 1991) and continued as the starter against Stanford, UCLA, Notre Dame and TCU in the Sun Bowl. Overall while appearing in all 13 games in 1998, Palmer was 130-of-235 (55.3%) for 1,755 yards and 7 TDs with 6 interceptions. His 130 completions ranks 17th on USC's season passing chart.

In the Purdue opener, he appeared on 3 series in the second half and led USC to 17 points while going 3-of-6 for 79 yards. The pattern held true against San Diego State, as he was 5-of-8 for 50 yards and 1 score (the first of his career) seeing action in 3 second-half series. Against Oregon State, he hit just 1-of-7 throws for 6 yards playing in 5 series in the second and third quarters. He struggled at Florida State (2-of-10 for 18 yards) while playing all but the first series of the second half. In the Arizona State game, he came off the bench late in the third quarter to guide Troy on a TD drive and spark USC's comeback (he was 4-of-7 for 69 yards and a TD overall in 3 series). He played just 2 series in the third quarter against California, hitting 1-of-2 passes for 9 yards. He was 8-of-16 for 143 yards and a TD while leading USC to 28 unanswered points at Washington State when he came in midway through the second quarter when Van Raaphorst became ill. At Oregon, he was 10-of-19 for 179 yards as he saw action in most of the second quarter, the end of the third quarter and all of the final quarter. He played the entire Washington game, hitting 18-of-31 passes for 279 yards (all then-career highs) and a TD to become only USC's second true freshman starting quarterback. At Stanford, he went 19-of-26 (a then-career-best for completions; 2 passes were dropped, including 1 in the end zone) for 203 yards and a TD while going the whole way. He was 28-of-43 (both career bests) for 252 yards and a TD (but he threw 2 interceptions) while going the whole way at UCLA. He was 14-of-32 for 188 yards against Notre Dame and he ran for his first career touchdown (a 2-yarder to put USC on the board and give Troy its decisive points) while playing the entire game. Against TCU in the Sun Bowl, he completed17-of-28 passes for a career-best 280 yards and 1 TD, but was sacked 6 times.

HIGH SCHOOL: He earned 1997 Super Prep National 50, The Sporting News Top 100, Super Prep All-American, Prep Star Dream Team, Prep Star All-American, USA Today All-USA honorable mention, Super Prep All-Farwest, Prep Star All-Western Region Super 30, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best in the West first team (unanimous), Cal-Hi Sports All-State first team, All-CIF Southern Section first team, All-CIF Division V Offensive Co-MVP, Los Angeles Times All-Orange County first team, Orange County Register All-Orange County first team and All-Seaview League Offensive MVP honors as a senior at Santa Margarita High in Rancho Santa Margarita (Calif.). In 1997, he completed 136-of-216 passes (63.0%) for 2,685 yards, 31 TDs and just 4 interceptions, plus ran for 290 yards and 3 scores. He did all this despite missing 2 earlier-season games with a foot injury. Santa Margarita went 14-0 in 1997 and won its second consecutive CIF Division V championship; in that title game, Palmer threw for a school-record 419 yards with 5 TDs and ran for another TD. Earlier in 1997, he threw for 356 yards in a game and had 5 TD tosses in less than 2 quarters of action in another contest.

As a junior in 1996, he made the Cal-Hi Sports Junior All-State second team, All-Seaview League first team and team Offensive MVP while completing 58.0% of his passes for 2,089 yards, 25 TDs and 5 interceptions. Santa Margarita went 13-1 in 1996 and was the 1996 CIF Division V champ. In his career, he set 23 school records while going 261-of-435 (60.0%) for 4,692 yards and 55 TDs with just 10 interceptions. He also ran for 565 yards (including 150 yards in a game) with 10 scores in his career. Current Trojan Matt Nickels also prepped at Santa Margarita.

Palmer also played basketball at Santa Margarita (he averaged 8.0 points and 8.0 rebounds as a 1998 senior) and was named to the 1998 Student Sports Grid-Hoops All-American second team. Santa Margarita went 32-2 in 1998 and won the 1998 CIF and State Division II titles.

PERSONAL: His personal quarterback coach was Bob Johnson, the father of ex-USC (1991-94) and current NFL star signalcaller Rob Johnson. He was born in Fresno, Calif. He says the funniest thing that happened to him in a game was when he twice "lined up to take a snap from the left guard." His most thrilling moment in sports was winning the 1998 state high school basketball title.

CARSON PALMER ON: His 1998 performance: "I never expected to be starting. I just hoped to contribute...Not a lot of people do start at quarterback as a freshman. I'm thankful I got the chance...My goal was to come in and play. I didn't want to redshirt. I didn't think I would start. The playbook was so overwhelming. I didn't think I would get it down in one year."

The 1999 season: "I can't wait for 1999. Everywhere I go, people say they expect us to win. But that's what I expect, too. Anything else would be a disappointment."

His on-field composure: "I just don't have a bad temper. I'm pretty easygoing about everything...I'm just concentrating on the plays and what's going on, so I don't get that nervous. I've always been the youngest guy on the team ever since fifth grade because I weighed more than everybody else, and I had to go up to the higher division. So maybe that's where it comes from."

Improving: "I still have a long, long, long way to go. I've learned a ton, but there's twice I need to learn in the next couple of years...It's not technique as much as it is mental. You've got to know what the defense is doing. I think that's where I've come along the most, reading coverages, picking out where the corners aren't as good as the opposite ones, and deciding where to go with the ball...You can always get quicker and faster, work harder on your dropback, accuracy on your deep ball. But the main thing is to get those footsteps down."

Being a leader: "You can be a leader at any age as long as guys have your respect. If you get the job done, people will look up to you to be a leader."

USC's playbook: "I haven't seen the whole thing. I think it's as big as the Bible. There's a ton of stuff you have to know. It's not just plays. It has what everyone's responsibilities are on every play and it goes over certain situations. From week to week, it changes. Coach Hackett is the only person who knows 100 percent of the playbook. I'm sure he has the entire thing in a glass cage in his house somewhere. There's no such thing as an easy playbook. But his is unique."

Mike Van Raaphorst: "The night I found out I was starting for the first time, I told Mike, 'I know it's hard, but I don't want to mess up what's between us.' He was like an extra tutor for me. Ever since I got here he was my workout partner, showing me the plays. He's helped a lot...It worked out well. Mike's always helping me out, quizzing me, getting me through the playbook. As the (1998) season progressed and the roles ended up changing, he never changed as a person. He always had my back and I commend him for that...If he would've acted any differently, I don't think it would've worked out as well as it has. He's been so supportive of me. He's been helping me out with stuff I've been having trouble with...If anything, the quarterback change has brought us closer. He still helps me as much as ever."

Choosing USC: "It probably started when I was in the ninth grade and some of my friends' parents would take us to USC football games. I just fell in love with everything about their football games and the tradition. I always imagined myself running out of the Coliseum tunnel toward the field."

His future: "I'm not setting myself up for the NFL. I'm not trying to do anything special to go to the NFL, but if it happens, it happens. If that's where God wants me to go, it's going to happen. But I also want to work in business, maybe work in health insurance."

His bi-coastal family (his father took a job in Connecticut prior to his junior prep year, while the rest of the family stayed in California so he could continue at Santa Margarita): "I felt real guilty because I was putting them through this for me. My dad only got to see his family one-and-a-half days a week. But it kept me aligned, kept me focused, because I knew all the sacrifices my family was going through."

His cooking ability: "I don't cook anything unless I can pop it into the microwave. I don't even have pots or pans. Mostly, I eat at a catering truck by my place!"

WHAT OTHERS SAY: Shana Newell, El Paso Times: "Rarely has a Trojan quarterback demonstrated as much promise as Carson Palmer. He could become USC's biggest name yet."

USC tailback Chad Morton: "He's very calm. He doesn't get too excited, too emotional. He's going to be a great leader for this team. Looking at him, you have all this confidence in him. He has a great attitude."

USC wide receiver R. Jay Soward: "I call him 'Little Man.' I can't quite call him 'The Man' yet, because he's still young."

Former USC wide receiver Mike Bastianelli: "He brings an air of confidence with him."

USC tailback Petros Papadakis: "Someday I can tell my kids that Carson Palmer handed me the ball once."

USC offensive coordinator Hue Jackson: "He makes good things happen."

Former USC All-American quarterback Paul McDonald, now USC's radio analyst: "He's so far ahead of the learning curve, it's scary."

Former USC wide receiver Billy Miller: "I knew he was the guy the first time he came into the huddle. Just the fact that he has field presence. You feel a little something different. There's a confidence that comes over the team...He has a big responsibility. He's labeled now as the star of the team. That's a heavy burden to carry. He has to understand what he's about to go through. He'll be expected to carry the Trojans to the promised land every year. But he has to understand that when things go wrong, and things go wrong for everybody, to hang in there. He has to realize who his real friends are and don't feed too much into the hype. He'll be all-everything, people will expect him to complete 100 percent of his passes and lead the nation in passing and he has to show leadership at a young age."

UCLA head coach Bob Toledo: "He's a rising star."

UCLA tailback DeShaun Foster, a high school rival: "In high school, you're not prepared for quarterbacks like him. Carson's arm was unbelievable and it was so accurate."

UCLA cornerback Julius Williams, another prep rival: "If a receiver has a little bit of room and the defensive back is not covering him completely, Carson is going to throw the ball right there and there's no way the defensive back is going to get the ball."

Santa Margarita High coach Jim Hartigan: "Carson has the size of Troy Aikman and the arm strength of John Elway. He's got the super quick release of Dan Marino and the ability to put zip on the ball or touch depending on what the situation calls for. He is extremely calm and poised and he always makes the right decisions. He thrives on pressure. The bigger the game, the better he performs."

Tustin High coach Myron Miller: "He stood back there and it was like he had a cannon for an arm and every ball was perfect."

His father, Bill: "The first comment anybody made to us, since he was a quarterback in the ninth grade, was how much poise he had. Don't misread him. He's very competitive. He doesn't like to lose. He's always been easygoing. What's going on inside is probably different."

Petros PAPADAKIS

Tailback

#35

1999: The hard-running and off-the-wall Papadakis, whose father and brother played at USC, once again will be on the field often in 1999 as a senior tailback in a variety of situations: in short yardage downs, in two-back formations, as Chad Morton's backup, as a potential starter and possibly returning kickoffs.

PAUL HACKETT SAYS: Petros was superb in 1998 in his role in short yardage situations and he showed great flashes when he carried the ball from scrimmage. He's a vital part of our offense."

1998: Papadakis was the backup tailback to Chad Morton in 1998 as a junior. He even started 4 games (Oregon State, Arizona State, Washington State and Stanford) for an injured Morton. Used primarily in short yardage situations, he proved equally capable of breaking long runs. Overall in 1998 while appearing in all 13 games, he gained 365 yards on 93 carries (3.9 avg.) with a team-best 8 rushing TDs and he caught 3 passes for 26 yards (8.7 avg.). He also made 1 tackle (against San Diego State) on special teams.

He had a game-high 118 yards on 13 carries (both career bests) against California, with a career-long 65-yard TD run (a 58-yard TD run was shortened to 41 yards because of a late penalty behind the play). The next week at Washington State, he was again the game's top runner, this time getting 84 yards on 6 tries, including a 53-yard scoring burst. He had 2 short TD runs at Stanford and 1 at UCLA and against TCU in the Sun Bowl.

1997: Papadakis, who came to USC as a walk-on after transferring from California but earned a scholarship in 1997, was a reserve tailback and key special teams player as a sophomore in 1997. Overall while appearing in 10 games in 1997 (he did not play at California), he rushed for 103 yards on 24 carries (4.3 avg.). He had 54 yards on 7 carries against Stanford. He also made 1 tackle (at Notre Dame). He missed the last half of 1997 spring practice because of a sprained left ankle.

1996: He redshirted as a running back at USC in 1996.

1995: Papadakis originally signed with California and actually participated in practice for 1 week with the Bears in the fall of 1995, then left there and enrolled at USC. He had to sit out the 1995 season at Troy because of transfer rules.

HIGH SCHOOL: He made the 1994 Student Sports All-State honorable mention, All-CIF Division II first team, Los Angeles Times All-South Bay first team, South Bay Daily Breeze All-South Bay Co-MVP and All-Bay League Offensive MVP as a senior running back at Peninsula High in Rolling Hills (Calif.). He rushed for 2,026 yards on 217 carries (9.3 avg.) with 22 TDs in 1994. Ten of his TD runs were at least 40 yards and he scored at least 2 TDs in 7 different games. He ran for 288 yards in 1 game. Peninsula went 11-2 and advanced to the CIF Division II semifinals. Current Trojan Scott Huber also prepped at Peninsula.

PERSONAL: He is a popular figure on local and national sports talk radio shows. He's majoring in English/American literature at USC. He has worked many years at his family's renowned Greek restaurant in San Pedro, Papadakis Taverna. Petros is a third generation Trojan. His father, John, lettered 2 years (1970-71) as a linebacker at USC (he was Troy's most inspirational player in 1971). His brother, Taso, was a linebacker with the Trojans (he lettered in 1994 and 1996).

PETROS PAPADAKIS ON: Himself: "I'm a walking contradiction. I'm the only person in the world who can sit on the fence and watch himself go by...I've always kind of been a little bit eccentric in certain situations. But if I don't know the people, I'm kind of quiet."

His 1998 success: "I've got confidence now...I became more comfortable with running the ball and making decisions in general. Usually I'm really scared of doing something bad...It used to be just my legs going and by the time I figured out what I was supposed to be doing, I'd be back in the huddle. I feel more comfortable carrying the ball now, reading the keys, having confidence in my blockers. And I'm kind of trying to open my eyes more now!...Early on, though, I was starting to get down. I started to miss keys and miss holes, which is not good. I was thinking maybe I was just a short-yardage guy."

His running style: "I'm a powerful runner with some speed. I try to hit the hole going full speed. I just try to get at least 4 or 5 yards a carry...Basically, it's just more comfortable for me to run into people. It hurts, but I just try to get a couple yards, and that's what's gotten me to where I am right now...I was never a very fancy runner. I don't have moves like Chad Morton. I can't do that kind of stuff. I would if I could. The truth is, I'm not cat-like, I can't reverse my field, do a flip and score. I run straight ahead and over people. But I am pretty fast...I'm not the most instinctive runner. I have to think to do certain things. If I let myself go, I'll run right up (offensive guard) Travis Claridge's back and he'll beat me up after practice. And that's not good!"

His speed: "Teams kind of misjudge my speed. No one has seen me go anywhere in about 5 years. I don't look particularly fast when I go 1 yard."

Being a football player: "No one thinks I play football. I'm not that big and I'm not that muscular. One of my professors came up to me and said, 'I hear you play football.' And then he said, 'Are you a walk-on or a kicker?'...People used to mistake me for my brother, who also wore the same number. When they called roll in class, they'd look at me confused because he's a big guy...I've always been a little eccentric. I reveled in obscurity for 3 years in high school, then I ran for 2,000 yards as a senior and everyone started to like me...It happened so fast. Nothing had changed in my mind. I was still a confused high school student. All of a sudden, I was getting scholarship offers and everyone liked me again. I was cool and popular. It was so weird...I'm not impressed with myself at all. I'm shocked that I'm here at USC, playing tailback...I never liked working out. I still have to force myself to get up in the morning. I don't like the weight room and I don't even like running, even though I'm a running back...I'm not Mr. Football. I don't breathe pigskin and I don't have laces in the back of my head, but I play for a reason. I value my relationship with my teammates and I do things for them because they do things for me...I like the regimen of football and I'm proud of myself for being able to handle it...I always thought that if I ever played college football, the world was going to smile upon me. Like I'd be walking out of my house in the morning and the sun would be singing a song and smiling and the picket fences would come alive and be holding hands. That's just not the way it is. Nobody really cares. Which is cool. I like that better."

His popularity with the media: "I just feel like the media is starved for somebody to say something different than, 'We really have to play hard this week.' That's all good stuff, but I deal with that in meetings every day. I deal with that for six hours with coaches."

Football games: "Every game is a mental challenge. Part of you wants to hide and part of you wants to kill somebody. Part of you wants to go perform and part of you wants someone else to perform. Personally and collectively, it's an emotional rollercoaster."

His improvement: "I feel more comfortable with the ball. Every year in college I get more and more used to running the ball. I'm more relaxed. And I'm catching the ball, which is good for me. The 1997 season wasn't easy for someone like me designated as the third-string running back, not even knowing if I would play. I know all I can do is run hard."

Originally going to California before coming to USC: "I left for Berkeley the day I graduated from high school. I liked it there, but I got very homesick and nostalgic. I wasn't ready emotionally, so I came home...I wanted to be a Berkeley poet-sage. When I came home, I was enticed to come to USC and play football...It was a bad decision to go to Cal and it was a bad decision to leave. It still bothers me in the sense that I signed a scholarship, made a commitment to them and didn't fulfill it. But it would have happened anywhere because I was unprepared. That's why I respect incoming freshmen, because I know what they go through."

His USC roots: "USC is the best place to be for me. I was born going to USC games. The Trojans were my heroes...My grandfather (Tom) loved USC. He got the whole thing started. He has never missed a Trojan home game...When I saw my jersey and my name on my locker, I felt I was home. It was like a homecoming to me. Every time I run out of the tunnel, it's just such a great feeling. I couldn't even sleep the night before the first game...If someone had told me when I was 16 years old that I'd be wearing a Trojan uniform and running out of the tunnel onto the field at Notre Dame like I did, I wouldn't have believed them. I realize how fortunate I am. I realize I'm getting a free education because of my football scholarship."

Playing time: "I found out at a young age that life deals up adversities and doesn't always go the way you want it to go. I'm ready when my chance comes. And if it doesn't, I'm not going to feel sorry for myself. I'm going to know in my heart that I gave it all I had."

His love of literature: "When I was in high school, I was obsessed with Jack Kerouac. I loved the whole beatnik thing. Then I got into Kurt Vonnegut and Joseph Heller. That's why I wore No. 22 when I first got here...I'll read, like Henry James now. I read 'Moby Dick' for the first time. John Updike, that was pretty depressing. Sylvia Plath? She's really depressing. The dead Greeks are way beyond me. Philosophy doesn't move fast enough for me...I'm not much of a writer. I don't watch much TV. I'm not much of a social guy. I just read. I can't add. I don't have a mind for business. I don't have a linear kind of mind. Not that I have any kind of mind. But if I am any kind of thinker, I'm an abstract thinker and literature kind of suits me."

His family's athletic background: "Everyone in my family, we all play the same. We're not the most athletically gifted family, but we play with heart. It's good to bring heart to everything you do, or there is no point to it."

His brother, Taso: "I have always had great respect for him. I admire his optimism and relentless pursuit of his goals. I think of the hardships and injuries he has gone through and how he has handled everything like a man...He's my hero. He's the greatest. He's gone through more adversity than I could dream...A lot of the reason my family members have lost their minds over my play has to do with Taso having so much misfortune here. It really broke all our hearts. He gave everything he had here, like his entire body, without every getting any recognition."

His father, John: "My dad is still bigger than life. Dinner at my house is like holding court, or being in Parliament, or something. But it's cool. It really is...My dad's into philosophy. He says, 'Become a philosopher, like the Greeks. Be a man.' My father, he thinks he's Achilles or Agamemnon. He used to come home from the restaurant at 3 in the morning and gather Taso and me together and say, 'You're a Papadakis, everybody loves you, you're a Greek!'...If you listen to him, you'd think I'm up for the Heisman...If I ran 30 yards backwards and got tackled for a safety, he'd say, 'It's not your fault. You did everything right.'"

His family's restaurant, Papadakis Taverna: "The restaurant is like a living thing. It's like it's alive, or animated. It's like we all pump life into it...It's an exciting place to go. It's not exactly the kind of place where you'd have a quiet conversation. We just beat out Chucky Cheese as Gourmet Magazine's Most Fun restaurant! My father's kind of a psycho, so it's really loud. There's a lot of dancing. Greeks sing a lot and they break things, but I don't dance and sing and I haven't broken anything in a long time...I've done everything there, peeled carrots, washed dishes, everything. Now, on certain nights, I run the place."

The craziest thing he's done: "I used to run naked in the summer when we used to condition on Fridays. I did. At Howard Jones Field. For the last run, I used to strip naked!"

WHAT OTHERS SAY: Steve Bisheff, Orange County Register: "Petros is a smiling, self-deprecating person who is unlike any college football player you've ever met. In another time, in another world, you could picture him as this brilliant, toga-wearing Greek scholar who dabbled in athletics."

Matt Deringer, USC Report: "He is a joking, goofing, self-deprecating player who appreciates life the way his head coach does a three-deep zone. A football talent who by his own admission has more trouble asking out a coed than taking out a linebacker. He's an English/American Lit major who can read a defense as easily as he does T.S. Eliot. A power runner whose less-than-Jerome Bettis build often gets him mistaken for a kicker. He's a short-yardage back with...speed?"

Robyn Norwood, Los Angeles Times: "Petros Papadakis is like no Trojan tailback before him. What Heisman Trophy winner ever referred to the Industrial Revolution on sports talk radio? What human being ever referred to the Industrial Revolution on sports talk radio? Only a few minutes before that, he was telling reporters how before his big game, he could feel his confidence plunging, like Javert into the Seine in the scene from 'Les Miserables.' Literature is a powerful interest, and he has been known to walk off the practice field quoting Shakespeare. At least it sounded like Shakespeare."

Mike Waldner, South Bay Daily Breeze: "The young man is articulate. He's intelligent. He's fresh. He's quick. He's refreshing. He's fun. He's a walking, talking whirlwind. He is opinionated. If he has no opinion, give him a tick or two and he'll generate one. He has 4.4 speed in the 40. That's slow compared to his mind when he's operating at full throttle...He is no cliche. He's an original...On the field, Papadakis lacks style. He doesn't zip, spin or juke. He's not Barry Sanders. But he has the size and the speed."

Phil Collin, South Bay Daily Breeze: "The guy does leave an impression. It's not just the nonstop chatter, it's the content of the chatter. One minute he'll be referring to Flaubert, the next he'll talk about his favorite book, Catch 22, or he'll break out into a Sinatra song...He wouldn't follow in anyone's footsteps. He was the kid who could rankle any teacher or parent. For the hours Taso spent lifting weights, Petros could either be found reading, pestering somebody, or generally finding mischief."

USC offensive guard Travis Claridge: "Petros is a good-hearted guy. He's a nut, too. I've never met anyone like him. He's come a long way. The line loves to see a mad Greek running behind them."

USC quarterback Mike Van Raaphorst: "I bet a lot of people didn't know he was fast. But everybody on the team has seen him run 40s. He just needs a chance to get out in the open. Once he's in the open, he's fast. Once he gets ahead, you're not catching him from behind."

His brother and former teammate, Taso: "Petros is a funny guy. He's a good storyteller and he's a ham. He likes to be in the spotlight...He approaches football in a different way than I did. I approached it like a locomotive. He's very theatrical, very dramatic. I believe he perceives the game the same as I do, no matter what comes out of his mouth."

His father, John: "I'm very proud of him. I'm amazed by him like everyone else is. He has some amazing gifts."

1998: Pierson redshirted as a freshman fullback in 1998, his first year at USC.

HIGH SCHOOL: He rushed for more than 1,000 yards as a 1997 senior at Oxnard (Calif.) High (and he blocked for a 2,000-yard tailback). His 1997 honors included All-CIF Division III first team, Los Angeles Times All-Ventura County MVP, Ventura County Star Ventura County MVP and All-Channel League Offensive MVP.

He ran for 721 yards on 90 carries (8.0 avg.) with 7 TDs as a 1996 junior. Current Trojan Jacob Rogers also attended Oxnard.

He also starred in baseball at Oxnard, hitting over .400 as an outfielder.

Mike POLLARD

So./So.

#45

1998: Pollard served as the backup to Chris Claiborne at middle linebacker as a freshman in 1998. Overall in 1998 while appearing in 10 games (all but Purdue, Washington and UCLA), he had 8 tackles, including 2 for losses of 10 yards (with a 7-yard sack), plus he forced a fumble (against San Diego State). He had 2 tackles at Florida State and Washington State. Originally a 1997 signee, he entered USC in the spring of 1998 as a first-year freshman after improving his test scores at a junior college.

JUNIOR COLLEGE: He actually signed with USC in 1997, but did not qualify academically, so he elected to attend Cypress (Calif.) College that season as a part-time student (he didn't play football there).

HIGH SCHOOL: He was named a 1996 Super Prep All-American, Prep Star All-American, USA Today All-USA honorable mention, Super Prep All-Farwest, Prep Star Best in the West, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best of the Rest, Cal-Hi Sports All-State first team, All-CIF Southern Section first team, All-CIF Division I first team, Los Angeles Times All-South Coast/Southeast first team, Long Beach Press-Telegram Dream Team and All-Moore League Defensive MVP as a senior at Poly High in Long Beach (Calif.). In 1996, he made 125 tackles, 7 sacks, 5 forced fumbles, 2 fumble recoveries and 4 pass deflections. His best outing in 1996 was 19 solo tackles and 6 tackles for a loss in a single game.

As a 1995 junior, he only played in 2 games (getting 25 tackles, with 7 tackles for losses) before tearing ligaments in his right knee and having surgery. He had 76 tackles and 5 sacks as a 1994 sophomore. During his 3-year career, Poly went 31-7 (including 12-1 in 1995) and twice advanced to the CIF Division I semifinals. He also played baseball at Poly. Current Trojans Kareem Kelly, Darrell Rideaux and DeShaun Hill also prepped at Poly.

PERSONAL: He's a public policy and management major at USC.

MIKE POLLARD ON: His style: "I like to take lanes and make plays behind the line. I like to use my speed and instincts to get into the backfield before the play develops."

USC Butkus Award winning linebacker Chris Claiborne, who he backed up in 1998: "I want to follow in his footsteps. You never know what's going to happen. Only time will tell, and I have time on my side...I am getting more comfortable and confident. I want to prove to people I am worthy of succeeding Chris. He is the perfect person to pattern the football aspect of my life after. He is open to criticism and, mentally, he is just awesome. Maybe someday I'll be even better than him."

Sitting out the 1997 season: "That was tough. I felt totally out of sync...I didn't even go around USC. I watched the games, but I didn't feel like I belonged...It kind of hurt. Nobody talked about me, and when they did, all they would mention was the academic problems...God puts you in certain situations to challenge you. If you handle things right, you become a better person...The experience really matured me. I am so appreciative of where I am now. Like they say, you never know how good you have it until you lose it."

WHAT OTHERS SAY: Former USC Butkus Award winning linebacker Chris Claiborne: "There's no limit for Mike."

Poly High coach Jerry Jaso: "Mike is a super person and a great football player. He outworks most of his opponents and plays with a fiery intensity. He has that rare ability to dominate a game from the linebacker position. He is explosive and makes a ton of tackles for losses. He will do whatever it takes to win. He knows when to go for the big hit and when to wrap the guy up. He's a team player who finds a way to get the job done."

PERSONAL: His sports heroes are Barry Sanders and Emmitt Smith.

ERIC REESE ON: The difference between high school and college football: "The speed. It's a lot faster out here than in high school. Everybody runs pretty well. And the hitting is a lot harder, too."

Kris RICHARD

Cornerback

So.*/Jr.

1999: Richard has earned the starting right cornerback job as a sophomore in 1999. He also might be used returning punts.

1998: Richard was a backup to Daylon McCutcheon at cornerback in 1998 as a redshirt freshman and also played on special teams. Overall in 1998 while appearing in 11 games (all but Arizona State and Stanford), he made 14 tackles (including 3 at Washington State). He also returned a kickoff 20 yards versus Washington. He missed the Stanford game with a bruised shoulder.

1997: Richard redshirted as a freshman cornerback in 1997, his first year at USC, while recuperating from a pre-season hamstring pull. He had surgery after the season to remove scar tissue from his upper hamstring and lower back.

HIGH SCHOOL: He made 1996 Super Prep All-American, Prep Star All-American, Super Prep All-Farwest, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best of the Rest, South Bay Daily Breeze All-South Bay second team, and All-Mission League first team (as a quarterback) as a senior at Serra High in Gardena (Calif.). As a quarterback in 1996, he completed 92-of-171 passes (53.8%) for 1,369 yards and 10 TDs, plus ran for 900 yards with 7 TDs (he also played some at wide receiver). He added 69 tackles, 6 interceptions and 2 forced fumbles as a cornerback. He once scored 4 TDs in a game.

As a junior in 1995, he was All-Mission League second team while passing for 372 yards and 6 TDs and running for 264 yards (23.0 avg.) as a quarterback (in 4 games), making 42 tackles and 6 deflections on defense, and also punting and returning punts (including a 79-yarder for a TD).

He played briefly as a 1994 sophomore, getting 7 tackles and 2 deflections.

He also ran track at Serra, with bests of 10.5 in the 100 meters and 21.4 in the 200 meters, and was on Serra's 1996 state championship 400-meter relay team. He was Serra's student body president. Current Trojan Jason Steen also prepped at Serra.

PERSONAL: He's a sociology major at USC. Richard's nickname is "Hurricane." His father is a USC alumnus, while his mother graduated from UCLA.

KRIS RICHARD ON: His goals: "I expected to compete on this level and I expect to compete on the next level. I am working hard to take my game to the next level. Football is my only hobby and I am serious about what it takes to get to be the kind of player that I want to be...Deion Sanders is untouchable. I want to take my game to his level. He does it all. He plays on special teams, defense and he has style. All my life I have been a multi-dimensional player...I'm very happy with my life. I mean, I get to play the game I love for thousands of people, and I get to do this at a great university. It is a dream come true."

Improving: "I'm young and I have a long ways to go. Right now, I'm just working hard and trying to improve...The work in the weight room is paying off. I need to get stronger to take on physical receivers. I also work hard studying film of opponents. I consider myself a student of the game."

His ability: "I can run with the speed receivers and get physical with the big receivers."

Having played quarterback in high school: "Playing quarterback helps me understand the timing of the offense and the way a quarterback approaches the offense. You aren't supposed to guess, but I count in my head and you can usually expect the ball to be thrown in three to five seconds. Counting keeps me focused. It's just a habit I've developed."

Being tutored in football by his relatives: "My father and uncle both played defensive back in junior college and they both helped mold me. I think the football sense and knowledge of the game I have is the result of watching games with my father and uncle. They were always there for me. They both are very technical and love the game of football. They would always give me pointers and help me out. We are all very close."

The USC-UCLA rivalry between his parents: "Growing up, my dad would sit on one side of the room and my mom would sit on the other side of the room. I always wanted USC to win, but my mom was always a UCLA fan until I came to USC. Now she has converted."

WHAT OTHERS SAY: Serra coach Charles Nash: "Kris is an excellent athlete. He is quick, smart, tenacious, hard-working and has excellent technique. He has the ability to take over a game. He is very mature and has his priorities straight."

He also played basketball and baseball at Norco.

1999: Simmons, who will be starting for his third season, could contend for national hon[illegible]s as a junior left cornerback in 1999.

PAUL HACKETT SAYS: "Antuan is one of the top defensive players in the Pac-10. This year will be his time to shine because it's up to him to be a leader and to realize he's now a marked man."

1998: Simmons played a dramatic role for USC at cornerback and on special teams as a 1998 sophomore. He started 5 games (California, Oregon, Washington, Stanford and UCLA) and was Ken Haslip's often-used backup in the others (he also came in during extra defensive back si[illegible]ations). Overall in 1998 while appearing in all 13 games, he made 55 tackles, including 2 for losses of 7 yards (with 2 sacks [illegible] minus 5 yards), plus he had 3 interceptions which he returned [illegible] 19 yards (39.7 avg.) with 2 TDs, broke up 14 passes, forced a fumble and blocked 3 kicks. He was named to the 1998 All-Pac-10 second team and 3 times was the Pac-10's Player of the Wee[illegible] was moved to cornerback in 1998 after starting at rover [illegible]er and then strong safety in 1997. After the season, h[illegible]ery to remove torn cartilage from his left ankle.

Against Purdue, he [illegible] the field, tying for the team lead in tackles (9), block[illegible]d, intercepting a pass and forcing a fumble that US[illegible] and converted to a TD (he was named Pac-10 De[illegible]yer of the Week for his performance). He then hac[illegible]s against San Diego State, 4 (2 for losses) against Oregon State and 3 at Florida State. Against Arizona State, he blocked a fourth quarter punt which Ifeanyi Ohalete ran back 14 yards for the decisive TD (Simmons was named Pac-10 Special Teams Player of the Week). He added 9 stops against California, 2 at Washington State and 6 at Oregon. He was spectacular against Washington, earning his second Pac-10 Defensive Player of the Week honors in 1998 with 8 tackles, 6 deflections [illegible] 'erceptions (he returned both for fourth-quarter TDs of 2[illegible]rds to tie a Pac-10 and USC game record for most sc[illegible]. He made 6 tackles and blocked a field goal at Sta[illegible] had 1 stop at UCLA and 2 versus Notre Dame and TC[illegible] Sun Bowl.

1997: Simmons made [illegible] impact as just a first-year freshman in 1997. After backing up David Gibson at the rover linebacker spot in the Florida State opener, he started USC's last 10 games of 1997, the first 5 at rover linebacker and then the last 5 at strong safety. He was named to the 1997 Sporting News Freshman All-American first team. Overall while appearing in all 11 games in 1997, he made 71 tackles (fourth on USC), including 8 for losses of 4[illegible] /with 4 sacks for minus 32 yards), plus had 1 interc[illegible] Arizona State) which he ran back for 38 yards, 3 defl[illegible] fumble recovery (against UNLV) and 1 forced fumble (at Arizona State). He led the Trojans in tackles in 3 games (Washington State, UNLV and Stanford).

He had 4 stops against Florida State, a game-high 11 tackles (1 for a loss) versus Washington State, 3 stops (with a sack) and a deflection at California, a team-high 8 tackles (including a 13-yard sack), a fumble recovery and a deflection versus UNLV, 8 tackles (2 for losses, with a sack), a forced fumble and an interception (which he returned 38 yards) at Arizona State, 7 tackles (1 for a loss) at Notre Dame, 5 stops versus Oregon, 8 tackles (with a sack) at Washington, a team-high 9 tackles against Stanford, and then 4 stops against both Oregon State and UCLA (1 for a loss).

HIGH SCHOOL: He was named a 1996 Prep Star All-American, USA Today All-USA honorable mention, Super Prep All-Farwest, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, Prep Star Best in the West, and Sacramento Bee All-Area as a senior at Valley High in Sacramento (Calif.). As a quarterback in 1996, he passed for 1,150 yards and ran for 450 yards with 22 TDs. He once ran for a 94-yard score. In another game, he ran for 3 TDs and passed for 2 more.

As a 1995 junior, he made Cal-Hi Sports All-State Junior second team, Sacramento Bee All-Area, All-Metro and All-League as he rushed for 884 yards and 8 TDs on offense and posted 33 tackles and 5 interceptions on defense.

He also ran track at Valley, with a best of 10.5 in the 100 meters.

PERSONAL: He's a sociology major at USC. He was born in Memphis, Tenn. His sports idol is Deion Sanders.

ANTUAN SIMMONS ON: Switching from safety to cornerback in 1998: "My experience at safety did help me out on the corner—reading offenses, knowing what to expect in certain formations...Actually, it was harder playing safety. It's harder to guard a receiver because he can go in and out, unlike at corner where you can use the sideline. So working as a safety was a big help...I feel I'm on my way to being a really good corner. It takes a lot mentally, and repetition...Physically, I can play with anybody but mental lapses have hurt me. I guess I get complacent and start daydreaming...Coach (Dennis) Thurman always tells us a cornerback has to have the shortest memory on the field. If you think about a play that you got beat on, you'll get beat again. Every play is a new play...I'd rather they throw my way. I like to compete. They're making my highlight film is the way I like to look at it."

His goal: "Hopefully I can win the Thorpe Award (given to the nation's top defensive back). I want to be one of the candidates for the Thorpe Award before I leave USC. It takes so much to have it happen. Your team has to win. The more your team wins, the more 'pub' you get. I'm going to work hard to get better and make it happen."

Blocking kicks: "You never know when a blocker is going to blow an assignment, so you've got to come hard every time. I see guys pointing at me saying, 'There's No. 6.' But if they're going to focus on trying to block me, that's going to open things for other guys."

Playing rover linebacker in 1997: "I played close to the line and ended up squaring off against tight ends, offensive linemen and fullbacks. I could usually use my athleticism to beat the block and I like mixing it up with the bigger guys. But if an offensive lineman got a hold of me, it was pretty much over."

His expectations as a freshman: "I wasn't going to go to college and be just another recruit. Coach (Dennis) Thurman told me he expected some stuff out of me."

Choosing USC: "I knew if I came to USC that I would have to compete every day for my position. If a person has to compete, that's going to make them better. If something is given to somebody, they're not going to work as hard to keep it.""

His future plans: "It would be nice to play in the NFL, but so much has to happen between now and then. I would like to give it a shot, but I realize that there is more to life than football...I'd like to work with underprivileged kids. So many kids don't have a lot of opportunities and access that others do. I would like to be able to change some of that. I feel like I can do something."

WHAT OTHERS SAY: USC wide receiver R. Jay Soward: "He surprised me a lot. He came out the first day of practice and talked to me a little. I had to say, 'I'll show him. Little boy, welcome to the big leagues.' And I ran right by him. But he came back and didn't back off."

USC secondary coach Dennis Thurman: "It's never a question of physical talent with Antuan because he's very gifted. It's just a matter of always focusing and getting all those gifts to become habits. He has improved, but he has a ways to go."

USC special teams coach Shawn Slocum: "I just love his tenacity. He has a knack for getting to the kicker. He's quick, determined and very difficult to block."

R. Jay SOWARD

CAREER: In his career, Soward has scored a touchdown every 6.9 times he has touched the ball (27 TDs on 186 plays) and those scores have averaged 49.5 yards (1,337 yards). He has had 21 plays of 40 yards or more (including 16 of 50-plus yards). Twelve of his receptions have been for 40-plus yards. He has scored a TD 4 different ways: 19 on receptions, 3 on kickoff returns (the NCAA career record is 6), 3 on reverses and 2 on punt returns. He has had 6 games with 100-plus receiving yards and 5 games catching at least 2 TDs. He has also had 6 outings with 200-plus all-purpose yards. He ranks third on USC's all-time kickoff return chart (1,178 yards) and eighth on its career pass catching list (110 grabs).

1999: The hyperactive and talkative Soward—one of college football's most exciting and explosive players—will start for his third season at wide receiver (flanker) as a senior in 1999 and also will be a premier kickoff and punt return specialist. He is a candidate for All-American honors (he was named to the 1999 Playboy pre-season All-American team as a return specialist and the 1999 pre-season All-American first team by The Sporting News and Athlon), as well as the Biletnikoff Award and the Mosi Tatupu Special Teams Award.

PAUL HACKETT SAYS: "There's nobody more explosive or exciting than R. Jay. We have to find more ways to get him the football this year. And he'll go into his senior year catching passes from an established quarterback for the first time in his career, which should really help him. He runs by people. He runs through people. He's just a marvelous football player. It's not just the talent. It's the energy he creates on the football field and how that permeates the rest of the team. Getting the ball in R. Jay's hands is a priority."

1998: Soward started at wide receiver for his second year as a junior in 1998 and also was a dangerous returner. Overall in 1998 while starting 11 games (he was suspended for the Purdue opener because of a team rules violation that occurred in the spring of 1998 and he saw limited action off the bench at UCLA because he was nursing an ankle sprain), he caught 44 passes for a team-high 679 yards (15.4 avg.) with 6 TDs, plus had 12 carries for 150 yards (12.5 avg.) with 1 TD. He also returned a team-leading 16 kickoffs for a 21.5 average and 7 punts for a 28.9 average, including 2 scoring punt runbacks (1 shy of the USC and Pac-10 season records). His 44 receptions tied him for 17th on USC's season pass catching list. He twice had 100-plus receiving games (California and Notre Dame) and twice caught at least 2 TD passes (San Diego State and Arizona State). He also had 3 games with 200-plus all-purpose yards (256 versus San Diego State, 226 versus Arizona State and 229 versus California). He made the 1998 All-Pac-10 second team and was 1 of 14 semifinalists for the Mosi Tatupu Special Teams Award. He was held out of the last half of 1998 spring practice to concentrate on his academics.

His 1998 debut was spectacular, as he scored 3 touchdowns and accumulated 256 all-purpose yards against San Diego State on just 9 plays (averaging 28.4 yards per play): he caught 4 passes for 94 yards (including TDs of 53 and 8 yards; he outleaped an Aztec defender on the 53-yarder, then broke free into the end zone), returned a punt 74 yards for another score (the first scoring punt runback of his career), had 69 rushing yards on 3 carries (including a 42-yarder on a lateral) and added a 19-yard kickoff return (he had a 34-yard scoring TD catch nullified by a penalty). Against Oregon State, he caught a game-best 7 passes for 82 yards, plus returned 2 kickoffs for 54 yards, and had a punt and a rush for 4 yards each for a total of 144 all-purpose yards on 11 plays. He was held in check at Florida State, running a reverse 20 yards, returning a kickoff 25 yards and catching a 5-yard pass. He had 226 all-purpose yards against Arizona State, including 91 yards with 2 TDs on 4 catches, 110 yards on 4 kickoff returns (a 62-yarder to open the second half set up his first TD catch on the next play), 2 punt returns for 20 yards and 2 rushes for 5 yards. He scored on 2 long plays against California, a 77-yard bomb and then an amazing 80-yard punt return (his second of the season), and had 229 all-purpose yards (105 on 4 catches, 22 on 2 kickoff returns, 22 on 2 rushes and the 80-yard punt runback). He scored twice at Washington State (on a 26-yard reverse and a 13-yard catch) despite getting just 87 all-purpose yards (including 45 yards on 3 catches). He was throttled at Oregon, catching just 3 passes for 9 yards and returning a kickoff 10 yards, and versus Washington, with just a 16-yard catch and 8-yard punt return. After returning the opening kickoff 36 yards at Stanford, he caught a 22-yard pass on the game's third play but sprained his ankle and was sidelined the rest of the day. He didn't practice the 2 weeks leading up to the UCLA game because of a severe ankle sprain and saw limited action against the Bruins, catching 3 passes for 22 yards. He had game highs in catches and receiving yards (7 for 124 yards) against Notre Dame, and also returned a punt 16 yards and ran 3 yards on a reverse. In the Sun Bowl against TCU, he caught a game-high 6 passes for 64 yards, plus returned 3 kickoffs for 52 yards and ran a reverse for 1 yard.

1997: As a starting wide receiver and return specialist in 1997, Soward again made quite an impact as a sophomore. Overall while starting all 11 games in 1997, he had 48 receptions (second on USC) for 831 yards (17.3 avg.) and 8 TDs. His 48 catches in 1997 tied him for 14th on USC's season pass catching list. He had 3 games with 100-plus receiving yards (California, UNLV and UCLA). He also returned 15 kickoffs for a 26.3 average (to rank 13th in the nation and third in the Pac-10) with 1 TD and 5 punts for a 7.4 average. And he carried the ball 6 times on reverses for 101 yards (16.8 avg.) with 2 TDs. He led USC in 9 statistical categories: receiving yards (831), receiving average (17.3), receiving touchdowns (8), total TDs (11), rushing average (16.8), kickoff returns (15), kickoff return yardage (394), kickoff return average (26.3) and kickoff return TDs (1). He averaged 1 touchdown every 6.7 times he touched the ball in 1997 (11 TDs on 74 plays) and the distance of his TDs averaged 45.5 yards (500 yards). He made the 1997 All-Pac-10 second team as an all-purpose player. He missed the last half of 1997 spring practice because of a dislocated finger on his left hand.

In the 1997 opener against Florida State, he caught 4 passes for 48 yards. Then against Washington State, he returned the second half kickoff 95 yards for a TD (the third of his career—halfway to Trojan Anthony Davis' NCAA career mark of 6—and his second versus the Cougars), plus he also caught 4 passes for 37 yards, returned 2 punts for 7 yards and ran 8 yards on a reverse. He caught 2 spectacular TD passes at California (a 33-yarder as he spun out of the grasp of a defender and raced down the sideline and a 65-yard bomb over 2 defenders; he almost had a third TD catch, as he was stopped on the 1-yard line after a 25-yard grab); on the day, he caught a then-career-best 7 passes for 148 yards (both game highs) and returned 2 kickoffs for 29 yards. He caught a pair of fourth-quarter TDs (44 and 78 yards)—the second which proved to be the decisive points—against UNLV and finished with 5 grabs for a game-best 167 yards (he also returned a kickoff 15 yards). He was limited to just 2 catches for 19 yards and a 21-yard kickoff return at Arizona State. He grabbed an 8-yard TD pass at Notre Dame and overall had 3 catches for 46 yards, plus returned a kickoff 14 yards and ran a reverse 17 yards. He scored a 13-yard TD on a run off a reverse against Oregon and also caught 3 passes for 35 yards and returned both a kickoff (16 yards) and punt (8 yards). He was held without a catch at Washington, but returned a pair of kickoffs for 53 yards (including a 37-yarder) before suffering a mild concussion early in the second half and being sidelined. He bounced back in a big way against Stanford, catching a career-best 8 passes for 81 yards, including a 30-yard TD, and ran twice on reverses (once for a 23-yard TD and the other went 39 yards to set up a score); he also returned a kickoff 38 yards. At Oregon State, he caught 4 passes for 69 yards—including a 31-yard TD—returned 2 punts for 22 yards and had 1 carry for 1 yard. He equalled his career high with 8 catches for 181 yards against UCLA, including an 80-yard TD on USC's first offensive play (it was the longest Trojan reception of 1997), and returned 2 kickoffs for 54 yards. For the second year in a row, he was named USC's Player of the Game versus UCLA.

1996: As a wide receiver and kickoff returner, Soward turned out to be USC's big-play threat in 1996 as just a first-year freshman. He averaged a TD every 4.7 times he touched the ball in 1996 (7 TDs on 33 plays) and his TDs went an average of 66 yards each (463 yards). He was a 1996 All-Pac-10 honorable mention pick.

As an often-used backup wide receiver (he even started at Washington State) who appeared in all 12 games, he made 18 receptions for 507 yards (team-best 28.2 avg.) with 5 TDs in 1996. He entered the USC and Pac-10 record books on the receiving end of the longest offensive play (pass or run) in Trojan history and the longest pass completion in Pac-10 history when he caught a 97-yard TD bomb from Matt Koffler at Illinois. He had a then-personal-best 4 catches at Stanford for a game-high 77 yards, including a near-unbelievable 33-yard TD where he reached behind him to snag the ball and then zigzagged through the Cardinal defense. At UCLA the next game, he had a huge day as he caught 6 passes for 260 yards and 3 TDs (78, 60 and 19 yards). The yardage at UCLA was NCAA freshman (since broken), USC and UCLA opponent single game records, while the TDs tied the USC game mark. He was named USC's Player of the Game versus UCLA. He added 3 catches for 25 yards against Notre Dame.

He was also a dangerous kickoff returner, averaging 31.4 yards with 2 TDs on 14 runbacks (for 440 yards)—all team highs—in 1996 (his 31.4 average would have ranked second in the U.S. and tops in the Pac-10, but at 1.1 returns per game, he was just shy of the necessary 1.2 needed to qualify). He came up big at Arizona State, returning a fourth-quarter kickoff 98 yards for a TD (USC's first scoring kickoff return since Curtis Conway went 95 yards at ASU in 1992 and its longest since Anthony Davis went 102 yards versus Notre Dame in 1974). In the next game, at Washington State, he ran another kickoff back for a 78-yard TD (the first scoring kickoff return versus WSU in 4 years and the first time that a Trojan had more than 1 kickoff return for a TD in a season since Davis had 3 in 1974). That WSU outing helped him win Pac-10 Special Teams Player of the Week honors. He also had a 56-yard non-scoring runback at Houston and a 49-yarder versus Notre Dame. He also had 1 punt return for minus 1 yard.

HIGH SCHOOL: He made the 1995 Super Prep All-American, Bluechip All-American, Super Prep All-Farwest, Bluechip

All-Western, Student Sports All-West Coast, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, Cal-Hi Sports All-State, All-CIF Southern Section, All-CIF Division I, Los Angeles Times All-Inland Empire first team (as a wide receiver) and second team (as a defensive back), Daily Bulletin All-Inland Valley, San Bernardino Sun All-San Bernardino County and All-Citrus Belt League as a senior at Fontana (Calif.) High. He had 32 receptions for 712 yards (22.3 avg.) with 10 TDs in 1995, plus 28 carries for 277 yards (9.9 avg.) with 2 TDs. On defense, he made 35 tackles, 8 deflections, 4 interceptions and 1 fumble recovery in 1995. Fontana was 11-1 in 1995.

As a junior in 1994 at Eisenhower High in Rialto (Calif.), he was named to the Cal-Hi Sports All-State Junior, All-CIF Division I, Daily Bulletin All-Inland Valley, San Bernardino Sun All-San Bernardino County and All-Citrus Belt League squads while grabbing 20 passes (10 for TDs).

He made won All-Citrus Belt League honors as a 1993 sophomore at Eisenhower, which went 14-0, won the CIF Division I title (Soward scored 2 TDs in the game) and was ranked No. 2 nationally (No. 1 in California).

He also played basketball (winning All-Citrus Belt League notice) and was a sprinter on the track team as a prepster (he was a finalist in the state 100 and 400 meters, with bests of 10.34 in the 100 meters, 21.7 in the 200 meters, and 49.5 in the 400 meters).

PERSONAL: He's a history major at USC. His real first name is Rodney. His brother, Marcus, was a defensive back at Arizona State (1992-95). His father, Rodney Sr., played high school football with ex-USC All-American and NFL All-Pro safety Ronnie Lott, and he also ran track. Soward's sports hero is ex-USC All-American and NFL No. 1 draft pick wide receiver Keyshawn Johnson.

R. JAY SOWARD ON: His big-play potential: "Every time I catch the ball, I expect to score. If I don't I'm not upset, but I'm kind of mad, telling myself, 'Step it up.'...If I get the ball 12 times a game, even 6 times, 3 of those I'll make something big happen...I think that when I get the ball, I've got to score a touchdown. I don't like to be a possession receiver. I like to be a big-play receiver...I just like to get the ball, period. Every time I get the ball in my hands, I want to make something happen. I want people to leave the game and be like, 'Ooh, did you see what he did?' Or say, 'Wow! He did that for his team.' I just like to have the ball in my hands and just go down the field and have fun...I'm a ball runner. I like to catch passes. I like to catch punts. I like to return kickoffs. I just like to have the ball in my hands. If I could, I'd play running back...I remember watching films when I was a little kid. My dad ordered films of all the great ones, O.J., Gale Sayers, Walter Payton. Those guys had outrageous moves. I'd go outside and try to copy them. The one I really loved was Sayers. He was bad, really bad!""

His speed: "The problem is, I run routes faster than everyone else. The quarterbacks either throw the ball too far, or never far enough."

Catching a pass in the open field: "That's where I like it best. Give me the ball on a screen, let me size things up, wiggle through the defense, do what I like to do."

Being double teamed: "If they're going to take me away, that just means that somebody else is open."

His Heisman aspirations: "I want to win a Heisman so bad. I have dreams of winning the Heisman. I want to try and achieve that award. I want to come out and have a consistent season where I played up every week to win the Heisman Trophy. I want to at least be in the room when they announce the winner...I want to be the best in everything I do. That's my mentality."

His penchant for talking: "People say I'm a talker. It's really nothing to me. It just comes naturally...That's part of who I am. I love to talk the game. I love to play the game. If you can walk the walk, why not talk it?...Talking is just a way to keep me focused...As soon as the ball is kicked and the first block is made, my mouth starts going. It gets my team pumped up...I laugh with the defender. I say, 'What's up? How you doing? You'd better back up. Don't come up on me.' Even if the ball's not coming to me, if it's a running play, I'll make him humble, laugh at him. I just do stupid things to get on people's nerves. You can see which guys came to play ball and which guys are afraid of you....I know when to be quiet. Talking never gets me in trouble...I remember when (Arizona State's) Coach Snyder came over to my house to recruit my older brother, Marcus. I was like 11 or 13 years old and I was running around the house in my pajamas. He asked me if I was going to be a football player like my brother. I told him I was going to be better than my brother. I was doing my Keyshawn thing."

His hyper personality: "For a young guy like myself to add some spirit to the team, I love it. I'm probably the most excited guy before the game. When the other team sees you jumping around and acting crazy, they don't know what to think...You have to play hyper to let people know you're there. If you play quiet, they might think they have an edge on you, or maybe that you're nervous, but in reality they're nervous about you...I stick out. Everyone else has their style, but my style is waaaay off!"

Being compared to Keyshawn Johnson: "I don't know what to say about that. You have to be real good when you run your mouth like that. Yeah, I run my mouth, but I don't think like Keyshawn does. That's a big step. I'm not there yet...I first met Keyshawn at the Shrine All-Star Game after my senior year of high school. I had just scored a touchdown, but I had also dropped a pass. I had this big grin on my face and he said, 'You're still not good yet. Man, you can't be dropping passes.' I figured he'd say, 'Congratulations, good job,' or something. But I kind of liked it, 'You're not good yet.' That's the way it's supposed to be."

Teams kicking off away from him: "If they don't kick to me, I feel like they're challenging me. I just might run to the other side of the field and catch it."

Being suspended for the 1998 opener: "I had never been punished like that. That was the hardest thing I had gone through in my life...It was a wake-up call. It made me realize I can't B.S. my way through everything...It was a good lesson for me. It taught me how much I love the game...I didn't want to be around my family because I felt like I had let them down and had embarrassed them. It was very hard on me. But it was harder on my father because he worked so hard in bringing me up and trying to teach me responsibility. It hurt me to see my father hurt...1998 was the hardest year I've gone through. It brought new challenges and I had to face things that I've never had to deal with."

WHAT OTHERS SAY: UCLA head coach Bob Toledo: "I know he's still young, but I hope that guy turns pro. He's that good."

Former Notre Dame head coach Lou Holtz: "He's one of the great receivers I've seen. Throw him a 4-yard hitch and he can turn it into a 70-yard gain. He reminds me so much of Raghib Ismail, the way he does things with his quickness, abilities and talent."

Notre Dame head coach Bob Davie: "I can't imagine there are many receivers in this country better than him. He

California head coach Tom Holmoe: "We just couldn't stop him."

Oregon head coach Mike Bellotti: "R. Jay Soward is probably the most dangerous player in the conference. He forces you to do things you don't want to do and commit more to cover him."

Arizona State coach Bruce Snyder: "He really captured our attention. What a big playmaker he is. He is so fast and has quick feet."

Earl Gustkey, Los Angeles Times: "At USC, R. Jay Soward is the preferred new spelling for E-X-P-L-O-S-I-V-E."

Lyle Spencer, Riverside Press-Enterprise: "He's a burner blessed with the explosiveness and fearlessness of Keyshawn Johnson."

Steve Bisheff, Orange County Register: "With Soward, it's not just speed. It is moves. It is an innate ability to make tacklers miss that only the naturally gifted broken-field runners possess."

Scott Wolf, Los Angeles Daily News: "Soward is a high-energy combination, a player who can move his tongue and legs just as fast as the loquacious Johnson."

Phil Collin, South Bay Daily Breeze: "His chatty personality is a perfect compliment to his ability, which throws a scare into opponents, draws gasps from USC fans and tests the patience of anyone within hearing distance. He has been compared to USC's legendary talker, Keyshawn Johnson, which Soward takes as a compliment. But more important, he is also being compared to Johnson as a player who will deliver the big play, whether it's as a wide receiver or kick returner. For all the talk, it's not all swagger."

Ed Graney, San Diego Union-Tribune: "You really have to see Soward in person to appreciate his ability. His is an extra gear that separates from defenders, combined with the kind of instincts that set him apart. He really is incredble."

Scott M. Reid, Orange County Register: "Soward already has torn such a path through the Pac-10 that he has established himself as simply the most dangerous and exciting player in the conference...He is a lethal package of raw, explosive speed, hyperactive energy and pure joy, a combination that when turned loose borders on chaos as his legs—and mouth—run wild through opposing secondaries."

Broderick Turner, San Gabriel Valley News: "Motormouth. Yes, R. Jay Soward owns up to that. The mouth that roars. OK, he admits that's him, too. On and off the field, during practice and in games, at film sessions and just jiving with friends, Soward will talk and talk and talk...He has exploded on the college football landscape in dynamic fashion...Soward is the real deal. His feet are as fast as his mouth."

Cindy Rhodes, Riverside Press-Enterprise: "Soward is the Trojans' talented and talkative wide receiver...a big-play receiver with breakaway speed who is even more dangerous when he returns kicks. And if it is humanly possible, Soward's tongue is faster than his feet."

USC wide receivers coach Mike Wilson: "R. Jay has great potential. I've played with Jerry Rice. I've coached James Jett and Tim Brown. R. Jay has the speed to play at that level if he continues to work hard and stay focused. He's extremely confident. There's nothing wrong with it. He has the energy you need to be a successful player."

USC offensive coordinator Hue Jackson: "He's a terrific kid, great to be around, so much enthusiasm. He brings a lot to our offense, not only with the way he plays, but with his personal charisma. He might come off as being cocky, but it's a good cocky. It's enthusiasm. Obviously, he's blessed with some God-given abilities not many people have. He's special."

Former USC wide receivers coach Mike Sanford: "He's a play-maker. He has the hands to go with his great speed and cutting ability. I kind of compare him to (ex-USC All-American wide receiver and NFL first round pick) Curtis Conway. He'll make a lot of big plays here before he's done."

USC quarterback Mike Van Raaphorst: "It's scary. He's got a gear when he gets going. He puts it in gear and it's like the Millennium Falcon, he puts it in super-space. Or hyper-space...On a deep route, you just try to get back as quick as you can and throw it as far as you can...I have yet to see him overthrown...No matter how far you thow it, if you put enough air on it, he's going to catch up with the ball."

USC quarterback Carson Palmer: "I just have faith in him that he's going to go up and get the ball. He's so fast, opponents have torespect his speed, but they can't overplay him. If you're expecting a deep catch, he'll take a quick hitch and outrun you, he's so hard to tackle in the open field."

USC quarterback-turned-linebacker John Fox: "With R. Jay, it's just throw him the ball and watch him go."

Former USC defensive tackle and NFL first round pick Darrell Russell: "R. Jay's a talkative person, but he's a hungry person. He has the attitude everyone needs. He's always hyper and ready to play. I think he's going to be a serious leader on this team."

Former USC cornerback Brian Kelly: "He'll run by you in a flash. With the talent he has, he's dangerous...He's already starting to get the attention Keyshawn Johnson and Curtis Conway got...I like his talking because I know he is not trying to do anything but have fun. That's just his nature. He's just hyper...We'll have a walk-through and he's loud. He's just an energetic guy. If he was throwing newspapers on the doorstep every day, he'd be loud at that, too. He's just hyper, all day long...If he was just talking and not really doing anything, we'd probably tell him to be quiet. But he's playing great, so we just let him talk."

Former USC safety Darnell Lacy: "He's never at a loss for words, that's for sure. But if he wasn't like that, he wouldn't be R. Jay. And everybody loves him for that...You learn to never get into it with him. After a while, you just give in. He'll always out-talk me. But if I can cover him in practice, I know there aren't too many people I can't cover."

His father, Rodney: "He doesn't mean to offend anyone with his talking. He just talks, not to be offensive but to be confident. I was a talker when I played. That's how he grew up...Even as a little kid, he was confident. When he talks, that's confidence, not boasting or bragging...My son is almost a clone of me. Him talking and stuff, I have to admit, he comes by it honestly...Sometimes I tell my wife, 'I don't understand him,' and she says, 'He's just like you.'...I get a lot of flak at work because I say the same things he does...Sports gave R. Jay structure. They occupied his time and his mind. It taught him the basic concepts of life. To have responsibility and work with others. To do your part for the team...R. Jay always knew that my expectations of him were to hold up his end on the field, to function at your position. When it's time to play ball, we take it serious. He's a product of a football fanatical family. I'd bring home tapes of Gale Sayers, O.J.

Simpson, whoever. If we weren't watching football, we were playing it...R. Jay was a little hard on himself (when he was suspended for the 1998 opener). I know that he felt that what he did was against everything I stood for: responsibility, commitment and taking care of business. But I understand that even as a man, you make mistakes."

His mother, Vangie: "He's a motivator. He's very loud, he talks a lot and can get people's attention. I told him he needed to take a more vocal role on the team. He's a very positive person. You can feel it when he talks."

Jason STEEN

Jr.*/Sr.

1999: The versatile Steen is listed as the backup strongside linebacker behind Sultan Abdul-Malik as a junior in 1999. He's versatile enough to also be available at defensive end.

1998: Steen was a backup strongside linebacker and defensive end, as well as special teams player, as a sophomore in 1998. Overall in 1998 while appearing in all 13 games, he made 16 tackles. He had 3 stops against Arizona State. He was moved back to linebacker (his 1996 position) from defensive end in 1998 spring practice.

1997: Steen was a backup defensive end and played on special teams as a redshirt freshman in 1997. Overall while appearing in 10 games (all but UCLA), he had 4 tackles (2 at Arizona State, and 1 each at Notre Dame and Oregon State), 1 deflection and 1 blocked punt (against Florida State, which set up a USC TD). He was moved to defensive end (from linebacker) at the start of 1997 fall practice.

1996: Steen redshirted as a freshman linebacker in 1996, his first year at USC.

HIGH SCHOOL: He earned 1995 Super Prep All-Farwest, Bluechip All-Western, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, All-CIF Division III, Los Angeles Times All-South Bay/Westside first team, South Bay Daily Breeze All-South Bay, and All-Mission League first team notice as a senior at Serra High in Gardena (Calif.). He made 183 tackles (an average of 20 a game) in 1995.

As a 1994 junior at Verbum Dei High in Los Angeles, he made Los Angeles Times All-Central City while recording 121 tackles, 4 sacks, 2 interceptions and 2 fumble recoveries, plus catching 21 passes for 226 yards (10.8 avg.) with 3 TDs. He was a 2-year starter at Verbum Dei.

He also was on the track team as a prepster (competing in the 400 meters and advancing to the CIF semifinals in the high jump and 1600-meter relay).

Current Trojan Kris Richard (at Serra) and Shamsud-Din Abdul-Shaheed (at Verbum Dei) were prep teammates with Steen.

PERSONAL: He's a history major at USC.

JASON STEEN ON: Playing defensive end: "I prefer linebacker. But playing defensive end gave me some playing time, it prepared me and it allowed me to get a feel for the game."

Redshirting in 1996: "It gave me some time to get my game together and it helped me catch up with the speed of the game. It also taught me about the details of the game. If you're not doing your job, bad things will happen."

Frank STRONG

Tailback

So./So.

1999: Strong, who proved his ability in 1998, is in the hunt for playing time at tailback as a sophomore in 1999. Expect to see him often in two-back formations.

1998: Strong, who spent most of his 1998 freshman season as a reserve tailback, became just the fourth USC first-year freshman to start at tailback (Charles White, Scott Lockwood and Malaefou MacKenzie were the others) when he did so for an injured Chad Morton against California. He also played on special teams. Overall in 1998 while appearing in 11 games (all but Washington and UCLA), he ran for 193 yards on 37 carries (5.2 avg.) and caught 3 passes for 22 yards (7.3 avg.). He had a game-best 82 rushing yards at Florida State, including a 73-yard burst to set up USC's TD (he won USC's Jack Oakie "Rise and Shine" Award for the longest run of the year), and added 45 yards on 12 tries against California. However, he lost 3 fumbles in 1998, which caused his playing time to decrease. He also made 1 tackle (against Purdue).

HIGH SCHOOL: His 1997 honors included Prep Star All-American, ESPN/National Recruiting Advisor All-American third team, USA Today All-USA honorable mention, Super Prep All-Farwest, Prep Star All-Western Region, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best in the West honorable mention, Cal-Hi Sports All-State first team and All-San Joaquin Athletic Association MVP as a senior at Franklin High in Stockton (Calif.). He ran for 1,460 yards and 39 TDs on offense and had 100-plus tackles and 4 interceptions (2 returned for TDs) as a linebacker on defense. He also was the punter and placekicker and returned kickoffs (including 6 for scores). Franklin went 10-0 in 1997. He also played basketball.

He attended St. Mary's High in Stockton before that. As a 1996 junior at St. Mary's, he was named a Student Sports Junior All-American, Cal-Hi Sports Junior All-State first team, All-Area and All-League as he ran for 1,600 yards with 22 TDs and caught 17 passes for 457 yards (26.9 avg.) and 7 TDs. Current Trojans Windrell Hayes and Armand Holland also prepped at Franklin (Hayes also went to St. Mary's).

PERSONAL: His sports hero is Jackie Robinson.

FRANK STRONG ON: His running style: "I've been elusive for a while but I was known more for running up the middle. It seems like I was a little underrated for my speed and elusiveness."

Confidence: "It's not actually convincing the coaches, it's convincing myself that I can play with these high-level athletes. I think it has boosted my confidence to be out there and play with the big boys because it's a big jump from high school to college."

Fumbling: "The fumbles are something I'll have to learn from."

WHAT OTHERS SAY: USC cornerback Antuan Simmons: "Frank was the best running back I played against in high school."

Franklin High coach Tom Verner: "Frank is very strong. He is a Chuck Muncie carbon copy. He has tremendous hands and is a tough runner. His forte is elusiveness, but he has no problem lowering his head and dropping the hammer."

Pat SWANSON

Tight End-Snapper

1999: Swanson will serve as USC's snapper on all punts and placekicks for his third consecutive year as a senior in 1999 and also is listed as a backup tight end behind Antoine Harris.

1998: Swanson was USC's snapper on all punts and placekicks for his second year in a row as a junior in 1998 and he did so without a miscue. He also was a reserve tight end. Overall in 1998 while appearing in all 13 games, he made 3 tackles and recovered a fumble (against Oregon State, leading to a field goal in the third quarter which put USC ahead for good).

1997: After transferring from Fullerton College, Swanson was USC's snapper on all punts and placekicks as a sophomore in 1997 and he performed without a flaw. He made 1 tackle (at Arizona State). He was also available as a tight end, but did not see action there.

JUNIOR COLLEGE: He caught 6 passes for 140 yards (23.3 avg.) and 2 TDs as a part-time starting freshman tight end in 1996 at Fullerton (Calif.) College. He also was the long snapper.

HIGH SCHOOL: He earned 1995 Los Angeles Times All-Orange County second team, Orange County Register All-Orange County second team and All-Sunset League first team honors as a senior at Esperanza High in Anaheim (Calif.). He caught 43 passes for 763 yards (17.7 avg.) and 10 TDs as a tight end in 1995 and also did the long snapping.

As a 1994 junior, he started at linebacker until dislocating his shoulder in midseason and being sidelined. Current Trojan Nate Steinbacher also attended Esperanza.

He also was on Esperanza's track team, earning 1996 All-State, Los Angeles Times All-Orange County, Orange County Register All-Orange County and All-Sunset League acclaim as a 110-meter high hurdler (with a best of 13.9). He also ran the 300-meter intermediate hurdles (with a best of 38.45) and competed in the decathlon (winning the 1996 U.S. Visa Gold championship).

PERSONAL: He's a business administration major at USC with a B- average (2.73 GPA). He likes to hunt and fish in his spare time. His father, Mike, was a middle linebacker, center and long snapper for UCLA in the mid-1960s.

Mike VAN RAAPHORST

Quarterback

Jr.*/Sr.
#11

1999: The heady Van Raaphorst, who started part of 1998, is listed as the backup quarterback behind Carson Palmer as a junior in 1999, but he will push Palmer to get his starting job back. He also is one of USC's classroom stars.

1998: Van Raaphorst started USC's first 8 games of 1998 at quarterback as a sophomore, sharing time in those outings with Carson Palmer, then he gave way as Palmer played all of the final 5 contests. Overall in 1998, Van Raaphorst was 77-of-155 (49.7%) for 1,066 yards and 8 TDs with 4 interceptions. After the season, he had arthroscopic surgery to remove torn cartilage in his left (non-throwing) shoulder, which forced him out of 1999 spring drills.

He was 11-of-22 for 89 yards in the Purdue opener despite playing with a touch of food poisoning, 13-of-26 for 189 yards and 2 TDs (all then-career highs) against San Diego State and 12-of-26 for 174 yards with a 47-yard TD against Oregon State, but then struggled at Florida State while bothered with a pre-game stomach virus, going 1-of-9 for 5 yards. He hit 11-of-23 passes for a then-career-high 191 yards and 1 TD against Arizona State, threw 2 TD passes while going 11-of-22 for a career-high 203 yards against California and was 9-of-15 for 99 yards and a TD at Washington State before becoming ill when he was hit in the stomach. At Oregon, he was 9-of-12 (including completing his final 6 tosses) for 116 yards and a TD. He did not see any action in USC's final 4 contests.

1997: Van Raaphorst began his 1997 redshirt freshman season as the backup to John Fox at quarterback, but won the job by mid-season and started twice (Washington and Stanford). He would have held onto the starting spot except for an ankle injury. Overall while appearing in 5 games (Arizona State, Notre Dame, Oregon, Washington and Stanford) in 1997, he was 21-of-46 (45.7%) for 218 yards and 1 TD with 2 interceptions. He made his first career start at Washington, where he went 5-of-18 for 46 yards with 2 picks (but 5 of his throws were dropped) while playing the first half. He started again versus Stanford and went 12-of-21 for 128 yards and a TD before a sprained right ankle sidelined him late in the third quarter (he missed the next 2 games, Oregon State and UCLA). Before that, he filled in briefly for Fox against Arizona State (2-of-3, 23 yds), Notre Dame (2-of-3, 21 yds) and Oregon (0-of-1).

1996: Van Raaphorst redshirted as a freshman quarterback in 1996, his first year at USC. He was bothered by tendinitis in his right shoulder prior to the Illinois game and was sidelined the rest of the season (he had surgery prior to the California contest).

HIGH SCHOOL: He was named a 1995 Super Prep All-American, Bluechip All-American, Super Prep All-Farwest, Bluechip All-Western, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best of the Rest, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, All-CIF San Diego second team, All-CIF San Diego Division II first team, All-East County first team, All-Grossmont South League first team, and Student Sports All-Academic as a senior quarterback at Helix High in La Mesa (Calif.). He completed 52.0% of his passes (128-of-246) for 2,207 yards and 19 TDs (with just 5 interceptions) in 1995. Helix was 10-3 in 1995.

As a 1994 junior at Grossmont High in La Mesa, he threw for 978 yards while hitting 92-of-166 aerials (55.4%) and 9 TDs with just 2 picks despite missing 5 games with a broken thumb.

He passed for 1,087 yards and 6 TDs as a 1993 sophomore at Grossmont while earning All-League honorable mention notice. In his career, he hit 55.0% of his passes for 4,272 yards and 34 TDs.

He transferred back to Grossmont in the spring of 1996. At Grossmont, he also played volleyball (making All-East County second team and All-League second team as a junior) and basketball (earning All-East County second team and All-Grossmont League first team honors as a senior while averaging 16 points and All-East County first team and All-League first team notice as a junior while averaging 17 points; he also was a member of Grossmont's 1993 CIF championship team as a soph).

He starred in the classroom, too, posting a 4.38 prep GPA.

PERSONAL: He's a broadcast journalism/political science major at USC with an A- average (3.70 GPA). He already has been accepted into USC's M.B.A. program and is beginning courses in it while also completing his undergraduate degree. He made the 1997 Pac-10 All-Academic honorable mention team. His father, Dick, was a kicker with the San Diego Chargers in 1966 and 1967 after starring at Ohio State (his 44-yard field goal provided the Buckeyes' only points in a 32-3 loss to USC in 1963 and was the second longest against the Trojans at the time). Mike's brother, Jeff, lettered 4 years (1983-86) as a record-setting quarterback at Arizona State (he was MVP of the 1987 Rose Bowl) and his 95-yard TD pass to Aaron Cox in 1985 still ranks as the longest pass against USC. Another brother, Bill, was an offensive lineman at San Diego State in the mid-1990s and is now a minor league umpire.

MIKE VAN RAAPHORST ON: His USC career: "It's been a long road. I'd be lying to you if I said it's been easy. It's been very difficult. I've come to understand a lot of things are out of my hands and I just have to deal with them, but I've also learned to accept the things that I can change and work on that."

Losing the starting job in 1998: "It was rough, but that was the situation I was in and I really can't do much to change what the coaches decide. I've got to do the best I can do. I felt that I steadily got better as the year went by...Carson is a great guy and we get along very well."

Competing for the quarterback job in 1997 as a redshirt freshman: "It was fun and interesting. I was disappointed I didn't win the job, because I don't like being the backup, but I accepted that role and did what I could do with it...It's about every emotion you can feel. You want your team to do well and for everyone to succeed, but at the same time you want to get in there and show what you can do...It was like being a pinch hitter. When you get your chance, you've got to go in there and do well. I went in there expecting the level of play not decreasing and hopefully increasing. That's the way I feel about myself and my ability."

Redshirting in 1996 and having shoulder surgery: "It wasn't the redshirting that hurt me, but not being able to practice because of the surgery. I missed six or seven weeks of practice that year. That really stunted my development as a quarterback. I had a bigger hole to catch up with going into the spring of 1997 and then the fall. I had to get back that lost time and I don't think I ever could chase it down."

Christianity: "Becoming a Christian has been a big part of my development, as an athlete and as a person. It has helped me a ton as far as keeping myself on an even basis, not letting my emotions get too high or too low...Being a Christian helps me out a lot. My attitude with everything is just different now.

I think things would have definitely affected me before this, that I'd react differently...I was always raised in the church, but I never made it a conscious effort to fully devote myself to God. I look back on that and say that it was the highlight of my life. It wasn't one particular event that made it happen. It took me 20 years of learning and trying to do things on my own, and I finally realized that I couldn't do it alone. Now when I play, I have an audience of one, whereas before I was playing for everybody else...I'm sure my teammates have noticed the change. I'be gone about leading my life differently and hopefully they recognize that. A lot of people question how you can go from one lifestyle to another. It was a drastic change. My thoughts are so different now. I used to go out with a lot of the guys and do a lot of the stuff that college guys tend to do. I just couldn't find happiness or solace in all that. But it's not like I've closed myself from hanging out with the guys on the team. Everybody has something to offer."

Brother, Jeff, who is a radio analyst on Arizona State football games: "It's not a secret that he pulls for me. Blood is thicker than anything. He's not going to shy away from that. But the USC-ASU week is the one week that we don't talk. Neither of us wants to give the impression that we're sharing any information about the other school."

Watching older brother Jeff in the 1987 Rose Bowl: "I decided right then I wanted to play in Pasadena some day."

Majoring in broadcast journalism: "It's interesting to learn all of the intricacies that are involved in broadcasting. It's definitely given me a different perspective on journalism. I know that reporters are out to get what they need for a story and that if they are saying or writing something negative, it's not necessarily their opinion but just their job."

WHAT OTHERS SAY: USC quarterbacks coach Ken O'Brien: "Mike is extremely talented and bright, and he's a hard worker who is always willing to do whatever it takes."

USC quarterback Carson Palmer: "Mike always helps me out. He's very smart. He knows the first read, the second read, the third read. He knows all the outlets. He's quick to see everything."

Matt WELCH

6-6 • 300
Jr.*/Sr.
#72

1999: As a junior in 1999, Welch is hoping to win back the starting offensive right tackle job he held in 1998. He missed 1999 spring drills while recuperating from shoulder surgery, so Travis Claridge spent time working at Welch's spot and could retain the job in the fall is Welch isn't ready to go.

PAUL HACKETT SAYS: "Matt was a solid performer as a first-time starter in 1998. He has a great future at USC. We missed him in the spring, but he should be 100% in the fall."

1998: Welch, who entered USC in the spring of 1998 after transferring from Santa Ana College, started 10 games (the first 5 and the last 5) at offensive right tackle as a sophomore in 1998. He missed 3 mid-season game (California, Washington State and Oregon) when he came down with mononucleosis. He was sidelined for part of the Notre Dame game with heart palpitations. After the season, he had reconstructive surgery on his right shoulder. He missed the last half of 1998 spring practice because of a sprained left knee.

JUNIOR COLLEGE: His 1997 honors included J.C. Athletic Bureau All-American first team, Super Prep JUCO 100, Prep Star Top 100, J.C. Grid-Wire All-American honorable mention, J.C. Athletic Bureau All-State Region IV first team, All-Mission Conference Central first team and J.C. Grid-Wire Scholar-Athlete All-American first team as a redshirt freshman offensive tackle at Santa Ana (Calif.) College. He had an 85% blocking grade in 1997. Santa Ana went 8-3 in 1997, finishing No. 11 in both the final J.C. Athletic Bureau state poll and J.C. Grid-Wire national poll. He injured his shoulder in 1996 (his first year at Santa Ana) and redshirted that season. He took off the 1995 season while working at Disneyland.

HIGH SCHOOL: He prepped at Villa Park (Calif.) High, earning Orange County Register All-Orange County second team and All-Century League honors as a senior defensive lineman in 1994. He started his 1993 junior year at tight end.

PERSONAL: He's an economics major at USC.

WHAT OTHERS SAY: Santa Ana College head coach Dave Ogas: "Matt is explosive with great power and very good speed for someone his size. He is one of the best offensive linemen to ever play here. He is relatively young in experience as an offensive lineman, but he is going to be really dominant and has the chance to play in the NFL."

Aaron WILLIAMS

1999: Williams has earned a starting assignment at a defensive tackle spot as a senior in 1999 after starting there part of 1998.

PAUL HACKETT SAYS: "We expect Aaron to provide our defense with senior leadership and consistent play. He performed well last year despite being nagged by injuries."

1998: Williams started 5 late-season games (California, Washington State, Oregon, UCLA and Notre Dame) at defensive tackle as a junior in 1998 and was a key backup the rest of the time. Overall in 1998 while appearing in 11 games, he made 44 tackles, including 9 for losses of 11 yards (with a 1-yard sack), plus had a team-high 4 fumble recoveries (with a TD), 2 forced fumbles and 1 deflection. He got his big chance when starter Marc Matock broke his ankle against Arizona State and he played well while filling in. He had a big impact at Stanford (he was named Pac-10 Defensive Player of the Week) as he recovered 2 fumbles (returning 1 for an 18-yard TD and forcing the other). He then posted a game-best 11 tackles (2 for losses) at UCLA. Earlier, he had 6 stops against Arizona State, California and Oregon. He missed the Washington game with a neck sprain, he was limited against Notre Dame after spraining his ankle in the game and he did not play against TCU in the Sun Bowl because of that injury. He won USC's Bob Chandler Award (for the underclassman with outstanding athletic ability, academic achievement and character).

1997: Williams backed up George Perry at a defensive end spot and also was available to play defensive tackle as a sophomore in 1997. Overall while appearing in all 11 games in 1997, he made 15 tackles, including 3 for losses of 8 yards, and had 1 deflection. He had 4 tackles (2 for losses) against UCLA, 3 stops at Washington and 2 at Oregon State. He missed part of 1997 spring practice because of a hip strain.

1996: As a redshirt freshman in 1996, Williams was effective as an often-used backup defensive end. He even started at Washington State for an injured Cedric Jefferson. He missed USC's first 2 games (Penn State and Illinois) after spraining his left ankle in pre-season practice and he did not play at Houston. Overall in 1996 while appearing in 9 games, he had 19 tackles, including 5 for losses of minus 23 yards (with 4 sacks for minus 22 yards), and recovered a fumble (against Washington). He had 6 stops (2 for losses) at Arizona State and 4 versus Oregon State. He was moved to defensive end (from linebacker) prior to the start of 1996 spring practice.

1995: Williams redshirted as a freshman linebacker in 1995, his first year at USC.

HIGH SCHOOL: His 1994 honors included Super Prep All-American, College Sports All-American, Super Prep All-Farwest, Blue Chip All-Western, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best in the West second team, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, Student Sports All-State second team, Long Beach Press-Telegram All-State, All-CIF Southern Section first team, All-CIF Division II first team, Los Angeles Times All-South Bay first team, South Bay Daily Breeze All-Area first team, and All-Bay League Defensive MVP as a senior at Leuzinger High in Lawndale (Calif.). He averaged 10 tackles a game on defense in 1994 (he had 8 sacks) and ran for 1,029 yards with 16 TDs as a fullback. Leuzinger went 9-2-1 in 1994.

As a 1993 junior, he made the Cal-Hi Sports All-State Underclass, All-CIF Division III, Los Angeles Times All-South Bay, and South Bay Daily Breeze All-Area first teams, and was the All-Bay League Defensive MVP while making 88 tackles (8 stops per game) and 1 interception on defense and catching 14 passes for 380 yards (27.1 avg.) and 3 TDs as a tight end.

He averaged 4 tackles and had 15 catches as a 1992 sophomore while earning 1992 All-Bay League second team honors. He was a 3-year starter. He also played on the basketball and track (with a best of 171-2 in the discus throw and 55-0 in the shot put) teams at Leuzinger.

PERSONAL: He's an economics major at USC. In the spring of 1997, he was selected to participate in the NCAA Foundation Leadership Conference in Florida, where 300-plus student-athletes gathered to discuss solutions to critical issues facing the nation's student-athletes. He likes to write poetry. His sports hero is Junior Seau.

AARON WILLIAMS ON: Playing defensive tackle instead of end: "I like tackle, now that I'm playing it. You take on double teams and stuff like that. It's physically demanding. You have to stay low and work the moves you do best to be effective."

USC's attacking style of defense: "I love it. You still have your responsibilities, but you have more opportunity to get after them. It lets you play. I'm not a 300-pound guy at defensive tackle. This style gives me an opportunity to use my speed and quickness."

Improving: "Coach (Ed) Orgeron keeps telling us, 'Bring your hard hat and lunch box. You have to get better.' I have to bring my tool belt to practice and games. I have to work to be a success. I'm just trying to get better, each day and every week. Defense wins championships. You have to be smart. You have to work hard."

His size: "You have to be strong physically, no matter how big you are...You can't be timid. You just get after it and take it as you go."

Attending the NCAA Foundation Leadership Conference in 1997: "I was so enlightened by the whole leadership conference. I didn't think other student-athletes had the same type of problems I was facing. I didn't feel like a lot of people felt like I felt. We hears a lot of strong voices from people who had difference problems. And it wasn't just football. It was basketball, tennis and golf and both women's and men's sports...It was very interesting, informational and inspirational. We talked a lot about athletes' image in society. A lot of the off-the-field stuff has given us a negative image...I was there to soak things up, but I did address the fact that student-athletes, as far as job experience, don't have a lot of extracurricular opportunities. It's hard to succeed with a degree and no experience in your field...We talked about things like how student-athletes who do not play professional sports can help themselves get jobs. We talked about the importance of seeking internships. We talked about the student-athlete image and how we can improve it. We talked about taking responsibility for your own actions."

Responsibility and being a role model: "I grew up in a single-parent household and had to learn to take on the male role model at an early age. I had to take on a lot of responsibility because of the absence of my father. I knew my little brother was looking up to me. I knew I would be a role model and I had to be a positive figure for him. I had the opportunity to join gangs. It was a choice I had to make...The things I've encountered, I haven't let them step in the way of my goals and my dreams and the things I want to obtain. It's a long story, but life is what you make of it. It's all about what you want to do."

His mother, Tushana: "I take my hat off to my mom. My mom is my inspiration and my heart. She has taught me a lot and what she has taught me has given me lots of opportunities. In my eyes, she went from rags to riches. She was once in the projects and now she has a nice house. If my mom can do it, I can do it."

WHAT OTHERS SAY: USC offensive tackle Brent McCaffrey: "Aaron's perfect for the style of defense we have. It's tough to play against him in practice. He's awesome. He gives me fits every day in practice. He does a great job attacking because he's so aggressive. He reads offensive linemen so well. Other guys see him give 110 percent all the time. It makes you pick up your own level of play."

Tiebreaker Procedure

Here is the NCAA tiebreaker system, which first was put in effect for all post-season games in the 1995 season:

1. At the conclusion of a tie game, the team captains will meet at the center of the field for a coin toss. The winning captain has 2 options: a.) offense/defense or b.) choose the end of the field the first overtime period will be played. The choice may not be deferred.

2. Each overtime period consists of an offensive series by each team. A team continues on offense until it scores, loses the ball on downs, or loses possession of the ball (fumble, intercepted pass, etc.). All series begin on a 25-yard line.

3. If a team loses the ball due to a fumble, etc., the ball continues in play until the end of that down. Team B may score (the game is over) or if Team A gets the ball back during the down, it may score. If there is no score, that series is concluded. Once a series is concluded, the defensive team begins its series, or if that series was the second of that overtime period, the period is over.

4. If the teams remain tied at the end of the first overtime period, a second period is played. The loser of the overtime coin toss has first choice as outlined in No. 1 above. Thereafter, the teams alternate first choice for as many periods as needed to determine a winner.

5. Each team is allowed 1 timeout for each extra period. No unused timeout from the regular game may be carried over to an extra period, nor may an unused timeout from an extra period be carried over to a succeeding extra period.

6. Although the 25-second clock operates during overtime, the game clock does not run.

GAME 1 – August 30, Los Angeles Coliseum
Pigskin Classic
USC 27, Purdue 17
Att: 56,623

Purdue	14	3	0	0	–	17
USC	7	3	7	10	–	27

The Paul Hackett era at USC got off to a sizzling start as his Trojans used a big second half to post a 27-17 come-from-behind victory over Purdue in the Pigskin Classic in the Coliseum in front of 56,623 fans (the temperature approached 100 degrees in the stands and was 118 on the field) and a national ABC-TV audience.

Hackett became the first new USC head coach to win his opener since Jess Hill in 1951, snapping a streak of 6 straight non-victorious coaching debuts.

It was also USC's first win on a Sunday in 3 tries.

After the Boilermakers scored on the game's opening possession (a 3-yard pass from QB Drew Brees to WR Gabe Cox), USC struck right back. TB Chad Morton returned the ensuing kickoff—the first kick runback of his career—98 yards for a touchdown.

Purdue scored twice more in the first half—a 9-yard Brees pass to WR Cliff Jackson in the first quarter and a 37-yard field goal by PK Travis Dorsch early in the second quarter—while a sluggish Trojan offense could counter with only a 30-yard second quarter field goal by PK Adam Abrams. But Troy's spirits seemingly got boosted when CB Antuan Simmons blocked Dorsch's 24-yard field goal attempt late in the half to send USC into intermission trailing just 17-10 despite only 78 total yards (29 passing) to Purdue's 208 (the Boilermakers held the ball 20:07 in the half).

USC then dominated the second half, first tying the score at 17-17 on a 1-yard run by TB Petros Papadakis late in the third quarter and then going ahead for good in the fourth quarter on a 45-yard Abrams field goal followed by a 13-yard run by Morton, both scores coming after Boilermaker turnovers (an interception by LB Chris Claiborne, then a fumble forced by Simmons and recovered by LB David Gibson). Simmons also picked off a pass late in the game. All 3 of Troy's second half scores were directed by true freshman QB Carson Palmer in his only appearances of the game while subbing for starting QB Mike Van Raaphorst (Van Raaphorst was 11-of-22 passing for 89 yards, while Palmer went 3-of-6 for 79 yards).

Morton was the game's leading rusher, with 53 yards on 15 tries, while WR Billy Miller had 70 yards on 7 catches.

For Purdue, Brees hit 30-of-52 passes for 248 yards, including 10 aerials for 119 yards to WR Isaac Jones.

Although Purdue had a big edge statistically overall (347 total yards and 79 plays to USC's 274 and 61, and 34:39 of possession time), it managed just 139 total yards after halftime while coughing up 3 turnovers and converting just 1-of-9 third downs. Its string of scoring in 13 consecutive quarters was snapped as USC notched a second-half shutout.

Claiborne and Simmons each had a team-best 9 stops. Simmons was named Pac-10 Defensive Player of the Week for his performance.

The game marked the start of the 75th anniversary of Trojan football in the Coliseum.

USC 35, San Diego State 6

San Diego St.	0	6	0	0	–	6
USC	7	14	0	14	–	35

Making an impressive 1998 debut, WR R. Jay Soward—coming off a 1-game suspension for a team rule violation—scored 3 touchdowns and had 256 all-purpose yards to lead USC to a 35-6 win over San Diego State before 49,927 fans in the Coliseum and a FOX Sports West 2 local cable audience.

It was the first time that Aztec head coach Ted Tollner had faced the Trojans or made a collegiate visit to the Coliseum since his days as USC's head coach.

USC, coming off a bye, jumped out to a 21-0 lead midway through the second quarter after TB Chad Morton's 12-yard TD run and then a pair of Soward scoring receptions (53 and 8 yards) from QB Mike Van Raaphorst. SDSU scored just before halftime on a 31-yard pass from QB Brian Russell to WR Damon Gourdine.

After a scoreless third quarter, Troy added a pair of touchdowns on QB Carson Palmer's 10-yard pass to WR Billy Miller and Soward's exciting 74-yard punt return (the first TD punt runback of his career and the first by a Trojan since Curtis Conway went 92 yards against Oregon in 1992).

USC missed several other scoring opportunities, as Soward had a 34-yard first quarter TD catch nullified by a penalty and PK Adam Abrams missed 3 field goals, snapping his string of 12 in a row.

Besides the 74-yard punt return and a 19-yard kickoff return, Soward caught 4 passes for 94 yards and ran 3 times for another 69 yards.

USC dominated the statistics, getting more than twice as many total yards (471-231) and first downs (25-11). USC's offense was balanced (232 yards running and 239 passing). The Trojan defense limited SDSU to just 94 passing yards (Troy's stingiest outing since Oregon State had 29 in 1995) as the Aztecs completed just 9-of-25 aerials and only 2-of-16 third down conversions while posting 6 sacks. SDSU had to punt 11 times.

Morton posted his third career 100-yard rushing game, getting 110 yards on 23 carries. Van Raaphorst was 13-of-26 for 189 yards (all career bests), while Palmer went 5-of-8 for 50 yards while playing 3 series in the second half.

LB Chris Claiborne had a game-high 11 tackles (including 2 sacks) with 2 deflections, while LB-S David Gibson had 8 tackles (all solo), including 3 sacks, 3 forced fumbles and 1 fumble recovery (Gibson was named Pac-10 Defensive Player of the Week). CB Daylon McCutcheon blocked a punt.

USC 40, Oregon State 20

Oregon State	7	3	7	3	–	20
USC	7	10	3	20	–	40

In a Pac-10 opener that was closer than the final score, No. 18 USC extended its winning streak over Oregon State to 25 in a row with a 40-20 victory against the undefeated Beavers in front of 45,629 fans in the Coliseum and a FOX Sports West 2 local cable audience.

Paul Hackett became just the third Trojan coach since 1915 to win his first 3 games.

At 2-0, Oregon State was off to its best start since 1985 and hadn't come into a USC game unbeaten since 1977, but the Beavers left without a victory over the Trojans since 1967 or a win over USC in Los Angeles since 1960. The game, which saw OSU head coach Mike Riley return to the Coliseum for the first time since his days as USC's offensive coordinator, was close until the final 2 minutes.

Troy led just 23-20 before PK Adam Abrams hit a 43-yard field goal with 2:11 to go (it was Abrams' school record-tying fourth in the contest and proved to be a nice rebound after he missed 3 the week before against San Diego State), then TB Chad Morton ran for a 12-yard touchdown with 1:27 to play after the Beavers surrendered the ball on downs deep in their territory and finally LB Chris Claiborne returned an interception 40 yards for a score with 59 seconds on the clock.

USC jumped off to a quick start, as QB Mike Van Raaphorst hit WR Larry Parker on a 47-yard scoring strike less than 2 minutes into the game (it was Parker's first career TD). But OSU took advantage of a fumbled USC punt runback as SE James Battle caught a 5-yard TD pass from QB Terrence Bryant late in the first quarter.

Troy opened up some breathing room in the second quarter after walk-on S Danny Bravo blocked a punt which S Rashard Cook recovered in the end zone for a touchdown and Abrams hit his first field goal, a 33-yarder. OSU PK Jose Cortez made it 17-10 just before the half with a 28-yard field goal (the drive was kept alive on a roughing the passer penalty against USC on a play where Troy intercepted a pass in the end zone).

The Beavers tied the score at 17-17 when FL Tim Alexander took the second half kickoff back 100 yards, tying a USC opponents kickoff distance record (it was the first second-half points USC had allowed in 1998). Abrams' then nailed a pair of field goals (28 and 33 yards), but Cortez answered with a 33-yarder with 7:46 to go in the game to cut Troy's lead to 23-20.

Morton had his second straight 100-yard rushing game (123 yards on 23 carries) and fourth of his career (his second against the Beavers). Van Raaphorst was 12-of-26 passing for 174 yards, while WR R. Jay Soward caught a game-best 7 aerials for 82 yards.

DT Marc Matock had a game-topping 9 tackles (3 for losses) and 2 deflections, and LB David Gibson had 9 stops and recovered a fumble.

USC was penalized 11 times and gave up 5 sacks, but the Trojan defense recovered 3 turnovers and limited OSU to just 216 total yards (an average of only 2.5 yards on its 86 plays).

GAME 4 – September 26, Tallahassee, Florida
Florida State 30, USC 10
Att: 79,815

USC	3	0	7	0	–	10
Florida State	3	10	7	10	–	30

Undefeated No. 17 USC went on the road for the first time in 1998, but suffered its first loss of the season, a 30-10 thumping at No. 10 Florida State before 79,815 fans and an ABC-TV regional audience.

It was the first time any Pac-10 team had played in Tallahassee (and it was only USC's fourth visit to the state of Florida, where it remained winless). FSU kept alive its 36-game home unbeaten streak.

It was an exercise in futility for USC, particularly on offense. The Seminoles dominated the statistics thanks to their traditionally stingy defense, getting twice as many total yards (404-189), first downs (21-8, USC's fewest since getting 7 at Washington in 1990) and time of possession (39:16-20:44) while running 85 plays to USC's 51 (Troy's fewest since having 50 against Fresno State in the 1992 Freedom Bowl). USC completed just 3-of-19 passes (its fewest completions since getting 3 at California in 1981) for only 23 yards (its fewest since getting 23 against Michigan in the 1979 Rose Bowl) and converted just 1-of-12 third downs. USC also gave up 5 turnovers (4 were fumbles) while FSU had none, had 11 penalties and gave up 4 sacks. On 8 of their 16 possessions, the Trojans went 3-plays-and-punt (including all 3 series in the second quarter). USC's average field position started on the 20-yard line, while FSU began on the 42.

Despite USC's difficulties, the Trojans could have pulled to within 6 points early in the fourth quarter, except a long touchdown pass was called back because of a delay of game penalty.

After the teams traded first quarter field goals (a 37-yarder by FSU PK Sebastian Janikowski and then a career-long 49-yarder by PK Adam Abrams), FSU opened up a 13-3 halftime lead on a 7-yard second quarter run TB Jeff Chaney and a 36-yard Janikowski field goal. USC managed just 10 total yards in the quarter while holding the ball only 3:03.

In the third quarter, FSU FL Peter Warrick caught a 5-yard TD pass from QB Chris Weinke, but USC answered as TB Chad Morton ran for a 7-yard TD.

The Seminoles closed out the scoring on Janikowski's 26-yard fourth quarter field goal following a fumble recovery and Weinke's 35-yard pass to SE Ron Dugans after a partially blocked punt.

For USC, TB Frank Strong had 82 yards on 6 carries (including a 73-yarder to set up Morton's score) and Morton added 64 yards on 15 tries. QBs Mike Van Raaphorst (1-of-9 for 5 yards) and Carson Palmer (2-of-10 for 18 yards) struggled. LB Chris Claiborne had a game-high 14 tackles and LB David Gibson added 8 stops.

Chaney had 89 yards on 19 carries for FSU, Weinke was 13-of-31 for 228 yards and Warrick caught 6 passes for 112 yards.

Adding to a hot (91 degrees) and humid day, rain showers—the perimeter of approaching Hurricane Georges—hit during parts of the second and third quarters.

Arizona State	7	10	7	0	–	24
USC	0	7	6	22	–	35

Scoring 22 unanswered points in the first 7 minutes of the fourth quarter with a touchdown on offense, defense and special teams, No. 21 USC roared back to beat Arizona State, 35-24, before 56,093 fans and a regional ABC-TV audience to remain unbeaten in 4 games at home in 1998.

Down 24-13, USC drove 62 yards to begin its fourth quarter scoring, capped by a 20-yard TD pass from QB Carson Palmer (who had entered the game for the first time for that series) to WR R. Jay Soward. On ASU's ensuing possession, CB Antuan Simmons blocked a Stephen Baker punt and S Ifeanyi Ohalete returned it 14 yards for a TD to give Troy its first lead of the game. Then 2, ASU series later, LB David Gibson intercepted a Chad Elliott pass and brought it back 16 yards for the final score. USC's defense then stifled ASU twice on fourth downs, including on the following series by stopping the Sun Devils at the Trojan 5.

Statistically, ASU controlled the game, getting significantly more total yards (403, 283), first downs (21-12), plays (90-57) and possession time (36:43-23:17). USC, which played without starting TB Chad Morton (he sat out with a bruised back), rushed for only 23 yards (its fewest since getting -14 against Washington in 1996) and converted just 3-of-12 third downs.

ASU opened the scoring on a 1-yard TD run by RB Gerald Green, which was set up by an 89-yard burst by TB J.R. Redmond (he had a school-record 350 all-purpose yards, including a career-best 214 yards on 33 carries).

USC tied the scored on an 8-yard second quarter run by QB Mike Van Raaphorst, but ASU made it 17-7 at halftime behind a 25-yard Baker field goal and a 4-yard Elliott pass to WR Kenny Mitchell with 11 second left. Elliott, who was 16-of-32 for 157 yards overall, was subbing for starting QB Ryan Kealy, who was knocked out of the game with a mild concussion on the game's third play on a hit by LB Chris Claiborne.

USC started the second half dramatically, scoring on a 23-yard Van Raaphorst pass to Soward on the first play after Soward's 62-yard kickoff return plus a 15-yard ASU personal foul. Later in the quarter, Redmond ran for a 2-yard TD after Van Raaphorst was intercepted at the USC 14.

Soward finished with 226 all-purpose yards, including 91 on 4 receptions and 110 on 4 kickoff returns. Van Raaphorst was 11-of-23 for a career-high 191 yards, while Palmer was 4-of-7 for 69 yards. WR Larry Parker had a team-high 5 catches for a career-best 105 yards.

USC's defense, which recorded 6 sacks and forced 2 turnovers, was led by S Rashard Cook (game-high 11 tackles) and DT Ennis Davis (6 tackles, including 2 for losses, plus a blocked field goal, forced fumble and recovered fumble), as well as Claiborne (8 stops, 3 for losses) and Gibson (7 tackles, 3 pass breakups). Simmons was named Pac-10 Special Teams Player of the Week.

California	7	3	8	14	–	32
USC	7	17	7	0	–	31

No. 19 USC let a 21-point lead late in the third quarter slip away as underdog California scored 22 consecutive points to stun the Trojans, 32-31, before 64,678 fans in the Coliseum and a FOX Sports West 2 local cable audience.

It marked the first time that the Golden Bears had posted back-to-back wins over Troy in Los Angeles since 1948 and 1950.

USC led 31-10 with 7:21 to play in the third quarter. The scoring started on the Trojans' first series of the game, when TB Petros Papadakis bolted a career-long 65 yards for a TD, but Cal answered on its ensuing drive as CB Deltha O'Neal came in at tailback and threw a 20-yard option scoring pass to TE A.J. Kunkle.

USC opened up a 21-10 halftime lead behind a pair of second quarter TD passes from QB Mike Van Raaphorst to WRs Windrell Hayes (13 yards for his first Trojan touchdown) and R. Jay Soward (77 yards) and an 18-yard field goal by PK Adam Abrams with 3 seconds to go (S Ifeanyi Ohalete blocked a punt which he recovered at the Bear 2-yard line with 13 seconds to go, but USC couldn't punch the ball in on a run and had to settle for the 3 points). Cal's only second-quarter points came on a 34-yard field goal by PK Tim Wolleck.

After Soward had an amazing 80-yard scoring punt return midway through the third quarter to give USC a 21-point lead, the momentum shifted to the Bears. Ohalete intercepted a pass in the end zone, but on the first play of USC's ensuing possession (from the Trojan 8 because of a penalty), Cal OLB Sekou Sanyika sacked QB Carson Palmer for a safety. The Bears then marched right back down the field to score on a 3-yard run by TB Marcus Fields. USC appeared to then get some breathing room on the following series, but Papadakis' 58-yard TD run was shortened to a 41-yarder by a late penalty away from the play. Then, 2 plays later, Troy had the first of 2 fumbles that led to Cal touchdowns, this one setting up a 2-yard pass from QB Justin Vedder to Kunkle early in the fourth quarter. Two series later, another lost fumble led to Cal's decisive score, another 3-yard Fields run with 3:30 to play.

In the second half, USC was held to just 69 total yards and 5 first downs on 24 plays while holding the ball for less than 11 minutes (Cal piled up 250 total yards and 16 first downs on 52 plays in that half).

Overall, Cal outdid USC in total yards (424-365), plays (84-58), first downs (24-17) and possession time (34:49-24:11). The Bears posted 6 sacks.

Papadakis had a game-high 118 yards on 13 carries, both career bests, Soward had 229 all-purpose yards (including 105 on 4 catches) and Van Raaphorst was 11-of-22 for a career-high 203 yards passing. TB Frank Strong, who ran for 45 yards on 12 tries, became just the fourth USC true freshman to start at tailback (along with Charles White, Scott Lockwood and Malaefou MacKenzie).

Vedder was 28-of-39 for 224 yards, Fields rushed for 82 yards on 19 carries and WR Dameane Douglas had a Cal and USC opponent record 13 catches for a game-high 151 yards.

USC LB David Gibson had a game-topping 12 tackles.

USC 42, Washington State 14
Att: 31,178

USC	7	14	14	7	–	42
Wash. State	7	7	0	0	–	14

For the second time in 1998, USC bounced back from a tough loss by posting a big win, this time 42-14 at Washington State before 31,178 fans and a national FOX Sports Net cable audience on a cold (upper 40s) and wet (constant showers in the second and third quarter) evening.

USC exploded for 4 unanswered touchdowns—including 3 in the second half—after the Cougars tied the game at 14-14 early in the second quarter. The Trojan offense generated 456 total yards while the defense intercepted 6 passes—2 were by LB Chris Claiborne, including 1 for a TD—and allowed WSU to convert just 2-of-15 third downs. It was USC's most interceptions since getting a school-record 8 against California in 1982.

After WSU scored on the game's first series (a 35-yard run by RB DeJuan Gilmore), USC countered near the end of the first quarter on a 13-yard TD pass from QB Mike Van Raaphorst to WR R. Jay Soward. Then, early in the second quarter, Claiborne stepped in front of a pass from QB Paul Mencke and ran it back 25 yards for a score. But the Cougars marched right back as Mencke hit WR Nian Taylor for a 29-yard TD. USC took the lead for good later in the quarter when TB Petros Papadakis bolted 53 yards up the middle to the end zone.

It was all USC in the second half as QB Carson Palmer hit TE Lonnie Ford on a 2-yard TD toss and Soward ran 26 yards on a reverse to score on Troy's first 2 possessions of the third quarter. TB Chad Morton's 6-yard TD run early in the fourth quarter finished up the scoring. WSU managed just 97 yards of total offense (only 35 rushing) in the second half.

Palmer, who came in when Van Raaphorst became ill in the second quarter, led USC to its final 28 points. He was 8-of-16 for 143 yards (all career bests) and Van Raaphorst went 9-of-15 for 99 yards. WR Billy Miller had a game-best 7 catches for 57 yards, Papadakis' 84 rushing yards (on 6 carries) was a game-high and Morton added 68 yards on 16 tries.

S Ifeanyi Ohalete and CBs Daylon McCutcheon, Ken Haslip and Tanqueray Clark had USC's other interceptions. LB Zeke Moreno had a game-high 9 tackles, including 4 for losses.

USC	0	10	0	3	–	13
Oregon	0	3	7	7	–	17

Despite a strong showing by its defense, USC squandered several scoring opportunities and lost a close one to No. 12 Oregon, 17-13, before 45,807 noisy fans in sold-out Autzen Stadium and a regional FOX Sports Syndicate television audience.

The Trojans held the explosive Duck offense, which was averaging more than 500 total yards and nearly 50 points a game, to just 394 total yards. Troy was especially dominant in the first half, holding a 10-3 lead while allowing Oregon just 164 total yards (including -7 rushing). But the Duck running game got going after halftime, collecting 170 yards (including 131 in the fourth quarter).

After PK Adam Abrams missed a pair of field goals (28 and 35 yards) on USC's first 2 drives of the game, Oregon PK Nathan Villegas got the Ducks on the board first with a 23-yard field goal early in the second quarter. But USC came right back on its ensuing possession when TB Chad Morton ran 70 yards for a TD with a swing pass from QB Mike Van Raaphorst. Abrams then equaled his career long by hitting a 49-yard field goal late in the half.

Oregon scored a pair of second half touchdowns on a 55-yard pass from QB Akili Smith to FL Tony Hartley soon after intermission and Smith's 62-yard option run early in the fourth quarter. USC drove to the Oregon 7-yard line late in the game (a TD pass was negated by a delay of game penalty), but had to settle for a 25-yard Abrams field goal (he had missed a 47-yarder late in the third quarter).

Morton led all rushers with 104 yards on 20 carries, while Van Raaphorst was 9-of-12 passing for 116 yards and QB Carson Palmer was 10-of-19 for 179 yards as he saw action in most of the second quarter, the end of the third quarter and all of the final quarter.

Oregon's Smith completed 15-of-28 passes for 231 yards and ran for 72 yards on 8 carries, while Hartley had 6 catches for 118 yards.

USC LB Chris Claiborne had a team-high 10 tackles, LB David Gibson added 9 stops and LB Zeke Moreno had 8.

GAME 9 – October 31, Los Angeles Coliseum
USC 33, Washington 10
Att: 62,276

Washington	0	0	10	0	–	10
USC	7	7	0	19	–	33

With QB Carson Palmer making his first start, USC scored a big 33-10 win over Washington before a Homecoming crowd of 62,276 in the Coliseum on Halloween and an ABC-TV regional audience.

It was USC's most decisive win over the Huskies since a 31-point victory in 1974.

Palmer, who completed 18-of-31 passes for 279 yards (all career highs) and a TD while playing the entire game, became only the second true freshman to start at quarterback for USC (Rob Johnson also did so once in 1991).

The Trojans prevailed despite the Huskies decided edge in plays (98-59), first downs (28-13) and time of possession (36:40-23:20). But the total yardage was nearly equal (427-420 in favor of UW).

USC jumped out to a 14-0 halftime lead after Palmer's 57-yard scoring pass to WR Billy Miller, the longest catch in Miller's career, late in the first quarter and then TB Chad Morton's 10-yard TD run early in the second quarter on Troy's next series.

But Washington closed to 14-10 in the third quarter on WR-PK Joe Jarzynka's 34-yard field goal and QB Brock Huard's 23-yard TD pass to WR Chris Juergens.

Three interceptions then helped USC regain control in the final quarter. Five plays after S Grant Pearsall picked off a Huard pass, TB Petros Papadakis soared 1-yard into the end zone. On UW's ensuing possession, CB Antuan Simmons ran back a pick 29 yards for a score. Then, on the game's final play, Simmons went 90 yards with a theft to close the scoring. Simmons' 2 TD interception runbacks tied a Pac-10 and USC game record.

Overall, USC had 5 interceptions (4 from Huard), blocked a field goal and limited UW to 116 rushing yards. The Huskies threw 68 passes (tying a Pac-10 record and setting a USC opponent mark), including 62 by Huard (tying Pac-10 conference game and USC opponent records). Huard completed a career-best 33 aerials for 301 yards, including 12 to WR Dane Looker for 84 yards.

For USC, Miller caught 5 passes for 109 yards and Morton ran for 110 yards on 13 carries.

USC LB Chris Claiborne had a game-high 13 tackles, LB Zeke Moreno added 11 and Simmons had 8 stops and broke up 6 passes. For his showing, Simmons was named Pac-10 Defensive Player of the Week.

GAME 10 – November 7, Palo Alto, California
USC 34, Stanford 9
Att: 43,250

USC	10	7	3	14	–	34
Stanford	7	0	0	2	–	9

USC posted its seventh win of 1998—and qualified for its first post-season bowl in 3 years—with a dominating 34-9 win at Stanford on a cool, damp day before 43,250 fans and a FOX Sports syndicate regional television audience.

It was USC's most decisive win in Palo Alto since 1952.

The Trojans shut down Stanford's prolific offense, which was averaging 427.4 total yards (343.4 passing yards), by holding the Cardinal to just 221 total yards, including only 166 through the air and a USC opponent season-low 55 rushing. Stanford averaged just 2.9 yards per play. USC's defense also forced 4 turnovers (each leading to scores worth 20 points), blocked a field goal and had 6 sacks.

Troy scored on its opening possession when TB Petros Papadakis capped an 8-play, 61-yard drive with a 1-yard TD run. But Stanford came right back to tie the score—aided by a pair of 15-yard penalties—on QB Todd Husak's 4-yard pass to WR Troy Walters.

The game then turned into a runaway for USC. First, PK Adam Abrams hit a 37-yard field goal late in the first quarter. Then, LB Zeke Moreno knocked the ball from Husak and DT Aaron Williams picked it up and went 18 yards for a TD to make it 17-7 USC at the half.

Abrams hit a 40-yard field goal in the third quarter, then two plays after Williams recovered his second fumble of the game when he stripped Husak of the ball, WR Windrell Hayes caught an 8-yard scoring pass from QB Carson Palmer early in the fourth quarter. Following a safety recorded on Palmer, Papadakis closed out the scoring with a 3-yard TD run with 15 seconds to play.

Palmer was 19-of-26 for 203 yards passing while playing the entire game (it was a career high completions), WR Larry Parker caught a career-best 7 passes for 68 yards and TB Chad Morton ran for 87 yards on 17 carries. USC played without WR R. Jay Soward, who was sidelined with a sprained ankle 3 plays into the game.

Williams was named Pac-10 Defensive Player of the Week for his performance. S Rashard Cook had a game-high 13 tackles and Moreno added 11 stops (10 solo) with 3 for losses.

Stanford's Husak hit 18-of-33 passes for 138 yards and was held nearly 200 yards under his No. 7-ranked total offense average of 314.8, while WR DeRonnie Pitts had 5 catches for 60 yards and RB Brian Allen gained 78 yards on 20 rushes.

GAME 11 – November 21, Pasadena, California
UCLA 34, USC 17
Att: 88,080

USC	3	7	7	0	–	17
UCLA	14	13	0	7	–	34

For the eighth year in a row, UCLA defeated USC, this time 34-17 before a sold out Rose Bowl crowd of 88,080 and an ABC-TV regional audience.

It was the No. 3 Bruins' 20th consecutive win (including a school record-tying 10th in 1998) and kept alive their run for the national championship.

USC, which was coming off a bye, was hampered by 7 turnovers (USC's most since having 8 against Washington in 1980), including 5 fumbles (USC's most since losing 5 against Oregon in 1986) and 2 interceptions, and UCLA scored 13 points off those giveaways. Although USC had more total yards (387 to 373), UCLA won the time of possession (32:23-27:37) and sacks (6-0) battles.

USC got out to a 3-0 lead on a 36-yard field goal by PK Adam Abrams 7 plays after LB Zeke Moreno intercepted QB Cade McNown's pass (that was popped in the air after LB Chris Claiborne leveled a Bruin receiver) on the game's second play. But UCLA scored touchdowns on its next 2 possessions, first on a 4-yard McNown pass to TB DeShaun Foster and then on a 1-yard Foster plunge after a Trojan fumble.

After Claiborne intercepted a McNown pass and ran it 66 yards early in the second quarter, USC closed to 14-10 on a 4-yard pass from QB Carson Palmer to TE Antoine Harris. However, the Bruins opened up a 27-10 halftime lead after Foster's 65-yard TD gallop and a pair of field goals by PK Chris Sailer (38 and 26 yards) that followed Trojan fumbles.

USC allowed UCLA only 9 yards in the third quarter and moved to within 27-17 midway through the quarter on a 1-yard run by TB Petros Papadakis. But UCLA answered with another 1-yard run by Foster early in the fourth quarter. It was Foster's fourth TD of the day, tying the UCLA and USC opponent single game marks. He ran for 109 yards on 15 carries overall.

For USC, TB Chad Morton rushed for a game-high 120 yards on 19 tries (his seventh career 100-yard outing and fifth of 1998). Palmer was 28-of 43 (both career bests) for 252 yards, while WR Windrell Hayes caught a game-high 9 passes for 95 yards and WR Billy Miller added 6 grabs for 64 yards. DT Aaron Williams led all tacklers in the game with 11 stops, S Rashard Cook had 9 and Claiborne and S Grant Pearsall added 7 each.

USC held UCLA to only 104 total yards in the second half (just 15 passing). McNown, who became the first starting quarterback to win 4 games in the series, was 12-of-20 for 146 yards.

Sadly, 91-year-old USC "Super Fan" Giles Pellerin, who had viewed in person every USC football game since 1926 home and away (797 consecutive), including every USC-UCLA game ever played, died of cardiac arrest while at the game.

GAME 12 – November 28, Los Angeles Coliseum
USC 10, Notre Dame 0

USC	0	0	10	0	–	10

Not only did USC beat Notre Dame for the third year in a row, but its 10-0 victory over the No. 10 Irish in front of 90,069 fans in the Coliseum and an ABC-TV national audience was Troy's first shutout in the series since 1962.

It was also Notre Dame's first time being blanked since 1987 and it stopped the Irish's 8-game winning streak in 1998.

Notre Dame was without injured QB Jarious Jackson and had to use a pair of inexperienced signalcallers (junior starter Eric Chappell and true freshman Arnaz Battle). USC limited the Irish—who were averaging 221.5 yards on the ground—to just 123 rushing yards (their fewest against USC since getting 120 in 1984) and 217 total yards (their fewest against USC since getting 120 in 1980 and their least against any opponent since getting 210 against Boston College in 1994). TB Autry Denson, ND's career rushing leader who was averaging 113.0 ground yards in 1998, was held to a season-low 46 yards (his fewest in the previous 29 games) on 19 tries. Battle was 7-of-19 for 94 yards and Chappell was 0-of 3, with both intercepted twice. The Irish's first completion didn't come until 5 minutes to play in the third quarter. Four of Notre Dame's 5 turnovers came inside USC territory, including a fumble at the USC 2-yard line.

The game—played on a soggy field from rain earlier in the day—was scoreless at halftime. It was the first time USC had played in a scoreless first half since the 1981 Notre Dame contest and the first time ND had done so since 1993 at Purdue. It also snapped Notre Dame's 24-quarter scoring streak. The Irish generated just 74 total yards (all rushing) in the first half.

But USC's offense got untracked after the intermission (100 of its 126 rushing yards and 199 of its 314 total yards came after halftime). QB Carson Palmer ran for a 2-yard TD (his first career rushing score) on a naked bootleg midway through the third quarter and PK Adam Abrams hit a 23-yard field goal on USC's next possession.

Troy's offensive catalysts were TB Chad Morton, who ran for a game-best and season-high 128 yards on a career-high 27 carries (100 of those yards came in the second half) to post his sixth 100-yard game of 1998 (the eighth in his career), WR R. Jay Soward, who had game highs of 7 catches for 124 yards, and Palmer, who was 14-of-32 for 188 yards.

S Rashard Cook intercepted 2 passes, LB Chris Claiborne had a game-topping 12 stops and an interception, DT Marc Matock added 6 stops and LB Mark Cusano had 5 tackles and an interception.

It was USC's first game since 1925 (and the first USC-Notre Dame game ever) without Giles Pellerin in attendance (he died the previous Saturday after viewing 797 consecutive Trojan games). It was also the last USC game called by retiring ABC-TV sportscasting legend Keith Jackson.

GAME 13 – December 31, El Paso, Texas
Norwest Sun Bowl
TCU 28, USC 19
Att: 46,612

USC	0	3	13	3	–	19
TCU	14	7	7	0	–	28

In a stunning upset, 16-point underdog TCU—which barely qualified for post-season play with a 6-5 record—used a potent option attack and a stingy run defense to beat USC, 28-19, in the 65th Norwest Sun Bowl before 46,612 fans and a national CBS-TV audience.

The Horned Frogs' option offense gained 314 yards on the ground (the most against the Trojans since Notre Dame had 330 in 1992) and their defense limited Troy to a USC and Sun Bowl record low -23 rushing yards. It was TCU's first bowl win since 1957.

TCU, which scored touchdowns on its first 3 possessions of the opening half on runs of 3 and 60 yards by TB Basil Mitchell and 7 yards by QB Patrick Batteaux, led 21-3 at intermission. USC's only first-half points came on a 35-yard field goal by PK Adam Abrams late in the second quarter.

The Horned Frogs opened up a 25-point lead on their initial drive of the second half as Batteaux scored on a 3-yard run.

USC battled back by scoring on its first 3 drives of the second half, first on a 23-yard pass from QB Carson Palmer to WR Billy Miller, then on a 1-yard run by TB Petros Papadakis and a 46-yard Abrams field goal early in the fourth quarter (Abrams was the game's Special Teams MVP). The Trojans got the ball back twice more, but those drives resulted in a loss of 30 yards as Palmer was sacked 3 times.

Mitchell, the game's MVP rushed for 185 yards on 19 carries (including 114 in the first half) for a 9.7 average per carry. Batteaux added 94 yards on 28 tries while executing the option to perfection (he also completed 4-of-5 passes for 51 yards). TCU stayed mainly on the ground, as 61 of its 67 plays were runs (the most rushes against USC since Penn State had 66 in 1993). The Horned Frogs threw for only 51 yards (the fewest allowed by USC since Oregon State had 29 in 1995). TCU amassed 365 total yards, converted 10-of-16 third downs (including 7-of-9 in the first half) and held the ball 35:51.

USC managed just 257 total yards and 12 first downs on only 49 plays. Troy converted just 1-of-11 third downs (that came in the first quarter). Palmer was 17-of-28 for a career-best 280 yards, but was sacked 6 times (all in the second half). WR R. Jay Soward had a game-best 6 catches for 64 yards, WR Larry Parker added 4 for 104 yards and Miller had 3 for 67 yards.

LB Chris Claiborne had a game-best 13 tackles and S Grant Pearsall added 11 stops.

ALL-TIME USC RECORD

The following is believed to be an accurate record of the outcome of all games of American football played by the USC varsity team. It was compiled by Michael J. Glenn. USC appreciates his invaluable efforts.

The information in this history is set forth in as brief a fashion as possible. To illustrate this, review the entries under 1989. Reading from left to right, the following information is given on the first line under the coach and captain data: (1) Date (Sept. 4); (2) Result (L-USC loss); (3) USC's Associated Press ranking going into the game (5); (4) USC's opponent (Illinois); (5) An indication that the game began after 5:00 p.m., local time (N); (6) An indication that the winning score occurred with 2:19 left in the game (2:19); (7) USC's opponent's Associated Press ranking going into the game (22); (8) Game score, with USC's point total given first (13-14); (9) An indication that the game was played at USC's home field (H); (10) Game attendance (54,622).

Other information may be noted on the line concerning the UCLA game. The "c" before the attendance figure indicates a capacity crowd. "(UCLA-13:43)" indicates that UCLA made the tying score with 13:43 left in the fourth quarter.

The line beneath the UCLA game record presents USC's regular season record, conference record, and conference finish, in that order. Next come the points scored and points given up.

Beneath this is USC's bowl game result, followed on the next line by USC's final overall record, USC's overall points scored and given up, and the season attendance total.

Other symbols: N1, N2, etc., indicate games played at a neutral site; (HC) indicates USC's Homecoming game; (U) indicates that the game result was a significant upset; (R) indicates that a major portion of the game was played in the rain; (Sn) indicates the game was played in snow conditions; and "Th" indicates a game played on Thanksgiving Day.

Records include games played by USC at site when USC was not the designated home team.

USC totals include all games played on campus, including games played at Bovard Field.

Rose Bowl totals include games played against UCLA.

Athletic Park took its name from its builder, the Los Angeles Athletic Club. Located on the northeast corner of Seventh and Alameda, it opened on Thanksgiving Day, 1891. The first major college football game played there was on Dec. 29, 1894, when Stanford defeated the University of Chicago, 28-0. Athletic Park gained national recognition when Los Angeles and Stockton of the California League played a night baseball game there on July 2, 1893. Los Angeles won, 5-2, before a crowd of 9,000. Twenty kerosene lamps and one swiveled search light were used.

Fiesta Park, located on the northwest corner of Grand and Pico, also dates from the 1890s. It was the site of what was apparently the first night college football game on Nov. 18, 1905. St. Vincent's College (now Loyola Marymount University) shut out the University of Arizona, 54-0. In 1916, a rebuilt Fiesta Park served as USC's home grounds. The following year, however, its bleachers were transported to USC to revamp Bovard Field.

At the turn of the century, Washington Park, at the corner of Washington and Grand, was primarily a baseball field. It was sometimes referred to as Chutes Park, after the adjacent amusement park. St. Vincent's College was located across the street. Washington Park was the early home of the Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific Coast League.

A larger ball park for the Angels was built in 1911. Also known as Washington Park, this structure was located at Washington and Hill.

Prager Park served as USC's home in 1903. It was located near Chutes Park.

Tournament Park, located at the southeast corner of California and Wilson in Pasadena, served as the initial home of the "East-West" game, as the Rose Bowl was originally known. The Tournament of Roses Association acquired the property in 1901, and Michigan and Stanford played there in the first Rose Bowl game on Jan. 1, 1902. After a series of other sporting activities, football returned to the New Year's Day celebration in 1915, and continued at Tournament Park through 1922.

Sportsman's Park, located at North Los Robles and Colorado, was the site of USC's first Pasadena appearance, its first Thanksgiving game, and its first varsity football game outside of Los Angeles--all in 1889 against Pasadena. The game occurred just a month before Sportsman's Park hosted the initial Tournament of Roses.

Prior to 1893, USC's campus games were played on a field adjoining Jefferson. This field might have been the site of USC's first official football game in 1888.

In early 1893, the University's then-existing athletic grounds were developed, apparently for neighborhood housing. According to the Rostrum, USC's earliest student newspaper, the students petitioned for a replacement athletic field. Eventually they were granted space on the "northwest portion of campus."

These grounds, while appropriate for practice and practice games, were not suitable for major games. As a result, most of USC's important "home" games up until 1904 were played in rented space: Athletic Park, Fiesta Park, Washington Park, and Prager Park.

In the summer of 1904, USC's football field was "upgraded." Bleachers were constructed on the south side of the field, and a small stand was placed on the north side. A "kid-proof" fence was built around the site. At the start of the season, the site was referred to as "College Campus" in a published football schedule, but by the end of the year it had become "Bovard Field."

Bovard never appears to have been a very adequate home. USC still used Fiesta Park for some of its more important games up until 1908. In 1915, USC's first Los Angeles game against California was played at the new Washington Park, which was primarily a baseball venue. The following year, USC attempted to use a revitalized Fiesta Park as its home base. In the summer of 1917, the new bleachers at Fiesta Park were transported to USC's Bovard Field. These new seats increased Bovard's capacity to about 10,000.

The "new" Bovard was quickly obsolete. Interest in USC football, under Coach Elmer "Gloomy Gus" Henderson, outpaced the limits of even the expanded Bovard. By 1920, USC was playing its more important games in Pasadena, first at Tournament Park, and then at the Tournament of Roses' new stadium in the Arroyo Seco.

USC's last on-campus varsity football game was played on Sept. 29, 1923, against Cal Tech. The following week the Trojans played their initial game at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

DRAMATIC FINISHES

Over the years, USC has been involved in many games featuring dramatic finishes at the end. Here's a sampling of some of the more famous such contests.

1931--USC 16, Notre Dame 14. Johnny Baker kicked a game-winning 33-yard field goal with 1:00 remaining. All of USC's points came in the fourth quarter. The win snapped Notre Dame's 26-game unbeaten streak and was USC's first-ever win in South Bend. Troy won the national championship.

1938--USC 7, Duke 3 (1939 Rose Bowl). Al Krueger, a second-team end, and fourth-string quarterback Doyle Nave came off the bench to connect on 4 straight passes, the last a 19-yard TD with about 40 seconds left to upset previously unbeaten, untied and unscored-upon Duke.

1939--USC 0, UCLA 0. Bobby Robertson knocked down Ned Matthews' 4-yard pass in the end zone with less than 5 minutes to play to preserve the tie for USC, sending the Trojans to the Rose Bowl.

1941--USC 13, Oregon State 7. Doug Essick caught a game-winning 6-yard pass from Ray Woods with 13 seconds to play.

1953--USC 23, Stanford 20. Sam Tsagalakis kicked a victorious 38-yard field goal with 13 seconds left.

1958--USC 15, UCLA 15. Luther Hayes returned a kickoff 74 yards for a TD and Tom Maudlin ran in for the 2-point conversion with 6:50 to play to get the Trojans a tie.

1964--USC 26, California 21. Behind 21-14 in the fourth quarter, USC scored twice late, the second time (while trailing 21-20) on a 22-yard pass from Craig Fertig to Rod Sherman with 50 seconds to culminate a 95-yard drive.

1964--USC 20, Notre Dame 17. Rod Sherman caught a 15-yard TD pass from Craig Fertig with 1:33 to play to upset unbeaten and top-ranked Notre Dame. USC was down, 17-0, at halftime.

1969--USC 26, Stanford 24. Ron Ayala kicked a game-winning 34-yard field goal with 0:00 on the clock.

1973--USC 27, Stanford 26. Chris Limahelu kicked a game-winning 34-yard field goal with 3 seconds to play.

1974--USC 18, Ohio State 17 (1975 Rose Bowl). Johnny McKay caught a 38-yard TD pass from Pat Haden with 2:03 remaining to pull USC to within a point of Ohio State. Then Shelton Diggs grabbed the subsequent 2-point conversion pass from Haden for the victory, which wrapped up a national championship for USC.

1977--USC 29, UCLA 27. Frank Jordan kicked a 38-yard field goal with 2 seconds remaining, knocking UCLA out of the Rose Bowl.

1979--USC 17, LSU 12. Kevin Williams caught a game-winning 8-yard TD pass from Paul McDonald with 32 seconds to play.

1979--USC 17, Ohio State 16 (1980 Rose Bowl). Charles White scored on a 1-yard run with 1:32 remaining. USC drove 83 yards in 8 plays on the winning drive, with White carrying 6 times for 71 yards.

1981--USC 22, UCLA 21. George Achica broke through the line on the final play of the game to block Norm Johnson's 46-yard field goal try, preserving the win and knocking UCLA out of the Rose Bowl.

1982--USC 17, Notre Dame 13. Michael Harper, fumbling as he dove over the goal line, scored on a controversial winning 1-yard run with 48 seconds to play. It was coach John Robinson's last game of his first tenure at USC.

1985--USC 17, UCLA 13. Rodney Peete scored the winning points on a 1-yard sneak at 1:13 to go.

1986--USC 17, Baylor 14. Don Shafer kicked a game-winning 32-yard field goal in a driving rainstorm with 0:00 on the clock.

1987--USC 12, Arizona 10. Quin Rodriguez kicked an 18-yard field goal with 1:11 remaining, his fourth three-pointer of the game.

1987--USC 17, UCLA 13. Erik Affholter made a juggling, corner-of-the-end zone 33-yard TD catch of a Rodney Peete pass with 7:59 to play in the game, bringing USC all the way back from a 13-0 third quarter deficit. The win put USC in the Rose Bowl.

1988--USC 24, Stanford 20. John Jackson caught a game-winning 10-yard TD pass from Rodney Peete with 1:19 remaining. USC trailed, 13-0, in the second quarter.

1989--USC 18, Washington State 17. Known as "The Drive," Todd Marinovich guided USC 91 yards in 18 plays (all through the air) with 3:31 remaining, culminating with a 2-yard TD pass to Ricky Ervins with 4 seconds to play. Marinovich then hit Gary Wellman for the winning 2-point conversion.

1989--USC 10, UCLA 10. A 54-yard field goal try by UCLA's Alfredo Velasco with 2 seconds to play hit the crossbar and bounced away, preserving the tie.

1989--USC 17, Michigan 10 (1990 Rose Bowl). Rose Bowl MVP Ricky Ervins ran 14 yards for the winning TD with 1:10 to play to cap a 75-yard drive.

1990--USC 35, Ohio State 26. The second half was played in heavy rain with thunder and lightning, getting so bad that officials suspended the game with 2:36 to play after USC recovered an onside kick.

1990--USC 31, California 31. Cal's Robbie Keen missed a 43-yard field goal try with 4 seconds remaining, ending the game in a tie.

1990--USC 45, UCLA 42. In the highest-scoring and perhaps most thrilling USC-UCLA game, Todd Marinovich threw a game-winning 23-yard TD pass to Johnnie Morton with 16 seconds left. The contest featured a 42-point fourth quarter (including 3 TD's in the final 3:09) with 4 lead changes. Morton also caught a 21-yard scoring TD from Marinovich with 3:09 to play to give USC a short-lived 38-35 lead, but Kevin Smith scored on a 1-yard run with 1:19 to go to put the Bruins up 42-38.

1992--USC 31, San Diego State 31. San Diego State's Andy Trakas missed 2 field goals (30 and 55 yards) in the last 0:54 to allow USC to hold onto the tie.

1992--USC 27, California 24. Down 24-13, Estrus Crayton scored twice in the final 5:45 on 2- and 1-yard runs, the second with 2:27 to play to give USC the win. Brian Williams' interception with 2:19 to go sealed Troy's victory.

1995--USC 21, Washington 21. Down 21-0 going into the fourth quarter, USC scored 3 touchdowns, the last a 2-yard pass from Brad Otton to Johnny McWilliams with 33 seconds to go (Adam Rendon's PAT tied it), thus allowing the Trojans to keep hold of the inside track in the Rose Bowl race.

1995--USC 31, Stanford 30. A week after the dramatic Washington tie, USC--behind 16-0 in the second quarter--scored with 39 seconds to play on an 8-yard Kyle Wachholtz pass to Keyshawn Johnson, who then came in as a safety on defense and knocked down a Hail Mary pass at the goal line at the gun.

1996--USC 29, Washington State 24. Delon Washington's 17-yard TD run with 2:05 to play proved decisive and then USC had to hold off the Cougars, who got to the Trojan 11-yard line with 39 seconds to go before fumbling the ball away.

1996--USC 27, Notre Dame 20. In its first overtime win in 3 tries in 1996, Delon Washington scored on a 15-yard run with 1:50 to go in regulation and then barely edged the ball over the goal line on the ensuing 2-point conversion run to tie the game at 20-20. After Rodney Sermons caught a 5-yard TD pass from Brad Otton in the first overtime, Troy stopped the Irish, breaking USC's 13-game non-winning streak to Notre Dame.

1997--USC 20, Notre Dame 17. Adam Abrams' 37-yard field goal with 1:05 to go--4 plays after Mark Cusano ran 27 yards with an interception--gave USC its first win in South Bend since 1981.

1997--USC 24, Oregon 22. Marc Matock partially deflected Joshua Smith's 36-yard field goal try that fell just short with 8 seconds to play to preserve the win.

Of course, USC has been on the wrong end of some dramatic last-minute finishes, too. For instance, there was the 1926 Notre Dame game (Art Parisien threw a 23-yard TD pass to Butch Niemiec with 2 minutes to go for a 13-12 Irish win), the 1937 Notre Dame game (Mario Tonnelli ran 13 yards for a TD with 1:45 left in the Irish's 13-6 win), the 1944 UCLA game (Johnny Roesch scored twice in the last 2 minutes, including an 80-yard punt return with no time on the clock, and then Bob Waterfield's extra point kick hit the crossbar but rolled over, to give UCLA a 13-13 tie), the 1948 Notre Dame game (Emil Sitko ran for a 2-yard TD with 35 seconds to go and Steve Oracko hit the extra point as Notre Dame, riding a 27-game unbeaten streak, escaped with a 14-14 tie), the 1954 Notre Dame game (Jim Morse caught a 72-yard pass from Ralph Guglielmi with 5:57 to go to give Notre Dame a 23-17 victory), the 1963 Notre Dame game (Ken Ivan kicked a 33-yard field goal with 6:38 to go as Notre Dame won, 17-14), the 1965 UCLA game (Kurt Altenberg caught a 52-yard scoring bomb from Gary Beban with about 4 minutes to play as UCLA overcame a 16-6 deficit and won, 20-16), the 1967 Rose Bowl (USC's 2-point conversion pass attempt with 2:28 to play was intercepted by George Catavolos, allowing Purdue to hold onto a 14-13 win), the 1975 Stanford game (Mike Langford kicked a 37-yard field goal with no time on the clock as Stanford won, 13-10), the 1977 Alabama game (under pressure from Alabama's Wayne Hamilton,Rob Hertel's 2-point conversion pass to Mosi Tatupu with 35 seconds to play was intercepted by Barry Krauss, sealing the Tide's 21-20 victory), the 1980 UCLA game (Freeman McNeil pulled down a tipped 58-yard pass from Jay Schroeder for the game-winner at 2:07 to play for a 20-17 win), the 1982 UCLA game (Bruin Karl Morgan preserved UCLA's 20-19 win by sacking Scott Tinsley on an attempted 2-point conversion pass after USC had scored at the gun), the 1986 Notre Dame game (the Irish rallied back from a 20-9 halftime deficit, culminated by John Carney's 19-yard field goal as time expired to give Notre Dame a 38-37 win), the 1989 Illinois game (a pair of late fourth quarter Jeff George TD passes, the second to Steve Williams with 2:19 to play, gave the Illini a 14-13 win), the 1991 Stanford game (USC went ahead 21-17 with 3:37 to play only to see Steve Stenstrom hit Chris Walsh with a game-winning 12-yard TD pass with 1:11 left; USC's Cole Ford barely missed a 45-yard field goal at the gun), the 1992 UCLA game (UCLA came back from a 31-17 fourth quarter deficit to go ahead 38-31, only to see Rob Johnson score on a 1-yard sneak with 41 seconds to play, but Johnson's 2-point conversion pass to Yonnie Jackson was deflected by Bruin Nkosi Littleton), the 1993 Penn State game (Rob Johnson's 2-point conversion pass to Johnny McWilliams with 37 seconds to go fell bounced incomplete, allowing the Nittany Lions to hold on to a 21-20 win), the 1993 UCLA game (a win or tie would have put USC in the Rose Bowl, but Rob Johnson's 3-yard, third-down pass with 56 seconds to play to Tyler Cashman was intercepted in the end zone by Bruin Marvin Goodwin to preserve UCLA's 27-21 victory), the 1996 Arizona State game (after ASU tied the game at 28-28 with 1:30 to play, the teams went to double overtime with Sun Devil Courtney Jackson returning a controversial Brad Otton fumble 85 yards for a TD in the second overtime to end the game in ASU's favor, 48-35), the 1996 UCLA game (USC held a 17-point lead with less than 7 minutes to play in regulation but couldn't hold on and then, in its second double overtime game of the season, the Trojans couldn't score in the second overtime after Skip Hicks' 25-yard TD run gave the Bruins a 48-41 victory), the 1997 Washington State game (Kevin McKenzie made a one-handed grab of a 51-yard Ryan Leaf TD pass with 4:18 to play to give WSU a 28-21 win), and the 1998 California game (the Bears scored 22 unanswered points in the final 19 minutes, including a decisive 3-yard TD run by Marcus Fields with 3:30 to play).

"THE COMEBACK"

In what is regarded as one of the most dramatic and incredible comebacks in the history of college football, the 1974 Trojans erased a 24-point deficit to beat Notre Dame, 55-24, in the Coliseum. In a December 1998 list by SPORT magazine, the game was ranked as the No. 6 top college football moment of the 20th century.

USC trailed the Irish, 24-0, late in the first half, and the Trojans' chances looked bleak because Notre Dame sported the nation's top-ranked defense. But with 10 seconds remaining before halftime, Anthony Davis scored on a 7-yard pass from Pat Haden (Troy missed the 2-point conversion) to send the Trojans into the lockerroom behind 24-6...but with a glimmer of hope.

Davis took the opening kickoff of the second half and raced 102 yards for a score, opening the floodgates as USC rallied for 35 points in the third quarter. Davis scored 2 more times that quarter, both on short runs, and Haden threw TD passes of 18 and 45 yards to Johnny McKay.

Then, before 2 minutes had elapsed in the fourth quarter, Haden hit Shelton Diggs for a 16-yard score and Charles Phillips returned an interception 58 yards for a touchdown. In all, USC blitzed to its 55 points in under 17 minutes.

"We turned into madmen," was how Davis described the comeback.

Added receiver Johnny McKay, son of USC coach John McKay, right after the game: "I can't understand it. I'm gonna sit down tonight and have a beer and think about it. Against Notre Dame? Maybe against Kent State...but Notre Dame?"

The victory propelled USC, which then beat Ohio State in the Rose Bowl, 18-17, to the national championship.

Interestingly, that Rose Bowl win was dramatic, too. USC trailed, 17-10, with just minutes left. Then Haden teamed with McKay on a 38-yard TD pass with 2:03 to go, and followed that with a 2-point conversion toss to Diggs for the victory.

USC: AMERICA'S BOWL TEAM

USC has a remarkable record in bowl games. The Trojans have the nation's fourth highest bowl winning percentage (.641) among the 54 schools which have made at least 10 bowl appearances (behind only Georgia Tech's .704, Oklahoma State's .692 and Penn State's .657, and tied with Oklahoma). USC is just 3 wins behind Alabama for most bowl victories, 28 to 25. Troy's 39 bowl appearances rank behind only Alabama (49). USC once won 9 consecutive bowl games (USC did it in the 1923-30-32-33-39-40-44-45 Rose Bowls and 1924 Christmas Festival); only Florida State has won more in a row (11).

USC's overall post-season record is 25-14. The Trojans were a bowl participant each year they were eligible from 1972 to 1990.

Troy has appeared in an unprecedented 28 Rose Bowls, where it has a 20-8 mark. That's not only the most Rose Bowl wins of any team, but also the most wins by a school in a single bowl. USC has won 7 of its last 9 Rose Bowls. USC has also appeared in 9 other bowls--the Christmas Festival, Liberty Bowl, Bluebonnet Bowl, Fiesta Bowl, Aloha Bowl, Florida Citrus Bowl, Sun (John Hancock) Bowl (twice), Freedom Bowl (twice) and Cotton Bowl.

1974 Rose Bowl
Ohio State 42, USC 21

The 1974 game was a reverse of the 1973 contest as Ohio State, held to a 14-14 tie at halftime, exploded in the second half for a 42-21 win over USC. Freshman fullback Pete Johnson scored three touchdowns and Archie Griffin ran for 149 yards. But the Player of the Game was OSU quarterback Cornelius Greene, who completed six of eight passes for 129 yards and scrambled effectively.

Haden threw for 181 yards and two touchdowns to offset the loss of Anthony Davis, who suffered a rib injury.

USC 20, Texas A&M 0

In coach John McKay's final game at USC, his Trojans shook off a four-game losing streak and surprised favored Texas A&M in Memphis, 20-0. USC's defense came up with many big plays, while the offense was able to move against the nationally-ranked Aggie defense. Vince Evans threw a 65-yard bomb to Randy Simmrin to set up one touchdown and Liberty Bowl MVP Ricky Bell ran 76 yards with a screen pass for another TD.

USC 14, Michigan 6

After an opening game loss, USC won its 11th-straight game by grinding out a 14-6 win over Michigan. Michigan's Rob Lytle opened the scoring with a one-yard plunge, but Trojan quarterback Vince Evans got that back with a one-yard rollout. Freshman tailback Charles White, filling in for the injured Ricky Bell, rushed for 122 yards, including a seven-yard scoring jaunt that closed out the scoring for USC. John Robinson became only the second rookie coach from the Pac-8 to capture a Rose Bowl.

USC 17, Michigan 10

In a tough defensive struggle, the Pac-10 ran its victory string to five in a row as USC outlasted Michigan 17-10. Trojan tailback Charles White rushed for 99 yards and scored what proved to be the decisive touchdown on a disputed three-yard plunge in the second quarter. Michigan quarterback Rick Leach almost brought the Wolverines back from a 14-point halftime deficit by completing eight of 11 second-half passes, including a 44-yard scoring bomb to Roosevelt Smith. 1980 Rose Bowl
USC 17, Ohio State 16

USC's Heisman Trophy winning tailback Charles White stole the show as he led the Trojans to a come-from-behind win in one of the most exciting games in Rose Bowl history. White, named Player of the Game for the second straight year, rushed for a Rose Bowl record 247 yards, including a one-yard touchdown dive with 1:32 remaining in the game that gave USC the win. The Trojans jumped out to an early 10-0 lead, but Ohio State came back to take a 16-10 lead in the fourth quarter. Then White took over. With 5:21 remaining in the game, the Trojans got the ball on their own 17-yard line. USC marched 83 yards in eight plays, all on the ground. On the winning drive, White carried six times for 71 yards.

1982 Fiesta Bowl
Penn State 26, USC 10

Penn State's fine defense and key Trojan miscues led to USC's first non-Rose Bowl post-season defeat, 26-10. Marcus Allen, who was held to 85 yards, fumbled away the ball on USC's first possession and the Lions' Curt Warner, who gained 145 yards, went in to score several plays later. USC's only touchdown came on a 20-yard interception by Chip Banks.

1985 Rose Bowl
USC 20, Ohio State 17

USC's defense prevailed over Ohio State's potent offense featuring Heisman Trophy runnerup Keith Byars, 20-17. Interceptions set up USC's two touchdowns and the Trojan defense also stopped two key Buckeye drives--one early in the contest that got to the four-yard line and one late in the game which ended up at the 38. For USC, Tim Green threw touchdown passes to Joe Cormier and Timmie Ware while Steve Jordan kicked two 51-yard field goals. Most of Ohio State's points were provided by Rich Spangler, who hit three field goals.

1985 Aloha Bowl
Alabama 24, USC 3

The nation's top two bowl teams (USC with the most wins and Alabama with the most appearances) faced off in balmy Honolulu. The score was tied at halftime, 3-3, but the Crimson Tide rolled in the second half to win, 24-3. USC managed only 197 total yards (just 61 rushing) and 10 first downs. On the other hand, Alabama had 317 total yards, 205 coming on the ground. Mike Shula, Al Bell, Gene Jelks, Cornelius Bennett and Jon Hand starred for the Crimson Tide.

1987 Florida Citrus Bowl
Auburn 16, USC 7

In Ted Tollner's final game as USC's head coach, his Trojan defense held down a high-powered Auburn offense (led by Brent Fullwood, the nation's top runner). But Troy's offense was ineffective and the Tigers won, 16-7, in chilly Orlando. Outside linebacker Marcus Cotton provided USC with its only score on a spectacular 24-yard scoring interception return early in the game. Two long second-quarter drives by Auburn, plus a safety late in the game, gave Auburn its only points. USC made it interesting at the end after Louis Brock blocked a Tiger punt, but the Trojans couldn't score on fourth-and-inches at the goal line. Fullwood had 152 yards rushing and one TD for Auburn, which had just 290 total yards on the day.

Michigan State 20, USC 17

For just the fifth time ever, teams that had played each other earlier in the season (Michigan State had beaten USC in the 1988 season opener, 27-13) faced off in the Rose Bowl. The Spartans prevailed again, this time 20-17, breaking a six-game Big Ten losing streak in Pasadena. Despite getting more total yards (410 to 276) and first downs (21 to 11) than Michigan State, the Trojans were hurt by five turnovers, including a lost fumble on a mishandled snap on the Spartan 30 with 1:37 to play as Troy was marching downfield on an impressive drive. USC trailed 14-3 at halftime, but two touchdowns passes from quarterback Rodney Peete to split end Ken Henry eventually evened the score at 17-17 midway through the last quarter. On the next series, Michigan State moved into its winning field goal position with the help of a spectacular 36-yard jump pass from quarterback Bobby McAllister to split end Andre Rison. USC had to play Michigan State for the second time that season without star Trojan tailback Steven Webster (he sat out the opener with a sprained ankle and tore knee ligaments in the regular season finale against UCLA).

Michigan 22, USC 14

In a "teacher-versus-pupil" matchup (USC coach Larry Smith served under Wolverine coach Bo Schembechler at both Miami of Ohio and Michigan), the teacher got the better of it as Michigan came back from a 14-3 halftime deficit to win 22-14. It was a disappointing way for USC to conclude its 100th anniversary of football. After falling behind 3-0 on a Mike Gillette field goal, USC charged back as quarterback Rodney Peete ran for a pair of short touchdowns (1 and 4 yards) in the second quarter. But it was all Michigan in the second half, as the Wolverines amassed 230 of their 352 total yards then. They scored 3 times on long drives, the first on a 6-yard Demetrius Brown-to-Chris Calloway aerial that capped a 67-yard drive to open the third quarter. Then Rose Bowl MVP Leroy Hoard scored twice for Michigan on 1-yard runs in the final period, coming off of 92 and 70-yard drives. Hoard had 142 yards rushing (the first time anyone broke the century rushing mark against the Trojans all year), including a key 61-yard run to set up the Wolverines' final score. USC, which managed a season-low 296 total yards, didn't help its cause with 5 turnovers, 11 penalties and numerous missed tackles. The win was only Schembechler's second in 9 tries in Pasadena.

1990 Rose Bowl
USC 17, Michigan 10

After losing the previous 2 Rose Bowls, USC beat Michigan, 17-10, in a rematch of the 1989 game. The win, in Bo Schembechler's final game as Wolverine coach, ended Michigan's national title hopes. It was a bittersweet victory for USC coach Larry Smith, who served 6 years as an assistant under Schembechler at Miami of Ohio and Michigan. Trojan tailback Ricky Ervins, the Rose Bowl MVP, scored the game-winning TD on a 14-yard run with 1:10 to play. Ervins, who lives 5 minutes from the Rose Bowl and used to park cars there on New Year's Day, ran for 126 yards on 30 carries and caught 5 passes for 44 yards. USC, which dominated the stats, pulled off a key play early in the second quarter when defensive guard Dan Owens blocked a punt. Six plays later, quarterback Todd Marinovich, who was 22-of-31 passing for 178 yards, scored on a 1-yard run. Kickers J.D. Carlson of Michigan (19 yards) and USC's Quin Rodriguez (34 yards) then matched field goals prior to halftime. Michigan tied the score on a 2-yard run then matched field goals prior to halftime. Michigan tied the score on a 2-yard run by tailback Allen Jefferson in the third quarter and the game looked like it would end deadlocked. But, with less than 6 minutes to go, Michigan was called for holding on a successful Wolverine fake punt and USC took over at its 25-yard line. Troy then went 75 yards in 11 plays for the winning score. Michigan tailback Leroy Hoard became the first player to run for 100-plus yards against USC all season (he had 108 yards on 17 carries).

1990 John Hancock Bowl

Playing in its eighth different bowl, USC lost to Michigan State, 17-16, in the John Hancock Bowl in El Paso, Tex., on New Year's Eve day. It was the 900th game in Trojan gridiron history. USC dominated the stats, getting more total yards (336-215), plays (76-52), first downs (21-12) and possession time (35:45-24:15). Troy limited the powerful Spartan rushing attack (which averaged 253.9 yards a game to rank 10th nationally) to an MSU season-low 84 yards. Big Ten rushing champ tailback Tico Duckett got just 18 yards. But Troy had 4 costly turnovers (including 2 in MSU's end zone) and converted only 5 of 14 first downs. USC scored first when quarterback Todd Marinovich hit flanker Gary Wellman with a 7-yard TD pass late in the opening quarter. Marinovich was 18-of-30 for 174 yards, but threw 3 interceptions (including 1 in the end zone) and also fumbled the ball on fourth-and-goal at the Spartan 1-yard line in the middle of the second quarter (which MSU recovered in the end zone). Michigan State marched 80 yards to a TD after that fumble recovery, with tailback Hyland Hickson scoring on an 18-yard run to tie the score at 7-7 at halftime. After placekicker Quin Rodriguez hit a 20-yard field goal on USC's opening possession of the second half (which ended on the MSU 3-yard line), the Spartans countered with a 21-yard TD pass from quarterback Dan Enos to flanker Courtney Hawkins (the first TD reception by a MSU wide receiver all year), who was the game's MVP with 6 catches for a season-high 106 yards, and a career-long 52-yard field goal by John Langeloh. Rodriguez capped USC's next series with a career-long 54-yard field goal early in the fourth quarter. Then, down 17-13, cornerback Stephon Pace intercepted an Enos pass to give USC the ball near midfield. But the Trojans could get no closer than the MSU 17 before backup quarterback Shane Foley's errant pitch stalled the drive and USC had to settle for another Rodriguez field goal, this one 43 yards with 5:54 to play. Troy, however, could never get the ball back. Tailback Mazio Royster had a game-high 125 yards on 32 carries, only the second player to break the century rushing mark against Michigan State in 1990. USC rushed for 156 yards versus an MSU defense which was ranked 17th nationally against the run (allowing just 113.2 yards a game). Trojan outside linebacker Craig Hartsuyker, who had 2 quarterback sacks and forced a fumble, was named the game's Most Valuable Lineman.

Fresno State 24, USC 7

USC, making its 35th bowl appearance, was stunned by unranked, 8-point underdog Fresno State, 24-7, in the ninth Freedom Bowl in Anaheim Stadium. It was the first meeting ever between the Trojans and Bulldogs. Fresno State dominated, particularly in the second half. FSU, with the nation's No. 1 scoring offense (40.5) and No. 2 total offense (482.9), held the ball 15-plus minutes more (37:32-22:28), had 322 more total yards (405-183), 10 more first downs (24-14) and 34 more plays (84-50). USC's 183 total yards were its fewest since getting 163 at Washington in 1990 and its 95 passing yards were its fewest since getting 74 at Oregon in 1991. The Trojans had 4 turnovers (FSU had none) and converted just 1-of-9 third downs. The first half, played in a steady rain, ended in a 7-7 tie. It was the fewest points FSU had scored in a half all season (and it was the first time the Bulldogs were shut out in the first quarter in 1992). USC tailback Deon Strother opened the scoring with a 1-yard plunge early in the second quarter, but FSU answered when fullback Lorenzo Neal ran for a 1-yard TD. While attempting to catch a pass on the last play of the half, USC flanker Curtis Conway sprained his right knee and missed the second half (it was the first time in 23 games that he didn't catch a pass). After a 43-yard field goal by placekicker Derek Mahoney in the third quarter, FSU scored twice late in the game on runs by tailbacks Anthony Daigle (2 yards) and Ron Rivers (5 yards). Rivers had a game-high 104 yards on 19 carries, while Freedom Bowl MVP Neal had 75 yards on 19 tries. Bulldog quarterback Trent Dilfer was 13-of-28 for 164 yards. Tailback Estrus Crayton, USC's game MVP, led Troy with 79 yards on 19 attempts. Defensively, safety Jason Sehorn had a game-high 10 tackles, while inside linebacker Brian Williams added 9 stops, cornerback Jerald Henry had 8, and cornerback Jason Oliver had 7 along with a blocked field goal.

USC 28, Utah 21

USC, exorcising the demons of Anaheim Stadium, scored 28 points in the first 17 minutes of the game and then held off a furious Utah second-half rally to win Freedom Bowl X, 28-21, before 43,150 fans and a national Raycom television audience. The Trojans, making their 36th bowl appearance, were playing in Anaheim Stadium for the third time in 14 games, but had yet to win there (losing in the 1992 Freedom Bowl to Fresno State and the 1993 season-opening Disneyland Pigskin Classic to North Carolina). It was the first USC-Utah meeting in 45 years. USC, a 17-point favorite, scored easily on its first 4 possessions. In the first quarter, quarterback Rob Johnson hit All-American wide receiver Johnnie Morton on TD throws of 31 and 9 yards, and tailback David Dotson dove over from 2 yards out. Then, Johnson connected with tight endJohnny McWilliams on a 5-yard scoring toss just 1:26 into the second quarter. But after that, USC's offense--hampered by an ineffective running game (the Trojans ran for just 91 yards)--stalled. Utah, playing in just its fourth bowl game, came alive after halftime, scoring on 3 of its first 5 possessions: a 59-yard TD pass from quarterback Mike McCoy to slotback Henry Lusk, a 34-yard run by fullback Jamal Anderson and a 1-yard run by tailback Keith Williams. But USC got the ball with 3:19 to play and held it until just 8 seconds remained, when McCoy's desperation pass was intercepted by cornerback John Herpin (Herpin's second pick of the game). Morton was named the game's MVP as he caught a Freedom Bowl-record 10 passes for 147 yards and the 2 scores (to tie a Freedom Bowl TD catch mark) despite playing weakened with the flu (7 of his catches for 121 yards and both TDs were in the first half). Johnson, who also had come down with a slight case of the flu, completed a Freedom Bowl-record 30 passes in 44 attempts for 345 yards and the 3 TD aerials (in the first half, he was 17-of-25 for 255 with the 3 TDs). Morton became the Pac-10's No. 2 career receiver with 201 grabs, while Johnson set USC's season pass completion percentage mark (68.6%). USC tailback Shawn Walters ran for a game-high 70 yards on 19 carries, while fullback Deon Strother added 50 rushing yards on 9 attempts and caught 6 passes for 63 yards. USC wide receiver Ken Grace, who had 4 catches for 48 yards, returned a punt 31 yards, a Freedom Bowl mark. USC generated 436 yards of total offense on 82 plays and held the ball 32:14. Utah threatened 3 times inside the USC 30-yard line in the opening half, but USC's defense held each time, including an impressive goal line stand and an interception in the end zone by cornerback Jason Sehorn. Utah came into the game averaging 484.6 total yards (fifth in the U.S.), 324.3 passing yards (seventh in the U.S.) and 30.8 points, but was limited to 350 total yards (286 through the air). McCoy, who was second nationally in total offense (330.8), was 23-of-40 for 286 yards, 1 TD and 3 interceptions (at the half, he was 10-of-20 for 81 yards with 2 picks). Lusk had 6 catches for 140 yards and the TD, while Anderson ran for 67 yards and the TD on 16 carries and caught 7 passes for 61 yards. Outside linebacker Brian Williams and safety Mike Salmon topped USC in tackles with 9 each (both had 2 for losses). USC coach John Robinson, who has led USC to at least 8 wins in each of his 8 seasons there, upped his bowl record to 5-1.

1995 Cotton Bowl
USC 55, Texas Tech 14

USC (ranked 20th by UPI, 21st by AP and 22nd by USA Today/CNN) made quite an impression in its first visit to the Mobil Cotton Bowl Classic, smashing Texas Tech, 55-14, in a record-filled performance before a sellout crowd of 70,218 and an NBC-TV national audience. It was USC's 24th bowl victory, its 37th bowl appearance (in 10 different bowls), its 17th win in the last 19 games against Southwest Conference opponents, its third win in 3 tries over Texas Tech, and coach John Robinson's sixth bowl win in 7 trips (giving Robinson at least 8 wins in each of his 9 seasons at Troy). After 59 years, it was also the last Cotton Bowl where an SWC team served as host. Texas Tech was making only its second visit to the Cotton Bowl (the first was in 1939). The game was over quickly, as it was 28-0 after the first quarter and 34-0 at halftime. USC led 48-0 before Texas Tech scored against the Trojan reserves late in the third quarter. USC set Cotton Bowl records for most points in a game, most points in a quarter (USC's most since also scoring 28 in the second quarter against California in 1978) and most touchdowns (7), while scoring its most points ever in a bowl and posting its biggest bowl victory margin (second in Cotton Bowl history). It was the most points scored against Texas Tech since Miami had 61 in 1986. Troy's first 3 scores came in a 1:16 span. After tailback Shawn Walters, 1 of 8 Texans on the Trojan roster, ran 11 yards for a TD, USC recovered a fumble on the ensuing kickoff and, on the next play, quarterback Rob Johnson hit fullback Terry Barnum for a 19-yard score. Three plays later, cornerback John Herpin, another Texas native, intercepted a Zebbie Lethridge pass and returned it 26 yards for a TD. Herpin, who intercepted another pass in the second quarter to set up a field goal, was named the game's Outstanding Defensive Player. USC's next 3 TDs came on aerials to wide receiver Keyshawn Johnson of 12, 22 and 86 yards (the 86-yarder was 1 yard shy of the longest pass in Cotton Bowl and USC history), the first 2 from Rob Johnson and the third from quarterback Brad Otton. Keyshawn Johnson, selected as the game's Outstanding Offensive Player, had 8 catches overall for a Cotton Bowl-record 222 yards (just 7 yards shy of the Trojan single game record). His 3 TD catches set a Cotton Bowl record and equalled a Trojan mark. Rob Johnson, who became USC's career passing yardage leader and the Pac-10 and USC recordholder for career completion percentage, was 16-of-21 for 289 yards (the second most yards in Cotton Bowl history). The other Trojan scores came on a late 2-yard Otton pass to tight end Jeff Diltz and second quarter field goals by placekicker Cole Ford of 39 and a career-best 42 yards. Ford's 7 PAT kicks was a Cotton Bowl record. Walters ran for a game-best 82 yards on 14 carries. Otton was 8-of-14 for 146 yards. USC thoroughly dominated the statistics, more than doubling Texas Tech in total yardage (578-260) and possession time (40:02-19:58) while also having more first downs (21-14) and plays (80-63). USC, which averaged 7.2 yards per play, set Cotton Bowl records for total yards, passing yards (a USC record 435) and completions (24). USC did this against a Texas Tech defense which entered the game third nationally in pass efficiency defense (88.6), 10th in scoring defense (17.4) and 22nd in total defense (311.0). The Red Raiders had held 5 foes to single digits in scoring and had given up just 47 points in their previous 5 games. Inside linebacker Jeff Kopp led USC in tackles with 7, while safety Sammy Knight added 6. Texas Tech, which punted 10 times, advanced into USC territory on just 4 of its 16 possessions.

USC 41, Northwestern 32

Behind the stellar play of wide receiver Keyshawn Johnson and quarterback Brad Otton, USC (ranked 15th by UPI and 17th by USA Today/CNN and AP) put an end to No. 3-ranked Northwestern's Cinderella season with an exciting 41-32 Rose Bowl win before a sellout crowd of 100,102 and a national ABC-TV audience. It was the 50th anniversary of the Pac-10/Big Ten agreement in the Rose Bowl. It was USC's 20th victory in its unprecedented 28th trip to Pasadena (but its first since the 1990 game) and Troy's first win over a Top 3 team since defeating Michigan in that 1990 Rose Bowl, while Northwestern--having its first winning season since 1971 (the Wildcats came in with a 10-1 record)--was playing in only its second-ever bowl (its first since winning the 1949 Rose Bowl). It also gave USC coach John Robinson a 4-0 Rose Bowl record (and 7-1 in all bowls). The Trojans jumped off to a quick start, driving 83 yards with the opening kickoff while using a no-huddle offense as running back LaVale Woods scored on a 1-yard plunge. But Northwestern answered on its first possession, as running back Darnell Autry ran 3 yards for a TD to cap a 68-yard drive. USC then scored 17 unanswered second quarter points: a scrambling 21-yard TD pass from Otton to running back Terry Barnum, a 30-yard field goal by placekicker Adam Abrams and, on Northwestern's next possession, cornerback Daylon McCutcheon's 53-yard fumble return after safety Sammy Knight knocked the ball loose from Wildcat wide receiver Brian Musso. Northwestern got a 29-yard field goal from placekicker Brian Gowins with 2 seconds to go in the half following a Trojan fumble, but Troy led 24-10 at intermission (it was USC's most first half points since scoring 34 against Texas Tech in the 1995 Cotton Bowl). The Wildcats then scored on their first 4 possessions of the second half: another Gowins field goal (this one from 28 yards), a 9-yard Autry run (after Northwestern recovered a surprise on-side kick), a 1-yard sneak by quarterback Steve Schnur (which followed a 56-yard Trojan scoring strike from Otton to Johnson), and a 2-yard Autry run early in the fourth quarter that gave Northwestern its first lead of the day, 32-31. But USC came right back, getting a 46-yard Abrams field goal (the longest by a Trojan since Quin Rodriguez hit a 54-yarder against Michigan State in the 1990 John Hancock Bowl). Safety Jesse Davis then sealed the victory for USC with an interception which led to a 5-yard TD by running back Delon Washington. Johnson, who served as a Trojan ballboy at the 1985 Rose Bowl, was named the Rose Bowl MVP, as he grabbed 12 passes (all for first downs) for a Rose Bowl record 216 yards (his 17th 100-yard outing in his career and the eighth of 1995). Otton played the entire game for the first time in the 1995 season, hitting 29-of-44 passes for 391 yards (all career highs) with 2 TDs and no interceptions; the yardage was 1 yard shy of Rob Johnson's USC record and was the third most in Rose Bowl history. Autry had his 13th consecutive 100-yard rushing game, getting 110 yards on 32 carries with the 3 TDs, while Schnur was 23-of-39 for a career-best 336 yards (including 7 completions for 145 yards to wide receiver D'Wayne Bates). Northwestern outgained USC in total yards, 475-520, and limited Troy to just 29 rushing yards (its fewest since getting 7 yards against UCLA in 1993), but the Wildcats' uncharacteristic 2 turnovers led to 14 Trojan points, proving costly to a team which was third nationally in turnover margin (1.82). The Wildcats also had a TD pass called back because of a penalty late in the game and missed 2 field goals, including a 49-yard attempt that hit the upright with 35 seconds to go. USC, on the other hand, had 11 penalties (including 9 in the second half). Trojan cornerback Brian Kelly had a game-high 11 tackles (along with 2 deflections), while Knight and linebacker Scott Fields added 7 stops each.

In a stunning upset, 16-point underdog TCU—which barely qualified for post-season play with a 6-5 record—used a potent option attack and a stingy run defense to beat USC, 28-19, in the 65th Norwest Sun Bowl before 46,612 fans and a national CBS-TV audience. The Horned Frogs' option offense gained 314 yards on the ground (the most against the Trojans since Notre Dame had 330 in 1992) and their defense limited Troy to a USC and Sun Bowl record low -23 rushing yards. It was TCU's first bowl win since 1957. TCU, which scored touchdowns on its first 3 possessions of the opening half on runs of 3 and 60 yards by TB Basil Mitchell and 7 yards by QB Patrick Batteaux, led 21-3 at intermission. USC's only first-half points came on a 35-yard field goal by PK Adam Abrams late in the second quarter. The Horned Frogs opened up a 25-point lead on their initial drive of the second half as Batteaux scored on a 3-yard run. USC battled back by scoring on its first 3 drives of the second half, first on a 23-yard pass from QB Carson Palmer to WR Billy Miller, then on a 1-yard run by TB Petros Papadakis and a 46-yard Abrams field goal early in the fourth quarter (Abrams was the game's Special Teams MVP). The Trojans got the ball back twice more, but those drives resulted in a loss of 30 yards as Palmer was sacked 3 times. Mitchell, the game's MVP rushed for 185 yards on 19 carries (including 114 in the first half) for a 9.7 average per carry. Batteaux added 94 yards on 28 tries while executing the option to perfection (he also completed 4-of-5 passes for 51 yards). TCU stayed mainly on the ground, as 61 of its 67 plays were runs (the most rushes against USC since Penn State had 66 in 1993). The Horned Frogs threw for only 51 yards (the fewest allowed by USC since Oregon State had 29 in 1995). TCU amassed 365 total yards, converted 10-of-16 third downs (including 7-of-9 in the first half) and held the ball 35:51. USC managed just 257 total yards and 12 first downs on only 49 plays. Troy converted just 1-of-11 third downs (that came in the first quarter). Palmer was 17-of-28 for a career-best 280 yards, but was sacked 6 times (all in the second half). WR R. Jay Soward had a game-best 6 catches for 64 yards, WR Larry Parker added 4 for 104 yards and Miller had 3 for 67 yards. LB Chris Claiborne had a game-best 13 tackles and S Grant Pearsall added 11 stops.

1999 BOWL INFORMATION

Rose Bowl Selection Procedures

The Pacific-10 Rose Bowl representative shall be that member's team with the best record in the loss and tie columns (a tie being counted as one-half loss) in all Conference games. If, however, the lowest loss-tie totals of two or more members are identical, determination of the Rose Bowl representative shall be as follows:

a. Two-Team Tie. If the tied teams played one another, the winner of their game shall be the representative. If they tied or did not play one another, if either team is ranked first or second inthe nation in the Associated Press or the USA Today/ESPN American Football Coaches Association which immediately follow the final regular-season game played by the Conference's members, then it shall be the Rose Bowl representative. If they tied or did not play and are not so ranked, then the following formula shall be used:

(1) 4 points for a Conference win.
(2) 3 points for a non-Conference win against a Div. I-A team.
(3) 2 points for a non-Conference win against a non-Div. I-A team.
(4) 2 points for a Conference tie.
(5) 1 1/2 points for a non-Conference tie against a Div. 1-A team.
(6) 1 point for a non-Conference tie against a non-Div. 1-A team.

The team with the highest point total for all games shall be the Rose Bowl representative.

If a tie remains, the last team appearing in the Rose Bowl shall be eliminated.

b. Multiple Ties. When three or more teams are tied in the loss-tie column in Conference play, if one has defeated all others, that team shall be the Rose Bowl representative. If that is not the case, and one of the teams is ranked first or second in the nation in the Associated Press or the USA Today/ESPN American Football Coaches Association which immediately follow the final regular-season game played by the Conference's members, then it shall be the Rose Bowl representative. If that is not the case, a team defeated by all other tied teams shall be eliminated. If one team has not defeated the others, the point formula above shall be computed. Only the top two teams on the point system shall thereafter be considered. If a tie for the second position occurs upon application of the point formula, the second team shall be the winner of the game between the tied teams, or, if the teams did not play each other or played a tie game, the team which has not played in the Rose Bowl for the longest period of time shall be the second team. If the remaining two teams played one another, the winner shall be the representative. If they tied or did not play one another, the team with the highest point total for all games shall be the Rose Bowl representative as in paragraph "a" above. If a tie remains, the last team appearing in the Rose Bowl shall be eliminated.

NOTES: Teams ineligible to participate in the Rose Bowl shall not be included in the tie-breaking formula. Games in Alaska or Hawaii shall not be counted in the point system if they are "12th games" permitted under NCAA legislation. Participation in the NACDA Kickoff Classic or the Pigskin Classic shall not be counted in the point system.

Bowl Championship Series

The Bowl Championship Series, in its second year, guarantees a matchup between college football's top two teams in a true national championship game. The BCS consists of the Rose, Nokia Sugar, Tostitos Fiesta and FedEx Orange Bowls. Conferences with automatic berths are the Pac-10, Big Ten, Atlantic Coast, Big East, Big 12 and Southeastern. Any Division I-A independent team or the champion of any other Division I-A conference ranked sixth or higher in the BCS standings also will be included in the BCS. Otherwise, any Division I-A team can qualify for the at-large selection pool if it has won nine games and is ranked in the Top 12 of the BCS rankings. The BCS utilizes its own ranking system, which includes four major components: (1) media polls; (2) computer rankings; (3) strength of schedule rankings; (4) won-loss record. At the end of the regular season, the National Championship contest will match the top two teams ranked in the BCS final regular season rankings.

Pac-10 Bowl Arrangements

College football entered a new era in 1998 as the Pac-10, Big Ten and Rose Bowl become associated with the Bowl Championship Series or BCS (formerly known as the Bowl Alliance).

For the 1999-2000 season, the Pac-10 champion will take its accustomed place in the Rose Bowl, unless it is ranked as one of the top 2 teams in the nation at the conclusion of the regular season. In that case, the Pac-10 champ would play in the National Championship Game (this season at the Nokia Sugar Bowl). If so, the Rose Bowl will fill that berth with another team from the BCS pool. That could be a second Pac-10 team, but would not necessarily be so. The opponent in the Rose Bowl is the Big Ten champion.

Regardless of the disposition of the Pac-10 champ, a second Pac-10 team may be selected for an at-large berth in the BCS in any given year. Pac-10 agreements with its other bowl partners provide for that occurence.

Agreements are in place with the Culligan Holiday, Wells Fargo Sun, Jeep Aloha and Jeep Oahu Bowls to place 4 other Pac-10 teams in bowls (besides the Pac-10 champ).

After the Pac-10 champion goes to the Rose Bowl (or BCS Championship Game), the Holiday Bowl receives the highest remaining team in the Pac-10 standings. If there is a tie for that position, the Holiday Bowl has the right to select from the tied teams. The opponent in the Holiday Bowl is the Big 12's No. 3 team.

The Sun Bowl then receives the highest remaining team in the Pac-10 standings. If there is a tie for that position, the Sun Bowl has the right to select from the tied teams. The Big Ten's No. 5 team will be the opponent in the Sun Bowl.

Finally, the Aloha and Oahu Bowls receive the next 2 highest remaining teams in the Pac-10 standings. The Bowls' organizers, Bowl Games of Hawaii, in consultation with the Pac-10 Conference and ABC Sports, will determine which Pac-10 team is assigned to each game. The Aloha Bowl opponent is still to be determined, while the Oahu Bowl has an open berth.

USC'S FIRST ALL-AMERICAN, BRICE TAYLOR

HONORS AND AWARD WINNERS

Trojan Football

USC'S ALL-AMERICANS

The following is a complete listing of all USC football players who have ever received first team All-American honors. Although there are several teams selected throughout the country, the NCAA now recognizes only six in determining whether a player is a unanimous or consensus choice--AP, Football Coaches Association, Football Writers Association, the Walter Camp Foundation, The Sporting News and Football News.

From 1962 to 1990, USC had at least one first team All-American every year. From 1972 to 1987, there was at least one consensus All-American Trojan every year. Also, there have been an amazing 26 first team All-American Trojan offensive linemen since 1964.

Two-time All-American Mike Garrett was the man who began the great legacy of USC's I-formation tailbacks.

He was the Trojans' first — and only the West Coast's second — Heisman winner when he whipped an outstanding field of candidates in 1965.

Mike set 14 NCAA, conference and USC records in his three-year career, including an NCAA career rushing record of 3,221 yards in the days when 1,000-yard-a-season rushers were almost non-existent. He later starred for the Kansas City Chiefs and San Diego Chargers.

O.J. SIMPSON

O.J. Simpson became USC's second Heisman Trophy winner in 1968 when he captured the award by the most one-sided margin in history.

During the regular 1968 season, O.J. established an NCAA record for yards rushing — 1,709 — in a single season (since bettered). A two-time unanimous All-American, he equaled or bettered 19 NCAA, conference and USC records.

A December 1998 SPORT magazine ranking listed him among the Top 10 college football players of the 20th century.

Simpson also held the NFL single season rushing record of 2,003 yards set in 1973 and finished his 11-year pro career as the second leading NFL career rusher.

Playboy Pre-Season All-Americans

USC has landed more players on the prestigious Playboy Magazine pre-season college All-American football team than any other university. Since Playboy first picked a team in 1957, there have been 55 Trojan players selected, as well as 1 Coach of the Year and 1 Scholar-Athlete. Not including the 1999 picks, Notre Dame is next with 40 selections (plus 1 Coach of the Year), followed by Michigan with 39, Oklahoma with 31 (plus 2 Coaches of the Year) and Nebraska with 30 (plus 2 Coaches of the Year and 1 Scholar-Athlete). During a 16-year period (1972 through 1987), at least 1 Trojan player was selected annually to the Playboy squad. On 4 different occasions (1970-76-79-80), 3 USC players made that year's Playboy team. USC'sTony Boselli, who was selected in 1992-93-94, was the first 3-time Playboy selection from any school.

USC LETTERMEN

ALL-TIME LETTERWINNERS

Various standards have been used to determine USC letterwinners over the years, but since 1976, squad members who have played at least 30 minutes have been listed here as lettermen. There have been many exceptions to that rule, including kickers and others who contributed significantly to the team's success without playing 30 minutes.

In addition, senior squad members who have been on the team for several years have generally been awarded letters for their senior season, as long as they appeared in at least one game. This has been a long-standing policy.

The list is confined to lettermen who actually played on USC's varsity teams of American Rules Football, and does not include individuals who lettered only in rugby.

Positions, heights, and weights are generally those listed in USC publications and other sources in the player's final letterwinning year. Positions are primarily listed in the terminology of the era in which the letterwinner played. "Hometowns" by longstanding custom are usually the places from which players came to USC, and are located in California unless noted. Parenthetical notations contain a letterwinner's high school, and junior or senior college, attended before USC, where known, and are in the state of the letterman's hometown, unless noted. This list was expanded by Michael J. Glenn (with input from Gary Wright). USC appreciates their invaluable efforts.

A Note on USC's Records

The records material on these pages has been compiled from a number of sources. Although official national individual records commenced only in 1937 (nearly 50 years after USC's first team), USC's game-by-game records generally extend back to the mid-1920s. Newspaper accounts of individual games, including some extraordinary individual performances, date back to 1889. Unfortunately, for some games in USC's first 20 years, only the final result has survived to the present.

These records have been compiled by USC's Sports Information Office (previously known as the Athletic News Service), particularly the sports information directors listed elsewhere in this guide. Special mention should be made of the efforts of Tom Lawless, Dick Nash, Harley Tinkham, Chuck Weinstock, Al Wesson, Deke Houlgate, H.D. Thoreau and Mike Glenn.

N5-Rose Bowl, Pasadena, California

*-This was the only field goal that Decius kicked for USC; yet his record stood for 64 years. Decius also held the record for most field goals in a single game against USC. Playing for Los Angeles High School, Decius, on Oct. 10, 1908, kicked three field goals (then worth four points each), two from the 35-yard line near the sidelines and one from the 27-yard line. That record, tied several times, stood for 65 years, until Nov. 10, 1973, when Rod Garcia kicked four field goals for Stanford against USC.

USC VS. HEISMAN WINNERS

John Lujack – 1947
Notre Dame 38, USC 7

Irish quarterback Lujack completed 5-of-7 passes for 59 yards and no TDs, but it was his interception and 37-yard return of a Trojan pass that led to a score. Eventual national champion Notre Dame knocked off No. 3-ranked USC, 38-7, at the Coliseum.

Leon Hart – 1949
Notre Dame 32, USC 0

Hart scored on a 36-yard pass for Notre Dame's first score as the top-ranked Irish rolled to a 32-0 win in South Bend over the No. 17 Trojans. It was USC's worst loss in the series at the time.

John Lattner – 1953
Notre Dame 48, USC 14

Lattner set then-series records by scoring 4 touchdowns and rushing for 157 yards in No. 2 Notre Dame's 48-14 victory over No. 20 USC in the Coliseum.

Paul Hornung – 1956
USC 28, Notre Dame 20

Hornung, who played quarterback during his Heisman Trophy season, switched to halfback against USC because of painful injuries to both thumbs. His 95-yard kickoff return and PAT in the third quarter drew the Irish to within a point, 21-20. Hornung accounted for 215 all-purpose yards in the Coliseum game.

John Huarte – 1964
USC 20, Notre Dame 17

Huarte completed 18-of-29 passes and threw a touchdown pass in leading top-ranked Notre Dame to a 17-0 lead. But unranked USC rallied to score 20 second-half points to upset the Irish, 20-17, in Los Angeles. It was Ara Parseghian's first loss as Irish coach.

Gary Beban – 1967
USC 21, UCLA 20

With the national championship and a trip to the Rose Bowl on the line, Beban threw for 301 yards and 2 touchdowns for the top-ranked Bruins. The effort wasn't enough as O.J. Simpson, USC's 1968 Heisman winner, scored on a 64-yard TD to give the No. 4-ranked Trojans a 21-20 win.

Jim Plunkett – 1970
Stanford 24, USC 14

Plunkett ended No. 4-ranked USC's hopes of a fifth straight Rose Bowl trip by completing 19-of-31 passes for 274 yards and a score in No. 12-ranked Stanford's 24-14 win at Palo Alto. The loss ended USC's 25-game unbeaten string in regular season play.

Archie Griffin – 1974
USC 18, Ohio State 17

In the 1975 Rose Bowl, Griffin fumbled twice and was held to 75 yards and no TDs, as USC rallied to take an 18-17 win. The victory over the No. 3-ranked Buckeyes gave USC its seventh national title.

George Rogers – 1980
USC 23, South Carolina 13

Rogers broke free for a 34-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter in Los Angeles as part of a 141-yard rushing game. But it was Marcus Allen, USC's 1981 Heisman Trophy winner, who rushed for 104 yards and 2 touchdowns to give USC a 23-13 win in its home opener.

Tim Brown – 1987
Notre Dame 26, USC 15

Brown was held to 4 catches for 46 yards, but it was his 5-yard run in the second quarter that put the Irish up 17-3 in South Bend. Notre Dame's seventh Heisman winner rushed 5 times for 41 yards in the Irish's 26-15 win.

USC ON TELEVISION

USC's football team — perhaps the true "America's Team" — has appeared on live national, regional or local telecasts 260 times over the years, including 166 times on commercial network television. USC's overall record while playing on live television is 163-88-9 (the mark is 96-66-6 for commercial network telecasts only). USC set a national record in 1987 by appearing on 6 live national regular-season network telecasts. USC had an amazing streak of 111 consecutive games on some form of live television (from the 1988 Oregon State game through the 1997 Stanford game).

Trojan games have always been among the top — if not the top — attractions among live televised college football games. In fact, over the 10-year period from 1972 to 1981, USC posted the highest average television rating of any school, according to figures released by the NCAA which were compiled by the A.C. Nielsen Co. rating service. During that span, USC averaged a 15.6 rating on its 24 live regular-season ABC national and regional telecasts. A rating indicates the percentage of all U.S. households that are tuned to a game. Currently, each rating point equals 1% of the nation's 97 million TV households. A 10.0 rating is considered above average.

In a December 1988 ranking by Sports Inc., the USC-Notre Dame game recorded 5 of the 12 all-time highest college football TV ratings. The 1968 USC-ND encounter was the highest rated college football telecast ever (22.9 rating). The other USC-ND clashes in the top 12 include 1970-74-72-64.

Of the 12 highest rated games ever, according to Sports Inc., USC was involved in more than any other school: 7 (besides those 5 Notre Dame games, the others were the UCLA encounters of 1973 and 1967). Incidentally, USC was 6-0-1 in those games.

As further proof of USC's television appeal, Sports Inc. listed Troy as the top drawing team from 1974 to 1983 (the 10 years prior to the U.S. Supreme Court ruling which deregulated the TV marketplace) with an average rating of 14.49 on 24 telecasts (more than a full rating point higher than No. 2 Notre Dame). After deregulation (from 1984 to 1989) and with the proliferation of telecasts, USC was still in the Top 10, ranking ninth with a 6.07 average rating on 25 appearances (less than 2 points behind the leader).

Below is a list of the USC football team's appearances on live television. Listed along with the year and the opponent are the score; the network, syndicator or station that televised the contest; whether the telecast was national, regional or local; and, if available, the Nielsen rating. An asterisk (*) indicates a home game. USC was not eligible to appear on live television in the 1983 and 1985 regular seasons because of an NCAA ban.

* - USC Record
- Excludes first 3 games
+ - Excludes Pomona game

Between 1888 and 1921, an estimated 500,000-plus people attended home and away USC games.

The largest single-game crowd in USC history was the estimated 120,000 at Soldier Field in Chicago for the 1927 USC-Notre Dame game. The largest USC home crowd was 104,953 for the 1947 USC-Notre Dame game in the Coliseum. The largest USC post-season bowl game crowd was 106,869 at the 1973 Rose Bowl in Pasadena (USC versus Ohio State), which is an NCAA bowl game record. In all, USC has played before at least 46,160,134 people since it first started playing football in 1888.

In 1988, USC not only set a school record for home attendance average per game (76,063, which ranked eighth best in the nation), but Troy also registered the greatest increase in average home attendance of any school in the nation that year (up 22,416 per game over 1987). That increase was 7,996 more than the next closest school.

*Coliseum record for a football game.

The Coliseum seating capacity was reduced to 92,516 in 1964 (although temporary seats were added for the 1965 UCLA and 1988 Notre Dame games, hence the larger crowds then). In 1993, stadium renovation increased the Coliseum capacity to 94,159, but that figure was reduced in 1995 to 92,000. The largest crowd for a non-UCLA/non-Notre Dame game since 1964 was 86,124 for Oklahoma in 1988.

USC: PIPELINE TO THE PROS

With its outstanding football heritage, it's no surprise that USC usually has more players in the pros than any school.

At the start of training camp this summer, there were 41 ex-Trojans on National Football League rosters, including 12 rookies. In fact, USC players were on the rosters of 23 of the NFL's 31 teams. Most of the Trojans were either defensive backs (9), offensive linemen (8), linebackers (6), wide receiver (6) or defensive linemen (6).

In 1998, there were 26 Trojans on opening day NFL rosters; only 10 universities had more players (since records are available, USC has been No. 1 in 17 of the last 23 years).

Overall, USC has produced 391 NFL draft picks (plus 28 by the AFL before it merged with the NFL) and 355 players who since 1920 played in the NFL (or its sister leagues, the AFL or All-America Football Conference).

USC has had three of the most highly drafted classes in college football history. The 1953 class (following the 1952 season) had 15 players drafted while both the 1975 and 1977 classes had 14 players selected. USC has had more first round NFL draft picks (59) than any school (Notre Dame is next with 57). USC had the most picks of any school in the 1990 NFL draft, with 10. USC's 12 first round picks in the 1990s is tied for third most in the nation with Tennessee (behind Ohio State's 15 and Florida State's 13); 8 of those Trojan first rounders were selected in the Top 10. In the decade of the 1980s, Troy had more first round picks than any school (16). USC's 5 first round picks in the 1968 draft is an NFL record. Only Notre Dame (with 5) has had more players selected as the top pick of the NFL draft than USC's 4 (Ron Yary in 1968, O.J. Simpson in 1969, Ricky Bell in 1977 and Keyshawn Johnson in 1996). USC is the only school to have the No. 1 pick for 2 consecutive years (Yary and Simpson).

At least 1 Trojan has appeared in all but 2 of the 33 Super Bowls (there have been 79 USC representatives overall). Two Trojans (Lynn Swann in 1976 and Marcus Allen in 1984) have been the Super Bowl MVP. In 1977, 9 USC alums played in the Super Bowl. And 181 Trojans have participated in the Pro Bowl.

Six former USC players and 3 ex-assistant coaches are in the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

A May 1999 SPORT magazine article pointed out that USC sent more players to the Pro Bowl in the 1990s (14) than any other school. "The most measurable sign of a player's success--and thus his pedigree--comes in the form of the NFL's highest annual honor: the Pro Bowl. It's not enough to make it to the league, you've gotta make it in the league." In the article, New York Jets Pro Bowl wide receiver Keyshawn Johnson, the former USC All-American, said: "USC is a football factory. Every kid in L.A. grows up wanting to play there, and the coaches know how to translate that into elite athletes."

In a 1985 Sports Illustrated poll of NFL player personnel directors, USC was ranked first overall among all schools in preparing college players for the pros. By position, USC received top marks for running backs, offensive linemen and tight ends.

In a Dec. 1994 College Sports magazine ranking of the schools which have been the top sources over the years of football talent by position (on a combined college and NFL level), USC was listed first at running backs, offensive linemen and defensive backs, and third at linebackers.

TROJANS IN THE NFL DRAFT

Listing includes NFL drafts from 1936-1999 (which followed the 1935-1998 collegiate seasons). From 1960-1966, both the NFL and AFL had drafts and this listing includes both drafts because the AFL later merged with the NFL. (F) indicates "future selection," based on an old NFL rule prior to 1967 in which a player could be chosen if his class had graduated, even if he hadn't completed his eligibility (he could be drafted after his fourth year and his rights would remain with the team which selected him even if he didn't sign for a year). The AFL held a separate "redshirt" (or futures) draft in 1965-1966 and it is also included in this listing.

First round draft picks are listed in CAPITAL LETTERS. The "overall draft selection" figures were not available prior to 1967, however players are listed in correct order of selection in those years (except for the 1960 AFL draft, in which no round-by-round records were available). The positions listed are those projected by the pros at the time of selection.

List compiled with the assistance of Beau Riffenburgh, NFL Properties.

BIG TEN COMPETITION — USC has won 23 of its last 31 games (and 30 of its last 39) against Big Ten opponents. USC has twice played 3 consecutive games against Big Ten teams: Northwestern in the 1996 Rose Bowl, then Penn State and Illinois in 1996, and Indiana in the 1968 Rose Bowl, then Minnesota and Northwestern in 1968. There have been 5 times (1962-68-72-76-89) when USC has faced 3 Big Ten teams during a single season, although not consecutively.

BOUNCE BACK — USC has had back-to-back non-winning seasons just 11 times in its 106-year history, most recently in 1960 and 1961.

DIAMONDS — During 1992 and 1993, USC played 4 games in a stadium with a baseball field (Troy opened 1992 in Jack Murphy Stadium in San Diego, then played in Anaheim Stadium in the 1992 Freedom Bowl, 1993 Disneyland Pigskin Classic and 1993 Freedom Bowl). Before then, the last time USC played on a baseball field was in 1961, when the Coliseum was home to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

DOMES — USC is 3-0 inside domed stadiums, beating Washington State in Seattle's Kingdome in 1976, Texas A&M in the 1977 Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston's Astrodome, and Houston in the Astrodome in 1996.

EARLY BIRDS — USC's Aug. 25 opener in 1996 marked the earliest that Troy's season has opened in the modern era. (The earliest that USC's season has ended was Nov. 13, 1909.) USC's latest season opener was Dec. 7, 1901 and its latest home opener was Dec. 14, 1918 (USC didn't play any home games in 1900 or 1901).

GOLDEN GRIDDERS — Two football lettermen have won Olympic gold medals: Fred Kelly (1914,15,16) in the high hurdles in the 1912 Games (he is USC's first gold medalist) and Ken Carpenter (1934,37) in the discus in the 1936 Games. Although 2-time gold medalist Quincy Watts (400 meters and 1600 meter relay in the 1992 Olympics) never lettered in football, he was a receiver on the 1990 Trojans (he didn't get into a game).

GOOD BYES — USC is 73-40-4 in all regular season games it has played following byes. Since 1955, the Trojans are 34-11-1 following byes (6 of those losses and the tie were to UCLA). USC had 3 regular-season byes in 1996, the first time that had happened since 1935.

GRID/HOOPS — USC is 11-7-1 against schools that won the NCAA men's basketball title the previous year.

HOLLYWOOD TROJANS — Among the USC footballers who gained fame on the silver screen are: John Wayne (he played tackle in 1925-26 under his real name, Marion Morrison), Ward Bond (a 1928-30 letterman best known for his role in "Wagon Train"), Mike Henry (a tackle from 1956-58 who played Tarzan), Tim Rossovich (a 1967 All-American defensive end who has been a supporting actor in various movies), O.J. Simpson (the 1968 Heisman Trophy winner starred in many TV and motion picture films), Anthony Davis (the 1974 All-American tailback was in various movies), Patrick Muldoon (a walk-on tight end in the mid-1980s who stars in soaps, including "Melrose Place," and films), Brian Turk (a lineman in the late 1980s who has appeared in various TV sitcoms and commercials), Shane Foley (the quarterback who lettered in 1989-90 has been in various TV commericals) and Nick Pappas (the ex-USC player, assistant coach and assistant athletic director doubled for Pat O'Brien as Knute Rockne in the football scenes of "Knute Rockne — All-American"). Also, Irvine "Cotton" Warburton (an All-American back in 1933) won an Oscar for film editing on "Mary Poppins," while Aaron Rosenberg (a 2-time All-American guard in 1932-33) was a well-known TV and movie producer, Jess Hibbs (a 2-time All-American tackle in 1927-28) was a prominent film and TV director and Ken Del Conte (a halfback in the early 1960s) is a producer. Producers Hilton Green (a team manager) and Barney Rosenzweig (a Yell Leader) also were associated with the Trojan football program .

HOMECOMING — USC has a 49-22-4 record in its Homecoming games, dating back to the first such event in 1924.

IMPROVEMENT — USC's best one-season improvement of its record was +6, as the 1962 national champion Trojans went from 4-5-1 in 1961 to 11-0.

IN FLORIDA — USC has never won a football game in Florida, going 0-4 there.

IRISH REBOUNDS — USC is 7-10-1 versus Notre Dame when Troy was coming off a loss to UCLA. The wins were in 1950-55-70-80-82-96-98, the losses were in 1946-51-53-54-57-59-66-84-86-92, and the tie was in 1994.

ND COACHES — USC is 4-3 in games when a Notre Dame coach was coaching the final regular-season game in his Irish career, with the Trojan wins coming in the past 4 such occasions (1996 with Lou Holtz, 1980 with Dan Devine, 1974 with Ara Parseghian and 1962 with Joe Kuharich).

The chain of succession: Riki Gray (Ellison), Rex Moore, Scott Ross, Jeff Kopp and Taso Papadakis. The No. 55 went to the prototype outside or inside linebacker (Junior Seau, Willie McGinest, Israel Ifeanyi, Chris Claiborne).

NOVEMBER RECORD -- USC has a 204-118-20 (.626) all-time record while playing in the month of November.

USC's record for home openers is 79-18-7 (.793). In road openers, USC is 68-26-8 (.706).

Incidentally, in games immediately following USC's 31 non-winning seasons openers, Troy is 20-7-4, including wins 13 of the past 14 times (dating to 1960).

PRESIDENTIAL PRECEDENT — Since 1929, USC has played in the Rose Bowl during the term of every U.S. President.

PRO BASEBALL/FOOTBALL — Two Trojans have played both major league baseball and professional football. Morris "Red" Badgro played baseball with the Browns (1929-30) and football with the New York Yankess (1927), New York Giants (1930-35) and Brooklyn (1936). Rex Johnston was with Pittsburgh's baseball Pirates (1964) and football Steelers (1960).

RAIN — USC has an 18-20-2 record in games in which it rained during a major portion of the contest. USC's last such rain game was at Notre Dame in 1995 (USC lost, 38-10).

RAIN OUT — The final 2:36 of USC's 1990 win (35-26) at Ohio State was suspended by game officials when a heavy rainstorm with thunder and lightning hit.

SAME STADIUM — USC's 1992 season finale and its 1993 opener, both in Anaheim Stadium, marked the first time that Troy played 2 straight games in the same stadium (besides the Coliseum) since 1935, when it played Kamehamaha High's Alumni and the University of Hawai'i in the same Honolulu location.

STATE -- 1998 was the first time that USC faced 4 consecutive "State" opponents (San Diego State, Oregon State, Florida State amd Arizona State) in a season. Over a 2-year span, Troy also once played 4 "State" schools in a row, closing 1990 against Michigan State in the Hancock Bowl and then opening 1991 against Memphis State, Penn State and Arizona State.

STREAK BUSTERS — USC has twice "busted" an opponent's 20-plus game winning streak: beating Tennessee in the 1940 Rose Bowl to end the Volunteers' 23-game streak and tying Notre Dame in 1948 to end the Irish's 21-game streak. Conversely, USC's school-record 25-game winning streak was stopped by Oregon State in 1933.

SUNDAY — USC has played only 3 games on a Sunday, going 1-2: the 1993 opener versus North Carolina in the Disneyland Pigskin Classic (USC lost, 31-9), the 1996 opener against Penn State in the Kickoff Classic (USC lost, 24-7) and the 1998 opener versus Purdue in the Pigskin Classic (USC won, 27-17).

SWC COMPETITION — USC won 10 of its last 11 games (and 18 of its last 20) against foes from the now-defunct Southwest Conference.

3 FOR THE ROAD — 1992 was the first time that USC started a season with 3 road games in a row (in 1918 Troy began with 2 on the road and 1 at a neutral site, while in 1900 USC opened with 2 at a neutral site and 1 road game).

1,000-YARD RUNNERS — USC is second behind North Carolina for most 1,000-yard runners in a season, 25-20. Troy's last rusher to break the 1,000-yard barrier was running back Delon Washington in 1995, with 1,109 yards.

TOUGH STARTS — Before Paul Hackett won his Trojan debut in 1998, USC's previous 6 head coaches — Don Clark, John McKay, John Robinson (twice), Ted Tollner and Larry Smith — all failed to win their debut.

TRAVELOGUE — USC has played football in 31 of this country's 50 states, as well as in Japan. In order of appearance, USC has played in California, Washington, Utah, Arizona, Oregon, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Hawai'i, Ohio, Louisiana, Maryland, New York, Minnesota, Texas, Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, Colorado, Oklahoma, Florida, Nebraska, Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Tennessee, Missouri, South Carolina, Japan, Massachusetts, and New Jersey.

TRICK OR TREAT — USC is 6-5 in games played on Halloween.

TURNAROUNDS — In 106 seasons of USC football, the Trojans have lost 4 or more games 31 times. But following 8 of those 4-plus loss seasons, USC "turned it around" to win the Rose Bowl the next year (1938-43-62-67-72-76-78-84).

21-14 -- USC has played 996 football games in its history and only once--when Troy went to Berkeley in 1951 and snapped No. 1-ranked California's 38-game winning streak--has the final score been a very football-like 21-14 (win or lose).

VERSUS NO. 1 — USC is 7-11 all-time versus teams ranked No. 1 in the AP poll.

LOS ANGELES MEMORIAL COLISEUM

The Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum is one of the greatest — and largest — stadiums in America. It combines the traditional and the modern into a premier athletic environment.

USC has played football in the Coliseum ever since the grand stadium was built in 1923. In fact, the Trojans played in the first football game ever held there (beating Pomona College, 23-7, on Oct. 6, 1923). The 1998 season marked the 75th anniversary of USC football in the Coliseum

Construction on the Coliseum took less than 2 years, with ground breaking ceremonies held on Dec. 21, 1921, and work completed on May 1, 1923. Initial construction costs were $800,000.

The Coliseum was the site of the 1932 Olympic Games and hosted the opening and closing ceremonies and track events of the 1984 Olympics. Over the years, the Coliseum has been home to many sports teams besides the Trojans, including UCLA football, Los Angeles Rams and Raiders football, and Los Angeles Dodgers baseball. The Coliseum has hosted various other events, from concerts and speeches to track meets and motorcycle races.

There have been only 8 seasons — 1923-24-25-95-96-97-98-99 — that USC was the stadium's sole football tenant.

Prior to the 1993 football season, the Coliseum underwent a $15 million renovation. The Coliseum's floor was lowered 11 feet and the running track was removed to create a more intimate stadium. Fourteen new rows of seats (approximately 8,000 seats) were added down low, bringing fans closer to the playing field (the first rows of seats between the goalposts are a maximum of 54 feet from the sideline, instead of the previous 120 feet). During this renovation, the lockerrooms and public restrooms were also upgraded.

Southern California's damaging January, 1994 earthquake hit the Coliseum hard, requiring some $93 million of repairs. And, in the summer of 1995, a new $6 million press box was constructed.

The Coliseum has a present full-capacity of 92,000 seats (almost all are chair-back seats). However, for most USC games, a retractable fabric covers many seats, bringing the Coliseum's capacity to about 68,000. There are approximately 25,000 seats from goal line to goal line, including both the north and south sides.

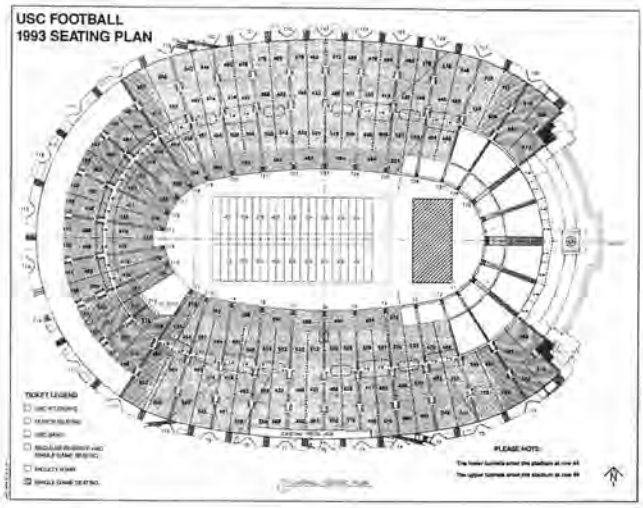
The Coliseum is located on 17 acres in Exposition Park, which also houses museums, gardens and the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

The Coliseum's general offices are located at the south side of the peristyle end and are open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on game day. The USC Game Management Office on game day only is at the north side of the peristyle end. The will call booth is located outside the fence at Gate 4. Identification is required to claim tickets left under a specific name. The booth opens three hours prior to kickoff and closes at the end of the first quarter.

The first aid station is located on the concourse opposite Stairway 6. A Goodhew ambulance is available at the Coliseum to transport cases requiring further treatment. Paramedics are stationed at Tunnels 6, 14, 29 and Stairway 23. Doctors expecting an emergency call must register their seat location at the Coliseum office. A messenger will be sent to notify doctors of emergency calls; doctors will not be paged over the public address system.

The police substation is located at Tunnel 14 and is manned by LAPD officers from the Southwest Division. There are also roaming officers and T-shirted security personnel working in and around the Coliseum.

Items that are found should be taken to the Administrative Office at the peristyle end or to the police substation at Tunnel 14. People who have lost something should check back at the Administrative Office a couple of days after the event to see if it has been found.



HERITAGE HALL

Heritage Hall, which sits in the middle of the University of Southern California campus, houses the University's athletic department and celebrates the glorious Trojan athletic heritage. USC has produced more Olympic athletes, is third in the country in national team championships, and has developed the third most NCAA Post-Graduate Scholarship recipients of any university.

Originally 48,000 square feet and built at a cost of $2.8 million, the 3-level brick and concrete colonnaded building opened in 1971. Heritage Hall was designed by Grillias, Savage and Alves of Santa Ana, Calif. Myers Brothers Construction Company, Inc., of Los Angeles was the general contractor. Initial construction began in Feb. 5, 1970. It has been expanded three times: in 1984 (a 6,000-square foot addition to the weight room), in 1992 (a 13,500-square foot expansion that houses the Academic Resource Center) and in 1998 (a 3,000-square foot addition to the newly-renamed Jess Hill Weight Room). Heritage Hall is located close to USC's various athletic practice and competition on-campus facilities.

Between the north and south wings on the building's ground level are some of USC's numerous athletic trophies, including various NCAA team championships, 4 Heisman Trophies and the jerseys of Troy's winners (Mike Garrett, O.J. Simpson, Charles White, Marcus Allen), swimmer John Naber's Sullivan Award, and updated displays honoring recent successful Trojan athletes. There are also busts of USC athletic directors Willis O. Hunter and Jess Hill, football coaches Howard Jones and John McKay, and track coach Dean Cromwell, as well as one of actor John Wayne (who played football at USC in the 1920s under his real name, Marion Morrison). A video display highlights USC's football history. Wall plaques acknowledge special financial contributors to the USC athletic program. The north wing houses a 200-seat auditorium and a formal lounge, while some coaches and administrators have offices in the south wing. A patio area extends outside to the west (placed in the patio floor are plaques commemorating the members of USC's Athletic Hall of Fame).

Heritage Hall's upper level is the home to many administrative and coaches' offices (located on the south "Jess Hill Wing" and north "John McKay Wing," respectively). The Honors Rail, which encircles the open-air foyer above the first floor lobby, has bronze medallions saluting every Trojan who won an Olympic gold medal, captured an NCAA individual championship, or was named a first team All-American in an NCAA sport in which there are no individual champions (i.e. football, basketball, baseball, volleyball, water polo). Also on the second floor are busts of USC football running backs Morley Drury ("The Noblest Trojan of Them All") and Ricky Bell. Like on the ground floor, tucked in alcoves on both ends of this floor are other athletic trophies and team displays.

HERITAGE HALL

The underground lower level of Heritage Hall houses various locker rooms, plus the equipment room, medical training room, the Jess Hill Weight Room, and the McAlister Academic Resource Center (which features tutoring, counseling, study and computer rooms for USC's student-athletes).

Because of space limitations, USC's golf, swimming, water polo and women's soccer coaches are located in the nearby Kennedy Aquatics Building, while the baseball staff has offices at Dedeaux Field (the baseball stadium).

Outside the northwest corner of Heritage Hall, the $3-million Galen Center — a popular sports-themed dining and activity center — opened in early 1999.

The USC football team practices at nearby Howard Jones Field, which was expanded in the fall of 1998 to include Brian Kennedy Field. In early 1999, Goux's Gate--named after popular long-time former assistant coach Marv Goux--was erected at the entrance to the practice field.

USC's other on-campus athletic facilities include the McDonald's Swim Stadium (site of the 1984 Olympic swimming and diving competition), Marks Tennis Stadium, Cromwell Track and Field (which began expansion in the summer of 1999 to include the new 3,000-seat Katherine B. Locker Stadium), the McAlister Soccer Field, the Lyon Center (a campus recreation center which hosts some Trojan events) and the Physical Education Building.

TRAVELER, USC'S MASCOT

Traveler, the noble white horse that appears at all USC home football games with a regal Trojan warrior astride, is one of the most famous college mascots.

Ardeshir Radpour — a 1993 USC graduate and former member of the USC polo team — is the current rider of Traveler, having taken over that job in 1996. He was chosen by Patricia Saukko, the owner of Traveler.

Traveler first made an appearance at USC football games in 1961 (in the home opener versus Georgia Tech). Bob Jani, then USC's director of special events, and Eddie Tannenbaum, then a junior at USC, had spotted Richard Saukko riding his white horse, Traveler I, in the 1961 Rose Parade. They persuaded Saukko to ride his white horse around the Coliseum during USC games, serving as a mascot. Ever since, whenever USC scores, the band plays "Conquest" and Traveler gallops around the Coliseum.

Because of poor health, Saukko stopped riding after the 1988 season. His successors have been alumni: Cass Dabbs, Rick Oas, Tom Nolan and, currently, Radpour. (Saukko passed away in March of 1992).

The current Trojan mascot is Traveler V, an 9-year-old Andalusian gelding who first appeared during the 1997 season. Even though the breed of horse may have changed over the years — Travelers I through IV ranged from an Arabian/Tennessee Walker to a pure-bred Tennessee Walker to a pure-bred Arabian — Traveler's color has always remained pure white.

Saukko first appeared on Traveler in the outfit that actor Charlton Heston wore in "Ben Hur." That proved to be too cumbersome, so Saukko crafted his own leather costume in 1962, modeled after the Tommy Trojan statue on the USC campus (that outfit is still being used). But he still sometimes wore Heston's helmet. Interestingly, Saukko was once employed by Jim Crowley, one of Notre Dame's "Four Horsemen."

Legend has it that Heisman Trophy tailback O.J. Simpson decided to come to USC after seeing Traveler on a televised football game. And Trojan faithful swear the horse has an effect on the outcome of games.

"(Former USC coach) John McKay didn't want to admit that the horse had anything to do with his success," said Saukko, "but he'd always give me a wink when he saw me waiting in the Coliseum tunnel."

Added former USC All-American defensive back and assistant coach Nate Shaw: "The horse is one of the greatest inspirational devices USC has. It definitely got the adrenaline going when I was playing and I think it still has an effect on the players. When I was coaching against USC (at Oregon State), we hated to see that horse come down the tunnel because it got USC a little more pumped up."

Traveler not only appears at Trojan home football games (and even at some away games, including the 1995 Cotton Bowl in Dallas, the farthest Traveler has traveled), but also at other Trojan events, as well as at grade and high schools, charity functions and parades (including the past 38 Rose Parades). Traveler has also appeared on screen (including "The Battle of the Gunfighter" and "Snowfire"), on stage (including in the Long Beach Ballet's "Nutcracker Ballet"), and in commercials.

TRAVELER & RIDER ARDESHIR RADPOUR

Incidentally, Traveler I was not the first equine mascot for Troy. The first appearance of a white horse at a Trojan football game occurred as early as 1927, when Louis Shields began a four-year stint aboard a horse owned by a local banker. In 1948, band director Tommy Walker once had USC colors carried by a Trojan on a palomino. Then, before kickoff of the 1954 USC-Pittsburgh game, Arthur J. Gontier III, then a member of the Trojan Knights spirit group (subbing for another rider who backed out at the last moment), shakily rode a rented gray/white horse while donning a costume once worn by actor Jeff Chandler. A more accomplished rider, USC alum Bob Caswell ,and his white horse, Rockazar, took over the following game and performed until retiring in 1959.

Besides these horses, USC once even had a canine mascot. A mutt named George Tirebiter I (famous for chasing cars through the USC campus) first appeared at football games in 1940. He survived a publicized dognapping by UCLA in 1947, but succumbed under the tires of an automobile in 1950. He was succeeded by George II for 3 years(1950-52), then George III for 1 year (1953) and finally George IV for 1 year (1957).

TROJAN TRADITIONS

Tommy Trojan

In the center of the USC campus stands one of the most famous collegiate landmarks in the country: Tommy Trojan. Since being unveiled in 1930 for USC's 50th jubilee, the statue of the bronzed Trojan warrior has served not only as a popular meeting place on campus, but as a symbol of the university's fighting spirit.

Sculpted by Roger Noble Burnham (the idea for the statue was conceived by Harry Lee Martin and Dr. James D. McCoy), Tommy Trojan cost $10,000 to build. A $1 surcharge then on season football tickets helped pay for it.

The statue is a composite of many USC football players from the late 20s, most notably 1930 Rose Bowl Player of the Game Russ Saunders and All-American Erny Pinckert.

"Burnham made more than 100 oil paintings of various football players from our squad," said Saunders, "and from them he selected the paintings of Pinckert and me. We put in a lot of hours posing, and the result you see is my head, chest and shoulders. The rest is all Erny."

Inscribed on the statue's base is "THE TROJAN" and the university's seal, with the Latin motto "Palmam qui meruit ferat (Let him who deserves it bear away the palm)." Below the seal are inscribed the qualities of the ideal Trojan: "Faithful, Scholarly, Skillful, Courageous and Ambitious."

The tradition of Tommy Trojan being painted blue and gold by UCLA pranksters was first recorded in October of 1941. Since then, Tommy has been "hit" often, but now USC maintenance crews cover him with plastic and canvas for protection during the week of the annual USC-UCLA football game.

And Tommy's sword has been stolen so often that now, instead of replacing it each time with an expensive brass one, he is given a wooden one.

By the way, where did he get the name Tommy? Of that, no one is sure!

TOMMY TROJAN

Origin of USC's Nickname – Trojans

USC's nickname, "Trojans," originated in 1912. Up to that time the University of Southern California teams were called the Methodists or Wesleyans, nicknames which were not looked upon with favor by university officials.

So, Warren Bovard, director of athletics and son of university president Dr. George Bovard, asked Los Angeles Times sports editor Owen Bird to select an appropriate nickname.

"At this time, the athletes and coaches of the university were under terrific handicaps," recalled Bird. "They were facing teams that were bigger and better-equipped, yet they had splendid fighting spirit. The name 'Trojans' fitted them.

"I came out with an article prior to a showdown between USC and Stanford in which I called attention to the fighting spirit of USC athletes and named them 'Trojans.' From then on, we used the term 'Trojan' all the time, and it stuck.

"The term 'Trojan' as applied to USC means to me that no matter what the situation, what the odds or what the conditions, the competition must be carried on to the end and those who strive must give all they have and never be weary in doing so."

Colors: Cardinal & Gold

Before 1895, the official color of USC was gold. The official color of the College of Liberal Arts was cardinal. The college had its own official color because it was the largest academic unit in the University. In 1895, both colors were adopted as USC's official colors.

Super Fan!

Giles Pellerin, a 91-year-old retired phone company executive from Pasadena, Calif., had viewed in person 797 consecutive USC football games, home and away, before passing away on Nov. 21, 1998, at the Rose Bowl during the USC-UCLA game.

As his friends and family said at the time, he died doing what he loved best: watching his beloved Trojans. And, ironically, his death came at the site of the first USC game he ever saw.

Known as USC's "Super Fan," there are devoted college sports fans and then there was Pellerin. Not only was he the Trojans' most loyal football fan, but he was the most rabid college football fan ever!

In all, he traveled by plane, train and automobile more than 650,000 miles and spent upwards of $85,000 doing so.

His streak began at the start of the 1926 season, his sophomore year at USC. Coach Howard Jones' Trojans won that opener, 74-0 over Whittier, and since then, USC compiled a 532-225-40 record with Pellerin in the stands. He saw the first 69 USC-Notre Dame games ever played and all 67 USC-UCLA games in history. He watched Troy play in nearly 75 different stadiums and in more than 50 cities (even Tokyo). He viewed all eight of USC's national championship squads and all 121 of USC's first team All-Americans (including the four Heisman Trophy winners), plus he saw 11 Trojan coaching regimes. His streak began before USC's famous white horse mascot, Traveler, first appeared at Trojan games (in 1927) and before the on-campus Tommy Trojan statue was built (in 1930).

Interestingly, the first USC football game Pellerin ever saw pre-dated the start of his streak. It was the 1923 Rose Bowl when, while he was a student at Huntington Park (Calif.) High, USC beat Penn State, 14-3. That means he also saw all 28 Trojan Rose Bowls (and nine of Troy's 11 other bowl appearances, missing only the 1924 Christmas Festival and the 1998 Sun Bowl).

So dedicated was Pellerin that he pushed back his honeymoon eight months so that he could celebrate it at a 1935 USC game in Hawaii. And his love for USC was so strong that he donated $1.3 million to endow three football scholarships and a swimming scholarship.

Giles came close to missing a game or two, including in 1993. But Trojan fate stepped in. Pellerin was about to leave his hotel the day after the 1993 Penn State road game when he suffered a ruptured aortic abdominal aneurysm. He was hospitalized in a Harrisburg (Pa.) hospital for 12 days, but fortunately USC had a bye that following week and, after signing a waiver absolving hospital officials from any liability, he was released in time for USC's next game, at home against Washington State. His streak was intact, with two days to spare!

"God must be a Trojan," Pellerin once said. "I've been lucky."

Another near miss came in 1949 when he was hospitalized five days before a home contest for an emergency operation to remove his appendix. On game day, he told the nurses he was going out for a walk on the hospital grounds. Instead, he went to the Coliseum and returned to his bed several hours after USC dumped Oregon, 40-13. The nurses were none the wiser!

He also has survived a blown water pump outside Oklahoma City 36 hours before kickoff while driving to South Bend for a Notre Dame game and several instances of lost tickets. He also defied doctors orders to stay bedridden for six weeks following stomach tumor surgery a couple of weeks before USC's 1969 opener.

Football wasn't Pellerin's only cardinal-and-gold passion. He attended many home games of USC's other 18 sports, including almost every home men's basketball game.

In 1996, he won the first annual Sears DieHard Fan Award as "America's NCAA Division I DieHard College Sports Fan." In 1994, Pellerin was inducted into the USC Athletic Hall of Fame. And in 1988, he was named a finalist in the Fisher Nut "America's Nuttiest Sports Nuts" Contest (he was flown to New York City for the festivities).

He was constantly interviewed by sportswriters (stories about his exploits have appeared in USA Today and Sports Illustrated) and featured on USC's nationally-televised game broadcasts. He spoke to various service groups, like Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, about his streak.

In his later years, he was asked about his obsession.

"I never played the game, but I love it," he said. "There's just a certain spirit about college football. I've always said that going to USC games is the thing that has kept me alive, young and happy. It keeps me alive looking forward to the next season.

"I don't think I'm a nut. It's all been fun. I could've spent a lot more money on other hobbies. A guy can spend as much money playing golf or poker. Some people think I'm crazy for spending as much money as I have traveling to see these games. They don't understand that I do more than just watch a game when I visit these cities. I've met a lot of nice and interesting people on these trips.

"Sure, I could sit in my rocking chair and grow old. But I don't intend to do that. You've got to have something to look forward to."

"The players all greet me as the No. 1 Trojan. We (he and his late wife, Jessie) had no children of our own, so I think of all the USC players as our family."

Giles wasn't alone in his pursuit and, in fact, his spirit lives on through one of his siblings. Brother Oliver, 88, of Palm Springs, Calif., hasn't missed a USC game since 1945. That's 602 in a row. Another brother, Max, 86, also of Palm Springs, Calif., had a 300-plus string interrupted when he was sent overseas to work.

RIVALRY TROPHIES

VICTORY BELL

The winner of the annual USC-UCLA football game, perhaps America's greatest crosstown rivalry, is given year-long possession of the Victory Bell.

The 295-pound bell originally clanged from atop a Southern Pacific freight locomotive. It was given to UCLA in 1939 as a gift from the UCLA Alumni Association. For 2 seasons, cheerleaders rang the bell after each Bruin point.

At the opening game of UCLA's 1941 football season, 6 members of USC's Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity infiltrated the UCLA rooting section. After the game, they helped Bruin students load the bell onto a waiting truck bound for Westwood. But then, one Trojan quietly removed the key to the truck, and while the Bruins went to get a replacement, the Trojans drove off with the bell.

The bell remained hidden for more than a year, first in the fraternity's basement, then in the Hollywood Hills, Santa Ana and other locations. At one point, it was even concealed beneath a haystack. Bruin students tried to locate the bell, but to no avail.

The controversy died down for a while, until a picture of the bell was printed in "The Wampus," a USC magazine. This reignited the rivalry, as students from UCLA retaliated by painting the Tommy Trojan statue at USC and then Trojan students burned USC initials on UCLA lawns. Police had to be called several times. The conflict got so out of hand that Dr. Rufus B. von KleinSmid, then USC's president, threatened to cancel the USC-UCLA game if any further disorders occurred.

On Nov. 12, 1942, the bell was wheeled in front of Tommy Trojan and the student body presidents of both schools — USC's Bill McKay and UCLA's Bill Farrer — signed an agreement stating that thereafter the annual winner of the Trojan-Bruin gridiron clash would keep the bell for the following year. In the case of a tie, the bell would be retained by the school that won the previous year's game. The USC Alumni Association later repaid the UCLA Alumni Association for half the cost of the bell.

At the time, the arrangement might have seemed like a bad deal for the Bruins, since they had yet to defeat USC. But that first year, 1942, UCLA beat USC, 14-7.

Since the bell became a trophy, its carriage has been painted cardinal 29 times while in USC's possession and blue 27 times while in UCLA's hold (there have been 4 ties).

Although the Victory Bell is one of college football's most famous trophies, it is probably the least seen. For all but 2 days of the year, the bell sits in a warehouse or a vault. The universities only display the bell during the first 3 quarters of the USC-UCLA game and on the Monday following the game, when it is delivered to the winning school's campus. Then the Victory Bell, which gained its reputation from being hidden, goes back into hiding.

In 1998, the Los Angeles Times began presenting the Jim Murray Trophy to the winner of the USC-UCLA game. Additionally, the Times provides a $1,000 grant to the USC-affiliated Doheny Eye Institute or the Jules Stein Eye Institute at the UCLA School of Medicine.

Shillelagh

SHILLELAGH I

SHILLELAGH II

A jeweled shillelagh is passed between the annual winner of the USC-Notre Dame game, perhaps the finest intersectional rivalry in college football.

A shillelagh (pronounced "shuh-LAY-lee") is a Gaelic war club made of oak or blackthorn saplings from Ireland. Those are the only woods used because, it is said, they are the only ones tougher than an Irish skull.

The foot-long shillelagh has ruby-adorned Trojan heads with the year and game score representing USC victories, while emerald-studded shamrocks stand for Notre Dame wins. For tie games, a combined Trojan head/shamrock medallion is used. On the end of the club is engraved, "From the Emerald Isle." The victor of the Trojan-Irish game gains year-long possession of the trophy.

Upon its initial presentation in 1952 by the Notre Dame Alumni Club of Los Angeles, it was said that "this shillelagh will serve to symbolize in part the high tradition, the keen rivalry and above all the sincere respect which these two great universities have for each other."

The original shillelagh was flown from Ireland by Howard Hughes' pilot, according to legend. It was devised by the Notre Dame Alumni Club of Los Angeles, based on a suggestion by Vern Rickard. John Groen designed it. Although the shillelagh was introduced in 1952, the medallions go back to the start of the series in 1926.

When the original shillelagh ran out of space for the Trojan heads and shamrocks after the 1989 game, it was retired and is permanently displayed at Notre Dame.

A new shillelagh — slightly longer than the original — was commissioned by Jim Gillis, a former baseball player at both USC and Notre Dame and a one-time president of the Notre Dame Club of Los Angeles, and handcrafted in 1997 in County Leitrum, Ireland. It contains medallions beginning with the 1990 game.

There are now 39 shamrocks, 26 Trojan heads and 5 combined medallions on the shillelaghs.

TROJAN MARCHING BAND

The Trojan Marching Band — known as "The Spirit of Troy" — is perhaps the most dynamic and innovative collegiate band in the nation. Named among the 8 best marching bands in the country by USA Today, the band is one of the most visible public relations tools of the University.

Established in 1880, the band has played for 10 Presidents (including Ronald Reagan, just prior to his 1984 inauguration), and has appeared in 5 movies (including "Hello Dolly"), plus numerous commercials and television shows (including the 1978 Academy Awards). The band even recorded the title track of the rock group Fleetwood Mac's popular 1979 album, "Tusk," and has produced several records of its own music (featuring the well-known "Conquest" and "Fight On").

Among the many famous musicians who have played in the band was Herb Alpert of the Tijuana Brass (he was in the cornet section). And among the various guest artists who have appeared with the band were Henry Mancini, Quincy Jones, Chuck Mangione, Leonard Bernstein, Diana Ross, Neil Diamond, John Wayne, and Bozo the Clown (Larry Harmon).

The band marches upwards of 80 miles a year while traveling across the land supporting almost every USC athletic team. A typical football halftime show by the band (with precision drills, special musical charts and dance routines) takes more than 4,000 work hours to prepare. The band also frequently appears at many professional sporting events throughout Southern California. Approximately 11 percent of its members are music majors, with almost every school and department represented among the balance.

Now 270-plus members strong, the Trojan Marching Band has tripled in size since Dr. Arthur C. Bartner became its director in 1969 (he is assisted by arranger Tony Fox). A graduate of Michigan, Bartner brought with him a creative approach and the unique, contemporary "drive-it" style of marching.

Nationally-renowned, Bartner directed the 800-member 1984 Olympic All-American College Marching Band (125 bandsmen were from USC) which played in the opening and closing ceremonies at the Games. Interestingly, it was the second time a Trojan musical group was involved with the Olympics, as the USC band formed the 10th Olympic Braid in the 1932 Los Angeles Games.

Bartner was also Director of Bands for the Japan Bowl in Tokyo and directs the All-American College Marching Band at Disneyland. In the summer of 1986, he and 40 band members were part of the ceremonies of Liberty Weekend at the refurbished Statue of Liberty. In the spring of 1988, he brought the band to Australia to perform at festivities for that country's bicentennial and at World Expo 88.

The Trojan Marching Band is complemented by the USC Silks (tall flags), plus the famous USC Song Leaders — who were ranked No. 1 in the nation by Sports Illustrated — and Yell Leaders.

Tommy Walker

The trumpet "Charge," heard often at athletic contests, was composed by a post-World War II USC student named Tommy Walker. As a member of the Trojan Marching Band, he was known as "Tommy Trojan," and as a USC football player, he would shed his band uniform, come down from the stands, and kick extra points (he lettered in 1947). Upon graduation in 1948, he was hired as the band's director. He later was the first entertainment director at Disneyland and then went into business as one of the world's leading creators of show business spectacles (including Super Bowl halftimes and Olympic opening and closing ceremonies). He died in 1986.

School Songs

"FIGHT ON"

Fight On for ol' SC
Our men Fight On to victory.
Our Alma Mater dear, looks up to you
Fight On and win
For ol' SC
Fight On to victory
Fight On!

The music for USC's fight song, "Fight On," was composed in 1922 by USC dental student Milo Sweet (with lyrics by Sweet and Glen Grant) as an entry in a Trojan spirit contest. In addition to inspiring generations of Trojan fans and players, the song has been used in numerous recordings and movies. Legend has it that during World War II in the Pacific, an American task force attacked an island held by the Japanese. As the Americans stormed the beach, "Fight On" blared from the deck of one of the transports. The U.S. men let out a tremendous roar and eventually won the island.

"ALL HAIL"

All hail to Alma Mater,
To thy glory we sing;
All hail to Southern California,
Loud let thy praises ring;
Where Western sky meets Western sea
Our college stands in majesty.
Sing our love to Alma Mater,
Hail, all hail to thee.

The words and music to USC's alma mater, "All Hail," were composed in the early 1920s by Al Wesson, Troy's longtime sports information director (1928-1942). He wrote the song as a student member of the Trojan Marching Band for the finale of a 1923 campus show.

"CONQUEST"

USC's other famous song is the regal processional march, "Conquest," by Alfred Newman.

USC'S ATHLETIC HERITAGE

USC has a proud athletic heritage — and with good reason. Consider:

• Trojan teams have won more national championships, 78 men's (including a national-best 70 NCAA titles) and 15 women's, than any other university but Stanford and UCLA;

• The Trojans won at least 1 national team title in 26 consecutive years (1959-60 to 1984-85);

• USC has won the National College All-Sports Championship — an annual ranking by USA Today (previously the Knoxville Journal) of the country's top men's athletic programs — 6 times since its inception in 1971;

• Trojan men athletes have won more individual NCAA titles (275) than those from any other school in the nation (the Women of Troy have brought home another 25 individual NCAA crowns);

• Troy has also established a stellar reputation and a long tradition of nurturing Olympic athletes. Since 1904, 303 Trojan athletes (more than any other university) have competed in the Games, taking home 95 gold medals (with at least 1 gold in every summer Olympics since 1912), 56 silver and 48 bronze.

• Three Trojans have won the prestigious Sullivan Award as the top amateur athlete in America: diver Sammy Lee (1953), shot putter Parry O'Brien (1959) and swimmer John Naber (1977).

Along with the great accomplishments on the playing fields, USC student-athletes have received 47 NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships, third among all schools. In addition, USC has had 26 first team Academic All-Americans and 3 athletes who were Rhodes Scholars.

Here's a closer look at the history of each of the 19 sports which USC offers on the intercollegiate level:

FOOTBALL — Since starting football in 1888, USC has amassed an impressive all-time won-loss record of 667-275-54 (a .697 winning percentage). A December 1998 SPORT magazine ranking listed USC as the No. 4 all-time college football program of the 20th century.

USC's record against Pac-10 opponents is a stellar 343-137-29 (.702). Since 1959, the Trojans have won the conference championship 14 times and tied for the title on 5 other occasions.

USC has the nation's fourth best bowl winning percentage among the 54 schools which have made at least 10 bowl appearances (.641) and its 28 Rose Bowl appearances is an all-time best. Troy's overall bowl mark is 25-14, including 20-8 in the Pasadena New Year's Day Classic. The Trojans were a bowl participant every year they were eligible from 1972 to 1990.

Think about college football and USC's tailback in the I-formation, one of the most glamorous positions in the sport, immediately comes to mind. Four Trojan tailbacks have won the coveted Heisman Trophy as college football's outstanding player: Mike Garrett in 1965, O.J. Simpson in 1968, Charles White in 1979 and Marcus Allen in 1981. Other standout tailbacks have included Clarence Davis, Anthony Davis and Ricky Bell.

The Trojans have had other prominent award winners. Offensive tackle Ron Yary won the Outland Trophy in 1967, offensive guard Brad Budde won the Lombardi Award in 1979, safety Mark Carrier won the Thorpe Award in 1989 and linebacker Chris Claiborne won the Butkus Award in 1998. USC players have been named first team All-American 121 times, with 39 of those consensus selections and 22 unanimous choices.

Many of those players have led USC to 8 national championships in football. Legendary coach Howard Jones (1925-40) guided Troy to 3 of those titles (1928-31-32). John McKay (1960-75) was responsible for 4 national championship teams (1962-67-72-74). John Robinson (1976-82), who captured 1 title (1978) in his first tenure, returned to Troy in 1993 and led USC to 3 bowl wins. One-time USC assistant Paul Hackett was named head coach for the 1998 season.

Scores of Trojans have gone on to successful NFL careers (there have been 59 first round picks, with 4 No. 1 selections), including such greats as Frank Gifford, Willie Wood, Pete Beathard, Rod Sherman, Lynn Swann, Anthony Munoz, Ronnie Lott and Junior Seau.

BASEBALL — No school in the country can match the long tradition USC has in baseball. With 12 national championships in the sport, Troy is far and away the leader in that category (no other school has more than 5).

Since starting baseball in 1924, the Trojans have compiled a record of 2,043-970-15 (.677) against college opponents, and have captured outright or tied for 36 conference championships.

The incomparable Rod Dedeaux coached USC from 1942-86, leading the school to each of its NCAA crowns, including 5 straight from 1970-74 (no other school has strung together more than two in a row).

Trojans have been named first team All-American 40 times, with Jay Roundy, Pat Harrison and Bill Bordley being 2-time selections.

ROD DEDEAUX WITH RANDY JOHNSON AND MARK McGWIRE

USC boasts many successful past and present major leaguers such as Ron Fairly, Don Buford, Tom Seaver, Dave Kingman, Fred Lynn, Roy Smalley, Steve Kemp, Mark McGwire, Randy Johnson and Bret Boone. In all, 78 Trojans have gone on to play in the major leagues and scores more in the minors.

Dedeaux compiled a 45-year record of 1,332-571-11 (.699) versus college foes, making him the then-winningest coach in collegiate baseball history. He resigned after the 1986 season to become USC's director of baseball and was replaced by Mike Gillespie, whose 1998 squad won the College World Series after finishing as the CWS runnerup in 1995 (his 1988, 1989, 1990, 1991, 1993, 1994, 1996, 1997 and 1999 teams were NCAA regional participants).

MEN'S BASKETBALL — Only about 4 dozen schools have more than 1,000 victories in college basketball, and USC is one of those schools. Since starting basketball in 1907, the Trojans have compiled a record of 1,269-918 (.580), winning 14 conference championships along the way.

Bill Sharman, John Rudometkin, John Block, Paul Westphal, Gus Williams and Harold Miner are a few of USC's All-American selections. Overall, Trojans have earned All-American honors 21 times. Four Trojan men, Sharman, Jack Gardner, Alex Hannum and coach Sam Barry, are in the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame.

PAUL WESTPHAL

Barry (1930-41, 1945-50) has the winningest record among USC basketball coaches, 260-138 (.653). Following him are Forrest Twogood (1951-66) at 255-180 (.586) and Bob Boyd (1967-79) at 216-131 (.622). George Raveling, an assistant coach for the 1984 and 1988 U.S. Olympic teams, took over the coaching helm in 1986-87 and led Troy into the post-season playoffs 4 times. Henry Bibby was named head coach midway through the 1996 season and led the Trojans into the NCAA tourney in 1997 and the NIT in 1999.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL — After improving steadily, USC first reached the pinnacle of success in women's basketball in 1983 and the Trojans have been at or near the top almost ever since, winning 2 national championships and playing in 4 Final Fours.

USC'S 1984 NCAA CHAMPION WOMEN'S BASKETBALL TEAM AT THE WHITE HOUSE WITH PRESIDENT RONALD REAGAN.

USC's team became established when Linda Sharp took over as coach in 1977. By 1981, Troy had reached the Final Four. In 1983, Cheryl Miller joined Cynthia Cooper and twins Pam and Paula McGee to give the Trojans a formidable front line that led the squad to its first national championship. The next year, the team won the national title again. USC advanced to the NCAA title game in 1986.

Miller finished her career in 1986 as the Trojans' all-time leading scorer and rebounder. She also won her third straight Naismith Award as the outstanding player in college basketball. She returned as coach of her alma mater in 1994 and led USC to a Pac-10 title and 2 NCAA playoff appearances. She was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 1995. Chris Gobrecht, a former USC player and a 2-time Pac-10 Coach of the Year while at Washington, took over as coach prior to the 1998 season.

The Women of Troy made the NCAA tourney 6 of the past 9 years, including advancing to the regionals 3 of the last 8 seasons. Lisa Leslie, who became an Olympic and pro star, won the Naismith Award in 1994. Tina Thompson was the No. 1 pick in the 1997 WNBA draft. Cooper was twice an Olympian and WNBA MVP.

MEN'S GOLF — USC has one of the most successful golf programs in the nation, having produced 3 NCAA individual champions (Scott Simpson in 1976 and 1977, and Ron Commans in 1981), 19 Pac-10 individual champs, 20 All-American first teamers and numerous players who have gone on to successful professional careers, including $1 million winners like Al "Mr. 59" Geiberger, Dave Stockton, Craig Stadler and Scott Simpson. Troy has also been dominant in the Pac-10, winning 15 of the 39 conference championships to date.

Legendary coach Stan Wood (1955-79) compiled a career record of 462-37 (.926) and won 14 conference championships. He also guided the Trojans to an NCAA record 51 consecutive dual match wins from 1956-59. His teams finished third in the NCAA tourney 6 times.

Under coach Randy Lein (1984-92), USC continued its success, winning the conference championship in 1986. The 1991 Trojans finished seventh at the NCAAs. U.S. Amateur champion Sam Randolph, who finished as low amateur at the prestigious Masters golf tournament in 1985 and 1986, was a first team All-American for the third straight year in 1986 and was named college golf's Player of the Year.

Former team captain Jim Empey took over the coaching duties in 1993. Kurt Schuette became head coach in 1995 and guided the Trojans to an impressive fifth place finish at the NCAA tourney that season, Troy's best placing in 18 years, and then ninth in 1996 and 14th in 1997.

WOMEN'S GOLF — The USC women's golf team is one of college's finest, as witnessed by their second, third, fourth, fifth, seventh (twice) and ninth place finishes at the NCAA Championships in the past 14 years. The Women of Troy won the Pac-10 tourney in 1989. Cathy Bright led USC to 5 Top 10 NCAA finishes in her 12 years as head coach (1982-93). Former Trojan player Renee (Mack) Baumgartner returned as head coach in 1994 and led USC to second place at the NCAAs in her first year. Andrea Gaston took over for 1997 (with men's coach Kurt Schuette serving as Director of Golf).

Jennifer Rosales won the 1998 NCAA individual title as a freshman (she tied for fourth in 1999). Other top individuals have included current professionals Marta Figueras-Dotti, Denise Strebig, Kim Saiki, Tracy Nakamura, Jill McGill (the 1993 U.S. Amateur champion), Heidi Voorhees (the 1993 U.S. Amateur medalist) and Jennifer Biehn (the 1994 Pac-10 champ).

WOMEN'S ROWING — The women's rowing team has been active since the early 1970s, but scholarships were first awarded in 1998. Under head coach George Jenkins, the varsity, junior varsity and novice eight teams train all year long for regattas from coast to coast. USC has emerged as one of the nation's top programs.

At the 1998 NCAA meet, the Women of Troy rowers captured their first-ever national championship race (the varsity fours).

WOMEN'S SOCCER — The women's soccer team began competing in 1993. Karen Stanley coached the team for the first 3 seasons. Jim Millinder took over in 1996 and guided the squad to 15-5 and then 16-3-1 marks before seeing his 14-7-1 squad win the 1998 Pac-10 title and advance to the second round of the NCAA tourney.

JOHN NABER

MEN'S SWIMMING & DIVING — The type of dominance USC has had in this sport was best exemplified by Troy's performance in the 1976 Olympic Games, when Trojan swimmers won more golds and more total medals than any country except the United States.

Over the years, USC swimmers have made Olympic teams 99 times, winning 33 gold, 19 silver and 15 bronze medals. Gold medal winners have included John Naber, Bruce Furniss and Murray Rose.

Since beginning swimming in 1929, the Trojans have captured 9 NCAA championships, all under coach Peter Daland, who retired in 1992 after 35 years at Troy. USC swimmers and divers have won 99 NCAA meet individual and relay titles and have earned All-American honors an amazing 514 times. Under Daland, USC won 17 Pac-10 championships and amassed an impressive dual meet record of 318-31-1 (.917). Three of his last 6 squads had runner-up finishes at the NCAA meet.

Four-time U.S. Olympic coach Mark Schubert, winner of 2 NCAA titles with the Texas women, succeeded Daland. He also serves as the head coach of the Women of Troy. His men's teams have placed fifth, sixth (3 times), seventh and 10th at the NCAAs.

WOMEN'S SWIMMING & DIVING — USC has likewise built a successful swimming program on the women's side. In fact, the Women of Troy have finished in the top 10 nationally 18 of the last 23 years — including winning the NCAA title in 1997 — and have produced 184 All-Americans in that span. They have won conference championships in 1979, 1980, 1982 and 1985.

KRISTINE QUANCE

Among USC's more famous women's swimmers are Michelle Ford, Sue Habernigg, Cynthia Woodhead, Sue Hinderaker, Debbie Rudd, Kristine Quance (she won 3 events at the 1994 NCAA meet as the Women of Troy placed sixth, 3 more to be the high point scorer at the 1996 meet as USC finished fifth and 2 at the 1997 meet), and Lindsay Benko (who won 2 events in 1996, 2 more in 1997 and 1 in 1999).

MEN'S TENNIS — USC's men's tennis legacy has produced numerous national titlists, including 15 team champions (tied for second most in the country), 13 singles champions (tied for second most in the country), and 20 doubles champs (more than any other school). Cecil Mamiit won the 1996 NCAA singles crown as a freshman.

George Toley (1954-80) guided the Trojan netters for 26 years before resigning during the 1980 season. His career record was 430-92-4 (.821) with 10 NCAA titles. Dick Leach succeeded Toley and has posted a 504-108 (.824) mark in 20 years. His 1991, 1993 and 1994 teams won the NCAA tourney and 8 of his other teams have finished fourth or better.

Overall, USC players have been named to All-American teams 127 times, with a number of those players also enjoying successful pro careers, including Stan Smith, Bob Lutz, Raul Ramirez and Dennis Ralston.

WOMEN'S TENNIS — The most successful women's program at USC, in terms of national titles, is the tennis team. The Women of Troy have won 7 national championships.

Those national crowns all came under Dave Borelli, who coached USC from 1974 to 1988. In duals, Borelli's record was phenomenal: his teams went 300-43 (.875).

Five times Trojans have won national singles titles, along with 1 doubles champ and 61 All-Americans. Prominent USC stars have included Barbara Hallquist, Leslie Allen, Sheila McInerney, Stacy Margolin, Trey Lewis, the Fernandez sisters, Kelly Henry, Beth Herr, Caroline Kuhlman and Trisha Laux.

Cheryl Woods, a former Trojan player, took over for Borelli in 1989. Richard Gallien, a successful player and coach at Pepperdine, became head coach in 1996.

BOB SEAGREN

MEN'S TRACK & FIELD — The Trojans have won an unprecedented 26 NCAA titles (including 9 straight, 1935-43) in the 78-year history of NCAA outdoor track, plus 2 indoor NCAA titles and 32 Pacific Coast or Pac-10 crowns, including a string of 15 straight (1936-55). They have had 38 unbeaten and untied seasons, including a string of 16 in a row (1946-61). Since starting track and field in 1900, USC has compiled a dual-meet record of 398-109-4 (.783).

Outstanding coaches include Dean Cromwell (1909-48), who won a record 12 NCAA titles and had a dual meet mark of 109-48-1; Jess Mortensen, who never lost a dual meet (64-0) in 11 years and won 7 NCAA titles; and Vern Wolfe, who retired after the 1984 season with 7 national titles and a dual meet record of 106-17-1 (.859). Jim Bush, who won 5 NCAA titles while at crosstown rival UCLA, became USC's head coach in 1991. His 1992 Trojans finished third at the NCAAs with only a 6-man team. Ron Allice, who won 11 state titles at Long Beach City College, took over the combined men's and women's programs in 1995 (the men were fourth at the 1995 NCAA meet, 10th in 1996, third in 1997 while winning the Pac-10 title, seventh in 1998 and fifth in 1999 while winning the Pac-10 crown).

Fifty-nine USC tracksters have won 85 places on U.S. Olympic teams over the years. Trojans have won 25 individual Olympic titles and shared in 8 relay wins. Gold medal winners include long jumper Randy Williams, pole vaulter Bob Seagren, sprinter Charles Paddock and quartermiler Quincy Watts.

Since 1912, 61 USC trackmen have equalled or bettered world records, and there have been 105 NCAA individual or relay winners from Troy (including 1998 NCAA 400-meter champ Jerome Davis).

The Trojans also have had a long history of successful distance running, including 9 Olympians and NCAA champions Julio Marin and Ole Oleson.

WOMEN'S TRACK & FIELD, CROSS COUNTRY — The women's track program at USC has developed into one of the nation's finest. The Trojans have placed in the Top 10 of the NCAA Championships 7 times, including third in 1987, seventh in1996 (while winning the Pac-10 title), fifth in 1998 and third in 1999 (just 4 points from first place).

The women's track and field heritage begins with Sherry Calvert, the former head coach. Calvert, a 4-time All-American javelin thrower at USC who participated in the 1972 and 1976 Olympics, started the program as an undergraduate and coached through 1983. Fred LaPlante succeeded her from 1984 through 1988. Barbara Edmondson was coach in 1992 through 1994. In 1995, Ron Allice took over as the combined men's and women's coach.

Troy has had many other successful track and field athletes. Patty Van Wolvelaere won a pair of national titles in the 100-meter hurdles. Kerry Bell was an All-American heptathlete for 3 years. 1988 NCAA heptathlon champion Wendy Brown and Yvette Bates set world bests in the triple jump during their USC careers. Ashley Selman won the 1990 NCAA javelin title. Angela Williams won the 1999 NCAA 100-meter dash as a freshman.

The Women of Troy also compete in cross country in the fall under coach Tom Walsh.

MEN'S VOLLEYBALL — Final Four appearances have become commonplace for the USC men's volleyball team, which has made 11 trips there since scholarships were first awarded by Troy in the sport in 1977. The Trojans have won 4 NCAA titles (1977, 1980, 1988 and 1990) and have finished second on 6 other occasions (1979-81-85-86-87-91).

Ernie Hix, who retired as head coach after the 1981 season, turned USC into one of the top volleyball powers in the nation. Hix's 8-year record was an impressive 146-47 (.756) with 2 national crowns.

Twenty Trojans have played on the U.S. National team and 26 times USC volleyballers have been named first team All-Americans. In the 1984 Olympics, Steve Timmons, Dusty Dvorak and Pat Powers all helped lead the United States to its first gold medal ever in the sport, while Timmons repeated with the 1988 U.S. squad. Timmons, Bryan Ivie, Nick Becker and Dan Greenbaum won bronze medals with the U.S. in 1992. Tim Hovland, Celso Kalache, Adam Johnson and former coach Bob Yoder (a 3-time All-American who led Troy to an NCAA title in 1988) also are key figures in USC's volleyball heritage. Jim McLaughlin took over for Yoder in 1990 and led Troy to an NCAA title in his initial year. Powers became head coach in 1997.

WOMEN'S VOLLEYBALL — USC has won 4 national crowns in women's volleyball, all under coach Chuck Erbe. Erbe, who dominated the sport during his 12-year USC coaching tenure which began in 1976, posted a career record of 310-121-3 (.718). He coached the 1976, 1977 and 1980 AIAW champions and the 1981 NCAA titlists. His 1976 team registered the first perfect season (38-0) in women's volleyball history.

Lisa Love, who coached at Texas-Arlington for 7 years, took over for Erbe in 1989 and guided USC into the NCAAs in 9 of her 10 seasons before retiring after the 1998 season. Mick Haley, head coach of the U.S. women's national team who won 2 national crowns in the 1980s while at Texas, will take over following the 2000 Olympics (assistant Jerritt Elliott will serve as the interim head coach).

In 1978, Debbie Green won the prestigious Broderick Award in volleyball. Some 30 Trojans have been named All-American and 11 have been members of the U.S. Olympic team (including Green, Sue Woodstra, Paula Weishoff, Carolyn Becker and Kim Ruddins).

MEN'S WATER POLO — Since starting water polo in 1922, the Trojans have compiled a 834-458-7 (.645) record, winning 12 conference championships along the way.

Current coach John Williams has led the Trojans to national prominence since taking over the program in 1973. Nineteen of his last 22 teams have finished the season in the top 7 nationally, including the 1998 NCAA championship team and the 1987, 1993, 1994, 1996 and 1997 squads which placed second in the NCAA tourney. Jovan Vavic joined as co-head coach in 1995.

Sixteen Trojan poloists have participated in the Olympics and 112 have made various All-American teams. Some of the more prominent names in USC water polo history are Ron Severa, Wally Wolf, Greg Fults, Zach Stimson, Craig Furniss, Charles Harris, Robert Lynn, Drew Netherton, Hrvoje Cizmic, Marko Zagar, Simun Cimerman and Marko Pintaric.

WOMEN'S WATER POLO — USC's newest sport, the women's water polo team began play in 1995 under head coach Jovan Vavic. In 1999, in just their fifth year of existence, the Women of Troy--led by All-American goalie Bernice Orwig--won the national championship in an exciting 5-overtime sudden death victory over Stanford. Before that, USC was third in the 1995 Division II tourney, then seventh in the 1997 national championship and fifth in 1998.

USC NATIONAL TITLES

USC has long dominated the world of intercollegiate athletics. Trojan men's teams are tops in the nation in NCAA championships with 70 — more than any other university. And the football team has been voted national champions 8 times.

USC has won the National Collegiate All-Sports Championship--an annual ranking by USA Today (previously The Knoxville Journal) of the country's top men's athletic programs — 6 times (1971-72-74-75-77-80) since its inception in 1971.

USC's women are also a force, with 15 national team titles, all since 1976.

From 1959-60 to 1984-85, USC put together an amazing streak. In each of those 26 years, at least one Trojan team won a national championship (including five crowns in both 1962-63 and 1976-77).

Here's a list with the coaches of the winning teams.

TROJANS STAR IN CLASSROOM

USC is as proud of its student-athletes' achievements in the classroom as on the playing field.

After all, the Trojans not only are third in the nation in the number of national team championships (78 by the men and 15 by the women), but rank third (behind Air Force and Nebraska) in the number of NCAA post-graduate scholarship recipients (47, including 20 football players).

Also, USC athletics has had 3 Rhodes Scholars (quarterback Pat Haden, swimmer Desmond Koh and trackster James O'Toole), 26 first team Academic All-Americans (including 22 footballers, tops among Pac-10 schools and tied for fifth best in the nation), 8 winners of the prestigious NCAA Today's Top Six scholar award, 11 National Football Foundation Scholar-Athletes, 5 recipients of the NCAA Silver Anniversary Award, a Luce Scholar (swimmer Dennis Scannell), a NCAA Women's Enhancement Program Post-Graduate Scholar (soccer player Laura Servis), a NCAA Ethnic-Minority Enhancement Program Post-Graduate Scholar (footballer Dong Koo) and 2 USC valedictorians (water poloist Craig Furniss and volleyballer Alaina Kipps). In 1987, Haden was inducted into the charter 6-member class of the GTE Academic All-American Hall of Fame and baseball star Don Buford Jr. won the first-ever Woody Hayes Academic All-American Award presented by the Columbus Touchdown Club to the top NCAA Division I male student-athlete (footballer John Jackson won the award in 1990 and volleyballer Katie Haller won the women's award in 1994). Jackson was also named a winner of the first-ever NACDA/Disney Scholar-Athlete Award in 1990, and Jeremy Hogue and Matt Keneley were 1996 and 1997 NACDA Preseason Games Scholar-Athletes, respectively (Keneley also received a NACDA Foundation Post-Graduate Scholarship in 1997). In 1997, Keith Van Horne was named to the GTE Academic All-American All-Time Football Team.

The Nov. 1994 issue of The Sporting News examined the relative academic strength of the nation's top 25 football teams and found USC's players ranked second in high school GPA, sixth in SAT scores and third in ACT scores.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR MIKE GARRETT

Michael L. Garrett, so much a part of USC's unparalleled athletic tradition, was named the school's sixth-ever athletic director in January of 1993.

Garrett, Troy's 1965 Heisman Trophy-winning tailback who has a background in business, law, government, athletic administration, and community affairs, oversees the 19 men's and women's teams and the accompanying $27 million budget that make up the nation's most successful athletic program.

During his tenure:

• USC has won 6 national titles (in men's tennis in 1993 and 1994, women's swimming in 1997, baseball and men's water polo in 1998, and women's water polo in 1999) and annually has finished in the Top 10 (among the 306 Division I universities) in the Sears Directors' Cup all-sports standings.

• Fundraising (reaching a record $12.3-plus million in 1997-98) and corporate sponsorships, merchandising and licensing (to $2.1 million in 1998-99) have skyrocketed.

• He has undertaken the biggest building program in the history of USC athletics, including the $3 million Galen Center (a dining/activity center), a 3,000-square-foot addition to the weight room, an under-construction 3,000-seat track and field stadium, expansion of the tennis stadium and football practice field, a new women's soccer practice field, a proposed addition to baseball's Dedeaux Field, and a proposed on-campus events center (for basketball and volleyball).

• He has added 2 women's teams (soccer and water polo) and by the fall of 1999 will have awarded 42 more women's scholarships (at an annual cost of $1.3 million).

• Official NCAA graduation rates for USC student-athletes reached an all-time high in 1996 (71%) and have averaged above the national rate over the past 4 years.

Garrett, 55, succeeded Mike McGee, who became the athletic director at South Carolina after 9 years at USC.

Garrett became the seventh African-American athletic director at a major Division I-A institution.

Garrett had served as USC's associate athletic director since December of 1990. In that role, he was responsible for the athletic department's budget, personnel, contract compliance and corporate sponsorships. He also handled day-to-day supervision of 5 men's sports — volleyball, golf, tennis, swimming and water polo.

Prior to joining the USC staff, he was director of business development for the Great Western Forum (1988-90), including its highly-successful boxing program.

Earlier in his career, he worked for the San Diego district attorney's office and as a youth counselor, held management positions in the retail, construction and real estate industries, did color commentary on USC football telecasts, and ran for Congress (1982) and San Diego City Council (1983).

Garrett has been involved in community affairs since his days at USC. While in college, he helped found the Cool-Head Program, an organization that met with youth groups to try to offset racial tensions in Los Angeles, and volunteered at the MacLaren Children's Center, a home for abused children. Later, he founded San Diego's Harambee House, a community-based institution for juvenile delinquents.

He helped establish the East Los Angeles Youth Activities Foundation in 1989, a community-based group that ran boxing/educational clubs as a gang-intervention program.

In 1996, he received the Boys and Girls Clubs of Pasadena's "Youth Partnership Award."

Born April 12, 1944 in East Los Angeles, Garrett was a prep All-American at that neighborhood's Roosevelt High.

As a student at USC, Garrett set the standard for the modern-era "I" formation Trojan tailbacks. He was a 2-time All-American (1964-65) who set 14 NCAA, conference and USC records in his 3-year career, including a then-NCAA career rushing mark of 3,221 yards and a then-USC season mark of 1,440 yards in 1965. He was the first Trojan since 1927 to run for 1,000 yards in a season.

A versatile athlete, he also started at cornerback for the Trojans and was an All-League outfielder for USC's baseball team (he hit .309 in 1965 and was drafted by the Pittsburgh Pirates and Los Angeles Dodgers).

Garrett played 8 seasons (1966-73) in the NFL with the Kansas City Chiefs and San Diego Chargers, becoming the first player to rush for 1,000 yards for 2 teams. An All-Pro, he played in Super Bowls I and IV.

Garrett was inducted into the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall of Fame in 1985 and won the NCAA's prestigious Silver Anniversary Award in 1990. He was a charter member of USC's Athletic Hall of Fame, which he founded in 1994.

Garrett graduated from USC in 1967 with a bachelor's degree in sociology and earned a law degree from Western State University College of Law in Fullerton, Calif., in 1986.

Garrett and his wife, Suzanne, have 2 children, Sara, 17, and Daniel, 13.

USC Athletic Directors

Willis O. Hunter	1926-57
Jess Hill	1957-72
John McKay	1972-75
Mike McGee	1984-93
Mike Garrett	1993-

Note: Records are unclear prior to Hunter's tenure. One reference source listed William Clay as "athletic manager" in 1909 and cited him as USC's first A.D. Another source listed Elmer Henderson as football coach and athletic director from 1919 to 1924. Still another source said "graduate managers" were akin to athletic directors and listed Warren Bovard, Henry Bruce, Gwynn Wilson (1921-30) and Arnold Eddy (1930 and on) in that role (that source also claimed Eddy was athletic director in 1941-44).

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT

Steven B. Sample

Steven B. Sample became the 10th president of the University of Southern California in March 1991. He is the university's first holder of the Robert C. Packard President's Chair.

Sample is an electrical engineer, a musician, an outdoorsman, and an inventor. In February 1998, he was elected to the prestigious National Academy of Engineering for "contributions to consumer electronics and leadership in interdisciplinary research and education." He remains an active member of the university's faculty, co-teaching with management expert Warren Bennis a popular spring-semester course for upperclassmen entitled "The Art and Adventure of Leadership." He also teaches undergraduate electrical engineering courses and a literature course for freshmen.

Under Sample leadership, USC has emerged as a world leader in the fields of communication and multimedia technologies, received national acclaim for its innovative community partnerships, and solidified its status as one of the nation's leading teaching and research universities. USC milestones in the past seven years include receipt of a world-record $120 million cash gift from the Hon. Walter H. Annenberg in 1993 and a $100 million gift from biomedical industry entrepreneur Alfred Mann in 1998 (establishing USC as the first university in history to receive two nine-figure gifts within the same fundraising campaign); the awarding of the Nobel Prize in chemistry to USC faculty member George Olah in 1994; and the recruitment of the most academically-talented freshman classes in USC history.

Sample is the author of numerous journal articles and published papers, both in science and engineering and in higher education. His patents in the field of digital appliance controls have been licensed to practically every major manufacturer of appliance controls and microwave ovens in the world. Nearly 200 million home appliances have been built using his inventions.

Sample has chaired a number of statewide and national groups examining the state of elementary, secondary and higher education. In 1994, he convened a group of Los Angeles leaders who were awarded an historic $53 million challenge grant from the Annenberg Foundation to accelerate reforms in local public schools. Sample is currently chairman and co-founder of the Association of Pacific Rim Universities (APRU), a consortium of 34 premier Pacific Rim research universities, and past chairman of the Association of American Universities, a consortium of the 62 leading North American research universities. He also chaired a special AAU committee on postdoctoral education.

In 1992, he served as a member of the Van de Kamp Commission, which explored ways to improve the Los Angeles Unified School District. He is a trustee of the Los Angeles Educational Alliance for Restructuring Now (LEARN) and a member of the board of the Los Angeles Annenberg Metropolitan Project.

Sample came to USC from the State University of New York at Buffalo, where he had served as president since 1982. During his tenure there, SUNY-Buffalo was the first public university in New York or New England to be elected to membership in the AAU. Sample's energetic leadership was instrumental in Buffalo's emergence as the flagship of the SUNY system.

After earning his Ph.D. in 1965, Sample worked for a year as a senior scientist at Melpar Inc., a research and development firm. He then taught as an assistant professor of electrical engineering at Purdue University, where he was promoted to associate professor and granted tenure in 1970. He served as deputy director for academic affairs at the Illinois Board of Higher Education from 1971 to 1974 and as executive vice president for academic affairs and dean of the Graduate College at the University of Nebraska from 1974 to 1982.

Sample earned B.S.E.E., M.S. and Ph. D. degrees in electrical engineering at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign in 1962 , 1963 and 1965, respectively. He has received honorary degrees from the University of Nebraska (1995), Purdue University (1994), Hebrew Union College (1994) the University of Sheffield, England (1991) and Canisius College, Buffalo (1989). In 1994, Sample received the University of Illinois' Alumni Achievement Award, and in 1998 he received the USC Alumni Association's Honorary Alumni Award.

Sample is a trustee of the Los Angeles World Affairs Council and the Regenstrief Medical Foundation. He is a founding member of the California Business-Higher Education Form and is currently a member of Project California, the Coalition of 100 and the Los Angeles Business Advisors. He currently serves on the boards of the William Wrigley Jr. Company, Santa Catalina Island Company, Presley Companies Inc., UNOVA, and other organizations.

In 1994, Sample received the Humanitarian Award from the National Conference of Christians and Jews and the Hollzer Memorial Award from the Jewish Federation Council of Greater Los Angeles.

Sample is married to the former Kathryn Brunkow of Park Ridge, Ill. The Samples, who reside in San Marino, Calif., have two daughters, Michelle Sample Smith and Elizabeth Ann Sample.

USC NORRIS COMPREHENSIVE CANCER CENTER ON THE HEALTH SCIENCES CAMPUS

PACIFIC-10 CONFERENCE

The Pacific-10 Conference — which combines 10 of the finest academic institutions in the nation — annually demonstrates it is the "Conference of Champions," thus continuing to live up to its billing as having the strongest overall intercollegiate athletic league in the country.

Pac-10 members have now won 233 NCAA men's team championships, far and away more than any other conference (the Big Ten is next with 171), and 63 women's crowns, also more than any league (the Southeastern Conference is next with 45).

Pac-10 men's teams have won at least 4 NCAA team titles 23 of the last 29 years, a feat unprecedented in intercollegiate athletics. The NCAA men's team championships have come at a phenomenal rate--15 basketball titles, more than any other conference; 17 of the last 33, and 24 overall, baseball titles; 18 of the last 39, and an incredible 44 titles overall, in outdoor track and field; 19 of the last 35 in swimming and diving; 35 of the last 39 (46 overall) in tennis; 25 of the last 40 in water polo; and 22 of the last 30 in volleyball. Pac-10 men have also claimed an incredible 1,008 NCAA individual crowns.

On the women's side, the story is the same. Since the NCAA began conducting women's championships 18 years ago, Pac-10 members have claimed 4 titles in a single season on 11 occasions. Included in this are 12 of 18 tennis crowns, 13 of 18 softball championships, 6 of the last 9 volleyball titles, and 8 of the last 11 trophies in both golf and swimming and diving. Plus, the 318 NCAA individual titles lead all leagues.

The roots of the Pacific-10 Conference go back 80 years. On Dec. 2, 1915, the Pacific Coast Conference was founded at a meeting at the Oregon Hotel in Portland, Oregon. Original membership consisted of 4 schools — University of California, University of Washington, University of Oregon, and Oregon State College (now Oregon State University). All are still charter members of the Conference.

Pacific Coast Conference play began in 1916. One year later, Washington State College (now Washington State University) was accepted into the PCC, and Stanford University joined in 1918.

In 1922, the PCC expanded to 8 teams with the admission of the University of Southern California and the University of Idaho. Montana joined the conference in 1924 and in 1928 the PCC grew to 10 members with the addition of UCLA.

The Pacific Coast Conference competed as a 10-team league until 1950, with the exception of 1943-1945 when World War II somewhat curtailed intercollegiate competition. In 1950, Montana resigned from the conference to join the Mountain States Conference. The PCC continued as a 9-team conference through 1958.

In 1959, the PCC was dissolved and a new conference was formed called the Athletic Association of Western Universities. Original AAWU membership consisted of California, Stanford, USC, UCLA, and Washington. Washington State became a member in 1962, with Oregon and Oregon State joining in 1964. In 1968, the name Pacific-8 Conference was adopted.

Ten years later, on July 1, 1978, the University of Arizona and Arizona State University were admitted and the Pacific-10 Conference became a reality. In 1986-87, the Pacific-10 Conference took on a new look, expanding to included 10 women's teams.

Currently, the Pac-10 sponsors 10 men's and 11 women's sports, while Conference members are part of the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation (MPSF) in 5 additional men's sports and 2 other women's sports.

Edwin N. Atherton was named the Conference's first Commissioner in 1940. He was succeeded by Victor O. Schmidt (1944), Thomas J. Hamilton (1959), Wiles Hallock (1971) and current Commissioner Thomas C. Hansen in 1983.

The Pac-10 offices are located 25 miles east of San Francisco in Walnut Creek, Calif.

MEDIA INFORMATION

USC SPORTS INFORMATION OFFICE —The Sports Information Office (director Tim Tessalone and assistants Paul Goldberg, Roger Horne and Chris Huston) is located in the southeast corner of the first floor of Heritage Hall. It houses files containing USC athletic history, player and coach biographies, statistics and photographs. The office phone number is (213) 740-8480. The fax number is (213) 740-7584. Nearby on-campus parking is available by calling the office in advance.

PLAYER/COACH INTERVIEWS — Please arrange all player and coach interviews through the Sports Information Office, at least a day in advance.

TROJAN HOTLINE — Dial (213) 743-2989 for a 90-second taped interview with USC coach Paul Hackett. The tape changes each Sunday afternoon during the football season.

PAUL HACKETT MEDIA LUNCH — Coach Hackett hosts a weekly media-only lunch in the lounge of Heritage Hall at 11:30 a.m. each Tuesday during the season. Transcribed notes from each session are available from the Sports Information Office.

USC PRACTICES — Most Trojan practices on Howard Jones Field are open to the local media. Please call in advance to confirm the schedule.

GAME CREDENTIALS — Because of space limitations, only members of the media who cover USC on a regular basis (plus media accompanying the visiting team) can be credentialled to Trojan home games. Freelancers cannot be accommodated. Credentials and parking passes are issued on a game-by-game basis. Requests for game credentials should be sent on company letterhead as early as possible to: Tim Tessalone, USC Sports Information Office, HER 103, Los Angeles, Calif. 90089-0601. Credentials can be mailed up to 7 days before the game; after that time, credentials can either be picked up during the week of the game at the Sports Information Office or beginning 2 hours before kickoff on game day at press will call outside Tunnel 4 on the south side of the Coliseum. Three types of credentials are issued: working press (good for press box seat during game, field access during last 5 minutes of game), TV and photo (both provide field and press box roof access, limited press box access with no seat). All credentials provide post-game locker room access. Television cameramen and still photographers are not allowed on the sidelines between the 25-yard lines in the area of the team benches.

PRESS BOX — Located on the south (Martin Luther King Blvd.) side of the Coliseum, the press box is for the use of the working media and guests of USC's athletic department only. Access is via the elevator near Tunnel 6. The upper level has seats for the written press, while the lower level houses radio and television broadcasting booths. The roof is available for cameramen and photographers. Members of USC's Sports Information Office are located in the lower level (seats 219-225) during games. To get from the press box to the field at the end of the game (and to enable continued viewing of the game action), most media exit through either side door on the lower level and walk through the stands.

PRESS BOX SERVICES — A complimentary meal is served in the press box (a meal ticket is required). Game programs, speed cards and game notes are distributed before kickoff (these are also available on the field to photographers). Quarterly play-by-plays, plus halftime and final statistics, are distributed, as are transcribed post-game locker room quotes from Coach Hackett and the visiting coach. Game action is shown on indoor TV monitors posted throughout the press box and a detailed play-by-play and Coach Hackett's post-game press conference are announced over the press box public address system. Several charge-a-call phones are located in the visiting press section on the lower level and available on a first-come basis. To order a telephone, contact Nick Geas at UT&T at (714) 840-1478. Tell UT&T that the phone installer can obtain your seat location from Tim Tessalone. To call the press box on game day for score updates, dial either (213) 741-1341 or (213) 747-7111 (ask for the press box extension). USC provides complimentary fax service in the press box. Fax and computer terminal service for a fee also is available by contacting either Bassler Communications (Dick Bassler), 6706 Noble Ave., Van Nuys, CA 91405, (310) 451-5805, or Amfax (Rick Laubert), 5151 Vallecito, Westminster, CA 92683, (310) 431-6789.

POST-GAME INTERVIEWS — The USC and visiting team locker rooms are located inside the tunnel at the west end of the Coliseum. After a 10-minute "cooling off" period, the USC locker room will open to the media. Coach Hackett and several key Trojan players will conduct a post-game press session.

VIDEO SERVICES — The USC Sports Information Office makes video highlights of key Trojans available to the media. The Pac-10 Office has a weekly video satellite feed featuring highlights and interviews from all league schools (call 510-932-4411 for information). To contract specific video services, contact Rich Zielinski of Zielinski Productions at (714) 842-5050, Dennis Kirkpatrick of Bayview Productions at (310) 543-1835, or Fox Sports Net West at (310) 286-3800.

INFO CONNECTION — Dial (800) 300-2050, passcode 72210, for the Pac-10 Info Connection, a fax-on-demand system that provides access to press releases from the Pac-10 Office and all Pac-10 schools on a 24-hour-a-day basis. Media callers must have a PIN number (which can be obtained by calling Pivotal Communications at 770-399-0096).
